Dear Mrs. Noble:

Your letter asking me for a recommendation has been received.

I have always supposed that the reason why you did not do better while you were with us at the Museum, at the University of Oregon, was caused by your disturbed family relations. You, of course, know the cause better than I do.

I would expect that you would receive another position through the recommendations of your present employers - through the recognition of your interest in and fidelity to your work since you have been away from the conditions that caused your distress.

I am very sorry that I cannot comply with your request.

Referring to your expression of a desire to assist Mr. Harada, - that would not be possible. The present Museum staff fills every need for assistance for Mr. Harada.

Trusting that you will soon find your right place and work and be very happy in it,

Very sincerely yours
