

In this moment of great national crises, arising from the expansion of the Vietnam War into Cambodia, and ~~of a~~ <sup>in this</sup> time of sorrow, quickened by the death of four students at Kent State, but prompted over many months by the death of ~~the young~~ <sup>men</sup> from Vietnam to the ghettos of America, it is important that ~~this~~ <sup>the</sup> University, <sup>of Oregon</sup> ~~give~~ appropriate expression to concern and grief. I have ordered the flag ~~lowered~~ to half staff, have requested that silent mourning be observed in classes this morning, have wired sympathy of students and faculty to the President of Kent State; I have wired my personal support to Senator Hatfield in his effort to ~~regulate~~ terminate the war <sup>if it could be immediately terminated</sup> or to regulate it within the constitution; I have wired President Nixon to urge an early end of hostilities and <sup>the</sup> withdrawal of armed forces from Vietnam; and I have joined with Chancellor Jewellen and the presidents of Portland State and Southern Oregon College in urging President Nixon to give <sup>an</sup> audience to university presidents who ~~are~~ seek to open lines of communication between <sup>white</sup> ~~the~~ and university campuses whose students feel <sup>that</sup> their points of view are being ignored.

Memorial services are planned for tomorrow afternoon at three-thirty. I urge as full attendance as is possible. Students and faculty have been conducting teach-ins and plan further sessions for the remainder of the week, including a ~~community~~ community education campaign. The latter is particularly important, for citizens of the community have thus far been almost universally unable to understand the depth of student feeling and despair <sup>(the)</sup> over recent events. If we are to <sup>the proper community</sup> persuade <sup>the</sup> the ~~majority~~ <sup>majority</sup> of procedure will be of utmost importance. I am personally of the opinion that action should be voluntary, that students should be free to attend classes or to absent themselves, that in view of the ~~outstanding~~ <sup>outstanding</sup> situation professors should be tolerant of students <sup>who are engaged in discussion of many ~~relevant~~ ~~issues~~</sup>. This position, which the University has taken in the past in times of crises is, in fact, very similar to that invoked <sup>10 days ago</sup> at Yale

University by President Brewster who in response to a faculty resolution said that each student and teacher "is free to decide for himself whether to hold or to attend classes ~~now~~ and how best to utilize the classroom opportunity."

In any event, I believe that this issue is of such critical importance that the faculty should set aside

The regular agenda, in view of last month's adjourned meeting, is crowded with important business, including many items of vital concern to students. Nonetheless, I believe that the question of the University's posture toward the current crisis is of ~~such~~ first importance. I, therefore, ask the consent of the faculty to change the order of business to permit us to proceed at once to, <sup>consideration of</sup> any proposals relative to this crisis.
