

Oregon Waltons Mull Many Matters In Parley Opening Here Thursday

Aug 24-1939
Coos Bay Times (Marshfield Or.)

Men prominent in wildlife conservation, tourist travel promotion, fish propagation, maintaining of pure streams and curbing of flood waters will appear in Marshfield Friday and Saturday at the annual Oregon State Izaak Walton league convention.

Mayor J. Stanley Emery, president of the state league, today announced the official program for two days of convention sessions at the city hall, a dinner Friday night at Bush's and a seafood supper at Coos Head Boy Scout cabin Saturday night.

The public is welcome to attend the sessions and hear the talks, Emery said today. The complete program is:

Friday, 9 a.m., Registration, at Chandler hotel; sessions, city hall. Address of welcome, Mayor J. Stanley Emery. Response, William L. Finley, Portland chapter, vice president of the Izaak Walton League of America.

Discussions: "Pollution of Public Waters," Harold Wendell, chairman, state sanitary commission; Carl E. Green, state sanitary engineer; Chester McCarty, attorney, Portland chapter; William L. Finley, Wildlife Federation of America.

"Fish Resources of the Northwest": Problems of Columbia river, John C. Veatch, chairman state game commission; James Cellars, Columbia River Packers association; Marine Fisheries, State or Federal Control, M. T. Hoy, state Fish Warden; Arthur Moulton, Portland chapter.

Noon, adjournment; 1:30 p.m., "How Game Fishing Can Be Increased": E. E. Wilson, chairman state game commission; Charles Leach, state game commission.

"Rights of Anglers Along Streams": George Rauch, attorney; Kenneth Moody, state game commissioner; Stanley Jewett, federal biology survey.

"Gains and Losses of Willamette Valley Flood Control Projects Proposed": O. D. Eby, chairman Will-

Trip over Coos Bay bar on coast guard cutter Pulaski; Clarence Coe, arrangements chairman.

At 6:30 p.m. Seafood dinner at Boy Scout beach cabin; J. Albert Matson in charge.

Sunday, August 27, 1939: Golf and trapshoot, Coos Country club; striped bass excursions.

Oregon Waltons Gather In City Tomorrow Morn

(Continued from Page One)

Willamette Valley Basin commission; R. H. Kipp, secretary, Willamette Valley Basin commission; H. A. Rands, U.S. army engineer; W. L. Finley, national vice president, I.W.L.A.; Frank Wire, state game supervisor.

"The 1939 Duck Season": James Gerow, U.S. game management agent.

At 4:30 p.m., adjournment; at 7:30 p.m., banquet at Bush's: Dr. A. B. Peacock, toastmaster; Harold Say, state highway commission travel agent; E. F. Averill, former president, Oregon Wildlife federation; moving pictures, William L. Finley and Frank Wire.

Saturday, August 26, 1939, 9 a.m., sessions, city hall. Discussions: "Oregon State Game Commission Program," Dr. A. B. Peacock; "Pittman-Robertson Projects," J. C. Savage, federal department.

"Plans For Big Game Management": Glenn Mitcull, U. S. forest service; Frank B. Wire, state game supervisor.

Committee reports, finance and audit; resolutions; nominating; election of officers.

At 1 p.m., ladies' luncheon, Coos Country club; bridge.

Waltons Begin Parley; Banquet Slated Tonight

Aug 25-1939
Coos Bay Times (Marshfield Or.)

Highlight of business sessions of the state Izaak Walton league, the discussion of the Willamette valley project for flood control and dam construction, was to occupy hours from 2 to 4 o'clock this afternoon on the convention program at the Marshfield city hall.

A small early registration, with only a dozen formally-signed delegates among the less than 50 in attendance caused officers of the organization to limit the morning session to formal opening of the convention.

Only response to Mayor J. Stanley Emery's address of welcome was applause from assembled delegates. Dr. A. B. Peacock's suggestion that the president of the state league should respond drew from President J. Stanley Emery the promise that when convention appointments had been completed and a sergeant-at-arms was on duty "such small matters" would be taken care of with "small fines".

Delegates registered during the morning were from Marshfield, Portland, Eugene and Springfield. Largest increase in numbers was expected for the late afternoon and evening meetings from other portions of southwestern Oregon, while many delegates from upstate are expected Saturday.

Tonight's banquet at Bush's is slated for 7, with Dr. Peacock, member of the state game commission, as toastmaster. Harold Say, state highway commission travel agent; E. F. Averill, former president of the Oregon Wildlife federation; William Finley and Frank Wire are to be speakers for the occasion.

Izaak Walton League Meets At Marshfield

Salem, Ore. Journal
Aug. 25, 1939

Marshfield, Ore., Aug. 25 (AP)—Conservationists, state game and fish commission authorities, sport and commercial fishermen gathered here today for the annual Oregon Izaak Walton league convention.

The delegates were welcomed by Mayor J. Stanley Emery, a Walton leader, and William L. Finley, noted Portland naturalist and vice-president of the National Walton organization. Dr. A. B. Peacock, Marshfield member of the game commission, will preside at a banquet tonight. Speakers will include Frank Wire, state game supervisor, E. E. Averill, former president of the Oregon Wildlife federation, Finley and Harold Say, state highway commission travel director.

Today's program:

Pollution of public waters—Harold Wendell and Carl E. Green, state sanitary experts, Chester McCarty, Portland attorney, and Finley.

Northwest fish resources—John C. Veatch, game commission; James Cellars, Columbia River Packers' association; M. T. Hoy, state master fish warden; Arthur Moulton, Portland.

Game fish increases—E. E. Wilson, Charles Leach, state game commission.

Rights of anglers—George Rauch, Portland attorney; Kenneth Moody, state game commission; Stanley Jewett, biological survey.

Willamette valley flood control—O. D. Eby, R. H. Kipp, Willamette valley basin commission; H. A. Rands, army engineer; Wire and Finley.

1939 duck season—James Gerow, federal game management agent.