Dear Gertrude

It is such ages since I've heard your cheery voice on the telephone, telling me that you and Mabel were in town and on the run, either east or west, that I thought I better check up on you, or you'd be passing me up, and I would not be seeing you for another spell, for which I'd be sorry for another six months or a year.

I hope you are all right. Jim reported in Feb, that you went to Los Angeles to find some sunny days - and he was so miserable with his teeth, or lack of them, and other troubles that he came home looking very thin and very badly, and has not yet picked up enough to look or act like himself - did not make any of his usual short trips around here, while I went to Fish Creek with my brothers family - for a couple of weeks.

Jack & Ellen were here from Bridgeton^{N.J.} where Jack has had a job since January, so that he could get checked over by his doctor for a kidney complication left by the flu. He could not afford the time but felt it was wise.
Would you have Mabel write me I feel very forlorn not knowing any thing about you.
as always with deepest affection Mame
