Dear Mrs. Warner:

I have been much interested to learn that you are related to ex-Governor Winant, who is to be with us for the Commonwealth Conference. Thinking that you would want to see something of him while he is here and realizing that he will be tied up most of the time in conferences on account of the importance of his visit to several different groups of people, we would like to have you sit with Mr. Winant at the speakers' table on the occasion of the banquet Friday night, March 19th. I hope that your engagements will make it possible for you to do this.

We anticipate that there will be a very large attendance at the Conference this year, and on account of the wide variety of interests we are inclined to believe that a number of delegates will bring their wives or other members of their families. We are, therefore, of the opinion that a considerable number of these people might want to visit the Museum sometime during the Conference. In case arrangements could be made to have the Museum open to visitors, we would be very happy to announce the fact somewhere on the printed program. If arrangements can be made to open the Museum to visitors on one or more of the Conference dates, we would appreciate it if you would give us the hours within the next few days.

With kindest personal regards,

Very sincerely yours,

Philip A. Parsons

Separate sessions will be held during the mornings and afternoons. Sessions of all groups will be held every noon and evening. See program announcements inside.
