

Genl. P.

[MAY, 1856?]

Dear Sir. It was my intention to manage those matters entrusted to my charge here so that you would not be particularly annoyed with anything pertaining to them, nor that I should give occasion for suspicion. I fear I have failed in the first. Also in the latter were it not I know you rather bear than suspect,

I was sorry Father Clarke added to your number his cares by referring in his settlement with you to his and my deal at all, as we had settled and they you a note

The matter has assumed such a shape that I thought it best to give a little explanation. Trust it will be satisfactory. We lived with the Clarks some four weeks. They furnished some things. And we furnished some, in settlement $1.75 was in our favor. I furnished them $5. My funds to buy some meat the two items making $6.75 which amount has been paid to you (or rather a bill) by Mr. Clark. I believe all I received has been paid over or accounted for except one saddle blanket which I lent to Mr. Robinson it is not returned & I will either get it or pay for it. I will give a bill of items for money paid out.

Most Respectfully Your servant

Mr. Joel Palmer,
