Index to Homer H. Dubs' translation of
The History of the Former Han Dynasty

Han Dynasty History Project
University of Washington

Those who have worked with the late Professor Homer H. Dubs' translation of the "Annals" and other parts of Pan Ku's Han shu have long felt the need for a complete index to Dubs' work so that it is not necessary to approach the work indirectly via the Harvard-Yenching Index to the Han shu). What we offer here will only satisfy part of that need, for, although we plan to produce an analytical index of all matter in the three volume translation, this particular index was compiled in order to facilitate work on a specific project, viz., a biographical dictionary of major figures of the Former Han dynasty. Much of our dictionary work is based upon work by Professor Dubs, including his unpublished Glossary and his published translation of the "Annals." Since this Index was compiled to aid our work on the biographical dictionary it is limited in the following ways: It indexes only the names of people in the Dubs translation; it does not include references to the names of people as they occur in Professor Dubs' "Introductions," nor does it index the names of people mentioned in the footnotes to the translation. In spite of these limitations, we felt that it should be made available to those who may wish to use it. The user will be aware of the taboo on the surname "Chuang" and should be sure to check entries under the name "Yen" when looking for someone known also as "Chuang."

Most of the indexing work was performed by Masaaki Seki; the calligraphy is by Byon Jae Hyon. My special thanks go to Mrs. Barbara Mahr who collated and typed the final manuscript.
