Record Vote Expected for Elections Today

Voting to Be Held 9-12, 12:45-6:30 in M.U.

Student Body Cards Necessary For Admission to Polls

With expectations of a record vote, polls for student body and class elections will be open today from 9 to 12 o'clock and 12:45 to 6:30 o'clock under the Co-op bookstore in the Memorial Union building.

Election rules state that all voters must present student body cards, and those voting for class officers must vote for them at the same time they vote for student body officers. "Absolutely no one will go through the polls more than once," the election committee announced last night. To vote for class officers, students must present the correct dues receipt or class card indicating payment of dues for spring term.

ATTENTION SOPHOMORES

Before voting for class officers, sophomores must check eligibility at the Memorial Union ticket office today. Special cards for voting will be issued. Dues may be paid at the same time.

ATTENTION FRESHMEN

Any freshman who failed to obtain a membership card by yesterday, may still vote providing he pay his spring dues or bring his spring dues receipt to the polls today. Spring dues may be paid at the polls.

No campaigning will be allowed within 100 yards of the polls.

The counting board will begin counting ballots at 2 o'clock. No one will be allowed to enter or leave the counting room from 2 o'clock on. Members of the counting staff are Virginia Gehrs, Mary Louise Starker, David Craddock, Floyd Parks, Breese Ritchey, Phil Blank, Kay Goss, Clara Breckenridge, Maralee Fry, Harlan Wendt, Bob Henderson and Bob Skinner.

The elections are under the direction of a committee consisting of Stanley Fisk, first vice-president of the student body; Shirley Struble, Janice Johnson, Sam Dement and Don Mullett.

Science Club Names Office Nominees

Nominations for officers of the Science club were made at its regular meeting last Thursday night. The nominations included president, Martin E. Packard, junior in science; vice president, Mildred Perman, junior in science; treasurer, Helen Murdock, junior in science; sergeant-at-arms, Jack Petersen, junior in science; recording secretary, Barbara Grafton, sophomore in lower division; corresponding secretary, Jean Countryman, sophomore in lower division.

The nominations will be completed and the election held during the annual Science club picnic on May 24. Helen Murdock has been appointed chairman of the picnic and the various committees will be appointed at a later meeting.

OSC Students Play for 'Bundles' For Britain' Benefit Concert

Three Oregon State students will appear on a program-concert being sponsored for the benefit of Bundles for Britain by the Corvallis branch of the American Association of University Women, with the cooperation of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Erwin Regusdorff, concert violinist, will be featured at the benefit next Tuesday night in the Methodist church.

Edward Ehlers, senior in science, will play the pipe organ. Marianne Lundell, senior in secretarial science, will play the harp and Calvin Gross, graduate student, will play the violin.

Other Corvallis artists assisting Mrs. Regusdorff are Mrs. Genevieve Baum-Gaskins, Mrs. Helen G. Reish, Mrs. James W. Ferguson, Mrs. H. D. Long, Mrs. Opal Martin Johnson, Mrs. Ted Cramer, Mrs. O. H. Muth, Mrs. Robert Houck and Francis Brook.

The program will be as follows: Chimes—patriotic and religious

Lumbermen Set April 29 as Date For Conference

Promotion of Timber Trade to Be Theme Of All-Day Parley

Trade promotion in the lumber industry will be the theme of talks by prominent northwest lumbermen at an all-day conference in Memorial Union 105 on April 29.

Members of the West Coast Lumbermen's association will present the program for the morning sessions. R. J. Titus, director of the trade extension department, will speak on "The Field of Trade Promotion in the Lumber Industry;" J. R. Blunt will discuss "Trade Promotion in the Pacific Northwest" and C. J. Hogue, in charge of technical service, will present "Technical Developments and Trade Promotion."

There will be a luncheon in the Memorial Union tearoom for the delegates after the morning session.

Cary to Start Meeting

N. L. Cary, Western Pine association representative, will begin the afternoon's proceedings with a talk on "Magazine Advertising," followed by a presentation of "Economic Considerations in South America" by B. K. Frank of the Pacific Lumber company. Representatives of the Western Retailers' association will discuss "Retail Problems of Sales Promotion." At 4:15 o'clock there will be a general discussion and suggestions will be made for possible future conferences and education in lumber merchandising.

All interested persons are invited to attend the sessions of this conference, which is sponsored by the wood products department of the school of forestry.

"The meeting is planned as an educational feature for students of wood products. It originated through the offer of assistance by the West Coast Lumbermen's association and developed as the result of continued cooperation from other agencies and individuals of the lumber industry," declared R. M. Everding, assistant professor of wood products.

Chintimini Sponsors Benefit Bridge Party

The annual benefit bridge party sponsored by Chintimini chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at the Alpha Gamma Delta house last Saturday afternoon.

Money derived from the affair will go into a scholarship fund from which a certain sum is to be awarded each year to a worthy senior girl who needs financial assistance to graduate.

Bridge players attending the party were from Corvallis, Portland and Eugene. Prizes were awarded to players of contract and auction bridge.

Andora Joubert, junior in science, sang "Down the Vale," by Moir and Schubert's "Serenade." Margaret Mullen, junior in home economics, accompanied her. Miss Mullen played several piano selections during the afternoon.

Rookess Counselors To Meet Next Tuesday

A general meeting of rookess counselors will be held next Tuesday at 5 o'clock in the Round Table room, it was decided at a meeting of the rookess counselors' council yesterday afternoon.

Marjorie Wilson, printing chairman, announced that 500 dues cards have been printed, and Jean Ritchie, treasurer, reported dues collections progress.

How to Vote

1. Enter at east end of Memorial Union under Co-op bookstore.
2. Present student body card and spring term dues card or receipt if voting for class officers.
3. Show student body ticket at ASOSC table to left of door where ticket will be punched, Receive ASOSC ballot.
4. If voting for class offices, go to class desk, show dues receipt and receive class ballot.
5. Go to booth and mark ballots.
6. Deposit ballots in designated boxes and leave by west door to ballroom. No one will be allowed to leave without depositing a ballot.

FFA Convenes Here Today

Convention Boasts 60-Piece Band

The Oregon State campus will be host to 500 guests attending the thirteenth annual convention of Future Farmers of America which convenes today and continues through Saturday.

A 60-piece band of FFA delegates from various chapters in the state, under the direction of Captain Harry L. Beard, professor of band instruction, will furnish music during the convention.

One of the highlights of the convention will be a motion picture at 10 o'clock tomorrow entitled "The Green Hand." This picture was filmed for national use and has been shown in packed theatres in the south for several months. Its theme illustrates the progress of the young farm boy in acquiring a well-rounded education and getting established on the farm.

Shaw Elected Prexy Of Men's Dormitory

Jerry Shaw, sophomore in lower division from Hawley hall, was elected president of the men's dormitory in a recent election. Shaw, active in campus affairs and of high scholastic ability and achievement, won out over Joe Pocheu of Poling hall in an election which drew a high percent of those eligible to vote. He will succeed Andy Landforce, and has indicated that he will do all he can to shoulder the responsibility of the office.

Other officers chosen, who were voted upon by the representatives of all the halls who make up the executive council, were Ed Gory, vice president; Eugene McCoy, secretary; Paul Demchman, treasurer; Roy Malo, athletic manager; Fred Meyers, sergeant-at-arms; and Roy Brockschink, chairman.

Modern Dance Class to Appear in May Recital

Betty Lynd Thompson To Direct Women's Weekend Concert

Depicting the development of modern dance at Oregon State in the last 10 years, 40 students from modern dance classes will appear in a recital May 9 and 10, as a feature of the Women's Weekend program. The recital is sponsored by Orchestras, Associated Women Students and the department of physical education for women.

Miss Betty Lynd Thompson, associate professor of physical education, will direct the concert, assisted by Madlyn Stearns, junior in education. Catherine Sherwood and Georgia Mae Moller will accompany the group.

Traditional as a Women's weekend entertainment, the dance recital has been given indoors for the last 10 years. Before that it was presented on the lower campus as a part of the maypole festivities.

Both Miss Thompson and Miss Stearns will appear in the opening dance, a duet entitled "Unpredictable" which through movements typical of the modern American spirit, will point out the difference between modern dance and the stereotyped modified ballet forms which it has replaced to a great extent.

The concert is a student project, as members of the dance classes help compose the dances. To carry out the theme of the development of dance in this campus in the last 10 years, favorite dances from various past programs will be repeated in chronological order. The second part of the program will be devoted to the compositions of the current year and will include three jazz preludes with music by George Gershwin and a suite of American dances with music by other American composers.

UNINVITED AND OFF-KEY
From the band's sweet shriek and groan
Comes a subtle undertone,
First the drummer stops a beat,
Then the oboe starts to bleat,
As a hornet, curious,
Makes the maestro furious,
But not aware until too late
What gives his men this stubborn trait.
Then the insect and baton
Collide. A nose gets sat on
As the bee, in self-defense,
Retaliates in swift cadence.

Home Economics Women Return From Three Day Tour of Industry

Fifty home economics women returned late Saturday afternoon from a three-day tour of Portland and Hillsboro industries.

Miss Helen E. Walsh, assistant professor of household administration, who accompanied the group, outlined the tour.

The women left Corvallis on Thursday morning at 7 o'clock. They visited the Carnation plant and Maling Brothers quick freezing plant in Hillsboro Thursday morning. At Maling Brothers they watched asparagus being prepared and frozen for Bird's Eye products.

At the Portland Woolen mills the women watched workers prepare a government order for navy blue material to be used for naval uniforms. After touring the Troy laundry plant the women were given samples of soap.

While the group was dining at a Bit of Sweden, Mrs. Nelson, proprietor, told them how she started her business. She also gave the visitors a receipt for one of the Swedish desserts.

Friday morning Swift and company sent busses to carry the group to their plant, where they spent the morning learning about the meat packing industry.

Hey! What's This? Forestry Meeting To Have Co-eds

As novel to foresters as the traditional "man bites dog" news sensation will be a mixed forestry club meeting to which the more romantically inclined foresters may bring their Paulette Bunyanettes in pharmacy 303 at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The idea for this type of meeting originated with Bill Freed, president of Xi Sigma Pi, forestry honor society, and is believed to be the first of its kind on the campus for technical clubs.

Mildred Jernigan, sophomore in secretarial science, accompanied by Stuart Lay, banjoist, will sing "Jenny," a recent addition to the hit parade. The Gamma Phi quartet will sing several numbers.

As a special feature, the songster children of Glen C. Ware, instructor in chemistry, will sing some western ballads.

At the beginning of the meeting, Xi Sigma Pi will announce its new pledges by pinning the traditional green fir sprig pledge pin on their lapel. Pledges are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, activities, friendliness and any qualities that are considered essential to success in forestry. New men are pledged to the society twice each year from a list of eligible foresters released by the dean's office.

3 Faculty Members Attend Biology Meet

Three members of the Oregon State faculty attended the meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology in Chicago last week. Those attending were Dr. Rosalind Wulzen, assistant professor of zoology; Dr. Margaret L. Fincke, associate professor of foods and nutrition, and Dr. Joseph S. Butts, professor of chemistry.

Dr. Wulzen and Dr. Butts presented papers on their experimental work. Dr. Wulzen reported on the effects of raw and pasteurized milk diets on guinea pigs. Attending the experimental biology convention were 3,000 instructors from colleges all over the United States. Papers were presented on physiology, biological chemistry, pharmacy, pathology and nutrition.

Ag Club Nominates Next Year's Officers

Nomination of officers for next year was the main business of the Agriculture club meeting last night in agriculture hall.

The nominees were Jim Farley and Jack Sather for president; Bill Southworth, vice president; Jean Ann Richards, secretary; Don Stewart and Jim Strosnider, treasurer; Luther Davis and Wilbur Burkhardt, sergeant-at-arms.

Clayton Fox, president of the Ag club, appointed Norman Gerber chairman, and Fred Rau, assistant chairman of the election which will be held Saturday in the museum building.

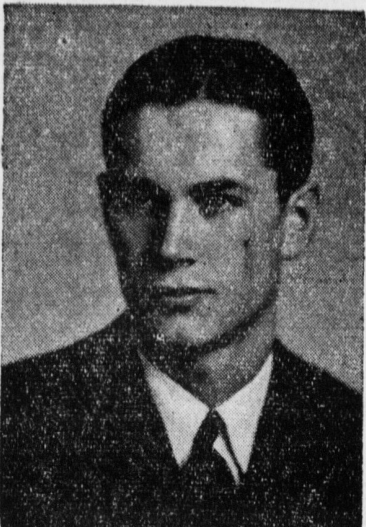

Burns Bailey, chairman of Ag weekend, announced that everything is in readiness for the event. Friday at 3 o'clock there will be the Ag parade, followed that night with the jamboree. Saturday morning will include stock judging and Saturday afternoon, the little international. The Ag dance will start at 8 o'clock Saturday night, and tickets will be on sale in the Memorial Union ticket office on Friday and Saturday.

Glen Schaeffer, editor of the Ag journal, announced that all stories for the journal must be in by May 10, as the publication will be out by May 20.

Pledgings Announced

Delta Chi announces the pledging of Regis Foss, sophomore in science, from Corvallis.

Pi Kappa Phi announces the pledging of George H. Bickford, freshman in engineering, from Portland.

Allison to Head Special Convo Slated May 17

Lower Campus Site Of Annual Fete For Incoming Rooks

Entertainment amusing to students and guests is the aim of Campus weekend convocation on Saturday morning, May 17, on the lower campus near the trying tree.

Roy Allison, junior in engineering and chairman of campus convocation, will act as master of ceremonies. Bud Hinkle, president of the junior class, will present and American flag, a traditional gift of the class, to Frank L. Ballard, president of Oregon State college.

Paul Seibert's orchestra will provide background music and features for the convocation.

The etiquette committee will present a humorous skit showing how an incoming freshman should act.

Those working with Allison are Betty Simpkin, assistant chairman and junior in home economics; Howard Sidwell, junior in engineering; and Betty Harrington, junior in science.

"This year's program is featuring fun and amusement rather than a more serious type of entertainment," Allison said. "It is up to every Oregon Stater to show the guests a good time."

Tickets on Sale For Barn Dance

Tickets to the agricultural barn dance to be held Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the new dairy barn will be on sale in the Memorial Union ticket office today, announced Chuck Watt and Kent Peterson, co-chairmen of ticket sales. This will enable students voting to obtain dance tickets at the same time, said the co-chairmen.

The annual barn dance will climax agricultural weekend, and wagons filled with hay will stop at the living groups to transport farmers and farmerettes 1 1/2 miles west of the campus to the new dairy barn, where Dale Easley's orchestra will furnish the music.

The Oregon section of the American Chemical society will meet tomorrow at 8 o'clock in chemistry 201, when O. R. Sweeney, head of the department of chemistry and chemical engineering at Iowa State college, will be the speaker. His subject will be "The Significance of the Utilization of Agricultural Wastes." Anyone interested may attend.

There will be a Lamplighter assembly tonight at 7:15 o'clock at Dr. Sigurd H. Peterson's home on Orchard street. Refreshments will be served.

Students may pay for their Beavers now at the Beaver office any time before 6 o'clock. Those who bought Beavers with the breakage fee will not receive them until the close of school. By paying $4 now, they will get the Beaver when it comes out during Campus weekend.

All Phrateres and independent women who have not yet signed up but are interested in going to the coast Sunday should call Selma Konik at 705-R before tonight.

All Corvallis girls who wish to be Rookess counselors next year should meet with Doris McWhorter in the Memorial Union lounge at 5 o'clock today and bring 50 cents for dues.

Seniors in home economies who have not signed for senior conferences should do so immediately in the home economies office.

Men students interested in trying out as announcers for the program "On The Campuses" over KOAC see Allan Johnson at the studios today at 10 or 11 o'clock for an audition. Responsibilities of the position are outlined in a news story in this edition of the Barometer.

Press-Radio Guild will meet to choose new members tomorrow at 5 o'clock in forestry 206. All full members should plan to attend.

The following are asked to meet today at 11:50 o'clock in the office of the dean of agriculture: Dick Minson, Joe Howard, Bob Mace, Jack Brodie, Jim Pitney, Bud Hinkle, Jim McAllister and Forest Gish.

There will be no Glee club or chorus rehearsal today. Madrigal club will meet tomorrow at the usual time and place.

Members of the Student Grange will meet in the Varsity O room of the Memorial Union building tonight at 5 o'clock for a short informal session. All members and friends of the grange are invited to attend a picnic at Avery's park following the meeting.

The second battalion, engineers, will report without uniform to the Mary's river bridge site at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon. The first battalion, engineers, will form in uniform at the armory at 2 o'clock.

Election Day...

Today may very easily be the most important day in the history of Oregon State college student government. It has been well demonstrated already that the fact that this year all students are members of ASOSC and therefore eligible to vote in elections has made a far-reaching change in the political alignment of the campus. The independent students have been given a potent weapon which they are using for all it is worth.

Though regrettable, it was probably inevitable that a definite division of the campus on a basis of independents vs. organized houses should have developed this year. As has been pointed out before, such a division has nothing in particular to do with the merits of individual candidates, and the merits of candidates as individuals are a good deal more important to the health of student government than any party issues that have been put forward. Recognizing this fact, each party has been reluctant to emphasize any definite statement that it has a monopoly on the best-qualified candidates. At the same time, neither party can be expected to show any regret in case all its candidates should be elected. Both parties have tried to give the impression that they believe the voters should vote for the "best men" regardless of party, while at the same time each is doing everything it can to insure the election of all its candidates.

Considering the general spirit and enthusiasm that has been generated by this year's unusual situation, it is somewhat surprising and very encouraging to be able to note that the leaders of both parties have done a remarkable job of refraining from slinging mud at the other party and have concentrated on building up their own candidates.

One situation which probably should be noted has come out in the open at the last minute. Apparently someone has promoted a rumor that Andy Landforce, independent presidential candidate, is definitely scheduled for military service beginning next January. On the basis of admittedly inadequate information which cannot be more closely checked because the situation was not brought out before late last night, it must be said that no one has made public any definite information which would substantiate the rumor; neither has it been openly proved that the rumor is completely unfounded. At present, the rumor has the status of a rumor and nothing more.

In the end, the year's entire political situation boils down for the average voter to what campus politics usually boils down—a matter of choosing between each two candidates for what they are, not for any group which sponsors them. Oregon State student government needs good officers more than it needs the hazily stated policies of any party.

WHERE TO GO to the THEATRE

Whiteside

Loaded with swift-paced gags and several brand new hit tunes, Paramount's new comedy with music, "Road to Zanzibar," is now playing at the Whiteside theatre. Starring Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, the film is easily one of the funniest that has come along this season.

In this picture Bing and Bob are a couple of carnival men in Africa who are trying to raise enough money to get back home. When they finally do, it is the result of the brain work of Bing and the hardy physique of Bob, whose job in the act is to be frozen alive, electrocuted, shot out of a cannon and otherwise buffeted about. While Bob will allow himself to be wound about Bing's finger when it comes to these things—when "romance" is involved Bob puts up a hard fight as Bing's rival for Dorothy Lamour.

Oregon State

A conflicting romance replete with plenty of comedy brings together Loretta Young and Robert Preston in "Lady From Cheyenne" a Universal picture which is based in part on historical incidents. The film plays through Wednesday night at the Oregon State theatre.

Setting for the picture is the Wyoming frontier of 1870. Miss Young, as a naive but determined young schoolteacher, comes out from Philadelphia to make her fortune and runs afoul of a gang of crooked politicians led by Edward Arnold and Preston. The conflicting romance then grows.

Wildlife Head to Show Pictures on Pollution

William J. Smith, president of the Oregon State Wildlife federation, will show pictures on pollution in the Willamette river and other wildlife pictures next Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Memorial Union building, room 105.

Dr. Hodge Describes History of Northwest

Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, professor of economic geology, talked on the history of the northwest and the Columbia river to a group of business and faculty couples at the home of Dr. E. C. Gilbert last week. He gave a chalk-talk showing why the Bonneville dam was located where it is and how it is possible.

Dr. Hodge located the dam after engineers of both private enterprise and of the U. S. government had decided that no dam was possible on the lower part of the river.

Library Exhibit Features Bridges

Bridges are the subject of the new exhibit in the display case on the first floor of the library near the door of the reserve book room. A pictorial chart showing the evolution of bridges from earliest times down to the San Francisco bay bridge forms a nucleus for the rest of the material.

Books included in the exhibit are "The Bridge," Frank Brangwyn, "The Story of the Bridge," by Archibald Black, "Old Covered Bridges," by Adelbert M. Jake-man, "A Textbook on Roofs and Bridges," by Merriman, Jacoby and Ehling, and "A Decade of Bridge, 1926-1936," by Wilbur J. Watson.

Pictures have been included to illustrate bridges and their development. Yaquina bay bridge, Alsea bay bridge and Rogue river bridge are Oregon bridges pictured in the display. An illustration of a Chinese bridge is included. The illustrative material came from the files of pictures and pamphlets of the library reference department.

Geographical Society Visits Sunset Tunnel

The Salem branch of the Geographical society of Oregon with its president, Professor Herman Clark of Willamette university, conducted a field trip Sunday to the newly constructed Sunset tunnel on the Wolf creek highway. The cavalcade, led by G. S. Paxson, included 20 cars from Salem and Portland. Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Packard, Dr. John E. Smith and Victor Overman from Corvallis also made the trip.

The group left Willamette university early Sunday, spent several hours at the tunnel studying the sandstone exposed in the road cuts and tunnel, and collected fossil clams, snails, teth, shells, leaves and crabs. After a picnic lunch at Sunset camp, Dr. Packard outlined the history of northwestern Oregon during the Oligocene period and briefly described the significance of the fossils collected by the amateur geologists.

OSC Wesley Group Guests at Eugene

Fifty-eight members of Wesley Foundation from Oregon State were guests of Wesley Foundation at Eugene Sunday afternoon and night at the annual exchange meeting of the two groups.

The service in the church sanctuary centered around the candle-light christening of Barbara Funk, baby daughter of the director of the foundation at Eugene. Dr. J. R. Branton, professor of religion at the University of Oregon, gave the main address and J. Edgar Purdy, district superintendent, conducted the christening ceremony.

Students were introduced at a "Let's Get Acquainted" party and informal tea in the afternoon.

Proven Leadership--

Davis has accomplished more in three years at Oregon State than most men do in four years. He is a man who will be able to represent the student body in a tactful, diplomatic and efficient manner on every occasion.

RON DAVIS

Well Qualified--

Davis' list of qualifications and service to the school prove that he is the best fitted for the post of president of ASOSC. His ability, honesty, and efficiency have won for him the admiration of the entire student body and many honor societies.

MANAGERIAL ABILITY —
Doug Carter, candidate for Memorial Union president, has fitted himself for this position by working in many capacities in the Memorial Union for the past three years. His experience as chairman of the co-op board of directors and chairman of the All-school Formal prove his interest and willingness to work there.

PRESIDENTIAL CALIBRE--
Ken Robinson has shown by his hard work and interest his ability to serve Oregon State as student body president if ever the need should arise. Robinson is neat appearing and is worthy to represent Oregon State in any capacity. An imposing string of activities and membership in honor societies further demonstrate his ability.

OUTSTANDING SPEAKER--
Bill Teutsch, outstanding candidate for third vice-president of ASOSC, has shown his ability by winning the inter-sectional speech contest and maintaining a GPA of 3.9. His work as chairman of the rook bonfire during his freshman year won him wide acclaim as a leader of his fellow students. Honest and efficient, Teutsch is the man for the job.

WHITE IS RIGHT—Running unopposed for the position of yell leader is evidence enough that he is the only man for that job. White has been an assistant yell leader and is thoroughly acquainted with the need for building a bigger and better school spirit for Oregon State College. Full of pep and ready to go, White deserves the vote of every thinking student.

George Weiman for treasurer.
Jack Laird for sergeant-at-arms.

REMEMBER THE JUNIOR PROM? — Jim McAlister put Oregon State on collegiate map when he brought the music of Bob Crosby and the Bobcats to the Junior Prom last term. Hard working and sincere, McAlister has demonstrated his leadership in three year's service to the school. He deserves the support of everyone who wants to see the Senior class led by an experienced and capable man.

HIS RUNNING MATES:
Gene Williams for treasurer.
Bill Christy for sergeant-at-arms.

BORN LEADER—Don Francis, candidate for president of the Junior class, has pledged himself to do all in his power to lead that class in building an even bigger and better Oregon State. His record for the past two years has proved that he is a man with new and different ideas. He can do the job; give him your support.

HIS RUNNING MATES:
Wayne Holloway for treasurer.
Roy Heckart for sergeant-at-arms.

OSC Golfers Beat U of O at Country Club

Oregon State golfers showed their metal by defeating the boys from the University of Oregon at Corvallis country club last weekend by a score of 16 to 11. This was the first time the Beaver boys have won from the Ducks in several years.

Coach Surveys Feet To Fill Sears' Shoes

It's going to take a lot of measuring to find a tackle to fill the shoes vacated by big Vic Sears, OSC all-American tackle, last year's mainstay in the strong Beaver line. Jim Dixon voiced his opinion to the extent that men like Sears are found very rarely in football circles. He hopes to use some of his experienced men in the vacated spots, but won't be too sure it will be filled as it was when Sears held it down.

A tackle on any football team must be plenty tough and fast in order to absorb defensive punishment and at the same time administer the same on offense. It takes more than just two good men to hold down this position and this is the ultimate end to which Steiner and Dixon are working by their "three-deep" system. Some varsity men and varsity reserves are vying for the spot, along with some fast-developing freshmen, making hopes rise for the skeptical mentors.

Hard work and fundamental schooling will be the goal these men will work for in order to attain the position that was vacated by men of stronger caliber last year.

Softball Teams Tally Big Scores

In a contest which turned from a softball game into a batting practice in the first inning, the Kappa Sig's walked away on the long end of a 23-0 score. The Lambda Chi's, victims of the coup, collected only four hits off John Tsoutovass.

In the lowest scoring game of the day Delta Upsilon out-hit Alpha Tau Omega and eked out a 3-1 victory.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon went down to defeat at the hands of the smooth fielding Delta Chi team.

Frank Mandic, Chi Phi pitcher, led the Chi Phi's to a 14-0 victory over the Delta Tau Delta.

Mural Tennis Matches Result in Win, Tie

Yesterday's intramural tennis matches ended with a win being rung up by the Sigma Phi Sigma's over Maple Manor, and a tied score in the match played by Phi Sigma Kappa and Weatherford hall.

The Sigma Pi Sigma team composed of Wayne Domes and Ellis Bishoff, won from Maple Manor by a forfeit.

Phi Sigma Kappa's team of Charles Herrall and John Frick battled to a tied score with Weatherford's team of Forrest Frost and Walter Gerhard. The Phi Sig's won the first set 6-3 but the Weatherford team came back strong in the second to win 6-4. These two teams will play off the tie tomorrow afternoon.

disabilities. Also only one appeal of a ruling of the local board has been made in the country.

Beaver Niners Meet Vandal Team Today

Continuing their defense of the northern division baseball crown, which they won last year, the Oregon State baseball team will leave the women's building at 7 o'clock in the morning in the agriculture bus.

All those who took part in the carnival may go for 25 cents. They should sign up in the women's building office today before 5 o'clock.

Others interested in going may sign up tomorrow morning. Their cost will be 50 cents.

Further information may be obtained by calling Iva Putman, 193-R.

Rook Team Beats Albany, Lebanon

The Oregon State rook baseball team, behind the five-hit pitching of Dick Johnson, subdued Lebanon high school yesterday afternoon by a 5-1 score. Johnson chalked up fifteen strike-outs in the nine inning game. Kato hit the only homer of the day to lead the Rooks batters.

The team, with a record of 11 victories against one defeat, will play Salem high school Friday afternoon.

The team added another victory to their ever-lengthening list Monday night by defeating Albany high school, 4-2.

Horseshoes

Snell hall won the first doubles game of intramural horseshoes for women, played at the women's building Friday night by a score of 21-2.

Snell hall plays again today at the women's building against Kappa Delta.

Annual Excursion Held By The Pines at Beach

Twenty-six members of The Pines, women's cooperative house, motored to Newport beach Sunday for their annual excursion. Mrs. Emma Stuart, hostess-manager, sponsored the affair.

The group breakfasted and lunched at the beach and after spending the day swimming and picnicking, had a late supper at Philomath park on the return to Corvallis.

Guests of the house were Mrs. W. P. McMillan, Miss Martha Thomas and Mrs. Opal Houghton.

Waltonites Find Fishing Excellent

A survey of Oregon State Waltonites would indicate that the Alsea river, from Five rivers to tide-water, has provided the best and most consistent source for good catches of trout. However, some of the local enthusiasts report the McKenzie, Deschutes and Big Elk rivers are also producing quite well.

Fishing conditions thus far have exceeded the expectations of anglers. The waters are comparatively clear, and with the warm weather which has been prevalent throughout the state, the temperature of the water has also risen.

YMCA Secretary On Campus Tomorrow

Claire H. Johnson, executive secretary of the central branch of the Portland Young Men's Christian Association, will be on the campus tomorrow to interview young men and women interested in discussing occupational choices in christian enterprises.

"Johnson, a member of the personnel committee of the northwest area council of the YMCA, is interviewing students in regard to possible opportunities for full time work in YMCA," said Emma Collins, Round Table secretary. "Students interested in physical education, social service, camp work, counseling and working with young people will want to interview Johnson when he comes to the campus," she added.

At a meeting tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock in the Round Table room, Johnson will explain opportunities available in this field. Appointments to talk with Johnson individually may be made by calling campus 91 or contacting Emma Collins in the Round Table room in the Memorial Union.

Dr. Peterson Returns From Sigma Nu Meet

Dr. S. H. Peterson, head of the English department, returned to Corvallis Sunday after attending the Sigma Nu northwest regional convention, which was held April 17, 18 and 19 at Moscow, Idaho. Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington and Wyoming were represented. Better pledge training in line with educational objectives, methods of improving scholarship and finance were covered in the panel discussion in which Dr. Peterson took part.
