March 1, 1929

Dear Mrs. Warner,

Your mother was very much touched that you sent me that telegram so she set out to answer herself on the spot.

The house has been in a mental hubbub, — and since yesterday afternoon we have peace again. Miss Hattie arrived with the Flu, gave it to her maid, and lastly to her nurse, hated the doctor, and generally felt abused because your mother didn't visit her while she was sick, Mr.

John Bass came here a week ago today & your mother sent him back North with H. B. B. who of course hasn't been able to get away fast enuf to please herself.
In a little while all this will be smoothed over.
Last night Mrs. Bass was very tired but she is alright to-day.

Your mother loves the bright weather here. It is a sort of intermittent thing during February - but glorious indeed between the rainy days. She goes outdoors more than she did last year. It is easy to coax her to take a wee walk so that she will benefit and enjoy the freshness. Of course we have difficulties with the fresh air in the room where she sits but on the whole, it is a decided improvement. I think your mother keeps very well and is getting along splendidly. Lillie is very thoughtful and resourceful when she is not at her best and I do my best to pour sunshine 'into her heart. She likes your letters very much and very proudly passes them around. Mr. John was a little surprised at all your social activity. He turned to your mother and said, "Bamby, I'm surprised Gertrude spends as much time in Peterboro as she does. How dull it must be to her etc."

As for my singing - I'm quite as happy with it as ever and making some progress. Before we Left Chicago, I sang for Felix Barowski who told me I was the first person he ever had to convince of having a real voice. He asked if I would care to sing at one of the "Civic Music Association" concerts.

I should be thrilled but I'm not counting much on that invitation. I go every day to the convent school to sing for an hour.

Other time off is very difficult when away from either Chicago or Peterboro.
There are occasions when it is foolish to insist but it takes tactful planning.

I find the daily lessons a great aid to everything big and little and in any special time of need, I turn to the book you sent me. I feel as if I never knew the meaning of God or his Power until thru this Christian Science - and oh what a wonderful thing. I'm surely grateful to you.

I went to see the "King of Kings" night before last!

It is a marvelous sermon, Every child ought to see it.

We aren't doing much reading aloud aside from the "Atlanta Journal", N.Y. Times, Outlook + Time".

Your mother seems to need story books rather than serious ones after four hours of the reading above.
She goes to sleep over histories + slow moving books.
She feels a bit ashamed about it but perhaps it is natural for she follows the other current events so ~~keenly~~ keenly.

Much love to you and I hope we see you soon.

Adèle Breauy.
