Beavers Look Forward to Conference Playoffs

Northern Title Qualifies OSC For Indian Raid

Exact Dates, Place For Stanford Games Are Not Definite

By Al Weiner

With 1942 northern division basketball play wavering in its final death throes as Idaho and Oregon battle for the cellar championship in Eugene, the Oregon State Beavers are undisputed champions, as a result of an overwhelming 53-30 triumph over the University of Idaho last Saturday night.

The title qualifies Oregon State to meet Stanford, winner of the southern division title, in the Pacific Coast conference playoffs, which will be held in California this year.

Stanford, which has lost only one game this season, in a league which includes Southern California, California and UCLA, boasts of one of the strongest teams in its history. In the lineup are three men—Burness, Pollard and Cowden—who played on the last year's southern division championship team that bowed only to Washington State at Pullman. Washington State later went on the barely lose to Wisconsin in the NCAA national championship finals.

Exact Dates Not Set

The exact dates and place of holding the playoffs have not been definitely set as yet, although the tentative dates call for a three-game playoff on March 13, 14 and 16. The games will be played in San Francisco or Oakland which have gym capacities of nearly 10,000 or in Palo Alto, whose gym seats only 2600 spectators.

The basketball championship, Oregon State's second in three years and fourth in ten years, puts the Beavers well on the way towards making a grand slam of northern division major sports, since they also took football last fall.

Saturday night's game, important because the Beavers had to win it to clinch the championship, saw Idaho outclassed from the starting gun to the end of the game.

Playing as though they realized the importance of the tilt, the Beavers ran up a 5-0 lead almost before the bewildered Vandals could get their bearings. Oregon State was "on" and with Beck and Durdan at the guard positions and Valenti at forward, a result-sustaining "fast break" offense rolled up 29 points in the first half to Idaho's 12.

Vandals Held

The Vandals were able to score only three field goals in the entire first period, two by Ted Thompson and one by George Steele. Ray Turner, the Vandals' high scoring center, was guarded

KOAC Sponsors Intellect Bout

"What Da Ya Know" is the name for the new quiz show which will be presented over KOAC tonight. Featured in the main intellectual bout of the evening are three co-eds from the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority versus three male contestants from the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. The time is 5 o'clock.

The living organizations competing are chosen by lot and the contestants are chosen by their respective houses. The intellectual giants from the Phi Gamma Deltas are Charles Crookham, freshman in lower division; Bill Milne, sophomore in lower division, and Emit Woodward, a sophomore in lower division. Representing the Kappa Kappa Gam-

Forman States Rules for Sing

Contest to Be Aired Over Station KOAC

Tillman Forman, senior in secretarial science and head of the interfraternity sing contest, announced that the sing will be broadcast over KOAC at 8 o'clock Thursday night. Sixteen fraternities will gather in the men's gym to participate in the sixth annual sing contest. Each organization will be allowed six minutes to assemble, sing its songs and leave the platform. Each fraternity must sing at least one fraternity song and as many others of its choice as time will allow.

Sig Ellingson will be chairman of the radio program, Forman announced. Other committee chairmen are George Drury, senior in engineering, in charge of judges; Gordon Green, in charge of ushering; and Art Roberts, senior in industrial arts, in charge of trophies.

Rules for the sing are:
1. The number of men participating will be limited to 25 men; this includes the director or song leader. All men must be active members or pledges of the fraternity they represent.
2. The wearing of tuxedos or any tuxedo equipment will be prohibited.
3. The winner will be determined by a committee of three judges who will base their decision on the quality of the singing.

Job Symposium Speaker Has Vital News Interest

By Wanda Turner

He doesn't tell many people about it, but Robert M. Evenden, assistant professor of wood products, formerly originated and edited a trade journal. This fact makes him particularly well qualified to speak at the Job Symposium tonight at 7:15 o'clock in the Memorial Union building 105. Evenden's favorite theme involves the need for a better press and improved general public relations through writing for the western lumber industry. He combined his knowledge of forestry with journalism and started "The Family Tree," a publication of Potlatch Forests, Inc., the largest producers of white pine in the world. This monthly 8-page paper had a circulation of about 3,800 and covered the activities of three plants and the logging woods connected with each.

At the Job Symposium tonight, Evenden will discuss the problems of writing for and editing such company organs. He also will point out other ways to use journalism in the forestry field.

The speaking personnel of the meeting also includes Fred M. Shideler, in charge of the Journalism department, who will be chair-

Yerian Praises OSC Sincerity For Red Cross

The enthusiasm and sincerity of Oregon State students in the American Red Cross war campaign is highly commendable, Dr. C. T. Yerian, head of the secretarial science department, said yesterday in speaking of the campaign on this campus which terminated last week.

Dr. Yerian, who is the Benton county chairman of the American Red Cross, commented how splendidly the leaders of the drive had been working in conjunction with the nation-wide campaign. Over $1300 dollars, which far exceeds the original pledge of $1000, has been collected.

"This success shows a spirit truly characteristic of the American student. As far as I know this was the first student campaign of its kind. The fine thing about it is that it was being conducted by the students and according to their own plans. Their drive was wholly apart from the campaign conducted among college employees and instructors.

This sort of thing coming, as it does, on top of a fine impression made by our 'Rose Bowl' team will only serve to prove that Oregon State students are made of the 'right stuff.' The hours and hours of time given by the organizers of this campaign were spent in behalf of the greatest of all welfare organizations—it is an activity which contributes directly to the welfare of the boys who have gone or will go from the campus," were the comments of Dr. Yerian.

In closing, Dr. Yerian remarked that the colleges and universities throughout the United States will follow the example set up by the students here on the Oregon State campus.

Junior Girls Asked For 'Weekend' Bids

All junior girls interested in the chairmanship of Women's Weekend, scheduled for May 8, 9 and 10, should turn in sealed written applications, Adele Knerr, Associated Women Students president, announced last night.

Applications, stating the qualifications and experience of the writer should be sealed and turned in at the AWS office not later than 5 o'clock, March 6.

The application system is being tried for the first time in AWS activities on this campus. "By this method it is hoped to reach all junior girls interested," Miss Knerr stated.

Dark Victory Ticket Sales Begin Today

All Seats Reserved; Ducat Office Open From 9 to 5 o'Clock

Tickets for the academy award winning play, "Dark Victory," which will be presented by the speech department at the Majestic theater, March 6 and 7, will go on sale today, announced John Botsford, senior in agriculture in charge of sales.

All seats are reserved for 55 and 85 cents, and reservations can be made at the Memorial Union ticket office from 9 to 5 o'clock Tuesday through Saturday or by telephoning campus 100.

Holders of season tickets must present their stubs in exchange for reserved seats and are requested to do so as soon as possible, said Botsford. With their guest ticket and a small charge (reduction from regular price) they may reserve a seat.

Ball Arrangement Made

"Those people who plan to attend the Mortar Board ball Saturday should get their tickets for Friday night early," urged Botsford.

The play, starring Jeanne Hetherington, junior in education, and Marion McCauley, senior in chemical engineering, is a story of Judith Trehearne who has an illness which gives her a limited time to live and her struggle in overcoming the bitterness of approaching death.

Council Contacted

Arrangements have been made with the Interfraternity council to hold the Friday night curtain until 8:30 o'clock so that persons attending the annual banquet may attend the play on either Friday or Saturday nights.

Plans are being made to have a "line party" for all past and present members of National Collegiate players by Miss Elizabeth Barnes, associate professor of speech.

Betty Anderson Describes Fashion

Fashions for spring will be of a sane, simple tempo, forecasted Betty Anderson, sophomore in home economics, on the "Co-ed Hour" Saturday morning. Bright cheerful colors in soft feminine styles will contrast with defense uniforms. Simplicity will be the keynote of the American woman. Slacks, because they are so practical, will be used more and more.

"Preparing for spring," the theme of this week's display in showcases of the home economics building, was described by Miss Anderson. Materials, accessories and sewing machine are being shown to encourage the girls to begin making their spring outfit.

Jeanne Lewis, senior in home economics, commented upon the home economics style show and the place of fashion in defense.

The "yard stick" diet plays an important part to the homemaker in planning nutritional and appetizing meals according to Mary-olne Snarr, sophomore in home economics. The yard stick measures the nutrition in foods.

How to behave on a dinner date was presented in a skit by Eileen Holden, junior in secretarial science.

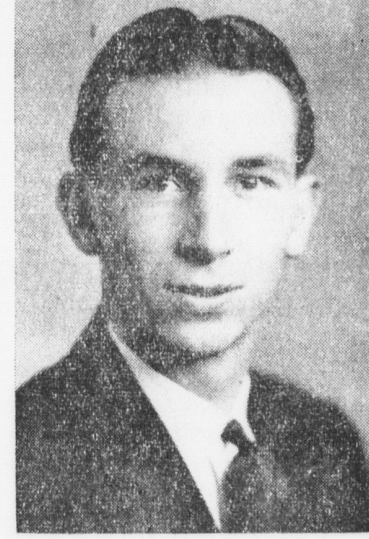

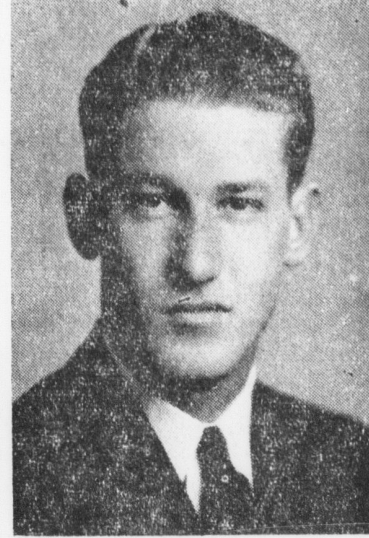

A carnival was suggested for high school students as a means of making money for the Red Cross.

The piano selections, "To a Water Lily" and "An Old Trysting Place" furnished the music for the radio program.

Publication Nominees

Recommended for Barometer and Beaver editors, above, Glen Schaeffer, junior in agriculture; and Howard Kriz, junior in pharmacy. Nominated as business manager for Barometer and Beaver, lower, Don Schmidt, junior in agriculture, and Len Moyer, junior in secretarial science.

Speech Contest Set Wednesday

Winners to Attend District Conference

Defense of the Americas and inter-American trade and travel will be discussed as part of a nation-wide extempore discussion contest Wednesday at 4 o'clock in Shepard hall 201. The six students who demonstrate the greatest ability in expressing their ideas on American affairs and problems will represent Oregon State college at the district conference in Portland on March 18, Carlyn R. Winger, professor of speech said. Six awards of tours to other American republics are planned by the national committee.

Contest Gets Endorsement

The contest, which has received the endorsement of President Roosevelt, is sponsored by the office of the Coordinator of Inter-American affairs, through the National Public Discussions committee. Participation on this campus has been arranged by the department of speech.

Round tables and an extempore-discussion forum are to be held, and many district meets also plan a special Pan-American program and radio broadcasts at the same time. Forty-seven district contests will be held throughout the United States.

Winners Named Delegates

The two outstanding students at each district conference will be sent to one of six regional meetings, the winning student from each regional meeting a delegate to the National Intercollegiate conference on inter-American affairs in Washington, D. C. According to plans all six winners will be awarded a tour of the other American republics.

Any student wishing to secure more information on the contest before the meeting should see Dr. Earl W. Wells, professor of speech, Paul X. Knoll, professor of speech or Carlyn Winger, assistant professor of speech, in Shepard hall.

Exchange Feasts Slated March 28

The traditional Oregon State exchange dinners were scheduled for March 28, by the Standards committee at a meeting yesterday.

All men's living groups are urged by the committee which plans the exchanges to sign up immediately in the dean of women's office if they wish to participate in the exchange dinners.

Prepare to Manage World; Dean Balsam Tells Students

"We will win the war, and be better for having done it, but the grimness is just beginning. College students must prepare themselves to take over the world afterwards," said Dr. L. J. Balsam, dean of men at Reed college, speaking to a gathering of over 1500 independent students in the museum auditorium last night.

The effects of this war must be managed well so we won't have to fight other wars, continued Dr. Balsam. Those people who have a well-balanced life, not altogether intellectual, are able to weather all the troubles in war torn areas. We must steer our emotional life because pure intellect is dead and dry.

College is a gold mine of human resources, and students will succeed who are able to integrate themselves with their fellow human beings. We should use our education as a tool to help us get deeply into things, remarked Balsam.

Dr. Balsam added that we bring to school a minimum of intellect, needed for entrance, and a desire for education. Beyond that, our own human qualities determine how we come out.

College Professors Advised

College professors should have gotten out into an active world and lived for a time before they teach our youngsters, Dr. Balsam commented. He, himself, has spent six years in traveling to the interesting places in the world. Many college students smash their educations because youths and their adult advisers don't understand each other.

Schmidt, Moyer Win Business Head OK's

Recommendations Must Be Approved By Activities Board Before Effective

Glen Schaeffer, junior in agriculture, and Howard Kriz, junior in pharmacy, were recommended as editors of the Barometer and Beaver, respectively, for next year by the publications committee at a meeting last night. Don Schmidt, junior in agriculture, and Len Moyer, junior in secretarial science, were recommended as business managers of the publications.

These recommendations must be approved by the educational activities board before they will be come effective. However, the educational activities board has never failed to approve recommendations of the committee for these positions.

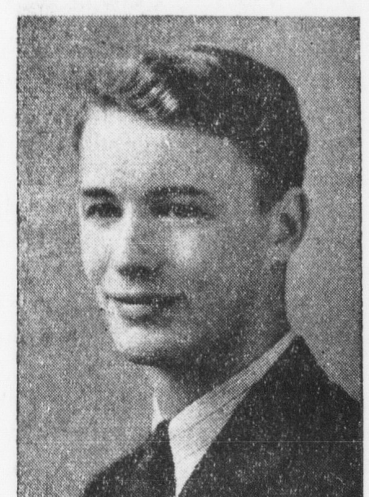

Schaeffer has been night editor, news editor, managing editor and member of the editorial board of the Barometer. He has always been editor of the Ag Journal and has handled several publicity jobs. He has worked on the Barometer staff for three years.

Kriz has been Beaver sports editor, Barometer night editor, member of the Barometer editorial board and has worked on the Beaver for two years.

With three years on the managerial staff of the Barometer, Schmidt has handled advertising, has worked in the office and has worked with the Corvallis business men.

Moyer has been Beaver associate editor, section editor, sales manager, publicity manager, page sales manager and promotions manager. He is a member of the Barometer editorial board, was general chairman of the Red Cross drive and has handled several publicity jobs, including defense bonds and stamps pledging.

Bull Fester

Brent Nyden, sophomore in lower division, will lead the forum discussion.

'Bull Festers' Judge Problems

Lower Division Group Meets at 7:30 o'Clock

Stalin, Chiang Kai-shek, Churchill, Roosevelt—what do these men want? What kind of a world do they propose and what will be the fate of the conquered peoples? What kind of a world will the college students live in? These questions will be discussed at the Lower Division Student bull fest, which will be held in the Varsity O room of the Memorial Union building tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Brent Nyden, chairman of the Lower Division student council will lead in the forum discussion of "Peace Aims."

Argument Discussion

G. A. Bakum, professor of sociology; J. W. Ellison, professor of history; R. H. Dann, associate professor of economics and sociology; and F. A. Margruder, professor of political science will discuss the arguments in behalf of the allies.

A. H. Dehner, instructor in business administration, with the aid of a committee selected by him, will attempt to take the defensive based on the supposition that the axis will be defeated.

Yearly Event

The Lower Division Student Bull-Fest is held each year. The bull-fest is for all college students. Last year's bull-fest was held during International week and representatives from Guatemala, Chile, and Puerto Rico attended the forum. The subject for last year's discussion was "The College Student's Part in America's Relations with South America."

Committee heads for the "Peace Aims" Bull-fest are Clarence Eid, general chairman; Bob Morse, publicity chairman; and Bud Patterson, photography chairman.

Invitations have been sent to students in lower division and all other students are invited to attend this discussion which is sponsored for students.

A New Issue . . .

When the publications committee recommended the new publications heads last night, an issue was brought up that probably has not been brought up since 1918 . . . that it, the likelihood of candidates finishing the following school year. Probably some preference was given to students in advanced military training for this reason.

It has been estimated that freshman enrollment next year will drop to about 500 students which will put a tremendous burden upon these publications heads. If the present military training arrangement is discontinued, it may be impossible to find responsible men students qualified for the positions. If the army takes students now enrolled in military training, new persons may have to take over important positions with little notice.

With this in mind, it has been recommended for publications heads . . . but it may apply to all student leaders . . . that they train other persons . . . preferably co-eds . . . to take over in case they are called into service. Something like this may have to be done to keep the Oregon State student government moving through the war.

Forestry Faculty Attend Meeting

Faculty members of the school of forestry attended a Willamette Valley Lumbermen's association meeting at Eugene, in the Osburn hotel, last Friday night. Tax problems of Oregon were discussed by F. H. Young, manager of Oregon Business and Tax Research Inc., Earl G. Mason, acting dean of the school of forestry, said yesterday.

Young presented tax problems concerning what can and should be done by taxpayers to bring taxpayer opinion to bear on all budgeting and tax levying boards so that every dollar of non-essential public spending will be eliminated from property tax bills payable next November 15, Professor Mason said.

Poultrymen to See Annual Turkey Day

H. E. Cosby, head of the poultry husbandry department, and Noel L. Bennion, extension poultry man, will represent Oregon State college at the Limn County Annual Turkey day at Lebanon, Wednesday. Of special interest at this meeting will be an address by Governor Charles A. Sprague. Professor Cosby will speak on the latest problems of feeding. Farmers will also have the opportunity of hearing a speech by Homer L. Huntington, executive secretary of the National Egg and Poultry association from Chicago. Huntington will speak on "Poultry—Now and Ahead."

Logging Show Planned

Motion pictures of logging operations and talks concerning forestry will be presented before a forestry seminar class at 11 o'clock this morning in the forestry building 302, Earl G. Mason, acting dean of the school of forestry, announced yesterday.

Truman Collins, manager of the Collins estate and president of Pacific Logging company for the past year, and George Flanigan, forester of the Collins estate, will give short talks.

The Collins estate consisting of land in eastern Oregon at Pondosa, in western Oregon at Molalla and in California employed six Oregon State college forestry school seniors last year. Professor Mason said. Collins is one of the outstanding lumbermen in Oregon who put reforestation practices into effect, Mason added.

Anyone who wishes to attend the meeting is invited.

Mrs. Price Will Speak At Westminster Guild

Mrs. F. E. Price, trained nurse and wife of the assistant dean of agriculture, will speak to members of the Westminster guild at its meeting Wednesday at 5:30 o'clock. Mrs. Price will speak on "Our Part in the War" and will explain what coeds on the campus can do in first aid and nutrition to help in the war efforts.

Orleen Koehnke, sophomore in home economics, will lead the devotional portion of the program after dinner. All girls who plan to attend the dinner and meeting are asked to sign on the bulletin board at Westminster house.

Joann Smith, freshman in home economics, Helen Riskey, junior in home economics, and Nancy Someland, sophomore in education, will help with arrangements for the dinner.

'Happy Tragedy' Occurs in Shack

A tragedy that had a happy ending occurred in the animal room of the chemistry building here recently. A mother hamster, a brown rodent, a little smaller than a rat, was accidentally killed when her three babies were only two days old. The babies were put in the same cage with a white rat that had a litter of babies about the same age. The rat mothered them and they have grown faster than they did on their own mother's milk. The little rats are reported to have objected to this due to the fact that the hamsters' teeth develop faster than their own and the hamsters have a habit of sneaking up behind the white rats and biting them.

The hamsters were imported from Palestine, and it is hoped that they will catch diseases that white rats are immune to.

Date Set for Fencing Entries

The intramural all-school fencing tournament will be held Monday, March 9, at 7:30 o'clock. All entries must be turned in to Walter Adrien, assistant professor of physical education, by 6 o'clock Friday afternoon, March 6. Entry undergraduate men on the campus will be eligible other than members of the fencing team and previous winners of the tournament.

Americans Must Work to Win War

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Production Chief Donald Nelson has put it squarely up to the men and women on the production line to win the war.

In a nationwide radio address, Nelson called for a competitive production race among the nation's armament plants. He challenged labor and management to surpass their quotas by exerting what he called "sweat and action" equal to the "blood and action of the battlefield."

Nelson declared production can be boosted at least 25 percent if every machine is kept going full 168 hours a week. Calling for individual initiative and enterprise, Nelson said: "The slaves of Germany and the slaves of Japan are producing arms at a peak which we must equal and then surpass—quickly."

Nelson issued this call to labor and management: "Work as you've never worked before, that we may defeat an enemy more ruthless, brutal and bloody than we ever faced before."

Japs Won't Stage Triumphal Entry

SAN FRANCISCO.—The chief of the Japanese forces in Malaya says he'll wait awhile before staging any triumphal entries. The officer, Lieutenant General Tomoyuk Yamashite, is quoted by the Tokyo radio as saying he would consider a triumphal entry into London but that he does not plan to stage one for the fall of Singapore.

According to the broadcast heard in San Francisco, the general also expressed surprise at the number of British prisoners taken in the capture of the naval base. These, the enemy leader asserted, were in excess of 90,000.

U. S. Tanker Fights Jap Sub

The Twelfth naval district reveals that an American tanker and a hostile craft—presumably a Japanese submarine—fought it out in the Pacific last Saturday until our patrol bombers appeared. The tanker, the William H. Berg, exchanged shots with the enemy vessel 60 miles from the Golden Gate. The berg was not hit, and it is unknown if the enemy vessel suffered any damage.

Careless Talk to Be Eliminated

SAN FRANCISCO.—An undisclosed number of enlisted navy men and civilians have been arrested for "careless talk" considered dangerous to national security. The navy commandant says a determined campaign is under way to stamp out loose talk about ship movements and operations, and movements of naval personnel.

Americans Still Fight in Java

WITH THE AMERICAN AIR FORCES IN JAVA.—The American fliers on Java are weary, red-eyed and fighting mad. They're doing a great job in defending the island. One American flying fortress pilot, who took part in the smashing attacks on the Japanese invasion fleet, told United Press correspondent William H. McDougall: "We let our bombs go and those Japanese transports simply came apart—they disintegrated."

McDougall says the Americans and other allied pilots are fighting against great obstacles.

Although McDougall was near the fighting zone, he says there actually is no front. The Japanese are using their familiar filtering tactics, slipping through the jungles in flanking operations. The Japanese are using armored cars, bicycles and motorcycles. They are said to have landed tanks, but none of those has been reported in operation as yet.

Parker Gies Given 'Service' Cross

An Oregon Stater, Carl Parker Gies, lieutenant in the army air corps, was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross last week for his fighting over Luzon. According to Life magazine, he conducted himself with exceptional heroism against superior enemy forces setting an example for members of his squadron.

Gies came to Oregon State after attending Willamette university until 1934. He attended Oregon State in the school of engineering at different times from 1934 until 1940 when he entered the air corps.

His Alpha Tau Omega brothers say that Gies who is from Salem was an excellent student and that he is an exceptionally good chess player.

Hort Club Members To Be Entertained

Members of the horticulture club will be entertained tonight at the home of Dr. W. S. Brown, head of the horticulture department and Mrs. Brown, 215 North Eighth street. Prof. William A. Schoenfeld, dean of agriculture, will talk before members of the club.

Dr. Brown said that games will be played and the evening will end with the serving of refreshments and the singing of songs. This party will take the place of the annual banquet which is held each winter term. The banquet, according to Dr. Brown, is not being held this year because many seniors in horticulture out of school and the expense of a banquet would be too great for the remaining club members.

HINTS TO FUSSERS

By Connie Cupid
Dear Connie Cupid:
I have to work awfully hard. I do not have time to go on dates with all of my ardent admirers. As a result, all of them plant their pins on other girls.

To date, I have lost three chemical engineers. I would like very much to win a chemical engineer since statistics show that they make the best husbands.

Hopeless Frances B. Dear Hopeless Frances B.: In your case, since you have little time for dates and do not get a chance to know any one boy very well, it would be best to concentrate on just one chemical engineer at a time. By going out with three or four just once in awhile it is impossible to get to really know any of them.

So start out by deciding which one of your chemical engineer admirers you think you would like most and get along with the best. Then accept only his dates, but be subtle about it.

I rather question your point about any one type of profession making the best husbands, but if you want a chemical engineer by all means stick to your decision.

Dear Connie Cupid: What can a fellow do about girls that break dates? I'm sure fellows don't mind being left at home if the gal has a good reason, but it is positively discouraging when you have worked for a month to get a certain date and then she calls up and breaks it. It is still more discouraging to meet her and the other guy coming out of the show together on the night the date was broken. What can a fellow do if he really likes the girl?

Discouraged Your question is centuries old and was asked as often by Romeo Montague in regard to Juliet as it is now by the collegian of 1942 in regard to the modern co-ed.

I agree with you that a broken date is discouraging and is not at all the polite thing or nice thing to do. But on the other hand doesn't it make you feel a little relieved to know, when you see the girl who broke a date with you with another man on the same night, that you did not have to spend the evening with a dissatisfied girl. The fact that she broke a date with you to go out with another man proves to you that she merely said yes to you until a better date came along.

When a girl breaks a date with you merely for a so-called better date it is not advisable to ask her out again. It is a sign that she did not really care for you when she accepted the date. She just wanted a date.

On the other hand if the girl has a plausible and excusable reason for breaking a date give her another chance.

Sorority Secretary Plans 3-Day Visit

Miss Elizabeth C. Spencer, traveling secretary of Sigma Kappa sorority, will arrive this morning for a three-day visit to the Oregon State chapter.

Miss Spencer attended the University of Buffalo for one year and completed work for her degree in government and international law at Cornell university. Since her graduation she has been an account executive in an advertising agency and has been special representative of the Buffalo office of the Ralph C. Coxhead corporation.

Miss Spencer whose hobby is travel has had short stories and travel articles printed and she has been throughout the United States, in Canada, the West Indies and South America.

L. J. Allen, assistant state club leader, reports a f t e r returning from his recent trip through eastern and southern Oregon that there is much 4-H club activity throughout the state.

Allen was in Baker, Malheur, Harney, Lake, Jackson, Josephine and Douglas counties where he worked with county extension agents in connection with 4-H club programs.

Carburetion Conversion Unit Given Recently

A carburetor conversion unit which will be used in the automotive laboratory of the mechanical engineering department was received recently as a gift from the American Liquid Gas corporation of Los Angeles.

The conversion unit, valued at $85, is used for the burning of liquefied petroleum gases in automotive engines. This gas has wide-spread use in California and it is becoming a recognized fuel for heavy duty motor transport.

Oregon State has been active with the investigation of this fuel since 1931. Some of these investigations have been published by W. H. Paul, associate professor of mechanical engineering, and M. N. Popovich, graduate assistant in mechanical engineering, in bulletin No. 15.

Vincent Elected Council Prexy

Walt Vincent, sophomore in science, was elected president of the Westminster executive council Sunday night during the business portion of the forum. Unanimously elected as vice president was Margaret Allison, sophomore in home economics.

Corinne Harpham, sophomore in home economics, and Chirlee Bryant, junior in secretarial science, were elected as secretary and treasurer of the council.

Gertrude Kirsch, sophomore in home economics, was selected as chairman of the social committee. Chairman of the publicity and program committees are Fred Earle, sophomore in forestry, and Bob Barnes, senior in chemical engineering.

The council will hold office during the next year at Westminster. Formal installation will be held at the Stellar Spread on March 20. The first meeting of the council has been set for March 4.

Can Turner Do It?

Will Wally Palmberg's six year record of 187 points for individual scoring in one northern division basketball season be broken by Ray Turner, Idaho's stalwart center?

Some say it will and others think not. A little psychology enters into the picture. How would you feel if you had 19 points to score in two games to break a six year old scoring record? A little nervous, no doubt. Well, if you were to ask Turner, he would probably confess and say, "Yes, very much so."

More than one enterprising basketeer has been on verge of breaking the record but, due to the pressure placed on him by opponents and the very thought of being sure to make every basket attempt count, it was twice as hard to do so.

Ed Lewis, one of Oregon State's basketball immortals, had six points to go to break the scoring record and one game left. It wasn't until the last five minutes of the ball game that Lewis was able to score a single point and then he sank three field goals in a row to take that honor.

Palmberg, though, was just the opposite. He had two games to make 16 points and scored 19 in the first game.

Gale Comes Close

If you will remember a couple of years back, Laddie Gale, Oregon's star hoop player, had four or five points to go in his last game to beat Palmberg's record and then fell short by one point. So, Turner may have a tough time of it. Maybe by the time this is read, Turner will have broken the record or come close to it.

Beaver Matmen Battle to Three-Way Tie in Division Meet

The northern division wrestling meet at Seattle last Saturday ended in a three way tie for first honors between Oregon State, Washington State and the University of Washington. Each of these teams had a total of 31 points while Idaho, the only other team entered, brought up the rear with 14 points.

Three Beaver wrestlers captured northern division titles, two of them retaining their 1941 titles. Jim Merritt won the 155-pound championship for the second year and Darrell Irvin won the 136-pound title also for the second time.

Bob Nielson carried away top honors in the 145-pound class. Although the Beavers tied with the Cougars and the Huskies for first place in the meet, they had three champions on their team as compared with two for both Washington State and one for Idaho.

The results were as follows: 121-pounds, won by Maddox, Washington; Kawasaki, WSC, second; Stewart, OSC, third. 128-pounds—won by Gilbert, Washington; Feikert, OSC, second; Ryncarz, WSC, third. 136-pounds—won by Irvin, OSC; Horsinger, WSC, second; Mattson, Washington, third. 145-pounds—won by Nielson, OSC; Carlock, Washington, second; Rainier, WSC, third. 155-pounds—won by Merritt, OSC; Braman, Washington, second; Ellsworth, Idaho, third. 165-pounds—won by Bennett, WSC; Juran, Idaho, second; Ricker, Washington, third. 175-pounds—won by Rohde, WSC; Look, OSC, second; Hill, Washington, third. Heavyweight—won by Bell, Idaho; Ward, WSC, second.

Keglers Move into Final Round

The concluding round of league bowling in the intramural bowling tournament made prospects good for a very exciting championship round. The championship matches will start tomorrow night.

All leagues have finished their schedules except league F. Lambda Chi Alpha and Phi Delta Theta, of this league, will bowl sometime before the final round gets underway to decide the championship of their league. Lambda Chi Alpha needs only a tie in this last match to give them the top honors.

Hawley Looks Good

Hawley swept their final match with Kappa Sigma, 4 to 0, to take the league B championship. By the virtue of excellent team bowling, Hawley stands a very good chance for the all-school championship.

Although they lost Saturday's match with Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon retained their top standing in league C. In the other league C match, Beta Theta Pi split with Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 2 to 2.

Buxton won its final match with Pi Kappa Phi and at the same time the championship of league D. The match was exceedingly close at all times but Buxton finally emerged the victor by a score of 3 to 1. The other league D match was a walk-away for Alpha Tau Omega. They whipped Kappa Delta Rho 4 to 0.

Theta Xi, last year's tournament champions, retained a chance to repeat when they beat Delta Upsilon 3 to 0, and took over high honors in league E. The other league E match was a low-scoring tie between Beta Kappa and Caithorn.

In the lone league F match, Sigma Nu swept Phi Gamma Delta 4 to 0. Both teams were out of the race for the league championship.

Cosby Plans Speech

Prof. H. E. Cosby, head of the Oregon State college poultry husbandry department, spoke yesterday and will speak today at the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast States Butter, Egg, Cheese and Poultry association at the Multnomah hotel in Portland. Meetings were held Sunday and Monday. A meeting will also be held today.

Oregon State Swim Team Finishes Third in Meet

By Wally Harrison

The Oregon State varsity natators swam to a third place victory in the northern division swimming meet last Saturday afternoon at Eugene. Paul Cumming proved to be the Beaver's best point gainer, totaling 7 1/2 points by taking third place in the 220- and 440-yard free style and third place as a member of the free style relay team.

The University of Oregon took an easy first place by scoring 89 points. The Washington Huskies were runner-ups with 35. OSC took third with 27. Montana was fourth with 8, Washington State in fifth with 7 and Idaho in sixth place with 6.

Jack Robinson of Oregon established a new northern division mark in the 440-yard free style race with a time of 5:06. This breaks the old record of 5:07.9 set by Beckman of Washington in 1939.

Ducks Break Record

In winning the Ducks secured the highest point total in the history of the meet. This also marked the second time any team has won first place in every event. Oregon accomplished this feat before in 1935.

The victory put the Webfeet in a tie for first place honors in the division records. Oregon and Washington each hold four wins while the Beavers were victorious once.

Top scorer of the meet was Gerald Huestis of Oregon, who took a first in the 100-yard free style, third in the 60-yard dash and anchored the 400-yard relay team for an 11 1/2-point total.

Summary:

300-yard medley relay—Won by Oregon (Weitzel, R. Huestis, Nelson); Washington, second; OSC, third; Montana, fourth; Idaho, fifth. Time, 3:04.3.

220-yard free style—Robinson, Oregon, first; Smith, Oregon, second; Cummings, OSC, third; Allen, Oregon, fourth; Margerum, Washington, fifth. Time, 2:19.2.

60-yard free style—Mead, Oregon, first; Barr, Washington, second; G. Huestis, Oregon, third; Stark, OSC, fourth; Becker, Washington, fifth. Time, 0:30.2.

Fancy diving—Wilson, Oregon, first, 315.6 points; Hollingsworth, Idaho, second, 292.8; Corbett, Oregon, third, 288.7; Dodge, WSC, fourth, 259.5; Gallaher, OSC, fifth, 248.1.

100-yard free style—G. Huestis, Oregon, first; Mead, Oregon, second; Barr, Washington, third;

Salem High Swim Team on Rook Menu

The rook swimming team closes its season's competition with a meet against Salem High at the Salem YMCA today at 2:30. This will be the second meet with Salem for the rooks. They won the first by a score of 36 1/2-29 1/2.

In the only other meets of the season for the freshmen, they have won one and lost one against the Oregon frosh. Coach Jack Hewit will take a full squad with him. They are Bob Percifield, Bob Lee, Wally Sterling, Bob Boardman, Jim O'Conner, John Karamanos, Dick Bechtold and Pete Hauser, captain.

OSC Takes Hoop Title After Top Grid Prize

Jack Vermuel, Sports Editor The Barometer

With the northern division conference all over but the shouting, Oregon State again comes out on top of the heap with all the trophies and title honors. One could say it is almost becoming a habit.

First, in the fall, the Beavers coming from behind, captured the Pacific Coast football conference in a close race with the winner not determined until the last game.

Then came the selection of the Beavers to be the western representative in the annual New Year's day Rose Bowl game at Pasadena. Duke university, rated second best team in the nation, was chosen as the Beavers' opponent. All the "eggsperts" picked Duke as a cinch to win, but were they in for a surprise!

Just when the Oregon State student body was ready to move bag and baggage to the sunny south, the army said nix on having so many people concentrated in one place, so, the game was moved to Durham, N.C., and the Beaver student body stayed home, no one having the cash to make such a trip.

The eventful day arrived and you know what happened. Oregon State, playing their best game of the season, convincingly downed the previous unbeaten, untied Blue Devils, 20 to 16.

Now, again the Beavers take the limelight. This time the basketball team comes into the picture. Under the able tutelage of Coach Slats Gill, the Oregon State hoopsters wound up on top of one of the closest northern division basketball races in many years. Now they will travel south, this time to play Stanford University for the Pacific coast championship. Can they annex this title too? We are pulling for you fellows! Go to it.

POT-SHOTS

By Bud Conrad

Yes, that's right. The northern division hoop race is all over and the big boys have declared open season on all-star, dream team, all-northern division, or whatever else you want to call it LINE-UPS. So don't blame this column if your HERO isn't listed because with so many teams being picked, the LAW OF AVERAGE will find him on somebody's roster. Just remember, it's all in the way you look at it. Here goes:

First Team: Forward Gilberg, WSC; Forward Turner, Idaho; Center Mandic, OSC; Guard Morris, Wash.; Guard Durdan, OSC; Second Team: Forward Dement, OSC; Forward Bishop, WSC; Center Gilmur, Wash.; Guard Andrews, Oregon; Guard Gebert, WSC.

Alternates: Wren and Jackson, Oregon; Dalthrop and Leask, Washington; Thompson, Idaho; Beck and Valenti, OSC.

The Reasons
MARVIN GILBERG. This boy's ruggedness and height made him one of the high scorers of the conference as well as Jack Friel's spearhead of the Cougar defense. He is only a junior but worked like a seasoned veteran all season. Has a variety of shots and is equally versed in defensive tactics.

RAY TURNER. Here is a lad who has to be on anybody's first team for the simple reason that he is the league's leading scorer. Has been called such names as "point nuts" and "bucket hungry" because of the large number of field goal attempts. Plays on the theory that "you have to shoot to make 'em." However, he was the main reason for Idaho beating every team in the division at least once (exclude OSC). He would be greatly welcomed by any coach in the nation, regardless.

JOHN MANDIC. Anyone who has seen this bronzed, sinewed powerhouse of a ball hawk in action knows that he's not only good but GREAT. Made All-N. D. his sophomore and junior years, and there's every reason to believe he won't be left off the All-American team this year. A smooth working, natural athlete from the word "go". One of the best coordinated hoopers ever to toe a foul line. You could plaster his name on every sign board in the country and he'd be just the same kid all year.

BOBBY MORRIS. The effectiveness of Hee Edmundson's running attack was centered around this Husky. Not the deadliest shot in the league, he still managed to hit the hoop enough to be classed as an offensive threat. Catlike in actions, there isn't a more aggressive guard in the business. His quick ball handling around the keyhole provided many shots for his teammates Dalthrop and Ford. Was Oregon State's big thorn when they used a zone defense.

DON DURDAN. That trite word "sparkplug" is always mentioned in regard to Durdan. He provided that inexplicable "something" in the Oregon State line-up that carried it to the title. This southpaw hooper is the "feeder" of the Gill system. Although a master of the push shot, himself.

Durdan's effectiveness was evidenced by the high scoring of John Mandic. He is the man that makes this all-star team complete, for he is truly a team player and any PRACTICAL team has to have one of this kind.

We said at the beginning "It's all in how you look at it."

Basketball

Breaking a 12 to 12 tie at the end of the third quarter, the senior class team forged ahead in the last quarter to be the first team to defeat the freshmen hoopers by a score of 26 to 14, Saturday at 1 o'clock in the women's building.

The teamwork of the senior forwards was outstanding, especially that of Margaret Milliken, senior in education, who played hard, fast and accurately to be high scorer with 14 points. Roberta Winston, senior in education, again caused a havoc among the opposition forwards with her close guarding. Both teams played "man to man" almost exclusively.

The gallery of observers seemed to have excited the rookies so that they became tense and played too hard. Lois Young, freshman in home economics, caused the senior guards no end of trouble. Barbara Mattison, freshman in secretarial science, was high scorer with 6 points for the freshmen.

Waldo hall became the 1942 interhouse basketball champion Saturday when the Snell hall team failed to show up and so defaulted on the game.

Waldo was undefeated in the interhouse tournament. The Waldo team will challenge the winners of the interclass tournament according to Nan Morrow, junior in education and captain of the team.

A basketball clinic was held in the women's building Saturday in order that people interested in this field of sports may become better acquainted and to stabilize basketball playing and officiating for women in Oregon. The schools participating were Oregon State college, University of Oregon, Oregon College of Education at Monmouth, Linfield college and Pacific university.

The program began at 11 o'clock in the women's building with a panel discussion on "Physical Fitness." The members of the panel were Winifred Martin, post-graduate in education, chairman; Margaret Milliken, senior in education, and Nan Morrow, junior in education, from Oregon State and Ethyl Dickson and Dorothy Gustafson from the University of Oregon.

Luncheon was served in the women's athletic association's social room in the women's building.

Teams from the various colleges represented played games so that students could be tested for their national officials basketball rating.

Billy Bowes Takes Downhill In Coast Meet

Paced by Bill Bowes, who took first place in the downhill race, Oregon State's ski team placed fourth in the Pacific Coast intercollegiate championships held at Badger Pass in Yosemite park, California.

The University of Nevada captured first place by the virtue of combined team winnings in the slalom, downhill, jumping and cross-country events in the three-day meet.

Taking second was the University of California with Stanford third and UCLA fifth.

Hanley Shoots 96 To Break Record

James D. Hanley, senior in engineering, shot a score of ninety-six in standing position to break which, according to Lester Jamerson, ROTC rifle coach, is all-time Oregon State college rifle record in a postal match fired last week against the University of California. Dave Gross, senior in engineering, has also shot this score in practice, but his score could not be recorded as official.

The Beavers defeated the University of California with a total score of 1891 to 1774. In this match the scores of the five high men of a team of ten were recorded.

Individual scores for OSC were as follows:
Bever, D. N. 380
Ross, W. R. 380
Hanley, J. D. 378
Gross, D. F. 378
Southworth, J. W. 375
Total 1891

In an earlier five-day postal match Oregon State, with a score of 3648, lost to Washington State who chalked up a 3746 and the University of Washington who scored a total of 3680. In this match scores of the ten high men of a 15-man team were recorded. Scores of the two other teams have not been received.

Individual scores were:
Dodge, F. 376
Hanley, J. D. 378
Morris, T. N. 373
Ross, C. D. 367
Kanzler, H. W. 365
Thurman, H. 361
McNeal, F. H. 361
McAlvage, E. M. 361
Levitt, L. 358
Withycombe, J. W. 358
Total 3648

During the past week the Oregon State rifle team has been participating for the Hearst Rifle Match, which is one of the important matches of the year. Three five-man teams will be entered from Oregon State college, but as yet the team members are unannounced.

Targets for this match have six bulls-eyes and just one shot is to be fired at each bull. The first shot is a sighting shot, and the other five are to count thus making a possible score of 50 points. One target will be fired in each position: prone, sitting, kneeling and standing.

After the team members have completed their scores the targets will be sent to Washington, D. C., where they will be scored, and these scores will be entered in competition with other colleges throughout the United States.

The Oregon State rifle team is expected to rank near the top in this match. While few of the team members have had such previous experience at target shooting, scores now being turned in indicate an improvement over previous years. The Oregon State team has never won the Hearst Trophy, but the popular opinion is, "This is the year to do it."

Addresses Independents

Dr. L. J. Balsam, dean of men and professor of sociology at Reed college, who was the featured speaker at the Independent student meeting last night.

Reversia Stubs Sellout to Coeds

Boutonnieres Placed On 'Restricted' List

A complete sell-out of Mortar Board ball tickets was announced last night by Mary Boals, senior in education and chairman of ticket sales.

No tickets are available at present for campus women, continued Miss Boals. Those who still wish to purchase Mortar Board ball tickets should sign a list in the dean of women's office. If tickets are turned in during the week they will be available to the women who have signed on this list.

As was formerly stated, tickets were held until 6 o'clock Monday night for those who had signed up for tickets, Miss Boals said. After 6 o'clock tickets were available to those off-campus women who had been put on a waiting list.

There is a limited number of tickets. Requests for them will be filled according to the order in which the requests were received, stated Miss Boals. Tickets for those on the off-campus waiting list will be available in the Memorial Union ticket office between 5 o'clock and 6 o'clock today.

"Not that we love them less," one of the Mortar Board members remarked, but because no flowers are worn to all-school dances, boutonnieres should not be sent.

Beavers Look to Stanford

so closely by John Mandic that two points by free throws were the extent of his scoring.

At the opening of the second half, Idaho showed signs of life by dropping in five baskets to one for Oregon State, to bring the score to 32-22. This, however, was as close as they got, as Beck, McNutt and Mandic began hitting again. The Orangemen had 43 points before Idaho could score another point.

Mandic, Beck Share Honors

John Mandic and Lew Beck shared high point honors for the game with 12 apiece, while Ted Thompson scored 11 for Idaho.

Turner, who has previously been Idaho's scoring kingpin, was checked to six points all evening. This total, added to his previous total of 163 points, gives him 169 points, 19 short of beating Wally Palmberg's northern division scoring record of 187. He has two games with Oregon in which to score the 19. (Note: Turner scored 10 points in the first Oregon game Monday night, leaving 9.)

The summaries:

Oregon State (53)	Ft	Pf	Pt
Dement, f	2	2	6
Valenti, f	3	2	8

Style Revised For Lamplighter

An entirely revised type of Lamplighter will go on sale in about 10 days, according to Carl Salser, editor of the magazine. "Students seem to feel," continued Salser, "that the Lamplighter has been devoted too exclusively to literary features in the past. The March issue will combine more humor and local Oregon State happenings along with the usual stories."

Oregon State, Harvard and Stanford are the only major institutions of higher education in the United States that publish a strictly literary magazine, Salser added. The Lamplighter will not lose this rating by the coming revision but will attempt to interest a larger majority of readers.

About 60 or 70 percent of the nation's colleges and universities buy "canned" humor and stories, that is, their material is supplied by various sources instead of being largely original as in the case of the Lamplighter, Salser said. The magazine receives no financial aid from the college whatsoever, but must rely on subscriptions for revenue.

"This month the Lamplighter will offer a $5 prize for the best freshman contribution, either prose or poetry."

Forman States Rules for Sing

sions on such things as organization, diction, harmonization and artistic rendering.

4. Professional aid should not be sought or accepted to any degree past that of arranging the songs that are to be sung.

5. Piano or other musical instrument accompaniment will not be permitted. The piano may be used to sound the pitch.

6. The winning fraternity will receive the rotating cup and permanent trophy given by the Interfraternity council. The second place winner will receive a permanent trophy and the third place winner will receive a permanent plaque.

7. All fraternities intending to participate must draw for position in the singing competition. The drawing will be held at the information desk in the Memorial Union Wednesday, March 4, at 5 o'clock.

8. All groups should be in place in the men's gym promptly at 7:45 o'clock. Any group which is late and does not appear until after its turn to sing will be required to sing last. The various groups will sit in rows according to the time they are to sing with the first group in the first row of the center section.
