ROOSEVELT WINS BY LANDSLIDE

Consolidation Measure Defeated

MERGER BILL LOSES BY 5 TO 1 MARGIN

Lane County Votes 50 to 1 Against; Benton Goes 4 to 1 in Favor; Incomplete Reports From 764 Precincts. Give 12,428 Yes Compared With 61,347 No

By HOWARD DOUGLASS

That Oregon's voters were not ready to accept the consolidated system of higher education proposed under the Zorn-Macpherson school moving bill was conclusively demonstrated as the measure was snuffed under at the polls yesterday by a ratio of 5 to 1.

The defeat insures the retention of the identities of the several higher education institutions of the state. Reports continued to come in slowly but as there were 764 precincts still incomplete in the Oregonian's final report at 1:15 o'clock this morning, the final count is not available.

This report showed 61,347 votes against the bill as compared with 12,428 for it. Pre-election guesses were pretty thoroughly vindicated by the last count.

University of Oregon students will celebrate the defeat of the Zorn-Macpherson measure today with a holiday, according to word received here last night. Among the festivities will be a free all-university dance.

Benton county was the only one outstanding in favor of the bill. A majority of the rest of the counties were opposed. Multnomah county in particular was against the merger.

Lane county voted nearly 50 to 1 against the measure, Benton 4 to 1 for it. The high ratio in Lane county reflects accurately the effect of the activity, both the university students and townspeople, in fighting the measure.

From the very first reports, it was evident that the bill was doomed. Later reports only served to confirm this fact.

It is expected the proponents of the measure will renew activity within a short time, hoping that at the next test their plan will meet with success.

COLLEGE BUTTERMAKER WINS NATIONAL AWARD

Holger P. C. Nielsen, butter-maker, was awarded first place in the senior fresh butter division of the National Creamery Buttermaker's association contest recently held in Mason City, Iowa, according to an announcement received here yesterday. This is the third consecutive time Nielsen has received this award.

R. J. Thomsen, assistant butter-maker, made a rating of 94.25 in the junior division of cold storage butter in the same contest.

Oregon State college also placed in the dairy products show of the Pacific International Livestock exposition.

ORANGE OWLS WILL PLAY FOR MATINEE HOP TODAY

Three more couples will be selected at the regular matinee dance today from 4 to 6 o'clock in the Memorial Union ballroom to compete in the final prize dance. The contest will be a feature of the last matinee affair this term. The Orange Owls will furnish music for today's dance.

"Students are taking a real interest in these contests and the dances are plainly creating a friendly atmosphere on the campus," said George Baldwin, dance chairman.

RUMORS HINT THAT JOHN J. O'BRIEN SET TO GO

Rumors have been floating around the Oregon university campus the last few days to the effect that John J. O'Brien, assistant football coach, has helped Prink Callison for the last time during a game and will soon be seeking a job in other climes.

O'Brien came West with Doc Spears and remained at Oregon last year with Prink and has been drilling the ends for the conference season. O'Brien also is the Web-foot's star scout and has given some valuable hints before games to the head coach.

STUDENT DIRECTORIES BEING RAPIDLY SOLD

Faculty Receives 600 Copies, Students 400, Soliciting Ceases Thursday

More than 1000 copies of the student directory have been distributed, according to George Robertson, circulation manager. Six hundred of this number went to faculty members and 400 were sold to students.

Tables in the library and commerce buildings will solicit sales until tomorrow night. The table in Apperson hall will be discontinued today.

The supply of guides is almost exhausted and those desiring copies must obtain them within the next two days, according to Robertson.

Mary Dolan, junior in home economics, is in charge of the tables during sales. She is assisted by 30 rookesses. House-to-house canvassing of living groups will continue this week.

BRITTON FRACTURES BONE DURING STUNT

Student Injured During Half-Time Intermission Gets Around on Crutches

Jim Britton, junior in education, is on crutches today as the result of fracturing the fibula in his left foot Saturday afternoon. The accident happened during a scrimmage in a stunt put on by the rally committee between halves of the Oregon-Oregon State football game.

Britton is wearing a cast on his injured foot and will be on crutches for six to eight weeks, according to Dr. R. L. Bosworth.

As the idea of the stunt was a mock football and baseball game combined, the crowd thought it part of the skit when Britton was carried off the field.

VOTERS FAVOR REPEAL OF STATE PROHIBITION

Repeal of the enforcement act of the state bone-dry law seemed certain last night as the final Oregonian report showed the count to be 23,271 in favor and 19,908 against repeal.

As Multnomah county went wet the tide turned after early sentiment seemed to favor retention of the act as it now stands. The repeal of the bill was virtually assured when the state's largest county was reported voting decidedly wet.

Although final tallies are not available, it is expected that the result will be the same at that of the early tabulation, as enough precincts are complete to show decided trends.

Prohibitionists took a decided trimming as California went on record in favor of repeal of the prohibition amendment. The ratio in the state to the south being nearly 5 to 1.

A special radio bulletin at 2:55 o'clock this morning shows that Washington is overwhelmingly in favor of the state bone-dry law. The ratio was slightly over 2 to 1 in favor of repeal.

With the three Pacific coast states in favor of repeal of prohibition laws, opponents of the dry laws are in a position to draw conclusions from the trend. Two of the three states, Oregon and Washington had bone-dry legislation some time before the country as a whole went dry. The repeal of the laws in these states demonstrates change favoring the other side of the liquor question.

The repeal of the act means that local and state officials will follow a hands-off policy in enforcement of both state and national prohibition laws. It will be entirely up to federal officers to see that they are enforced.

The next step in absolute repeal of Oregon's bone-dry law will be the setting aside of the constitutional amendment creating it. Without the enforcement act, the amendment becomes a dead-letter, since it carries no provision for enforcement.

The county election was featured by many close races, although it appeared that C. L. Tallman, incumbent assessor, and Mrs. Susan Taylor, candidate for re-election as county treasurer, had safe majorities over W. L. Rickard and W. A. Buchanan. H. L. Mack, incumbent, and A. J. Moore were running close for county clerk, with the final vote probably necessary to determine the winner. T. A. Logsdon had a (Continued on Page Four)

STUDENT'S MOTHER DIES DURING DANCE

Mrs. Leila Babb Stricken at Election Affair

Mrs. Leila Babb, of Corvallis, mother of Raymond Babb, sophomore in agriculture, died last night at an election dance held in the Elks' Temple. Dancers reported that about 10:30 o'clock Mrs. Babb had a fainting spell. She was immediately removed from the dance floor, but later passed away despite the use of a pulmotor.

It was thought that excitement over the election returns and the exertion of dancing were responsible for Mrs. Babb's death.

IMMIGRATION MOTIF LISTED TO FEATURE A.A.U.W. FUN FEST

An immigration idea will be carried out at the American Association of University Women's annual fun-fest tonight at 8 o'clock in the home economics auditorium.

Groups of members are organizing to go representing immigrant parties from different countries. South Sea Islanders, Jews, Russians, Spaniards, Germans, Chinese, Italians and many other nationalities will attempt to get by the Ellis Island officials. It is reported that Miss Florence Blazier and Miss Melissa Hunter are to be the head "de-lousers."

Rare and unsuspected talent will be displayed by the various groups desiring entrance to America. In order to gain admittance to the "promised land" immigrants will have to pass a rigid mental test given by Miss Claribel Nye and Mrs. Zelta Rodenwald. Each group is to act its part all evening and provide a stunt. Junior members are planning a surprise feature for their stunt.

Senior women may attend the fun-fest by becoming junior members of A.A.U.W.

DEMOCRATS SWEEP NATION IN VOTING

Bourbon Victory Reverses 1928 Hoover Victory; 431 Electoral Votes Assured Roosevelt; 88 Doubtful; Hoover Conceded 12 in Late Returns Last Night

By FRED ANDERSON

The democratic party reversed the 1928 Hoover landslide when its standard bearer, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was assured of the presidency by a sweeping victory over the republican candidate. Radio reports at 1:30 this morning showed that Roosevelt would carry 431 electoral votes against 12 for Hoover while 88 were still in doubt.

Roosevelt's victory was so devastating that even in his home state, California, Hoover was defeated, though reports showed a close contest. Many states which supposedly favored strongly the republican party previous to election day, reversed their sentiments, returns showed. The nation's popular vote gave 10,854,355 to Roosevelt, and 7,621,914 to Hoover.

Oregon, which was thought to be a strong republican state, turned in favorable returns for the democratic nominee. According to radio reports, most republican states stood solidly by party preferences in everything but the presidential race.

Returns from reported precincts in Oregon for candidates for United States senator show that the republican candidate, Frederick Steiwer of Multnomah county, was leading his democratic opponent, Walter G. Gleason, also of Multnomah county, by 15,718 votes. James W. Mott, Marion county, republican candidate for representative in congress, first district, had received, according to reported precincts, 22,238 votes against 15,434 votes for Harvey G. Starkweather, democratic candidate, Clackamas county.

Secretary of State Hal E. Hoss, republican, Clackamas county, showed a lead of 10,027 votes over his nearest competitor, Ray H. Wisecarver, Yamhill county, democrat, according to radio reports.

Votes for candidates for state treasurer, give Rufus C. Holman, Multnomah county, republican, 26,593, while J. W. Maloney, Umatilla county, the democratic nominee, polled 24,553.

For attorney general, I. H. Van Winkle, incumbent republican, Marion county, received 8432 more votes than the democratic candidate, Alfred P. Dobson, Multnomah county.

The three leaders in the race for mayor of Portland were in order, Carson, Shull and Mack, late reports indicated.

Precincts reporting the contest for governor of the state of Washington late last night showed Martin, democratic candidate, leading with Gellatly, republican candidate, a close second.

Satisfaction in Defeat . . .

Though the school merger bill was lost in an avalanche of votes yesterday, the Barometer looks back on the campaign with some satisfaction and looks forward to the time when Oregon will realize that physical consolidation alone will solve her higher education troubles.

This paper is proud of the way proponents of the bill waged their campaign in the face of unparalleled opposition. Statements have been made that they were outfought ten to one. They fought to the end with 95 per cent of the daily papers of the state controlled in one way or another by university interests. They fought a square battle—based on true facts—never afraid to admit a misstatement if they were proved wrong on some point. To the Multnomah county tax reduction association the Barometer pays special tribute, for it was that group who carried the brunt of the attack in radio talks, advertisements and circulars.

Now we look to the future for it is certain that the cause is not lost. This was evident from the statement of Dr. Miller, president of the tax reduction association, in the Gazette-Times yesterday. "I have no personal interest whatever in Corvallis," he said, "but this bill is so fundamentally sound, so certain to give us a better school system for less money, that I will continue to fight for it in some form or other."

And after all, we have the consolidation bill to thank for this—Dr. Kerr would never have been appointed chancellor without it. That alone was worth the effort put into the campaign. It will take years to put Oregon's educational institutions back where they were and there certainly is no better man to do it than Dr. Kerr. He faces an almost impossible task with reduced budgets making progress very difficult. Under consolidation progress would have been possible even with reduced budgets; without it we can only hope for the best.

Congratulations . . .

The mule walks again! Franklin Delano Roosevelt will be the next president of these United States! Congratulations!

For the first time in 12 years a Democrat is president. It has been a long struggle, the first victory coming in the Bourbon majority in Congress this year. The final victory, the election of a president. For this dozen years, Democrats have been working tirelessly and ceaselessly to achieve the result just gained. For a dozen years, slowly at first, then four years ago gaining more rapidly until yesterday the party out of power was able to demonstrate conclusively to the party in power that its efforts had not been in vain.

It should be remembered that miracles do not happen overnight. Neither Democratic or Republican president could invent a panacea which would cure all ills of the country in a short time. The country believed that by a change in administration, the new blood and new ideas injected into the chief executive's position would hasten the cure—that's all.

Governor Roosevelt is capable. He will do all in his power to relieve the economic inactivity, he will do all in his power to help agriculture, he will do all in his power to restore a post-war prosperity. But he cannot do it alone—don't expect it. It's a moral as well as an actual victory, so again we say—congratulations Governor Roosevelt.—F.H.D.

What Others Say

THE HORIZON BRIGHTENS
In the flux of conditions and consequences, the ethics of honor also change.

When the university was younger and smaller than it is today, the strictest code of southern honor was in force on the campus. Beyond all doubt, to cheat was to act dishonorably. And to act dishonorably was to be expelled from the university. Such was the strictest of the code.

As the university grew, this idea was forgotten. The tradition could slip Jackson, owner of the Oregon generous thousands of students whose mere mass made the old system impracticable. In its place, a peculiar code of school-boy honor found its way from the schools into the university. Cheating became a legitimate sport and a favorite device for lazy students. It was, then, unsportsmanlike to report a fellow student.

Parallel with the new code, however, there was the unspoken conception of cheating as a form of stealing. It is manifestly unfair to a good student who works hard to have his ideas stolen by a lazy pupil on examination.

Class Work Will Come Into Importance Again

And now that election is over we can all sit down and amuse ourselves with things other than presidential candidates and consolidation controversies. We can even go to class without the dread thought of a whole hour wasted in talking about the relative merits of the presidential candidates and in taking straw votes.

We can settle down to the enlightening process of learning the laws of supply and demand and trying to understand Boyles' law. Hereafter for the next four years we can resume our usual dinner conversations instead of listening to the head of the table trying to make us join the "Thomas-for-President club."

We can even go to a dance without having our partner for the evening attempt to convince us that our ideas are all wet and that all good Oregonians vote for Republicans just because Oregonians vote for Republicans.

It won't be long now until we can sit down to breakfast with oatmeal and ordinary murders, deaths and comic strips. Andy Gump will forget about his presidential aspirations.

AS WE SEE IT

Yearling Cridders Finish Successful Season

By BUD FORRESTER

Oregon State college rook football team has finished another season on the gridiron—this season has been a very successful one as the Beaver babes hold high for your inspection an uncrossed goal line. Two scoreless tie games with the Oregon frosh and a 37 to 0 walloping for Chemawa are the accounts entered in this fall's rook record.

If the rooks could not defeat their traditional rival, the Oregon frosh, we are perfectly satisfied to mark down a couple of scoreless ties and are sure that everyone else must be well pleased for it allows plenty of the railbird's usual chatter—"if that had happened those boys certainly would have gone to town."

The rooks did a good job of it when we consider the decided lack of outstanding material. True, the rooks had a good first team but they had little else than that group of eleven men. When one member of that first string was out with an injury Coach Verne Eilers spent many a sleepless night figuring his next move and it was all really quite funny for their wasn't much the rook tutor could do—he just didn't have them and he knew it.

Eilers developed several promising boys who should do wonders on the varsity with a bit of experience. Ed Makela, rook halfback, looks to be one of the best punters to ever perform here. He kicks with all the ease and finesse of Keith Davis and kicks them every bit as far as Keith does in his last year on the varsity. On top of this Makela has outshone Davis due to the speed with which he gets his kicks away.

Last Friday night at Eugene Makela averaged better than 50 yards on his boots and he was kicking in the mud as well as receiving bad passes from the center. Time and again he took the ball on the bounce from the center only to scoop it up in time to get off a beautiful high spiral or a long low one. His kicking kept the rooks out of danger on more than one occasion and marked him as one of the best kickers to be found any place on the coast.

Howard Thilla, rook fullback—he and Makela hail from Astoria—has shown flashes of stardom during the past season and should be a good fullback or blocking halfback next year.

Woody Joslin, Harold Joslin's kid brother, did some nice ball carrying from the left halfback position this fall. Joslin is a big fellow and is fast and aggressive. He will probably be shifted to an end post on the varsity and should do well in that position.

Bob Patrick, rook quarterback, is one of the smartest freshman signal barkers to come to the rook squad in quite some time. Patrick is small and fast, a good ball carrier, and thinks clearly and precisely on all occasions. Never does he get rattled on the field and one can always figure that he will out-guess the boys more than once during the game.

Bill Jessup, rook end, is one of the best pass receivers in freshman football circles on the coast. The young fellow must apply glue to his mitts for he never misses if the pellet is anywhere near him at the receiving time. He is an ideal end and should look good next season.

Bob Rushing and Frank Demming, rook tackles, will develop into good varsity material with some polishing for they are large and have all of the faculties necessary to a good ball player. Ned Myall, rook center, had a lot of tough luck this season with chronic appendicitis but looked good at times despite his ailments.

Competition Extremely Keen as Running Addicts Go Into Final Week

In the last week of cross country Cauthorn hall and Theta Xi are battling for first place.

STATE FOOTBALL TEAM TO WIND UP PRACTICE TODAY

Squad Spends Easy Workouts in Getting Rid of Injuries and Other Ailments; Orange Pigskin Men to Hit Road.

Oregon State college's football squad will wind up its season's practice on Bell field today. Light workouts have been the order of the day so far this week so that the footballists may be able to get rid of all their bruises and other minor troubles before boarding the train tomorrow for the long trip east.

Few injuries were sustained in the Oregon fracas and the Orange-men should be able to leave Corvallis in first class shape and in excellent condition for the three games they must play over a period of 12 scant days.

In this brief space the Beavers will come in contact with three tough teams, the second being against Fordham, the pride of the East, after its 14 to 0 victory over St. Mary's last weekend. Fordham university, the highly touted team from New York, will be played just a week after the final conference clash of the Beavers against Montana in Missoula next Saturday.

To wind up the season, the Oregon State football team will meet Detroit in Detroit on Thanksgiving day. This game has an interesting background as it was an Oregon State team that brought to a close Detroit's great 20-game winning streak.

Coach Paul J. Schissler is planning to take 31 players, Manager Smith and three coaching assistants to help him get over the hurdles confronting him. Three tough games against three of the country's upper class teams—Montana, Fordham and Detroit—all in 12 days are enough to give any coach plenty to worry about.

DONUT TOUCHBALL STARTS SATURDAY

Bad Weather and Early Close of Darkness Given as Basis of Playing Time Change.

Start of intramural touch football has been postponed until next Saturday afternoon, it was announced yesterday by Ralph Coleman, director of intramural sports.

The rules of the game will be the same except that football shoes may be worn. The players will be obliged to refrain from using other types of spiked shoes than the regulation football shoes.

Work was completed yesterday on the five fields to be used in play. Officials appointed for the games are Reeves, Philips, Woodard, Gleason, Jim Coleman, Art Rapponi, Snowy Gustafson and Bud Nock.

Change in schedule from Tuesday and Thursday to Saturday afternoon became necessary because of the conflict of the games with classes and campus activities as well as their being interrupted by darkness.

The schedule, which will be issued this afternoon, calls for games at 1:30, 2:30 and 3:30 o'clock every Saturday afternoon and which must be played regardless of the weather conditions. Arrangements with the different houses will be made before the schedule is issued. Although there has been five fields played out only three games will be played each hour.

The course. Cross country will close at the end of this week.

The following men are on the Cauthorn cross country team, Lincoln Chapman, Al Gawley, Dick Hammond, George Manke, Neil Rice, John Bieler, Jimmy Sloat, Jack Rees, Al Smith, Stanley Green and Walt Ott. The members who have been outstanding on this team are, Chapman, Ott, Bieler and Manke.

The Turkey or All-College cross country run will be held November 18.

GRID GAMES HALTED BY RAINY WEATHER

Sigma Nu's Beta's Will Play for Speedball Title

By WALT WOODARD
Jupe Pluvius rose in all his wrath and dampened the hopes of intramural touch footballists last night. Continual rain and soggy fields were too much of a handicap and caused postponement of the first touch football games.

This is the first year that touch football has been tried as an intramural sport. Teams have been practicing on the gridirons south of the men's dormitory.

Officials have been selected by the intramural department and include Walt Woodard, Jim Coleman, Spencer Reeves and Huber Phillips.

"The schedule is complete and the tournament has been outlined," Ralph Coleman, director of intramural athletics, has announced.

Touch football has been gaining in popularity in eastern schools and judging from the pre-season interest shown among fraternities and clubs at Oregon State it will be listed as a regular intramural sport.

Ping Pong
Rabid ping-pong fans crowded the lobby of the men's gymnasium last night to watch the paddle tournament. Ping-pong is now advancing through the second week of matches and by next week the finals will be scheduled.

Outstanding men in the tournament and those who have survived the elimination knife through the second round are Merritt Nash, deposter's favorite to win, Del Ball, Dave Bronson, Russ Acheson and Taylor Reedy.

Speedball
Defeating the Theta Chi aggregation 7-0 the Sigma Nu's placed themselves as undisputed contenders for the fraternity speedball championship. They play Beta Theta Pi today in the play-off game. The winner of this battle will play the winner of the independent division for the all-school crown Saturday.

Congested little more than an outside chance the Sigma Nu team, termed by the railbirds as the "dark-horse" of the tournament has carried winning colors through its league division and has survived the semi-final fire in championship form. Coming down the home stretch it has reversed the dope and is now on the long end of the 7 to 5 betting odds.

Scanlon and Gustafson have been the most consistent players for the Sigma Nu's, while Loken and Nock have been doing stellar work for the Beta's.

Cross Country
Cross country will wind up its season this week. The teams are making last minute efforts to maintain or gain the lead. For three weeks these marathon racers have been running the two-mile course regardless of weather or condition of the track.

Hawley hall continues to lead the race with an advantage of eight points. Theta Xi, running a close second, is making desperate efforts to swing the deciding points in its favor.

Lincoln Chapman of Hawley, has been the outstanding star in keeping his team in the lead, while Raizig and Peterson of Theta Xi, have been turning in the best times for their organization.

Thomas, Fagans, Merrill, Lost; Four Lettermen to Return

Oregon State's varsity basketball squad will open the practice season November 28, minus three men from last year's team. Kenny Fagans and Jerry Thomas, forwards, and Howard Merrill, guard, have been lost to the Orange squad through graduation. Four lettermen, Skeet O'Connell, forward; Ed Lewis, center; Carl Lenchitsky, guard, and Eve Davis, guard, will be back to give Slat's Gill, coach, a nucleus around which to build his squad.

Clarence James, forward transfer from University of Oregon; George Hibbard, forward and high scorer for the rooks last year; Fred Hill, lanky center from last year's rook team, and Red MacDonald, guard, who gave two impressive exhibitions of guarding last year

PING PONG EXPERTS ELIMINATED IN PLAY

Paddle Wielders Show Class in Third Round Games

Ping-pongers continued their assault for third round honors last night in the men's gym. Twelve more men were eliminated from the tournament. The field is gradually narrowing down to the point where competition is exceptionally keen.

In the fastest match played thus far in the tournament, H. Wenderoth, Alpha Chi Rho, defeated Russ Acheson, Delta Upsilon, in straight sets. Acheson was pulled out of position repeatedly by Wenderoth's hard drives. Merritt Nash and Taylor Reedy, the Sigma Phi Epsilon paddle experts, came through with triumphs which placed them in the third round of the tournament.

The results of the evening's matches were R. Grimes, Orion, defeated A. Baum, Weatherford, 3-1; Irvin Walsh, Beta Theta Pi, defeated J. Cooper, Delta Tau Delta, 3-0; Bob Tabke, Sigma Phi Epsilon, defeated G. Finley, Sigma Phi Epsilon, 3-0; Jack Brande, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, defeated Art Gustafson, Sigma Nu, 3-2; Dave Bronson, Phi Delta Theta, defeated L. C. Smith, Kappa Sigma, 3-0; Sid Lathrop, Cauthorn, defeated Dave Longtin, Independent, 3-0; H. Wenderoth, Alpha Chi Rho, defeated Russ Acheson, Delta Upsilon, 3-0; Taylor Reedy, Sigma Phi Epsilon, defeated Sig Sielicky, Tau Kappa Epsilon, 3-0; M. Shellenbarger, Alpha Chi Rho, defeated E. Hughson, Sigma Alpha Phi, 3-2; C. Barrell, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, defeated G. Hopkins, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 3-0; Merritt Nash, Sigma Phi Epsilon, defeated Don Anderson, Delta Upsilon, 3-0; Tom Robbins, Kappa Sigma, defeated G. Dixon, Theta Xi, 3-0.

The tournament will continue throughout the week until the second round matches are completed.

UPSETS IN DONUT BASKETBALL TILTS FEATURE TOURNEY

Sigma Nu's Show Class by Defeating Delta Upsilon 26 to 15; Beta's Trounce Sigma Phi's Easily 26 to 14.

Upsets marked last night's interfraternity basketball play. Sigma Nu defeated Delta Upsilon, 26 to 15, and gained first place in the league. The Sigma Nu boys took an early lead and maintained it throughout the game. A smooth working offense led by Lefty Palmberg was the undoing of the D.U. clan. The game was rough and hard fought from start to finish with many personal fouls recorded.

Phi Gamma Delta surprised their followers by winning over Phi Kappa Phi, 19 to 8. Close checking and a fast breaking offense spelled defeat for the losers.

Beta Theta Pi, led by "Flash" Loken, had little difficulty defeating Sigma Pi, 26 to 14. Coach O'Connell's boys were weakened materially by the loss of their two star forwards, Kappelman and Busch, due to ineligibility.

The schedule for tonight is as follows: 6 o'clock—Alpha Sigma Phi vs. Delta Tau Delta; Phi Kappa Tau vs. Sigma Chi; Theta Kappa Nu vs. Delta Upsilon. 7 o'clock—Alpha Gamma Rho vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon; Beta Kappa vs. Theta Chi; Sigma Phi Sigma vs. Lambda Chi Alpha. 8 o'clock—Delta Sigma Phi vs. Phi Sigma Kappa; Phi Delta Theta vs. Kappa Delta Rho; Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Chi Phi.

New members for junior orchesis are being chosen through the regular natural dancing classes and special classes at 4 o'clock Tuesday.

Juniors defeated the sophomores 28 to 20 in one of last night's volleyball games. Mabel Sandos scored 8 of the sophomore's points. Alice Stangel of the junior team scored seven points.

Defeating the freshmen seconds 41 to 19 in a volleyball game last night the freshman firsts uncovered some stars who will cause considerable trouble to other teams. Edith Bear, scoring 11 points, was the outstanding player for the winners.

THE tobacco that is cut best for pipes might be termed "whittle cut" or "rough cut," like Granger. It requires a type of tobacco different from the tobacco used for chewing tobacco or cigarettes. Then again, Granger is made by Wellman's Method. Granger has a pleasing aroma. It is slow burning and cool. Just try it!

SMUDGE

from the Pot

Have you got your YO-YO yet? All the hot-shots in the high school carry one, so it is high time that all college students (?) fall in the big parade.

They really are a lot of fun. You can disrupt so many serious conversations and plots with one.

And speaking of plots, we've been wondering what is behind this extensive campaign against smudge shoes. That's pretty low, getting all that free advertising out of the rally committee, Smilie.

Of course I'm not going to say a thing about that swell shoe polish you're trying to push off on an unsuspecting student body, but I might consider it for the usual coffee and. How about it?

Chuck Buxton, the by-line king, just dropped in and told us that seeing the picture at the Whiteside Sunday gave him some pretty good (?) ideas of life.

A snapshot of little Elmer, our eminent prexy, getting in a few last digs for Hoover.

Now that all the homecoming spirits have been downed, maybe we can turn to thoughts of raising more spirits for Thanksgiving and Christmas. All contributions will be taken at the office for Smudgers.

By a stroke of great luck we got this picture of Dave Longtin, the Portland playboy, returning from over Mary's river way after that date with the girl with the big Buick. What happened to the car, Dave?

Say, Howard Johnson, that's a good idea signing off from those Fifth street and Philomath trips. Maybe you'll get on the basketball squad after all.

Why, Richard, are you sure that's shoe polish?

Gosh, why can't we be football

French Government Gives Dr. Cameron Recognition Award

Los Angeles, Nov. 9.—Dr. S. H. Cameron, assistant professor of sub-tropical horticulture in the college of agriculture, University of California, has recently been notified of his award by the French government of the honorary title Chevalier du Merite Agricole. The notification came through E. Guy, trade commission of France, in San Francisco.

The award was made in recognition of Professor Cameron's assistance extended to several commissions of French experts who have visited agricultural problems.

Professor Cameron is attached to the division of sub-tropical horticulture, recently transferred from Berkeley to the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. He is a member of honorary and professional scientific societies and has made important contributions to the knowledge of the physiology of sub-tropical fruit plants. Several years ago he was the recipient of an International Education Board fellowship which permitted him to spend some ten months in advanced study at the University of Leeds, England, and to travel extensively in the Mediterranean basin.

Herman Leaf, junior in education, is one of the most versatile and valuable men on the left side of Oregon State's line. Leaf, a one-year letterman at left end, was switched to left guard this season and has turned in some surprisingly good performances at that position.

Leaf did not play football before entering Los Angeles junior college, two years ago. In Manual Arts prep school, Los Angeles, Leaf played basketball for four years, three years of baseball and put the shot on the track team but not once did he play on the regular football team.

Upon being graduated from high school he entered Junior college where he remained for a year. During his stay at junior college he played guard on the football team and was named all-conference guard.

The Cinema

Fox Whiteside

Jane Cowl's stage success, "Smilin' Through," starring Norma Shearer, is coming November 10-11-12 to the Whiteside. The dual roles of three characters in the production make this a most unusual picture.

Moonyeen, betrothed of a young English aristocrat of the 1869 period in England, is played by Norma Shearer who also takes the role of Kathleen Sheridan, a modern girl of the war period.

Opposite her, Frederic March plays the role of Jeremy Wayne, in the mid-Victorian sequence and Kenneth Wayne, his son, in the modern scenes.

Leslie Howard, though retaining a single identity, has the intricate characterization covering a transition of three distinct ages.

Carrying a poignant undertone of pathos and charm, the story evolves around the tragedy of a man's blighted fulfillment of love on his wedding day. Fifty years afterward, his rival's son returns and falls in love with the lost sweetheart's niece whom he has reared. Resulting emotions, conflicting between love and hate, weave a haunting web which raises this picture above average productions. The supporting cast includes Beryl Mercer, David Torrence, Margaret Seddon and Forrester Harvey.—L.G.
