Yerian's Class Hears Lecture

Comparison Drawn On Various Fields

Jack Cohen, advertising director of Meier and Frank company of Portland spoke to Dr. Yerian's advertising class at 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning on national and retail advertising. Cohen is the third speaker secured by Dr. C. T. Yerian, acting head of the school of secretarial science, to address his class on the practical side of advertising.

Cohen said that national advertising can be compared to the job of getting out a monthly magazine, and the job of retail advertising to that of getting out a daily newspaper.

Robinson Next Speaker
The advertising department of a department store is actually a service department, helping the whole store to do more business. Advertising is also being used extensively by the government in its present war effort. The treasury department advertises its bonds and other government securities, and private business advertising personnel have been drafted into this public service.

Cohen, at the close of his speech, said that when this war is over, Americans will want new things, new cars and clothes, ranges and tennis rackets, draperies and shoes. They are going to buy all these things somehow and experience has proved that the manufacturer or the store which tells its message truthfully, consistently, and powerfully will get the cream of the business.

Government Uses Advertising
H. B. Robinson, of the Robinson-Morris Engraving company, will be the next speaker at Dr. Yerian's class. Robinson, '21, will speak May 18 on advertising in his particular field of publishing.

Joe Mitchell, '37, announcer on KOIN, will speak on radio advertising May 22. Anybody is welcome to hear either of these talks, Dr. Yerian said.

3 OSC Men Compete In AIEE Contest

Hugh Fleming, Glen Bredemeier and Ed Sidor, seniors in electrical engineering, are entering the annual student research contest sponsored by the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, A. L. Albert, professor of communication engineering, announced yesterday.

Albert, who is faculty advisor of the local student branch of the AIEE, said that Oregon State students have won the national prize five times in 13 years. In 1940, William H. Huggins, now research associate in electrical engineering, won over competitors from 123 engineering schools to win the $100 award. In the Pacific northwest, Oregon State has topped the field ten times out of 13.

Students entering the competition this year will present their research papers at a session Saturday night before students and faculty of the electrical engineering department, as well as a group of professional engineers from Portland. This session will take place at 8 o'clock in Memorial Union 105 and is the concluding feature of a joint meeting between the local student branch and the Portland section of the AIEE.

ASCE Award Winners Will Be Named

Winners of prizes for the best thesis written by seniors in civil engineering at Oregon State college will be announced at a meeting of the Oregon section of the American Society of Civil Engineers at the University club in Portland at 8 o'clock tonight. Winners will discuss their theses before the group. Initiation fees to the society will be given as prizes.

Satire on College Life Theme of 'State Apoppin'

Every scene's a scream... it's a bangeroo, it's a howleroo... that's the way Hollywood press agents would describe "State's apoppin'." And why not? This campus weekend frolic breezes through four acts of riotous comedy, all Oregon State college inspired, Saturday night at 8:45 o'clock is the time; the men's gymnasium the place.

Fellas will have a chance to find out just how the co-ed classify them. For instance, there is the Portland man... soooo smooth, he thinks. Then there's the lads from the high-country, and the good old California product.

The sorority rushing scene brings a deluge of those catty remarks, and oh, so frank comments. If the football players recognize scene three as the locker room at the Rose Bowl game, they'd better blush, that's all. Mint juleps, darky servants, and some way or other another Cleo Stanifer gets a part in that act.

Priorities are blessed events when war hits OSC in the finale of "State's apoppin'." Depicting the campus of '44, after this scene Registrar Lemon can right

Cay Gesas, comedian in "State's Apoppin'."

Log Spinners Set for Action

"Brrr the water is cold," is the familiar expression that rebounds when the "brave beaver boy" tries to climb back onto the triky log. Because of rain the past three weeks, Mary's river ran high and cold. Similarly, the boys spirits have been slightly dampened, but not diminished. In spite of difficult conditions, the log burlers have been anxiously looking forward to Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the 1942 champion log rollers of Oregon State college will be determined.

Men competing for the championship trophy are Neal Spencer, freshman in engineering; Dave Burwell, sophomore in forestry; Collier Buffington, junior in forestry; Keith Clark, junior in forestry; Ed Saunders, junior in engineering, and Paul Bunyan. These men hail from the Ponderosa Pine region of eastern Oregon, Douglas fir region of Washington to the Sugar Pine area of California.

In addition there will be presented a colorful exhibition of expert log rolling by Bette Berkeley and Kathryn Gotherier from Longview, Wash., to highlight the contest. Bette, national champion, aided by her friend Kay, will show Oregon Staters how seemingly effortless it is to ride a spinning, half submerged log.

By the enthusiasm shown so far, this year's log rolling contest promises to fit in nicely with other events scheduled for campus weekend.

Alpha Xi Delta Dance Features Hal Hardin

Music by Hal Hardin from Eugene, playing for the Alpha Xi Delta annual spring formal dance, will be broadcast over KWLL tonight from 9:15 to 9:30 o'clock.

Each year the Alpha Xi Delta chapter of Alpha Xi Delta holds a spring formal as a farewell to the senior members. The dance will be from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock at the Benton hotel.

Chaperones will be Mrs. R. S. Eakin, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Schumacher.

Wesley Foundation To Sponsor Picnic

Wesley foundation will sponsor a picnic tonight at Avery park instead of the regular party in Wesley hall. Mary Jo Cox, sophomore in home economics, is general chairman for the picnic.

Everyone wishing to attend is asked to bring his own lunch. The group will meet at the Methodist church at 5:30 o'clock, but anyone is welcome to come out to the park later.

A full evening of entertainment that will include baseball and other games has been planned.

Lightweight Crew Names Pat Clark Co-ed Coxswain

Pat Clark, Kappa Alpha Theta was chosen unanimously by the lightweight crew yesterday to be its coxswain in the co-ed coxswain race this Saturday.

Marjorie Street, Independent; Ruth Judd, Sigma Kappa; Jean Pearce, Alpha Delta Phi; Pat Shields, Gamma Phi Beta; and Jo Hector, Phi Beta Pi were selected by the varsity crew as finalists for their co-ed coxswains.

These girls were selected from a group of more than twenty girls, that had been selected from women's living groups on the campus. In choosing the co-ed coxswains they were taken to the crew house on the Willamette river yesterday and given the opportunity to act as coxswain in shells. Judging from their performance in regard to steering the shell, and other things that a coxswain must know, the rowing club elected the co-ed coxswain candidates.

By far the most outstanding boat guider was Pat Clark, who steered her shell as if she were an expert at being a coxswain. The lightweight crew, which has yet to choose a final co-ed coxswain from its candidates will do so today.

The co-ed coxswain race which is scheduled as a part of the water sports program will be held on the Willamette river Saturday at 3:30 o'clock.

Library Exhibits Personal Gift Books

Books personally presented to the library as gifts are now on display on third floor of the Oregon State library.

Two $100 defense bonds presented by alumni of the college are exhibited with the collection. "A Way to Get Health" published in 1963 was a gift to the library by Mrs. R. H. Dearborn, wife of R. H. Dearborn, dean of engineering.

"Travels to the Source of the Missouri River and Across the American Continent to the Pacific Ocean" by Captains Lewis and Clark is shown in the case. It was published from the official report of Lewis and Clark, famous early American explorers. This book, presented by a member of the faculty, was printed at Paternmaster Row, London.

'Time Capsule'
"The Time Capsule" was presented by the Westinghouse Electric company. It is an account of universal achievements which were shown in the New York worlds fair exhibits. "Before Oregon Had Banks" was presented to the library by the United States National Bank of Portland on the 75th anniversary of their founding. The book tells of early days in Portland before banks were established there. Two books on the linen industry in England were presented by R. H. Dann, associate professor of economics and sociology. "The Diamond Mines of South Africa" was a gift from the McCaskey collection.

Lewis Gave Volumes
"English Pleasure Gardens" and "Italian Villas and Their Gardens" were gifts of the late C. I. Lewis, professor of horticulture. "In the Light of Myth," given by Professor Berchtold, past head of the English department, contains information about many of the ancient myths.

"I Really Have Lived" by Beuss was presented by Lieutenant Cherry Briggs of Monterey, Calif. Briggs is a former student of Oregon State college.

Co-op Receipts Due

Students are requested to turn in their Co-op bookstore receipts today and Saturday so that the rebate can be figured as soon as possible. Please place them all in one envelope furnished by the Co-op.

Anyone not already a member of the association, may pay his dues at the time receipts are handed in.

Banquet, Pledging Held by Rho Chi

Rho Chi, national pharmaceutical honor society, held its annual initiation last night followed by a banquet at the Golden Pheasant restaurant. Those initiated were Betty J. Adam Lorraine B. Albus, seniors, Richard A. Faye, Theodore N. Morris, Laurence E. Sawyer, Wendell Stalker and Marion F. Walley, juniors.

Harris, Smith Expect Degrees At Evanston

Two of last year's Oregon State graduates in education who continued their training in journalism at the Medill school of journalism at Northwestern university this year, expect to receive their master's degrees in journalism from the Evanston institution this summer, according to word received here.

Irwin Harris, last year's Beaver editor and long-time Barometer staff member, and Harry Smith, editor of the Student Directory, former Oregonian correspondent and Barometer staff member, are the two Oregon Staters who are completing their graduate work at Northwestern.

Harris has received offers of positions on the sports staff of the Chicago Daily News, the Minneapolis Star-Tribune, the Mason City (Ia.) Globe-Gazette and the Midland (Mich.) Daily News, but is reluctant to accept any of these because of his desire to get back to the Pacific northwest.

Smith has already enlisted in the navy and is working in the public relations office of the naval aviation cadet selection board in Chicago's loop. Both he and Harris will receive their degrees as soon as they complete their thesis in June.

This makes four Oregon Staters who have completed graduate work in journalism at Northwestern in recent years and who have gone on into good journalistic positions. Hope Chamberlin Garnjobst, who received her master's degree in 1940, is now handling publicity for a Chicago advertising firm, and Hank Garnjobst who is winding up his thesis work this year, is with the public relations department of the American Lumber and Treating company in Chicago.

Student Activities Reviewed at Banquet

Activities of graduates and students in landscape architecture were reviewed at the spring initiation banquet of Kappa Kappa Alpha, art honor society, held at the Benton hotel Thursday night.

Past members with whom it has been possible to keep in contact were reported by W. Dorr Legg, assistant professor of landscape architecture, in various war activities.

E. Clair Heilmann, '26 in landscape architecture, is a site planner and housing consultant with offices in Seattle and branches in Bremerton, Tacoma, and Vancouver. He employs former Oregon State college students Lloyd Bond, Ronald Craton, Bob Alexander, Charles Tyson, Josephine Lumm, James Gray and Bill Davies.

Alumni In Service
Cassius Beardsley, '33 in landscape architecture, is connected with the United States engineers, camouflage section in Seattle.

Neal Butterfield, '33 in landscape architecture, has been with the National Park Service in Washington, D. C., for a number of years. Before this emergency work, he inspected properties all over the U. S. under consideration for parks.

Donald Martel, class of '41, is with the U. S. army engineers, Portland, in the camouflage section.

Edward Lovell, '41 in agriculture, a lieutenant at Fort Lewis, is engaged in training enrollees.

In Other Fields
Jean McDaniel, '26 in landscape architecture, is teaching landscape design at South Gate high school, Los Angeles.

Ruth Shellhorn, '30 in landscape architecture, is a member of the American Society of Landscape Architecture with an office in Los Angeles. When the landscape architecture field trip visited Los Angeles last spring, Miss Shellhorn showed places she had done in Los Angeles, Hollywood and Pasadena.

Max Walliser, '28 in landscape architecture, is with the National Park service with headquarters in San Francisco. Last year he exhibited a collection of water colors on the campus.

Outdoor Dinner Will Replace Campus Picnic

This year's Campus weekend luncheon has been replaced with a Campus weekend supper. During the convocation which will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday in either the armory or on lower campus, a picnic lunch will be served.

Managers of the organized living groups have been contacted by Gordon Green, junior in mechanical engineering and chairman of the luncheon, and arrangements have been made so that it is possible for every Oregon Stater to attend.

Members of fraternities and sororities will get their lunches from the individual houses, girls living in Waldo and Waldo Annex will obtain theirs from Miss Ann H. Sims, those in Snell hall from Mrs. Harriet Staley. Students living in the men's dormitories will obtain their lunches from Mrs. Helen S. Cunningham. Men's and women's co-op members may get theirs from their managers. All other students may purchase picnic tickets at the Memorial Union ticket office.

Green has announced that everyone must have a ticket in order to obtain a lunch at the picnic. Students not living in organized groups should bring their lunches to the Memorial Union ticket office early Saturday and purchase a 10 cent ticket at that time.

Lunches will consist of sandwiches, salad and cookies. Ice cream and orangeade will be distributed by the Talons and Thanes under the direction of Green and Jean Ream, sophomore in lower division and president of Talons.

To maintain a clean campus, everyone has been requested to place all waste in the receptacles provided.

11 Men Initiated To Tau Beta Pi

Eleven men were initiated into Tau Beta Pi national honor society in engineering, last night in the spring initiation ceremonies held in the Memorial Union.

J. R. McCulloch, special agent from the Portland Federal Bureau of Investigation office, was the guest speaker at the banquet held in the M. U. tea room immediately following the initiation. He spoke on the history and present work of the F.B.I., particularly in reference to the combating of sabotage, espionage, and similar subversive activities.

Included among the initiates were R. H. Baldock, chief engineer of the Oregon State Highway commission, who was initiated by this chapter as an alumnus although he is a graduate of the University of Colorado. He was initiated by virtue of his election to membership by the Portland alumni chapter of Tau Beta Pi.

Other initiates were Steven Akin, senior, and Frank Youkum, Delroy Rynning, Robert Barnes, Eugene Matson, John Duffy, Edmund Fearey, Clarence Bennett, Leslie Webb and Wonal Kennedy, juniors.

Before becoming members the men were required to submit a 500-word paper on a subject of their own choosing, pass a written examination, and collect the signatures of all student and faculty members of Tau Beta Pi.

William Bentley, senior in electrical engineering, was named as the winner of last fall's competition for the best paper submitted by an initiate.

Annual Tug-of-War Set for Saturday

Rooks, Sophs Hurl Challenges As Both Claim Sure Victory

It won't be long now before the students know who is rougher and tougher, the sophomores or the rooks. The tug-of-war tomorrow will prove which class boasts the most Charles Atlas material.

Jerry Herberger, sophomore captain, wrote a challenge cramped full of insults to the freshmen last week. Saturday George Dewey, freshman captain, retaliated with a stinging retort insinuating that the sophomores had the tug-of-war figured out all wrong, the rooks were a cinch to win.

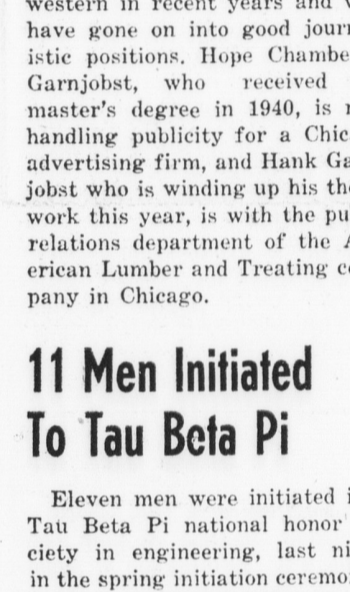

Two thousand pounds of bone, muscle and maybe a little fat will be sweating and straining on each side of the mill race Saturday afternoon at the rook-sophomore tug-of-war. Instead of the usual ten men on each side, plans have been made to have two tons of man power weighed in for the tussle. Most of the football players will be absent from the event as they will be playing the gracious hosts at the state high school track meet. There will probably be a frantic search for brawny 200 pound lads on both sides.

No kidding, the fellows that "tug" have to have medical certificates—and by the way, so does every one else who participates in the flag rushing. There will be a two minute intermission between the tug-of-war and the flag rushing so all the boys can whip out their vitamin pills and cans of spinach and renew their energy for the next fight.

A big new feature, just to make it harder, will be the absence of footholds. All the boys are supposed to wear tennis shoes. Hope it's not muddy.

The weighing of the boys is of considerable importance; the number doesn't matter. There can be twenty 100 pounders on one side or ten 200 pounders or maybe they'll be chosen for their personality, as long as the combined weight equals one ton. All the rooks and sophs should turn out and cheer their team on, 'cause whichever side wins will prove they have the most muscle—and the least fat.

Jacoby Loses Life In Air Tragedy

The recent tragic death in an air accident in Australia of Melville Jacoby, Time and Life war correspondent, was sad news to Ed Burchell, '39 in education and former editor of the Barometer.

Lieutenant Burchell, now company commander at Camp Albert Angell CCC at Waldport, became acquainted with Jacoby while they both were delegates to the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional society in journalism, at Madison, Wis., in 1938, according to a letter received from Burchell by Fred M. Shiedeler, associate professor of journalism.

"Jacoby was Stanford university's delegate to the convention that I attended in Madison," Burchell writes. "He and I served on the same committee at the convention and we became very well acquainted. We went on to Chicago and spent a couple of days there."

"Jacoby made the first contacts for the job that later led to his death while we were in Madison. I can recall a conversation that we had with Elmo Scott Watson (later national president of the fraternity and editor of the Publishers' Auxiliary) about China as a good location for a budding young foreign correspondent. I corresponded with Jacoby for about a year after the convention but eventually lost contact with him."

Lieutenant Burchell reports that the CCC camp at Waldport that he expects to be released to the regular army for duty with troops "and maybe I will get into some excitement before long."

Pledging Announced

Alpha Sigma Phi wishes to announce the pledging of Robert A. Abel, freshman in science.

Teaching Lecture Given Graduates

Earl R. Cooley, state supervisor of agricultural education, conferred with graduate students yesterday about teaching vocational agriculture next year. Students in both agriculture and agricultural education discussed their qualifications for replacing those teachers who have been called for active military service.

H. H. Gibson, professor of agriculture engineering, traveled throughout the state last month contacting men who were interested in teaching. Cooley and Gibson discussed these men for the teaching positions.

Lutheran Picnic Set

Members and friends of the Lutheran Student association will hold a joint picnic with the Oregon university branch Sunday at Avery park.

Chairman of the various committees for the picnic are Hattie Pearson, freshman in secretarial science, program; Kari Grimstad, sophomore in secretarial science; and Gudrun Pedersen, sophomore in lower division, refreshments; Boyd Handelin, junior in engineering, recreation.

Those planning to attend are asked to meet at the LSA cottage, 15 and Van Buren streets at 4:45 o'clock Sunday.

Webber Will Play For Rally Dance

Weber Will Play For Rally Dance

Walt Weber's orchestra will furnish the music for this term's rally dance of the term to be held aftermoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in the Memorial Union ballroom, announced Esther Weibel, junior in secretarial science and a member of the rally committee.

Don Hall, general chairman for Campus weekend, and his committee heads will be at the dance to tell a few highlights of the program planned for Saturday, Miss Weibel said.

Rumor's Rest

With only two weeks of the term left, classrooms continue to furnish a better barometer of spring weather than the weather man's censorship permits him to print. Picnics and busts continue to run scholastic endeavors a close race with some juniors showing up at their 8 o'clocks yesterday bleary eyed and suffering from mild cases of nicotine fits.

Much of the term's total grade will be determined by the work completed during the next two weeks if the attitude of some professors has not changed since the noble experiment last term of no special final week. It is probably quite difficult for some professors to do little else than to give regular two hour finals instead of frequent tests during the term. The sentiment which seemingly forced some of them to give the same final and the same set of lecture notes for ten years is probably more difficult to overcome than conserving gas and tires and switching to bicycles during the emergency period.

While talking of professors and their whims, some forestry professors continue to confide in their students concerning their ideas of the shortcomings in the forestry department, each presenting his one-sided view in support of the faction to which he belongs. Students presenting requests for transcripts of their credits are not all merely protesting against the situation the school is now in; some have definite plans of transferring to colleges or universities which they believe will furnish them better training in their particular fields in forestry.

In the slopping tide of rumors, idle and at work, one hears ripples of big bad political leaders planning for the coming year by forming blocks against blocks. Others have been content to close this political year with various busts and a wish that they might return for another year to show some so and so's how to really run politics. It is well to plan but now we have a new set of student officers who deserve the full cooperation of every Oregon Stater, regardless of party affiliations or inter-party grudges.

The fashion award of the day will go to the junior cadet sergeant seen parading about MU quad decked out in a pair of anemic demens and a regulation military hat, shirt and insignia.

The favorite speculation at Snell hall is a wild guess concerning what new means will be used to conserve sugar. One of the most unpopular as yet was presented for dessert Wednesday night.... a dish of unsweetened grapefruit topped by two marachino cherries.

Perhaps Ling Po of the sports staff should be consulted first, but a conservative guess on the weather for this weekend would be a repetition of the pranks played by Jupe and the elements for our Mothers last week. In Oregon it is comforting to know that it does rain occasionally.... more comforting than to be perpetually parched by the propaganda distributed in chamber of commerce bulletins from the state to the south.

Chemical Society To Hold Meeting

The University of Oregon branch of the American Chemical society will hold a meeting in the chemistry building on the university campus at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dr. C. H. Secoy will discuss "The Chlorine Monoxide Water Equilibrium," and Dr. Pierre van Rysselberghe will talk on "Some Observations on the Electrochemistry of Aqueous and Non-aqueous Solutions of Magnesium Salts." Both men are university faculty members in the chemistry department.

Anyone interested in going should contact Glen C. Ware, instructor in chemistry, before tonight.

Canners Go to Salem

Members of the canning plant equipment class will leave the food industries building at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon for a field trip to Salem.

This trip is to acquaint the students with the equipment used in canning operations, as well as type construction of the buildings and the general layout of the equipment.

Arrangements are being made by Tom Onsdorff, associate professor of food industries, who will accompany the students on the tour.

Science Club Elects Wallace President

Hugh Wallace, junior in science, was elected president of the science club last night at the club's annual picnic at Avery park, announced Martin Packard, senior in science, outgoing president. Other officers elected were Barbara Grafton, junior in science, vice president; Patricia Hackett, freshman in lower division, secretary, and Lorraine Termeer, sophomore in education, treasurer.

Students Entertained At Professor's Home

Eleven students from the history class of A. L. Peck, professor of landscape architecture, and other members of the department of landscape architecture were entertained Wednesday night by Professor and Mrs. Peck. The students were shown an example of colonial architecture and gardens, the subject of this term's history class, in the home built by Professor Peck.

He conducted the inspection of house and grounds. Mrs. Peck showed the girls the kitchen which she had planned and later served tea.

The house, built in 1939 on Twenty-ninth street, is one of the homes developing the northwest residential district of Corvallis.

Covering the Campuses

by Pat Glenn—

SPRING OFFENSIVE—Just as the rooks and sophomores of Oregon State college are preparing for that mighty tug-of-war so traditional of junior weekend, representatives of the frosh and sophomore classes of the University of Oregon are arranging for a bit of mud slinging themselves this weekend. Just which college will produce the grimmest warriors is the question.

SUN VALLEY SERENADE—Making students in western colleges realize the importance of conserving on unnecessary luxuries was the central theme of the convention for Pacific Students Presidents' association at Sun Valley, Idaho, during the first week in May. Perhaps Dave Baum, OSC president elect who attended the conference will enforce a few of those ideas discussed.

ONE STUDENT TO ANOTHER—One: "Why are you mailing all these empty envelopes?" Two: "I'm cutting a class in a correspondence school."

DEFENSE PROMOTION—Determined that Americans will not be caught napping, Purdue university has agreed to serve as a bomb protection training center which is established to instruct civilians how to cope with incendiary bombs, time bombs and high explosives. The school, which opens June 14, will be conducted under the direction of the chemical warfare service of the United States army.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS—Southern belles from the University of Texas will be offered a course in elementary aircraft drafting if the co-eds indicate that there is sufficient interest. The course will include tracing, drafting and training in certain branches of aircraft manufacturing.

PLAIN JANE—Jane Doe didn't do much out of the ordinary—just went to class at the Eastern College of Education—but she certainly caused a commotion. It just happened that this Jane Doe was the real thing, a deer doe. The little deer wandered into a hall at the college, casually looked over the students in classrooms and trotted out again.

NAVY TRAINEES—Just to speed up the defense program, the navy is locating a giant mechanics school at the University of Oklahoma. Every six months the school will train 10,500 men.

A SLEEPY VISITOR—A cow chained in the living room of the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity house at Beloit Wisconsin college surprised the housemother when she came downstairs on a recent morning. A note attached to one of the cow's horns said: "This little cow walks in her sleep. If she walks into your house, scold her and return her to the south side of town."

Individual Responsibility

Campus weekend . . . planned to fit shortened terms and war time conditions . . . will officially begin tomorrow noon. Committees have been working for many weeks to arrange the program to include traditional events of similar weekends into a well rounded program completely filling the afternoon and evening.

Events will more than ever before carry out the name of the weekend. Student talent will be used for every part of the program . . . Oregon State students by their participation in the events and their cooperation with those in charge of the activities will determine the success or failure of the crowded schedule.

While students can do little more about the weather than hope for an ideal spring day, their responsibility as students of Oregon State requires each to assume the position of host during Campus weekend and to display Oregon State for the critical examination of the weekend guests.

Campus Bulletins

Programs for the dormitory archway dance will be available at the dormitory office this afternoon.

Old Uncle Sammy has once again reached into the bag of America's manpower and this time drew the name of Bill McKalip to bolster the Allied cause. McKalip who filed application months ago for lieutenant, senior grade, in the naval reserve received his appointment, and will leave Saturday for Annapolis where he will join Hal Moe, who is receiving training for physical instructorship in the Naval Air Corps. After his training period McKalip will likely be stationed at Saint Mary's, Cal., along with Moe, Sam Barry and Ted Oliver, all of whom have been taken from positions in Pacific coast colleges.

But just a word about McKalip and his tenure at the college. Bill has been freshman football and basketball coach and varsity tennis mentor since 1937—completing his sixth season last winter. After first sight, very few people tag Bill as a coach or a former all-American football player. Being rather slight of build and usually attired in a not-too-conservative sport coat, McKalip can very well give the impression of a Hollywood talent scout or producer. However, not many years ago Bill was regarded as one of the best football ends in the business, having played professionally with the Detroit Lions after his college days at OSC. After six years absence from the Corvallis institution, a cry was sent out for Bill's services on the coaching staff.

Bill No Figure Head

Not everyone realized the responsibilities of Bill in his position as rook football and basketball coach. Few people credit him with instilling the fundamentals in such athletes as Joe Gray, Elmer Kolberg, John Hackenbruck, Vic Sears and, yes, Don Durdan, to mention a few. As the first man to handle new athletes, Bill naturally had to be quick to recognize and develop natural ability for varsity material. That may be a reason why he should go good in the navy. Bill has been the right hand man to both Lonnie Stiner and Slat Gill, always providing them with the "dope" on next year's varsity prospects. No doubt Bill would have been in line for a promotion in the coaching field had he not enlisted.

Rumors Out

No mention has been yet made from the "front office" as to either McKalip's or Moe's successors. Maybe there won't be any in the event of banning football on the coast next fall. Even with the 5000 capacity crowd which has been tentatively set by the army may see the dropping of football from many institutions. If football is still "in season" next fall, maybe several of the members of last year's Rose Bowl team will be in line for "fellowships" on the coaching staff. George Peters and Bob Dethman, both married, are safe from the draft for another year, and have enough grounding to help out if needed. Rumors are already beginning to float as to possible successors.

No doubt there will be many Oregon Staters in the Naval Air Corps next summer receiving training from Moe and McKalip after having been instructed in PE from the same men several years before.

Sigma Delta Psi SDP COMPETITION ENDS; MANY PASS FINAL TESTS

The two final scheduled events were held last night on the intramural field for Sigma Delta Psi honors. The 120-yard low hurdles and baseball throw were both completed. The baseball throw required a toss of 250 feet or more and the hurdle event was set at 16 seconds flat. The best performance of the day was turned in by Stu Schweitzer. Alpha Tau Omega, who turned a 14.4 hurdle run. The following men passed the 120-yard low hurdle test: Sigma Phi Epsilon, Ken Robinson, John Karamanos, Pete Hamser, Curt Cutsforth, Bob Belton, Dave Cutsforth, Jim Finley, Dick O'Shea, Dick Finch, Russ Sackett; Phi Delta Theta, Bill Gibson, Don Smith, Dean Young; Sigma Nu, Choc Shelton, Ted Osowski, John Cotthoff; Alpha Tau Omega, Ed Rasmick, Stu Schweitzer; Phi Sigma Kappa, Ross Gearhart; Lambda Chi Alpha, Michels; Delta Chi, Bill Bloodgood; Hawley, Dick Penrose; Theta Xi, George Chambers; Independents, Kennedy, Don Pretzinger; Beta Theta Pi, Al Leeb, Oscar Holm, John Hayes, Hal Schuppert; George Steele; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sam Dement, Hank Regan, E. Beaver Chances Slight, Avers Coach Doc Swan

Staters Minus Blair, Stevens for Coming Meet With Oregon

With the squad still missing the services of Captain Tommy Blair, Coach Grant Swan last night could see nothing but black concerning the track meet with the University of Oregon this Saturday. Blair, the Beavers' fine quarter-mile, was still confined to the infirmary with the flu at last reports, and will be in poor shape Saturday if he is able to run at all.

"The way things are stacking up against us, I can't see anything but a loss to Oregon," groaned the redoubtable "Doc." "It was tough enough with Blair and Bob Stevens in there, but without their points in the meet, it looks pretty hopeless for us," he added.

Swan, however, is not noted for outbursts of optimism, and track fans seem inclined to make their own deductions. These, to all outward appearances, would considerably brighten the outlook for the State undermen. On the basis of past performances, Swan may count on points from Don Findlay in the broad jump and Bob Fischer in the distances.

Fischer will climax his first and only year of varsity dual meet competition in the long-awaited mile battle between him and Oregon's much-publicized sophomore, Don Wilson. These two men have competed against each other since high school, and competitive spirit is at its peak when they meet in the four-lap grid. Fischer made a remarkable showing in the Washington meet last weekend, when he won the mile run in 4:20.5, his best time to date, going on to take first in the grueling two-mile event.

Findlay will be attempting to eclipse the 24-foot mark in the broad jump, where he is likely to meet with very little competition. In the high jump, however, he will battle for top honors with opponents Bob Newman of the Ducks and teammate John Mandie of Oregon State.

Swan will be assigned the duty of stopping the invaders. Bob Hood, majority of the pitching staff during the first part of the season, has a sore finger and will probably not see action. Jimmy Warner will handle the catching duties for the media.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow (Special to Barometer)—Led by second baseman Dominic MacRae, the Oregon State Beavers pounded out a 13-7 victory over the Vandals from the University of Idaho, giving them their third win in the four game series. Coach Ralph Coleman takes his Orange team 10 miles west today to play Buck Bailey and the Washington State Cougars.

Warren Simas pitched yesterday and led the Idahoans down with seven hits to give him his third straight win of the season against no defeats. Meanwhile the Vandals committed four errors to add to the Beaver cause.

SPE's Shellack SPS Ball Club In No-No Game

Letourneux Keeps Team's Undefeated Record Spotless

Sigma Phi Epsilon shut out Sigma Phi Sigma 13 to 0 last night on the slippery intramural field. With Bob Letourneux, winning pitcher, chucking no-hit no-run ball, the SPE's annexed another victory to remain in the undefeated list. Bunching 11 hits and scoring 7 runs in the first inning, they built up a lead which SPS could not overcome. Jim Culbertson, SPE short stop, was the leading hitter, getting three hits for three times at bat.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon defeated Hawley 6 to 1 in another loosely played ball game on the intramural field. Hank Regano, SAE pitcher, struck out 10 men while his teammates collected eight hits and scored six runs. The ball was wet and slippery, which accounted for several of the errors made by both teams.

Ed Schmidt, Hawley center fielder, got a double, and then stretched it into a homer while the SAE's were chalking up two errors, to score the only run for the losers.

Baptist Fellowship Will Honor Seniors

College senior members of the Baptist youth fellowship will be honored tonight at 6:30 o'clock with a banquet at Wagner's restaurant. Ten high school seniors will be guests.

Rev. W. T. Milliken, president of the Western Baptist theological seminary, will speak on "Gateway", the theme of the banquet.

Seniors at Oregon State college who will give short talks during the evening are Marian Burt and Lois Williamson, home economics; Bob Brewster, electrical engineering; Ed McAlvage, forestry; Virginia Moore, education; Gene Arant, engineering; and Dick Brewster, chemical engineering.

Duets by Gene Arant and Gladys Bryde, freshmen in education, and by Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Hart will provide music for the evening.

Government Office Offers Positions

Thirteen Oregon State students have been offered appointments as processed foods inspectors for the agricultural marketing administration. These appointments become effective June 16 at the rate of $1620 per year with a tentative salary of $2000. This work will be done on the Pacific coast.

Those students being offered appointments are: Joe B. Stewart, Leonard Honold, John P. Hansen, Stanley Wyss, L. Charles Olmstead, Alan R. Fraser, Walter L. Smith, Richard A. Wilson, James M. Morris, Ted E. Hollen, Merrill R. Stanley, Ralph D. Brasen, and Forest R. Gish.

The administration is also interested in securing college juniors as assistant marketing aids (trainees) at $1620 per year for temporary positions not extending beyond six months. Candidates should have completed three years of college with an average of one course each year in agricultural chemistry, food chemistry, food bacteriology, food nutrition, food processing, horticulture, bio-chemistry, organic chemistry, vegetable gardening and other related subjects. However, applicants who have had at least one season in a canning factory assisting in the preparation of the raw products, cutting and grading samples and quality control may substitute such experience for one year of college.

Reports Say Goering Has Been Fired

GENEVA.—The battle behind the lines—the war of the air waves—was invigorated by a soviet report that Adolf Hitler has fired Reichmarshal Hermann Goering.

Quoting informed sources in Geneva, the Russian radio says Goering has been stripped of his command of German air forces on the Soviet and Mediterranean fronts. Many German generals are said to be dissatisfied with Hitler's direction of the Russian war.

Along this same line, private advices to the United Press say that Goering and Italian Minister Count Ciano might confer at Lisbon with certain British and American personalities.

All Out Effort to Include Farm and Mine

NEW YORK.—Donald Nelson warns that from now on America's entire industrial plant will concentrate on turning out war goods to the absolute maximum of production.

The war production chief adds that this all-out effort will involve not only manufacturing plants but the farm and the mine as well. Nelson addressed the annual dinner of the National Institute of Social Sciences, at which he was awarded the institute's gold medal for distinguished public service.

Domestic Airlines to Be Under Army Control

WASHINGTON.—Domestic airlines are being placed under virtually complete army control. The war department announces that all airline routes that are not essential to the war program will be abandoned. A substantial portion of commercial flight equipment will be transferred to the army. In addition, 70 commercial transports will be turned into cargo carriers to be operated by airline personnel under army contract. The war department says the airlines may continue to operate their remaining equipment. It will be subject to army requisition at any time.

Agreement With Martinique Made

VICHY.—France says it is willing to come to terms with the United States on the Martinique situation—if the United States will employ the proper diplomatic channels. The Vichy offer comes a little too late. United States Admiral John Hoover already has obtained an agreement with Martinique officials to immobilize the French warships tied up there. The talks, directly with Martinique and not with Vichy, are continuing.

Russian Marines Score Another Victory

MOSCOW.—Russian marines on the Murmansk front crossed a river and captured an important hill, killing 50 Germans in the process.

At Leningrad Russian forces report minor victories and relentless pressure against the German lines. On the northwest front the Russians shot down 229 big air transports to thwart German attempts to relieve its sixteenth army, trapped at Staraya Russa.

Masses of German infantry and tanks assaulted Russian lines on the Kalinin front but were repulsed, according to the Russians. On the central front, Russian air raids battered German concentrations and supply depots around Smolensk.

Mexican Vessel Torpedoed

WASHINGTON.—A Mexican tanker is latest vessel to be listed as a victim of Axis submarines in American waters. The navy reveals that the ship was torpedoed and sunk by an Axis submarine on Wednesday night. Twenty-two men lost their lives in the sinking, while 22 other crew members survived.

The sinking of another Panamanian merchant vessel and an attack on an American freighter in the Gulf of Mexico also have been announced by the navy. Another floating mine was discovered off the Florida coast. It was made harmless and sunk.

Russias are Forced to Retreat On Kerch Peninsula

NEW YORK.—The Russians have announced another retreat on the Kerch peninsula—the second in 24 hours. A London dispatch quotes the German high command as saying a Russian counter-attack on the peninsula was beaten back. The Russian communique also said that the attack on Kharkov is continuing, with Soviet infantry and tanks pouring through a breach in the German lines. The Germans admit that Axis forces in the Kharkov region are on the defensive, but a high command communique reports that German dive bombers have smashed Russian troop concentrations there.

Puget Sound Shipyards Swing Into Production

SEATTLE.—Swinging into production stride, Puget Sound shipyards this weekend will launch an aircraft carrier, a destroyer and a seaplane tender in ceremonies at Seattle and Tacoma plants.

Two other launchings in the Puget Sound area are set for May 22 as part of the observance of National Maritime day.

The U. S. S. Core, a carrier, will hit the water at 7 o'clock tonight at Tacoma. Two hours before the Core slides down the ways, the seaplane tender Coos Bay will be launched at the Lake Washington shipyards at Houghton. The Coos Bay is the first vessel under the federal wartime shipbuilding program to carry the name of a northwest city.

Independent Council Installs Officers

Kenneth Arney, junior in agriculture, was installed as president of the independent student council for the coming year at the annual council picnic at Avocryns park, Tuesday, May 12. Leonard Honold, graduate student, officiated during the ceremony.

Other officers that were installed included Corinne Harpham, sophomore in home economics, vice-president; Bill Mears, junior in agriculture, treasurer; Pat Boles, freshman in home economics, secretary; Harry McNeal, junior in agriculture, sergeant-at-arms.

New Lights Installed In Apperson Hall

The remaining four drafting rooms in Apperson hall will receive modern lighting equipment, announced the department of light and power yesterday. To each room are being added four fixtures, all of which contain four fluorescent tubes, each 40 watt size.

At Oregon State

In the proud belief that the ideal has been achieved, Columbia Pictures is presenting "The Invaders" at the Oregon State theater, May 15, 16 17 and 18, a photoplay as timely as today's headlines, as pertinent as today's editorials, as dynamic as today's news-dispatches.

Each of the distinguished stars of the international stage and screen is fitted into "The Invaders" by what might be called "superior type-casting." Against this formidable array of masculine talent appears an 18-year-old ingenue of the London stage and screen, Glynis Johns, unknown to American audiences, but Michael Powell, who conceived and directed "The Invaders" calls her "one of the most efficient actresses on the world."
