

Feb 21st, 1933.

Mr Perkins B. Bass
140 South Dearborn St
Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Perkins:

Your letter of Feb 10th has been received. I am very glad that I am making my income tax list in the right way and to give you as little trouble as possible.

Now, Perkins, it is quite true that if I were to call Illinois my residence that I would escape the Oregon State Income Tax. But I took it up with Sam and he feels that because I am living here the greater part of the year and since all my activities are here that I should continue to make the state of Oregon my residence. And that I should continue to do so until such time as I ceased to have my activities here and cease to live here the greater part of the year. That being his attitude, I am going to do as he wishes in regards to my residence. And so I will ask you to please send my federal income tax to Portland, Oregon and pay the state of Oregon income tax when it comes along. Probably it will be necessary to take it up with Mr Bryson, as I think the state laws change from year to year.

I hope to hear that Jean is getting along all right and that she is happy to be at home again. I hope she is adjusting herself to her new conditions.

During the past week, my mother's two nurses have both sent me reports as to my mother's health. Physically she is getting along better, she sits out in the sunshine in the morning and takes a drive in the afternoon—that is whenever the weather permits.

With love to you all,

Your affectionate cousin,

P.S. Please send George $300 the first of March and reduce it to $250 the first of April. I have written him and told him that I was going to make this reduction and that should the conditions grow worse in the country, his allowance might cease all together.

Feb 21st, 1933.

Mr Perkins B. Bass
140 South Dearborn St
Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Perkins:

Your letter of Feb 10th has been received. I am very glad that I am making my income tax list in the right way and to give you as little trouble as possible.

Now, Perkins, it is quite true that if I were to call Illinois my residence that I would escape the Oregon State Income Tax. But I took it up with Sam and he feels that because I am living here the greater part of the year and since all my activities are here that I should continue to make the state of Oregon my residence. And that I should continue to do so until such time as I cease to have my activities here and cease to live here the greater part of the year. That being his attitude, I am going to do as he wishes in regards to my residence. And so I will ask you to please send my Federal Income tax to Portland, Oregon and pay the state of Oregon Income tax when it comes along. Probably it will be necessary to take it up with Mr. Bryson, as I think the state laws change from year to year.

I hope to hear that Jean is getting along all right and that she is happy to be at home again. I hope she is adjusting herself to her new conditions.

During the past week, my mother's two nurses have both sent me reports as to my mother's health. Physically she is getting along better, she sits out in the sunshine in the morning and takes a drive in the afternoon—that is whenever the weather permits.

With love to you all,

Your affectionate cousin,

P.S. Please send George $300 the first of March and reduce it to $250 the first of April. I have written him and told him that I was going to make this reduction and that should the conditions grow worse in the country, his allowance might cease all together.