

Received Nov. 30, 1927.

Mr. George Turnbull,
School of Journalism,
University of Oregon,
Campus.

Dear Mr. Turnbull:

I believe I have here the sum and substance of our committee meeting yesterday concerning the Murray Warner Essay topics.

First, the general question as follows: What Difficulties, Social, Commercial or Political, exist between the United States and the Countries of the Far East, and How May They be Removed?

Second, it was decided that any special topic not covered by the above having to do with United States and Oriental relations, if treated in a logical and definite manner, will receive equal consideration at the hands of the jury of awards.

Third, students of different nationalities are expected to discuss particularly the relations between the United States and their respective countries; that is to say, students of the United States will emphasize the relations between the United States and any part of the whole Orient, while Japanese students or Philippine students will confine themselves to the relations between the United States and their respective countries.

If you think of any modification of these three statements in line with our committee work, you may feel free to make the necessary change for me, but I believe these are substantially the summarized decisions of the committee.

Very truly yours,

(signed, Warren D. Smith)

W.D.S.:S

Warren D. Smith.

The plan adopted by the undersigned in his course in Geography will be that of assigning a term theme and selecting the best papers to pass on to the judges of the Murray Warner contest.

A meeting of the committees to confer with Mrs. Warner is called for Tuesday, November 29, at four p.m. in the office of Dean Allen, School of Journalism.

Respectfully,

(Signed, Warren D. Smith.)

Warren D. Smith.

W.D.S.: S

Nov. 30, 1937

Mr. George Barnhill,
School of Journalism,
University of Oregon,
Cannon.

Dear Mr. Barnhill:

I believe I have here the sum and substance of our committee meeting yesterday concerning the Murray Warner Essay topics.

First, the general question as follows: What Difficulties, Social, Commercial or Political, exist between the United States and the Countries of the Far East, and How May They be Removed?

Second, it was decided that any special topic not covered by the above having to do with United States and Oriental relations, if treated in a logical and definite manner, will receive equal consideration at the hands of the jury of awards.

Third, students of different nationalities are expected to discuss particularly the relations between the United States and their respective countries; that is to say, students of the United States will emphasize the relations between the United States and any part of the whole Orient, while Japanese students or Philippine students will confine themselves to the relations between the United States and their respective countries.

If you think of any modification of these three statements in line with our committee work, you may feel free to make the necessary change for me, but I believe these are substantially the unanimous decisions of the committee.

Very truly yours,

(Signed, Warren D. Smith)

Warren D. Smith

W.D.S.:B