Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Harry:

During the last year when you have sent the check to me from your office to Perkins B's office, he has deposited it to my account in the Northern Trust Company Bank without waiting to hear from me as to what to do with it. We did this because otherwise it took so long for correspondence to go back and forth.

If there is no reason that would prevent, I would be glad if you would carry out that same system.

I came down here about six weeks ago to get ready for Sam's coming and I am expecting to be here through the month of August. After that I shall go up to Portland and be at the Southern Hotel. Sam has probably told you what nice summer weather that we have here and that it is not necessary to leave town because it is summer. Many people go away however just for the trip and a change.

We are having a very good time with Mr Harada, who is going through the Japanese collection with me. He is up on all the old traditions and customs of the country and it is very interesting to hear him talk about them. It gives us a background in things when people visit the museum and want to know about the objects. These things are not easily found in books.

Your very sincerely

Gertrude Bees Turner
