Barometer Editor Names New Staff

The 1967-68 editorial staff of the Barometer has been selected, Larry Austin, newly-appointed editor, announced Thursday.

Selected as news editor was Roy Gault, presently sports editor of the publication. Gault, a sophomore, is a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He will replace Austin.

Jeanne Ewalt will serve as managing editor. Miss Ewalt, who has worked in the past as managing editor, has also been editor of the summer Barometer. She will be assisted by Suzanne Olson, junior in humanities and social sciences, as Miss Olson worked previously as Assistant managing editor.

In naming the upper staff members, Austin said most of the assistants would be chosen by the various editors. Anyone interested in working on the Barometer, he said, should see these people.

The annual Barometer Planning Conference will be held at Yachats Friday and Saturday. At that time, the staff makes its plans for the coming publication year.

The new editor and his staff will take over next week.

Homecoming Group Trys New Theme

"Remember When" is one of the suggested themes for Homecoming '67. This year the homecoming committee, headed by Vickie Roberson, is trying to get away from the theme centered around the football game.

The idea behind a theme centered around all homecoming activities stresses other areas of importance besides the football game, and welcomes the alumni back to Oregon State University, not just Parker Stadium.

Each student at Oregon State is invited to participate in a contest to find the best possible theme for Homecoming. All theme ideas should be turned into the Activity Center by May 2.

Prizes for the winning theme include tickets for the Homecoming dance and concert and dinner for two before the evenings festivities.

Russian Fishermen Off Oregon Coast

FLORENCE, Ore. (AP) — A newspaper reporter says Russian fishing vessels are again operating in large numbers off the Oregon coast.

C. D. Holman Jr., of the Suislaw, Ore. news, said Wednesday he flew down the coast and counted 95 vessels in a 70-square-mile area.

Professor Blames Teacher Unrest On Low Salaries In Oregon Schools

Oregon's public colleges and universities pay professors nearly $800 a year less in salaries and $500 less in fringe benefits than competing institutions.

In recent testimony before the Joint Ways and Means Committee, Whitney Bates, associate professor of history at Portland State College, representing the American Association of University Professors at all

David Dressler Voices Opinion On The 'Self'

"No one is anyone except among other ones," was the keynote statement of a speech given Wednesday by Dr. David Dressler, sociologist and educator.

Dr. Dressler said that one could not find oneself by pure introspection. Rather, he said that there is a self only as reflected in other people. The disaffiliates, he said, do not agree with this philosophy as they are introverting to search for their identities. The threat involved is in their disaffiliation from society.

The noted author of several hundred professional journal articles went on to note the factors in this philosophy. He listed the escape from society, the look inward as number one. The disaffiliates believe that one should be in pursuit of self rather than work. What is good for them is not having to work Dressler said.

These disaffiliates also believe that in order to find one's self, one must conform to older people, must cut oneself off from authority as soon as possible, and work only to survive. Training oneself not to think is also quite important as the world has been based on thinking. When one finds himself it will be sudden and unexpected and will lead to liberations and true freedom.

Technically, the noted speaker mentioned that this type of philosophy was influenced quite a bit by the oriental philosophy. Speaking on LSD, Dr. Dressler said, "The LSD road is the easy route as it gives it the search for the self." He noted the extreme danger of the drug when used by amateurs, and the tremendous breakthrough it offered in the medical field.

The sociologist felt that today's generation is a healthier, more mature generation as the young know more about what goes on in the world.

Seniors Honored At Awards Lunch

The Bogert Award, a $1500 scholarship was presented to LeAnn Davis at the 16th Spring Home Economics Luncheon Thursday noon. It was the first time this award has been given.

Viola C. Bogert, a 1929 graduate of the School of Home Economics, is the donor of the Bogert Award.

A $200 DuBois Co. Award was presented to Susan Hanscom, senior in home economics. A $100 Achievement Award was presented to Nina Hess, '67 senior of the Oregon Dietetic Association.

The Oregon State Extension Council presented $100 awards. The Eleanor Trindle Award was given to Barbara Miller and Judith Carnahan. The K. Ethel Lathrop Award went to Judith Arbogast. Lois Drummond received the Ester Kirmis award. They were awarded to students interested in extension work.

Two Home Economics Danforth Awards were presented. Helen Joanne Speckhart accepted the Senior Danforth Award. This includes a four week, all expense paid trip to St. Louis and a Michigan summer camp.

The Danforth Freshman Award went to Nancy Jean Riches. She will receive two weeks of leadership training at a summer camp also in Michigan. The awards were provided by the Ralston Purina Co.

The Electrical Women's Roundtable of Oregon Award was presented to Sandra Newell. It was awarded on the basis of scholarship, interests and aptitude in electrical equipment.

The Silver Trivet Award was given to Winnie Chou of Hong Kong, China, by Stokely-Van Camp, Inc. She was one of the "top-ranking" graduating home economics senior with emphasis in Foods and Nutrition.

Judith Gaedtker was given the Freshman Omicron Nu Award. This was to promote leadership and scholarship. The Omicron Nu Achievement Award was given to two outstanding seniors, Susan Haith and Rebecca Schild.

Other awards included the presentation of the Minnie E. Lee Award to Ruth Ann Knight for showing improvement in her college work and general outstanding worthiness.

The A. Grace Johnson Award was given to Gloria Yosuda in honor of Miss Johnson, former home economics staff member.

International Friendship Award The International Friendship Award was presented to Monavir Seddigh, student in home economics from Shiraz, Iran. It was presented by the OSU Chapter of AHEA.

TGIF Forum To Evaluate Great Society

"The Great Society — Can We Survive It?" is the topic of TGIF today at noon in the MU West Ballroom. Rev. John T. Conner is moderator of the weekly program.

A panel consisting of Edward McGrath, associate professor of political science, Ray Tennyson, associate professor of sociology, professor of economics, will present the political, sociological and economical aspects of the Great Society.

Wayne Morse Tells Students System Faulty

Senator Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) speaking at a special convocation Wednesday evening, told the faculty and students of Linfield College, "Any corporation that threw away half its raw material every year would be bankrupt. An educational system that does not adequately provide for all of our young people — including the lesser half in class standing, falls all of us."

The Oregon democrat earlier that day at Eugene presided at the first field hearing of the Senate Education Subcommittee, of which he is chairman. Morse was co-host with Chancellor R. E. Liegallen of the first Oregon Conference on Cooperative Education.

Morse stated that educational programs need full funding now to meet student aid demands. He has recommended to the Senate Appropriations Committee that $225 million be provided in National Defense Education Act direct loans to students for the year beginning July 1. This is $35 million more than the administration budget contains.

"If the full authorization is funded it means a college opportunity for an additional 1,027 Oregon boys and girls as part of the 79,394 students who would benefit," he said. "This is the best possible investment we can make as a nation."

Morse also urged consideration of cooperative work-study plans such as those at Antioch and Northeastern University. Last year these plans helped over 56,000 students earn more than $95 million which they used to finance their studies, according to Morse.

Morse stressed the need for full financing of college construction which is authorized at $728 million, but for which the administration has asked only $390 million.

"The plain fact of the matter is that this year we have about 6.05 million students in college. Eight years from now there will be almost 9 million knocking on the doors of higher education. These doors and the buildings they enter need to be built now," the Oregon senator commented.

Music Group Sets Concerts

The Group for Contemporary Music will hold the second of a series of two concerts on Thursday, May 4, at 8 p.m. in the Home Economics Auditorium, William A. Campbell, Chairman of the Music Department announced recently.

The group is supported by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation and seven participating colleges and universities including Oregon State University. David Block, a member of the music faculty at Portland State College, is the director of the group.

The instrumentation consists of violin, cello, flute, clarinet, percussion, piano and voice. The group was organized for the purpose of performing avant garde music, encouraging composers to experiment with and investigate new sounds, and bringing this music to the public in concert form. There will be no admission charge and the public is invited.

Send Mom A Barometer

Extra copies of Thursday's Mom's Weekend special Barometer issue are available at the Activity Center to be sent home to mom. Papers may be folded in quarters and mailed with a 2 cent stamp and address in the upper right corner.

McCall Talks Heard Weekly

Oregon's Governor, Tom McCall, will be heard weekly, beginning today at 5:50 p.m., over KOAC-AM, 550 on your radio dial. The governor's talk will be included in the regular 5:30 to 6:15 p.m. "Oregon Reporter" program.

Gov. McCall will review the past week's activities of his office and discuss concerns which his office will be dealing with in the immediate future.

In addition to being aired over educational stations, Gov. McCall's talks will be available to other Oregon stations for their use and presentation.

The reports will be taped earlier on the day of broadcast in the KOAC Capital Studio.

Turtle T ot

The annual Beta Theta Pi Turtle Trot will be held this Saturday from 8-12 midnight on the Beta parking lot. Grant and the Blue Boys will provide the music for the dance.

Turtles and trophies will be on display at the dance, according to Jerry Boucock and Doug Robertson, chairman of the Beta Turtle Derby.

Betting will begin next week after turtles are presented to each of the women's living groups.

Election To Decide Various Positions

Oregon State University students will decide between Jeff Jeimbuck and Paul Schaber when they cast their votes today for ASOSU first vice president. Schaber held a 200-plus edge in last Friday's primary voting.

Voting booths will be located on various parts of the campus for today's vote. Students may vote from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

In other major offices, Lloyd Chapman opposes Jim Huegli for ASOSU second vice president. Again, Chapman will have a margin to make up as Huegli won the primaries by a comfortable vote.

Bobbie Mikkelson and Pat Palmer will appear on the ballot for the first time today. They are the candidates for ASOSU second vice president.

Predicted by many as the closest election of the day will be the fight for MU president Dave Smith and Rodney Nimomyia. Smith won the primary plurality by a slim 20 votes over Nimomyia.

Scientific Display Set For Viewing

A display of scientific equipment will be open today and Saturday for students, faculty members, and participants in the 28th annual Biology Colloquium at Oregon State University.

Dr. Larry Boersma, associate professor of soils and display chairman, said the Geodyne Co., a Massachusetts instruments firm, and the School of Forestry will show equipment from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today, and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. The display will be in the basement at the west end of the Home Economics Building.

Boersma said the displays have been arranged in conjunction with the annual Biology Colloquium because its theme, "Weather and Life," will attract a number of scientists who use such equipment. The colloquium begins this afternoon at 1. Registration starts at the Home Economics auditorium at 10 a.m.

Boersma noted that instrument development has taken big strides in the last few years. The School of Forestry, for example, will show a digital data acquisition system — a product of space-age advances.

Dr. Lloyd Gay, assistant professor of forest management, will soon put the digital data acquisition system to work. He is studying the evaporation of water from various forest species.

Gay said the data system is a means of reading a number of meteorological instruments on a regular schedule and directly translating the readings to punched holes on a paper tape. The tape may then be fed to a computer without additional handling. Gay said the device he will display Friday and Saturday can accept data from up to 50 meteorological instruments.

Boersma said the Geodyne company's exhibit will be of special interest to marine scientists as well as to those attending the Biology Colloquium.

A nationally recognized biometeorologist, Dr. David M. Gates, is leader of this year's colloquium. He is director of the Missouri Botanical Garden at St. Louis. The colloquium continues through Saturday afternoon.

OSU Student Hurt In Crash

An Oregon State University coed, Lynn Plomer, 19, was taken by emergency ambulance to the hospital Wednesday at 5:05 p.m. after being injured in a car accident at Harrison and 25th.

Miss Plomer resides in 231 Hawley Hall.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Carolyn Marie Steinfield, 21, of 419 North 26th, which crashed with one driven by Pamela Jean Armpriest, 20, of 404 North 23rd.

No other reports on the accident were given.

AP DIGEST

SYRACUSE, N.Y.: Former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, greeted by boos and chants of "black power" here Wednesday night, said Thursday he still considered that he had been "received very well by the overwhelming majority."

SALEM: Gov. Tom McCall told the House Natural Resources Committee that the 1967 Oregon Legislature could be remembered as the one that did more to promote high air and water quality standards than all the preceding legislatures.

PORTLAND: A community effort to persuade youngsters not to start smoking will be launched in Oregon as a pilot program for a possible national campaign. The Division of Continuing Education of the State System of Higher Education will administer the project to be carried out in about 15 communities.

WASHINGTON: President Johnson accused Republican congressional critics of his elementary and secondary schools program Thursday of a "reckless effort to rewrite our laws for partisan political advantage."

WASHINGTON: The Senate Ethics Committee recommended Thursday that Sen. Thomas J. Dodd be censured for conduct it said "is contrary to accepted morals, degrades the public trust expected of a senator, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

STOCKHOLM: Preliminary sessions opened Thursday at the so-called "International War Crimes Tribunal" initiated by philosopher Lord Bertrand Russell to "try" President Johnson and other U.S. leaders concerned with policy in Vietnam.

WASHINGTON: President Johnson conferred more than an hour Thursday with Gen. William C. Westmoreland and a group of key advisors on the Vietnamese situation.

WASHINGTON: The State Department reported without comment Thursday that the clandestine Viet Cong radio had proposed a two-day truce for May 23-24. The reported Communist move doubled in time the proposal of the South Vietnamese government for a 24-hour pause on the occasion of Buddha's birthday, May 23.

Deadline Extended For Study Program

The deadline for submitting applications for the senior level Fulbright-Hays program for 1968-69 has been extended to June, according to an announcement received by the Office of International Education.

The Committee on International Exchange of Persons, Conference Board of Associated Research Councils, Washington, D.C. informed the local office of this extension in a memo included with the new complete principal announcements for both lectureship and research programs.

Oregon State University faculty will find in these announcements opportunities in nearly every academic area and for all parts of the world, according to Dr. Gordon R. Sliton, director, Office of International Education. He reports that the Office now has application blanks for interested faculty to apply for 1968-69 Fulbright grants.

Ozyegin Fills ASOSU Posts

Several ASOSU positions were recently filled by appointees named by ASOSU President, Husnu Ozyegin. The Physical Operations Committee, concerned with traffic, maintenance and planning of campus buildings, health service, and registration, will be headed by Gary Heesacker, B & T Senator, until the end of this term.

Cheryl Copeland, sophomore, and Phyllis Bolder, junior, were named Co-directors of ASOSU Publicity, with special emphasis on Barometer coverage of ASOSU. Lloyd Chapman is a newly appointed member of the Academic Requirements Committee.

Hostess For 1967-68 Needed By Encore

Encore, the Oregon State University entertainment coordinating committee, is now taking applications for Encore Hostess for next year.

The committee is looking for a particular type of girl to serve as the Official Encore Hostess. Her responsibilities include greeting and assisting the many Concert performers that will visit OSU next year. In the past, the Encore Hostess has entertained such personalities as Al Hirt, Henry Mancini, Harry Belafonte, Nancy Wilson, and Petula Clark.

Among the qualifications for the new hostess will be: appearance, personality, poise, tact, attitude, and willingness to work. Applications may be picked up at the Activities Center April 25 - May 1.

Omicron Nu Gives Awards

The Omicron Nu Achievement Awards were presented to Susan L. Haith and Rebecca Anne Schild at the 16th annual Home Economics Honor Luncheon held yesterday noon.

Miss Haith has served as president of Omicron Nu, the home Economics honorary, and secretary of Sigma Kappa, her social sorority. She was 1966 housing chairman for Mom's Weekend and received the Eleanor Trindle Award in 1966-67.

Miss Schild has been historian of Mortar Board, editor for Omicron Nu and treasurer of the College Section of the Oregon Home Economics Association. She also received the senior Danforth Award in 1966.

Selection of recipients is based on five general areas. They include outstanding scholarship, leadership and service in home economics and leadership and service in campus and other activities. Also included are future potential for a career in home economics and personal qualities which set an example for other students.

Beavers Plan Species Hunt

The Oregon State Sea Beavers will hold their annual Species Contest at Newport south Jetty Sunday, at 2 p.m.

The Species Contest is held in conjunction with the various events of the Newport Loyalty Days. The object of the contest is to collect the greatest number of species of fish possible during the four hour contest.

Registration for the event will be held at Bill Herder's Drive Shop at the south end of the Newport bridge.

There are two classes of competition in the contest; a closed class in which only free divers may compete, and an open class in which SCUBA divers, fishermen, and anyone else who cares to enter may compete.

There are three trophies provided for each of the classes. A Judges Trophy is also offered for the most unusual species of fish caught.

The entry fee for the contest is $1.50.

How five little digits are bringing you closer to everyone you know

How long does it take a letter to travel from a man in Portland, Maine, to his grandmother in the Houston Medical Center? From a woman in Oklahoma City to her soldier son in Fort Bragg, North Carolina? From a girl at the University of Michigan to her parents in Smithtown, New York? Maybe overnight. Maybe longer. Because every letter must go through many post offices before it reaches its destination. And since the volume of mail keeps growing at every post office, each letter may wait a little longer to be sorted. But now there's a new way to get the mail through faster—and bring you closer to everyone you know. It starts with those five little digits you know as Zip Code. With Zip, postal workers can sort mail faster and route it more directly. With Zip, they will use modern electronic machines that "read" Zip numbers and sort mail fifteen times faster than ever before! Many people use Zip Codes. But those who don't are holding up the mail for themselves and everyone else. Add Zip Code to every mailing address—and to your return address, too. Then others can easily Zip their mail to you. When you don't know a Zip Code, call your post office or look it up in their Zip Directory. Remember those five little digits. They're doing a big job.

HOW ZIP CODE WORKS
Suppose the Zip Code is 60635. The "60" says it goes to the Midwest. The "06" narrows it down to Chicago. The last two digits—"35"—pinpoint the local post office. This eliminates many handling procedures. The letter is sorted faster, and sent more directly to its destination.

Mail moves the country—ZIP CODE moves the mail!

Forestry Club To Host 'Spring Thaw'

The annual "Spring Thaw" will be held tonight and tomorrow, sponsored by the Forestry Club. Activities ranging from a tug-of-war to a dance and axe-throwing to a bean feed, will be held in several places, including a MU quad and MacDonal Forest.

Slated for Friday to kick off the annual merriment is the Tug-of-War featuring members of the Forestry Club pulling against members of the Fin and Antler Club.

A large diameter fire hose, complete with water, will be used against the losers. In recent years, the Forestry Club has been victorious. The Tug-of-War will begin at noon in the MU quad.

The "Blue Ox Ball" will be held Friday evening from 8-12 p.m. at the Forestry Club Cabin in MacDonal Forest, five miles north of Corvallis. Music will be provided by Grant and the Blue Boys. Dress for the dance is described as "woody." Tickets are currently on sale at the Forestry Building at OSU but will be available at the door. Price is $1 per couple.

Woodsman's Events will be held Saturday, beginning at noon, in MacDonal Forest. All events are open to those holding current Forestry Club cards.

On The Town

By Bruce MacHaffie

Showing at the State Theater this week-end is a morbid film with the intriguing title Oh, Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You In The Closet And I'm Feeling So Sad. The rumor is out that the studio was afraid to release the film until someone thought of including a commentary by Jonathan Winters, who plays the poor Dad. Whoever came up with the narration idea deserves a raise, because it is Winters' comments which provide the real laughs of the movie.

The plot describes the ultimate result of the effect of an over-protective anti-sex mother on a 25-year old boy. This spoof of Motherhood has Mamma kicking sand on the lovers on the beach while her thumb-sucking blanket-holding son is being led astray by the hotel baby-sitter. As a final touch, this she-devil drags around with her the stuffed remains of her late husband. As a serious spoof, this film falls short.

The second of the James Coburn spy epics is showing at the Whiteside Theater. In Like Flint is the sequel to Our Man Flint of last year, and the later film should have the same formula: girls, action and humor. Although the spy pictures are slightly out of season now, this film is good entertainment.

In connection with the Arts Festival, the M.U. is showing the French film Frantic on Friday evening. This mystery film starring Jeanne Moreau and Maurice Ronet tells the story of two lovers who plan and execute the murder of the woman's husband, and make it look like suicide. The purpose of the film is not to tell who does what, but rather to examine why the characters act as they do. The musical background is Modern Jazz performed by American artist Miles Davis with a French quartet. It is being shown in M.U. 105 at 7 p.m.

Sunday evening, the M.U. is sponsoring a Hootenanny at 7:30 p.m. in the Ballroom.

On Monday, two art films, Jasper Johns and Barnett Newmann, will be shown in M.U. 208 at 4:30 p.m.

Also on Monday, David McCash from the University of Oregon will speak in M.U. 105 at 7:30 p.m. on "Positions and Painting."

Phi Delta Theta Service Project Works On Park

A Community Service Day program was suggested in 1955 by the national office of Phi Delta Theta and the suggestion was promoted on the campuses. Now, 12 years later, almost every one of the 128 chapters in the United States and Canada actively perform thousands of man hours.

Oregon State University's chapter is no exception. Saturday April 22, was the date selected for a spring cleaning at Avery Park. The project, headed by Phi Dels, Mike Porter and Al Scheidegger, was arranged through Mr. Bob Robertson, head of Corvallis City Parks and Recreation District, and Mr. O. M. Phipps, caretaker of Avery Park.

The main task consisted of removing some 300 picnic tables from winter storage in the park, loading them on trucks and situating these tables at various picnic areas around the park. This job ordinarily takes Phipps and his crew a full two days of work.

This job, although it highlights the project, did not employ the 50-odd Phi Dels present. The surplus labor force was busied with assorted jobs of clean-up at the picnic areas, working around trees and stacking firewood.

Work commenced at approximately 9 a.m., and came to a halt at 1 p.m., when a picnic lunch was served by the members of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

UCLA, Pacific-8 baseball leader with a perfect 6-0 League mark, will make its first road trip of the young Conference season and the Bruins (6-0) must face third place Stanford (3-1) in a doubleheader and sixth place California (2-4) in a single outing.

Stanford, the nation's No. 2 ranked team with an overall 19-2 mark, has lost three games to rain outs (two to Oregon and one to UCLA) already, but hopefully will have its chance to improve its position this weekend. On Friday, the Indians host USC, No. 1 ranked collegiate team and currently in fourth place with a 4-2 mark. Stanford and USC split a twin bill this last weekend, the Tribe winning 4-1 behind Sandy Vance and the Trojans taking the second outing 6-2.

On Saturday, UCLA, No. 3 ranked collegiate team, meets the Indians at Palo Alto in a key doubleheader. UCLA plays at California on Friday, and USC visits the Bears in Berkeley on Saturday for two games.

Meanwhile, with most of the attention centered on Stanford, UCLA and USC, Oregon slipped into second place by virtue of wins over Washington State and Washington. The Ducks (4-1) will have an excellent opportunity to hold their second place position and possibly move up as they visit Washington (0-7) on Friday and move over to Washington State (1-6) for a Saturday doubleheader.

Oregon State (4-3) plays at WSU on Friday and moves to Seattle to meet the Huskies for two games on Saturday.

UCLA's Steve Klausen, junior left fielder, continues to lead the Pacific-8 hitters after two weekends of league competition with a lofty .667 average. Klausen has slammed 12 hits in 18 trips to lead the Bruin surge.

Once again, Oregon's sophomore third baseman Larry Hanson holds down second place in the batting race with a .563 mark. Following Hanson in the batting race is USC shortstop Chuck Ramshaw at .467. Other leading hitters include Charlie Petrilla, UCLA, .435, and Sandy Ingersoll, California, at .412.

UCLA's Gene Cooper has the most RBI's with 8, the most home runs, 2, and is tied with Petrilla with 17 total bases. Cal's Dennis Dalton leads in stolen bases with 3 and Ramshaw has been walked 12 times to lead that department.

Oregon's Jon Wheeler replaced UCLA's Guy Hansen, who was bombed in the first inning by California in his second start, as the Pacific-8 pitching leader. Wheeler has hurled two complete games, allowing one unearned run in each game, to have a perfect 0.00 ERA and a 2-0 record.

UCLA's Rich Kester has the most wins, 3, and the top win-loss mark at 3-0.

A total of four pitchers have 0.00 ERA records—Tom Brown, WSU; Bob Boyer, UCLA; and Tom McAlone, California. Stanford's Vance leads all pitchers with 23 strike outs and 19 walks.

UCLA is the team batting leader once again with a .337 mark and also paces the league in fielding with a .980 percentage.

Three Oregon Staters are among the conference's batting leaders.

Tom Jones has collected eight hits in 20 trips to the plate for place. His seven RBI's trail UCLA's Gene Cooper by only one.

Winkler's Aces

Craig Eisenbeis (left) broke the OSU 100-yard backstroke record at the National AAU Indoor Swimming and Diving Championships in Dallas, Texas. Garth Huffaker (behind Coach Bill Winkler) was clocked in 2:0.4 in the 200-yard individual medley.

Eisenbeis Records 56.4 At National Swim Meet

Coach Bill Winkler sent two of his top Oregon State University swimmers to the National AAU Indoor Swimming and Diving Championships and one came home with a new OSU record.

Craig Eisenbeis, who made the long trip to Dallas, Texas, along with perhaps the best rook swimmer in OSU history — Garth Huffaker — broke the OSU 100-yard backstroke, swimming the distance in 56.4.

Eisenbeis, now a junior, broke the oldest record on the books set in 1963 by Bob Hobby. The old mark was 56.5. The OSU backstroke began the swimming season hitting the finish in times of 59.

However, he brought his time down to 56.6 at the Pacific Athletic Conference swimming championships at Eugene. Eisenbeis placed seventh in conference, but clocked his 56.6 in a consolation heat.

Huffaker, who is destined for OSU stardom, clocked a 2:04.4 in the 200-yard individual medley at Dallas. His time was several tenths off his previous best.

The record-breaking OSU rook has set seven individual marks on the freshman board while also swimming on two relay teams down to 56.6 at the Pacific Ath-

Tollefson, Olds Join Leaders

Weightman Don Tollefson and triple jumper Charlie Olds joined a growing list of Oregon State University trackmen as leaders in their events in the Pacific-8.

Tollefson tossed the discus 169-8 1/2 to move into fifth place in the standings while Olds' 24 1/2 clutch performance against Washington last weekend also placed him fifth in the conference.

The Beavers currently have three men ranked in first place in the standings with Steve Hancock ahead in the 440 with a 46.4. Terry Smith on top with a 4:02.0 in the mile and Steve Kelly in a tie with Peter Boyce of Stanford at 6:10 1/4.

In other Pacific-8 action, USC's Gary Carlsen increased his top toss of the discus by one-fourth of an inch, to 192-8, retaining his lead in that event.

Oregon's Arne Kvalheim took over the lead in the two-mile with an 8:48.0 clocking, the nation's fastest of the year. His effort is the more amazing since it was the first two-mile he had ever run.

The new co-leaders are USC's Lennox Miller in the 100 (9.5) and UCLA's Ron Copeland in the high hurdles (13.7). Miller ties his teammate O. J. Simpson for the century lead, Copeland ties Trojan Earl McCullough.

The two-mile merits special examination. Prior to Saturday's efforts in the vent, the fifth best time necessary to qualify for mention in the event was 9:01.2. For this time of the year, that's an amazing fifth-best for a collegiate conference, even the Pacific-8.

Saturday Kvalheim ran his 8:48.0, which is 1.2 faster than the previous best in the U.S. this year, WSU's Gerry Lindgren finally showed signs of improved health with an 8:54.1 for fourth place in the event, and USC's John Link ran the eight laps in 8:55.6.

Rook Baseballers Split With PSC

The Oregon State Rooks beat the Portland State College Frosh 5-0 in the first game and dropped the second game 6-5 at Skovonia park in Portland Saturday.

Jerry Johnson shut out Portland on three hits in picking up his third win of the season against one loss.

Johnson got off to a shaky start in the first inning loading the bases with a leadoff double and two walks but he struck out the next batter and got the third out on a fly ball to center. Portland State never threatened to score after the first inning.

The Rooks started fast with two first inning tallies. Jay Widmer lead off with a walk and moved to third on Gary Carroll's double. Both Widmer and Carroll scored on Bob Beall's single through the hole to right field.

In the second inning the Rooks added another run. Johnson singled to left field with two outs and went to third on two pass balls. He scored on Widmer's ground ball to third.

The Rooks made it a 4-0 contest in the sixth on Ryan Goodell's double and Steve McCloskey's single.

Carroll reached first on a fielders choice, stole second, and scored on Beall's single in the seventh to make it a 5-0 game and end the scoring.

Widmer held the hot bat for the Rooks. He was 2-3 and Beall was next with 2-4. Carroll and Goodell banged out doubles to get the only extra base hits.

Beall was the only bright spot for the Rooks in the second game as he picked up two home runs in the 6-5 loss.

Portland State rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh to win. A balk with two outs forced the winning run in from third.

The Rooks were the first to score. In the fourth inning Beall cracked a double to right field and scored on Jim Higginbotham's single.

Portland State evened the score in the fifth on a double, a stolen base, and a pass ball.

Beall smashed his first home run in the sixth inning to give the Rooks a short one run lead.

Portland State scored twice in the bottom of the sixth to take a one run lead over the Rooks. They loaded the bases on a single, a double, and an intentional walk. A walk forced in the first run and a wild pitch let the other score.

Beall's second home run in as many innings gave the Rooks what looked like enough runs to win. Goodell lead off with a walk and waited on first for two outs then on Carroll's single he scored. Beall then drove in Carroll and himself with the home run poke over the center field fence.

The Rooks took the field in the bottom of the seventh confident of victory. The first batter walked and went to second on a pass ball. He scored on a single. Two singles loaded the bases with one out. An easy double play ball looked like a Rook victory but Beall dropped the relay at first letting one run score to tie the game with two outs.

With runners on first and third pitcher Jeff Gredvig started into his windup. The runner on first started for second on the windup and someone yelled to Gredvig that the runner was going.

Gredvig stopped his windup to play on the man going to second but it was called a balk because he was to far into the windup to legally stop.

The balk advanced the runner on third to the plate and produced the winning run.

Beall collected three of the Rook's six hits. He had two homers and a double in four times at bat. Carroll, Higginbotham, and Doug Walker produced the other hits.

OSU Trackmen To Face Mighty Troy On Bell Field

Girls' Coaches Picked

Powder Puff Deadline Set

Friday is the deadline for freshman and sophomore girls to sign up to play powder puff football at the Rook-Sophomore Picnic, May 19.

The Phi Delt has taken on the challenge of coaching the sophomore powder puff team, traditional losers, while the Fijis drew the rookies team to coach.

Practice for the powder puff football game started this week, but interested girls may still apply in the Activity Center. Any girl planning to play football must have either student insurance or personal accident insurance.

Charlene White, general chairman of the Rook-Sophomore Picnic, announced that the coaching fraternities were selected on the basis of their interest, enthusiasm and ability to organize a powder puff team.

Sprinter Ready For USC

Both Squads Undefeated; Trojans Ranked Favorite

By Bob Allard
Sports Writer

Oregon State University track squad plays host to the University of Southern California Trojans, the PAC-8 favorites, Saturday at 1:30 in a dual track meet on OSU's Bell Field.

This meeting will mark the second time the two schools have met. Last year Southern California won by a lopsided 98-56 score.

The Beavers will need some seasonal bests to overhaul the awesome Trojans. Last week the Trojans were excellent in recording 10 seasonal bests as they rolled over the Stanford Indians, 104-41, at Foothills College.

OSU's unbeaten squad won't give up without a fight. They are led by Senior Captain Steve Pancoast, who will compete in the 220 and 440 yard dashes and both relay races. Pancoast has season bests of 21.5 and 46.4 in the 220 and 440 respectively.

Rich Joyce, Dave Buck and Geoff Vanderstock has a best of 3:11.9 to their credit.

The Beaver quartet of Marks, Earl Belcher, Don Chapin, and Pancoast have a best of 3:14.2.

Terry Smith will double for OSU in the 880 and mile events. His best times are 1:49.2 and 4:02.0 respectively this season.

He hopes to be in top form Saturday after being upset at Washington last weekend.

USC will send Dennis Carr and Dave Buck to the starting gate in the 880. Their best times are 1:49.9 and 1:50.5 respectively.

Carr also will compete in the mile along with teammates Carl Trentadue and John Link. Carr's best is 4:02.5 and Link's being 4:06.4. Trentadue has been injured but has a best of 4:04.0.

In the two mile Southern Cal will have Link with a best clocking of 8:55.6 and Chuck Schulz at 9:00.4.

The Beavers will counter with their own Lew Dahlin and Keith Munson who have respective times of 9:10.7 and 9:11.8.

The Beavers Craig Sonniksen will be out to win the high hurdle event for the second straight year. He will go against McCullough with a best of 14.5.

A good race looms in the intermediate hurdles between the Beavers Jim Lockard and the Trojans Vanderstock. Lockard's best is 52.9 while Vanderstock has a 51.2 clocking to his credit.

Oregon State will have Steve Kelley and Dick Fosbury in the high jump with respective bests of 6-10 1/4 and 6-10. USC will counter with Greg Heet who has done 6-8 this year.

Olds and Terry Monroe are in the triple jump for OSU with respective bests of 48-7 1/2 and 47-9 1/2. The Trojans will send John Armstrong with a best of 47-6 1/2 to his credit.

The pole vault competition will see world record holder Bob Seagren and Paul Wilson competing for USC. They have respective bests of 17-3 1/2 and 16-11 1/2 this year. The Beavers main threat will come from Dennis Phillips who has a best of 16-4 1/2 this year.

Don Tollefson and Tim Vollmer will anchor OSU in the discus and shot put. Tollefson has respective bests of 169-8 1/2 and 56-3/4. Vollmer's bests are tosses of 168-6 1/2 and 52-6.

Winning Beavers Journey North For Rematches With WSU, UW

By GORDON ROSENBERG
Assistant Sports Editor

Oregon State's fast-improving baseball team invades the state of Washington for a rematch with last week's Beaver victims.

Coach Gene Tanselli's club will meet Washington State in a solo encounter at Pullman Friday afternoon, then travel across state to Seattle for a doubleheader against the University of Washington Huskies, Saturday.

OSU, winners of four of its last five conference games, came from behind to clobber Washington 8-5, last Friday, and rode strong pitching to a 3-1, 1-0 doubleheader sweep over the Cougars Saturday.

After falling behind in the first innings against Washington, the Beavers mounted a strong rallying charge and overtook the visitors.

Hitting was the order of the day in that one. But OSU's surprisingly strong pitching staff showed its stuff in the Saturday twinbill.

Junior hurler Denny Tower went the distance in the opening game, as Oregon State tallied three times in the bottom of the seventh inning to pull out the victory.

Tower ranks high on the league pitching list, with one win, no losses, and a good ERA of 1.20.

Righthander Ken Forsch, winner in the second game against WSU, has the sixth best ERA in the league, a .69 mark. He has given up only one earned run in 13 innings.

Veteran Beaver pitcher Jack Humphrey is tied for the conference lead in victories with a 2-0 mark on a 1.39 ERA.

First baseman Tom Jones is the number six hitter in the league. He is batting .400 with eight hits in 20 trips to the plate. Jones also has seven runs batted in.

Outfielder Tom Tracey is hitting .368 with 7-for-19, while catcher Bill Bonser is the third Beaver regular over the .300 mark. Bonser has 5-for-16, a .316 average.

Oregon State is the number two fielding team in the league with a .974 average. But the Beavers, 4-3 on the conference season, are hitting only .223 sixth best in the conference.

Washington State, a remnant of last season's conference championship team is dead last in fielding with a .924 average. The Cougars are third in hitting with a .249 average.

But Washington State doesn't have a man batting over the .300 mark, rather they have several bunched around .270.

WSU is led on the mound by Tom Brown, a man who lost his only decision so far to OSU last weekend.

Brown is 0-1, but he is yet to give an earned run in 14 innings of hurling. He is one of four pitchers in the league with a 0.00 ERA.

Washington has been led in hitting by second baseman Bill Parker, who has a .304 average on 7-for-23. First baseman Tom White currently has seven hits in 24 trips to the plate for a .292 average.

150 Cars Set For Newport

The fifth annual Newport Loyalty Days Races will be held this Saturday and Sunday, April 29 and 30, at the Newport Airport, three miles south of Newport, on the coast highway 101.

Cars from all over the Western states will be participating in the eight race program.

More than 150 cars are destined to see action, ranging from Fiat sedans to sports racers like the well-known Chaparral, according to Doug Van Dyke, an Oregon State junior who will be one of several drivers representing the school in competition.

"The sports racers will go as fast as 150 on the straightaways, while my Fiat sedan will probably top out at 85 if I push it," said Van Dyke, indicating the wide variation of cars in the events.

He added that such American cars as Mustangs, Barracudas, and Camaros will run in the sedan class.

"This will be one of the biggest fields in the Northwest this year," he concluded.

Practicing and trial runs will fill the bill Saturday, with the first of the eight races scheduled for 11 a.m. on the 2.3-mile course.

Pin-Hi
How to look good on any golf course: play it bold with Arrow's Pin-Hi, the 100% 2-ply cotton lisle knit that stays fresh and crisp to the eighteenth and beyond. Stays tucked-in too. An extra-long back tail keeps down while you swing. A great many standout colors, $6.00. Pick out a few.
