"DOC" STEWART AT CAUTHORN HALL

Athletic Director Talks to Men On Efficiency of Sports.

STUDENTS MUST LEND SUPPORT

He Urges Men to Try Out for the College Teams—Says Girls Must Also Turn Out.

That the efficiency of athletics at O. A. C. should be raised was very forcibly put before the boys at Cauthorn in an address recently delivered there by our new athletic director, Dr. Stewart.

"The first thing that I noticed in taking up the work here, Dr. Stewart said, is that your sports are pretty badly run down. Basketball is at a low ebb, track is neglected and baseball is hardly holding its own.
Football has been maintained, however, at a pretty good standard.

"I am not saying these things in a criticising manner or intent, but simply that you may see what we must do to get to that higher standard to which you all aspire. The coach cannot put out a winning team without the general support of the students. What is needed is for you students to come out and offer yourselves for the teams. To choose a good team it is necessary to have plenty of good material to pick from,
and the material cannot be developed in a few days' practice. Then again, do not be discouraged if you are not selected right at first—do not quit practicing. The coach must have time to select the men, and I assure you the very best men, the faithful, consistent workers, the ones that "showup," are the ones that will be selected. Remember always that true college spirit is not an attempt to gain only personal glory, but in doing that which is best for your college. In order to serve you best, to develop the best teams, I can have no favorites—show no partiality.
The best man will be played on the team whenever he deserves that position—whenever the change will strengthen and better the team.

"The second thing you must do is to turn out to the games—not only the boys, but the girls, too. We must have the girls on the sidelines. See your teams practice, encourage them, tell them you are boosting, and then prove it.

"So far there has been entirely too few men out for practice. It means something to represent your college, not only now, but in after years as well. It gives you confidence in yourself and prestige in the student body.
It means not only building up your reputation, but also that of your college.

"What I would like to see at O. A.
C." said Dr. Stewart, in conclusion,
"is everybody get out and make O.
A. C. something in athletics—something to be remembered in after years."

FORESTERS HOLD LIVELY MEETING

Wednesday evening the "Timber usual camp in the Science Hall. A short business meeting was first held, at which matters of interest were discussed.

Mr. Oakleaf, a recent grad of the Biltmore School of Forestry, N. C., and at the present time saw mill inspector of the F. S., gave a very instructive and interesting talk. His subject was, "The Efficiency of Saw Mills." He has been making a study for several months of the different styles of sawmills used in the Northwest.

Following this all joined in on several forest melodies. The evening ended up with a big bowl of hot chocolate and cookies, of which the greater per cent partook with heartiness.

TENNIS ENTHUSIASTS MEET.

Much Interest Shown in Sport—40
Racquet Friends Out.

Attended by about forty enthusiasts, the first meeting of the O. A. C.
Tennis Club resulted in definite action being taken toward furthering the sport at O. A. C.

Dr. Stewart called the meeting together, and made some remarks as to the nature of the meeting, and the purposes of organization. An election of officers was held, with the result that A. F. Mason was elected president; Ruth Shepard, vice-president; Frank W. Clyne, treasurer; Anna Rutledge, secretary and S. J.
Ramon, property manager. A committee consisting of Fred Plympton, C. A. Mansfield, and Hague, was appointed to attend to the matter of corresponding with various contracting firms as to the cost of constructing of permanent courts at O. A. C.
Another committee consisting of Dr.
Stewart, Misses Huston, Rutledge, Curtis, and Harris, was appinted to draw up a constitution, to be presented at the next meeting.

Dr. Stewart reported that President Kerr had stated that if enough interest was shown in the sport, steps would be taken to investigate the possibility of securing permanent courts, so with forty men and women out now, and fully that number who were unable to be present, prospects are very bright for the rapid advance of the game.

The next meeting of the club will be in Room 4 of the Administration building at 7 p. m. on Thursday evening. All men and women interested in tennis are asked to be present at the meeting.

F. E. PAYNE OF CAMAS IS DONOR

Model Prune Washer and Dipper Is Added to College Equipment.

The horticulture Department of O.
A.C. has just received a model prune washer and dipper, which was designed, built, and presented to O.A.
C. by C. E. Payne, of Camas, Wash., who is taking the short course in horticulture.

The new machine represents a great advance in handling the prune crop. At one end an elevator raises the fruit and deposits it in large galvanized iron tank, in which a lime-sulphur solution is kept boiling by a system of steam coils. The fruit

CLASS MANAGERS DRAW UP RULES

COMPLETE SCHEDULE ARRANGED

System Inaugurated in Interclass Athletics—Interest is Aroused in Work.

For the first time in the history of O. A. C. a definite set of rules has been adopted to govern inter-class contests. The only set that is of interest now is the one governing basketball.

This work of making fixed rules has been done by the Board of Inter-class Managers. The work of this board cannot be tolked about too much. From a rabid scramble, such as has been the custom of interclass games before, they have raised the standard of these contests and now some real playing is done by the teams.

Rules.

Section I.—There shall be a game between each class team.

Section II.—These games shall be governed by Conference rules with such alterations as the Board of In-terclass Managers deems necessary.

Alteration I.—Halfs shortened to 15 minutes.

Alteration II. — Intermissions
shortened to 5 minutes.

Section III.—Admission of 15 cents for two games.

Section IV.—No man having won his official O in basketball or a member of the squad, without the coach's consent, shall be allowed to represent his class in basketball.

Section V.—Each class team shall be made up of men registered in that class.

Alteration I.—Special students may play with the class team with which a majority of their studies correspond.

Section VI.—Teams shall have uniformly colored jerseys.

Section VII.—Any team failing to comply with schedule forfeits said game.

Section VIII.—Schedule:

Saturday, January 20, 7:30—'15
vs. '14; '12 vs. '13.

Saturday, January 27, 3—'15 vs.
'13; '12 vs. '14.

Saturday, January 3, 7:30—'15 vs.
'12; '13 vs. '14.

Section IX.—Any team failing to comply with above rules, at the protest in writing of an opposing team, are liable to forfeiture of said game by three-fourths vote of managers.

Section X.—Officials for Interclass games shall be varsity team men chosen by the managers.

is washed around by an agitator, and conveyed on an apron into the next vat, where it is thoroughly washed and cleaned. From this tank it is moved by a conveyor into a perforated drain board, where most of the water runs off. This board is dumped by an automatic lever periodically, depositing the fruit on screen trays. The simplicity and thoroughness of the machine make it of extreme value to prune growers.
It may be operated either by a gasoline engine or by hand.

PROF. HETZEL WILL SPEAK TO ENGINEERS.

Any engineer, no mater in what capacity he may be retained, is subject in a greater or less degree to the rulings of the Public Service Commissions. Professor Hetzel, at a regular meeting of the branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, has consented to give a paper on "Public Service Corporations and Their Regulation." Professor Hetzel is particularly well fitted to handle this subject as he has studied this question closely and has had experience with the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin. This body by its work has won fame all over the nation, being a pioneer in public service regulation. An invitation is extended to any one to attend this meeting in the physical lecture room of the Mechanical Hall at 7:30, Thursday evening, Feb. 1.

WILL ELECT EDITOR-IN-CHIEF.

Pharmaceutical Association and Commercial Club to Start Publication.

At a joint meeting of the Phamaceutical Association and the Commercial Club the matter of a publication was discussed and then nominations opened for the position of Editor-in-chief and Business Manager of the new paper.

The following are placed in nomination.

W. E. Morris.
F. H. Hand.
J. C. Hurley.
D. M. McClaire.

The nominee receiving the highest number of votes will be Editor-in-chief; the highest ranking nominee of the other organization to be Manager.

The students of the two schools will poll their vote at the Mining bldg. Monday, between 2 and 5 p. m.

CLEVER STUNT PARTY IS GIVEN AT WALDO

Last Wednesday night between the hours of 9:30 and 10:15, during the period known as the recreation hour, about two dozen girls gathered at one of the Waldo Hall parlors, having been invited thither by the Misses Ellen Canfield and Bertha Dishen.
Each girl came prepared to do some stunt, and was dressed in a manner suitable to the kind of stunt she had chosen to perform. Dean Crayne was the mistress of ceremonies and announced each number on the program. Among other wonders which were presented to the appreciative audience were the Italian organ grinder and his talented monkey, a wonderful exhibition of tight rope walking, a clever juggling stunt, and Sis Hopkins herself. Just before the lights blinked announcing that it was time to go to rest dainty refreshments were served by the nostess, and the guests took their departure regretfully.

About the toughest thing that can happen to a man is to go contrary to his wife's wishes, and then fall.

Prosperity causes as much discontent in America as famine causes in Russia.

BAND CONCERT IS BIG SUCCESS

Darcy, McManus and Gill Star in Solo Work.

DESCRIPTIVE PIECES ARE GOOD

Success Due in Great Measure to Captain Beard—Miss Rickard's Work Good.

Great success marked the annual concert of the O.A.C. Cadet Band, which was given in the opera house last Friday night. Catching the spirit of their audience with the first number they held it through to the last, each piece calling forth great applause.

The rising curtain disclosed tne players attired in natty white duck trousers and dark coats, a very striking combination. The appearance of Director H. L. Beard was heartily recognized.

The first number on the program was a march, "On Wisconsin," in which college spirit was paramount from the beginning to the end.
this number was heartily applauded.

Dropping quickly from the lighter vein, the band presented the overture to "William Tell" with expression and great attention to details.
The Shepherds' Song, a flute and clarinet duet by Darcy and Gill, was especially well performed, and the finale was a fitting climax to an excellent production.

"The Night Riders," a stirring patrol, reminded the audience of the "Passing of the Regiment," recently given by Bistolfi's orchestra, and was executed in a manner which compared very favorably with the professional artists.

A very difficult cornet duet was rendered by E. M. McManus and Captain H. L. Beard, which called forth great applause from the audience.
In "Two Little Bulfinches" the trills representing the singing of the birds were done with unusual evenness and accuracy. A beautiful encore was given.

The fifth number on the program was a selection from "The Chocolate Soldier," a pot-pourri from the entire opera. The last movement,
"My Hero," brought down the house.

Miss Vena Rickard read "The Soul of the Violin" with intense feeling and dramatic effect. Her interpretation of the intense love of an old man for an old and valuable violin, which he had held as a comrade always, even suffering death before he would part with it, called forth the admiration and applause of the audience. She gave a light reading entitled "Joe's Crime" for an encore.

The heavy overture to "Orpheus" was well done, and appreciated by everyone.

The number which attracted the audience was the descriptive piece, "What's the Matter With Father?"
in which father goes out with brother

ATHLETICS.

It is clearly evident that if the student body of O. A. C. is desirous of accomplishing any thing in athletics they must get out and boost.

Dr. Stewart, our new director, has taken up his new duties with a thorough understanding of past conditions, and has encouraging words regarding our future prospects. He realizes the many handicaps that have, heretofore, limited our possibilities toward the goal of highest efficiency, but believes that that time is now past. He has come to us with the firm resolve to put us on the top; and to that goal we will go if the student body will join hands with him and boost.

The first call our new director makes is for general support—not simply a good attendance at the games, but get out in your suit, even though you have never played basket ball or run the quarter. Get out and try. Come out and watch the boys practice. "And here," Dr. Stewart says, "we want the girls on the sidelines." Let us all get out together. "Boost! "Boost!"

CONVOCATION.

To say that the convocation of today is better than that of yesterday would be putting it in a mild way. We are being offered the privilege of attending meetings which are instructive, lively and interesting. The truth of this was evidenced at the meeting last Wednesday, here every seat was taken and there were a large number who had to stand. If the present high standard of programs is kept up there will be no difficulty in filling the gymnasium every convocation hour.

THE WOODWORK SHOP.

A large amount of new machinery has been placed in operation by the Woodwork Shop this year. Several hundred dollars' worth of the latest and most up-to-date labor saving machines have been installed and are now in operation. A new planer with a much larger capacity than the old one is now in operation. A sander, a machine where the work of twenty men can be done, and much more efficiently, has also been installed. A new band saw, a cut-off saw and many more machines of the latest improved pattern now fill the shop.

The addition of this new machinery has enabled the management to do away with some of the carpenters, the machines taking their place. The woodwork is now being done in a most efficient and economical manner. Most of the furniture now occupying the rooms of the various buildings on the campus were made in our own shops, and the amount of money saved by so doing has been enormous.

One large room is now devoted to the making of cabinets and such, and some very fine work is being turned out.

JUNIORS PLANNING WEEK END.
New Idea at O. A. C.—Manager Elected—Plans Made—Play Cast Selected.

The class of '13 has launched, for the first time at O. A. C., the proposition of a Junior Week End.

The success of the venture is guaranteed by the spirit and vim with which the members of the class have taken up the matter. S. W. Richardson has been elected general manager of the Prom, and is already buried in new ideas. Junior Proms, before have not been financial successes on account of the late date, many of the students not caring to stay over for the event. This year the dates for the Week End are April 6 and 7. Invitations will be out in about four weeks and it is desired that everyone put in a list of those to whom they desire bids sent, at once. The enthusiasm of the class and ability of the manager assures one of the most successful Proms. that has been given at O. A. C.

On the date not taken up by the Prom, the Juniors will give their annual play. The cast for the play has practically been decided upon by the committee in charge. At the next class meeting a manager for the play will be elected and then plans will be completed for the first Junior Week End at O. A. C.

STUDY AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS.

Material Will Be Used In Illustrated Lectures—Domestic Economy Prominent Phase.

Mrs. Waldo has again left for a years stay in the old world, where she will make a special study of the technical and agricultural schools of the foreign lands, particularly as they relate to the education of women in domestic economy.

On returning to O.A.C. Mrs. Waldo will have gathered material for four illustrated lectures which she will give before the students at O. A. C. and various other clubs and organizations of the state.

"The science of expenditure is one of the things we American women must learn," said Mrs. Waldo, "and much of my investigation and study on this trip will be along these lines. In my investigation in Oregon I have been able to find but three women who have reduced the family expenditure to a mathematical problem. Until we make a science of spending, we shall not be able to live up to the reputation of being the best educated women in the world. It is only applying science to their daily lives that our women have risen to be what they are and have been able to accomplish what they have in the world of finance."

"American women are universally ignorant of the rules of domestic economy — they know practically nothing of the proportion of expenditure. I often have given problems to young girls in the schools in the old countries, in Switzerland or France, and they immediately work out a schedule, showing the right proportion to be spent on shelter, food, clothing, emergencies, etc. An American girl or woman is completely baffled by such a problem. She knows vaguely that she has to economize in order to make both ends meet, but she does not make a science of it, nor connect the cost of living problem with proportionate expenditure. In Europe the girls are taught this in schools. In many of the cantons in Switzerland they have a woman inspector go about and inspect the work done by the girl in the home: her sewing, her baking, her orderly bed-chamber, her care of her clothing, even the bureau drawers are open to inspection and a report made and marks given.

"State Superintendent Alderman purposes to give credit for home work throughout the state schools, and this is a step in the right direction. I find that the tables are turning, and gradually the old world is beginning to look to America's educational systems, particularly along the lines in agricultural work."

NOTES OF THE U. OF O.

The University of Oregon and Willamette University have again resumed athletic relations. It was through the work of Manager Geary of U. of O. and Coach Sweetland of Willamette, that a contract was made to play two basketball games. One game is to be played at Eugene February 2 and the other at Salem February 24. Much interest is shown in the outcome of these games.

There is to be offered a new course next semester at the University of Oregon. This is called "Birds," and will be taught by Prof. Bovard. This course will take up the study of the different phases and whims of the Oregon songsters.

Golf is becoming a major sport at the University and this season promises to outdo any of the seasons passed. The aim is to interest all students, faculty and townspeople and thus raise money to improve the links.

ORCHARD TREATISE ISSUED.

Prof. C. I. Lewis Has Compiled Bulletin Dealing With State Horticulture Problems.

The people of the state, and especially the agricultural students of the college who are particularly interested in Horticulture have long felt the need of an extensive bulletin dealing with horticulture problems particular to this state.

In response to this call Prof. C. I. Lewis of the Horticultural Department has recently compiled and the college has just issued Bulletin No. 111. The bulletin is without doubt the most conservative yet very complete and fair of any publication of its kind published in the west. It is exceptionally free from the "boom taint" and discusses clearly and conclusively the question of possible over production.

Detailed methods of planting and caring for orchards of various kinds with special reference to cultural methods best adapted to Oregon conditions is one of the most valuable parts of the work. The bulletin is fully illustrated and all points considered it is a publication for which Prof. Lewis and the College may well be proud.

COMMERCIALS MEET.

Last Friday afternoon the Commercial Club met and elected officers for the coming semester. The meeting was well attended and the enthusiasm shown points to a successful term for the new men.

The officers elected are as follows:
Pres.—H. M. Roberts.
V. P.—E. J. Montague.
Sec.—Maud McLaughlin.
Treas.—Fred M. Weatherford.
Sgt. at Arms—Shamus O. McFadden.
Barometer Reporter—Ira E. Gillet.

SWIMMING CLUB ELECT.

The O.A.C. Swimming Club met Thursday for a short business session. Mr. C. E. Bannister, one of the crack swimmers was elected vice-president and manager to fill the place left vacant by Glover Carrol who resigned recently.

It was also decided to have the club picture in the Junior Annual and the club will go to Blakely's next Thursday for that purpose. After posing the plungers will repair to Andrews & Kerr's for a feed.

EASTERN OREGON CLUB RECEPTION

SHORT COURSE STUDENTS INVITED

New Organization Will Entertain
New Friends—Special Program Has Been Prepared.

On Thursday evening, February 3, the Eastern Oregon Club will give a reception to the Short Course students and college faculty.

During their stay here at college the Short Course students have been busy attending lectures and consequently have had little or no chance to meet socially, or become acquainted with their fellows. However, on Thursday evening they will have a splendid opportunity to meet and mingle with faculty and fellow students alike.

The committee has prepared an excellent program, and it is safe to say that those who attend will spend a pleasant and enjoyable evening. The program comprises many interesting numbers, prominent among which will be addresses by Dr. W. J. Kerr, Prof. J. B. Horner and Dr. Bell. Especially deserving of attention will be the musical numbers by the Glee and Mandolin Clubs, and vocal selections by Mrs. Genevieve Baum-Gaskins.

At the conclusion of the program all formality will be set aside. Light refreshments will be served and every one will proceed to get acquainted with every one else. The way in which this is done will prove to be both unique and interesting.

The reception will be held in the college gymnasium, and the program begins promptly at 8 o'clock.

Miss Keren Davis has been ill at her home for the past week. Her condition is not serious however, and she will be out again in a few days.

The "Actors' Combine" is again in evidence. Those desiring further information communicate with W. T. S.—M. R. C. & Co. Anywhere.

The Rocky Mountain Club held its annual banquet Wednesday evening. All its official members were present and leaped nimbly from crag to crag of ice cream, cake and other viands while giving the filial yell "Heigh-o-o-o." The object of the club is the lowering of the tariff, and discussion of all questions of civic and economical welfare. After a ringing address by the guest of honor, Charles Sitton, the banquet broke up at a late hour, all voting the occasion a huge success.

INTERCLASS GAMES ARE SCORCHERINOES

Seniors and Rooks Victors—Senior Rooting a Feature.

Saturday afternoon two of the fastest interclass basketball games ever pulled off were played on the local floor.

The Seniors went after the Sophs in whirlwind style. After the slaughter was over and the yells of the Senior rooters were subdued so that it was possible for the audience to remove the cotton from their ears, it was discovered that the score was 29 to 14 in favor of the Seniors.

The details of the Junior-Freshman game should only be expressed in a whisper. The brilliant playing of both teams was as lacking as opera chairs in Groves' Granery. The result of this dispute was 11 to 7 in the Rooks' favor.

During the first half of the '12-'14 game it was a walkaway for the '12, but in the second half the Sophs came back strong and made things more interesting. The '13-'15 game was as near even as could be imagined. It took the Rooks some time to get started but after the start they were able to edge out with a slight margin over the Juniors.

The lineups:
Seniors.—F, Heckert, Lafferty, Arbuthnot, (C.); G, Hand, Paxon, Simms; C, Shultz.

Sophomores.—F, Lamely, Babb; G, Hurd, Strang; C, Eddy (C.).
Freshmen.—King (C.), Billie; G, Starr, Buchanan; C, Darling.

Juniors.—F, Williams (C.), Carnegie; G, Richardson, Shake; Reynolds; C, Jernstedt.

SHORT COURSE SESSION

Tuesday night the Corvallis Commercial Club will hold a "Short Horn" session with the men attending the short course at the college as guests.

The short course class is essentially a congress of influential Oregon citizens who are doing more for the state than our delegation in congress can possibly do, and who are here to add to their agricultural efficiency. During their stay these visitors have had the freedom of the club rooms, but it is desired to show a more official appreciation of their presence. and Tuesday night has been fixed as the time for this expression. In view of the coming Paulhamus day affair and the growing interest in the small farm development, locally, the club members will find it profitable to hear some of the experiences of these men who are making modern farming successful. The program will be published later

CONVOCATION IS WELL ATTENDED

DR. DYOTT ON SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Armed Peace Criticised—Williams
Jubilee Singers and Piano Duet Pleasing.

That the student body thoroughly appreciate the quality that has characterized the past few convocations, was clearly proven by the presence last Wednesday of nearly every student of the college. The inability of the Gymnasium to accomodate all present was only too aparent as at least one hundred students were forced to stand during the hour.

The Williams Jubilee Singers' Quartette pleased the audience with several of their choice selections after which Dr. Dyott of the first Congregational Church of Portland, delivered an excellent address.

Dr. Dyott is an able speaker and has a manner pleasing to a College audience. He spoke at length upon the problems the future would heap upon the rising generation and outlined how they could best be met.

He commented upon the absurdity of international peace in the face of such extensive armament as characterizing the civilized nations of today.

Dr. Dyott believes in the optimistic view regarding the opportunities offered the young man of today.

"Success anywhere," he stated, "is the equivalent of opportunity and capability, coupled with good hard conscientious work." "If we have good in us," he continued, "we must have go because you see G-O is necessarily included in G-O-O-D."

"Every man must do his part," concluded Dr. Dyott, and in order that he may do his full part, three qualifications are necessary. He must have the body of an athlete; the mind of a sage; and the soul of a saint."

This is the second address Dr. Dyott has delivered in the last two years and all look forward with pleasure to the time when he may again address the student body. Following the speaker is a very pleasing piano solo was given by representatives of the school of music.

BAND CONCERT SUCCESS

and some college sports and gets jagged. He comes home at 3 a. m. and breaks up the furniture trying to go to bed. It was cleverly executed and the band was forced to play it three times before the listeners were satisfied.

"The Fall of Jericho" was a martial composition, describing the attack and capture of that city.

The last number was "The Electorate," a stirring march. This was concluded by playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

The appreciation of the audience was shown all through the program by the fact that every number was encored at least once. Great credit is due to the leader, Captain Harry L. Beard, for the efficiency of the band. His untiring effort and exceptional ability was the prime factor leading to the success of the performance.
