My dear Gertrude:

We are getting along very well at home but, so far as we can see, our situation with Jean is no better than it has been since she arrived.

Some time ago, Jean took up the question with me about Avriett's coming to Chicago to get a job and I told her that the State of Illinois was already paying six million dollars a month to take care of what unemployed were here now and that, so far as I was concerned, he could not come and live in my house. She had quite a talk with Brother Jim and he was very patient but very decided in his views with reference to Avriett.

With very kind regards, I am

Yours very truly,
