Academic Costume

ACADEMIC GOWNS represent a tradition which comes down from the universities of the Middle Ages. At that time they were a common form of dress and were retained by the clergy when the laity adopted more modern styles. The caps, originally round, later became square mortar boards. The hoods attached to the gown were originally cowls which could be slipped over the head for protection from the weather.

The significance of the costume is indicated especially by the sleeves and hoods. The bachelor's gown has pointed sleeves; the master's gown has long, closed sleeves; and the doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves and velvet trimmings.

The colored velvet border of the hood indicates the field of study to which the degree pertains. For example, Agriculture is maize; Arts and Humanities, white; Business, drab; Education, light blue; Engineering, orange; Forestry, russet; Home Economics, maroon; Music, pink; Pharmacy, olive green; Philosophy, dark blue; Physical Education, sage green; Science, golden yellow; Veterinary Science, gray.

The colorful lining of the hood indicates the institution from which the wearer received his or her degree. The lining of the Harvard University hood, for example, is crimson; Yale, blue; Wisconsin, bright red; Minnesota, old gold and maroon; California, gold; Washington, purple above gold; Oregon, lemon yellow and dark green; Stanford, cardinal; Michigan State, green; Iowa State, gold above cardinal; Oregon State, burnt orange.

University Honors Program

Seniors whose names appear below have successfully completed requirements in the University Honors Program. Designed for students of superior scholastic ability, this program provides greater breadth and depth of educational opportunity than the regular curricula. Students in the program participate in freshman and sophomore colloquia, attend special lectures, and take basic courses outside their area of specialization. In junior and senior years, special seminars and courses, guided reading programs, and independent study and research provide depth and variety.
