ACADEMIC COSTUME

ACADEMIC GOWNS represent a tradition which comes down from the universities of the Middle Ages. At that time they were a common form of dress and were retained by the clergy when the laity adopted more modern styles. The caps, originally round, later became square mortar boards. The hoods attached to the gown were originally cowls which could be slipped over the head for protection from the weather.

The significance of the costume is indicated especially by the sleeves and hoods. The bachelor's gown has pointed sleeves; the master's gown has long, closed sleeves; and the doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves and velvet trimmings.

The colored velvet border of the hood indicates the field of study to which the degree pertains, as do the tassel colors. (See Processional, page 2.)

The colorful lining of the hood indicates the institution from which the wearer received his or her degree. The lining of the Harvard University hood, for example, is crimson; Yale, blue; Wisconsin, bright red; California, gold; Washington, purple above gold; Oregon, lemon yellow and dark green, Stanford, cardinal; Oregon State, burnt orange.

More than 600 of the graduating seniors today will wear colorful hand-macramed orange cords on the left shoulder of their black commencement gowns. The cords indicate that the wearer is graduating with academic honors.

The cords are another signal, too, of the personal touches added to the OSU graduation exercises every year, says Wallace E. Gibbs, registrar and director of admissions and chairman of the commencement committee.

Employees in the OSU Book Store, which provides rental caps and gowns for graduates, have hand-macramed the honor cords for several years.

"Most people, including the graduates, no doubt, assume that we simply buy the special honor cords 'machine made' from a supplier," points out Terry Smith, manager of the textbook department where the macrame is done, between other duties, in April and May.

"These OSU honor cords are home made—hand made—if you will," Smith explained. The Book Store simply buys the individual five-foot lengths of plain orange cord (OSU's color).

"But the honor cord is made a thing of beauty and pride by the macrame and the draping done by five of our women employees: Kathy Dietz, Marcene Stuart, Karla Laursen, Valerie Records, and Leona Converse."

It takes two to three minutes to measure the cord for proper shoulder draping and to tie the eight knots that set the cord apart as a work of art. The knots are tied around a strategically placed safety pin that is then used by the graduate to fix the handsome honor cord on the left shoulder of his or her black graduation gown.

"The touch of color on the black gown is striking and very Oregon State-ish," the women workers agree.

Commencement Videocassettes Available

Today's 117th annual OSU Commencement exercise is being carried live throughout the state over the 4-station Oregon Public Broadcasting television network. The telecast is a cooperative effort of Oregon Public Broadcasting and the University. The telecast is hosted by Shirley Howard of OPB, a 1951 OSU graduate, and is produced by Keith Riggs, OSU Department of Information.

For students, parents, and families who wish to preserve the event on videotape, OSU's Communication Media Center is offering videocassette copies of the Commencement at $40 per tape. Contact CMC at (503) 754-2121 for more information.

Flowers in the auditorium are Eremurus, commonly called Desert Candle or Fox-tail Lily. The flowers are from the gardens of OSU graduates A.J. and Glenna Walker Stone of Amity.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARDS

Upon recommendation of the Faculty Recognition and Awards Committee, the Faculty Senate of Oregon State University has selected the following recipients of Oregon State University Distinguished Service Awards:

CORNELL, HOWLAND, HAYES, AND MERRYFIELD (CH2M) . . . consulting engineering firm . . . in 1946, Professor Fred Merryfield and three of his former students, Holly A. Cornell, James C. Howland, and Thomas B. Hayes, joined together to pursue their dream of founding a consulting engineering firm . . . now, 40 years later, Oregon State University honors the founders of CH2M whose firm has served people worldwide through consulting in civil and industrial engineering, planning, economics, and environmental science . . . from a humble beginning in a one-room office over a store in downtown Corvallis . . . now employs more than 2,400 persons in 40 permanent offices and 37 project sites and is ranked fifth in size among the consulting engineering firms in the United States . . . because of the creative engineering work of the firm, millions of people in the United States and in other countries today have a significantly improved quality of life through safe water supplies, and a cleaner environment made possible through pollution-control projects and a host of other civil works that have been accomplished by CH2M . . . the four founders maintained a close and supportive relationship with Oregon State University in which they have contributed generously of their personal time and resources and those of the firm . . . Professor Merryfield is now deceased; however, the remaining founders—Holly Cornell, Burke Hayes, and Jim Howland—are still active members of our community . . . all strong supporters of their alma mater, OSU . . . today a proud alma mater honors these men and their firm, CH2M, which has benefited millions of people through 40 years of service.

KARL HEINZ OEDEKOVEN . . . came to OSU 50 years ago as the College of Forestry's first German exchange student . . . has made truly exceptional contributions to society during a long and distinguished career in forestry, both internationally and in his own country . . . joined the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations in 1958 as regional forestry officer headquartered in Egypt where he was responsible for development of forestry programs in 18 countries . . . founded forestry schools in Pakistan, Iran, and Syria and forest research institutes in the Sudan, Lebanon, and Turkey . . . in 1965 went to Brazil on FAO assignment to lay groundwork for training facilities in forestry . . . organized Brazil's first forestry school at the Federal University of Curitiba . . . served both as professor and dean of the institution . . . wrote the first Brazilian textbook on forest management . . . in 1974 became head of the forestry department of the Federal Republic of Germany . . . as that country's highest ranking forester, Oedekoven successfully promoted and led a cooperative effort in forestry among the nations in the European economic community . . . Mr. Oedekoven is recognized today for his professional competence, vision, dedication, and commitment to the preservation of the world's forest resources which resulted in laying the foundations of sound forestry practices in many developing countries.

LYMAN E. SEELY . . . a 1938 graduate of Oregon State University who has contributed not only to his alma mater, but to the region and the state . . . started with First National Bank in 1940 in an entry level position . . . rose to vice chairman of the board 32 years later . . . was chairman of the board of VISA International, directing that area of operations for member banks around the world and also directed VISA, USA . . . has generously shared his abilities and talents with those outside the banking industry . . . served as president and chairman of the board of the OSU Foundation . . . member of the OSU College of Business advisory committee . . . director of Portland Student Services, Inc. . . . trustee of Reed College . . . director of Associated Oregon Industries . . . member of the Portland State University institutional goals committee . . . director of Pacific International Livestock Exposition . . . was president and chairman of the board of the OSU Foundation during the most dynamic period of the Foundation's history when assets grew from $6.6 million in 1975 to $24.3 million in 1981 . . . perhaps best known for the $4.5 million LaSells Stewart Center which came into being as the direct result of his leadership as project manager . . . Oregon State University spotlights him today as a truly outstanding individual who has given freely of his time, effort, and abilities in so many ways to insure that others have the opportunity for a more enriched life.

The purpose of the Foundation is to aid and promote the educational and research activities of Oregon State University. It fills the need for a legally sound, inclusive, and permanent agency apart from, but working in close coordination with, the University.

GIFTS AND MEMORIAL BOOKS

Gift books, memorial books, and cash donations play an important role in the Library's acquisition program. Through the OSU Foundation, the Library received $84,614.92 from gifts and memorial book funds. Memorial books constitute an enduring tribute from individuals and groups to deceased relatives and friends. During the last year, 146 volumes memorializing 20 persons were added to the Library. Each of these books has a special bookplate recording the name of the person memorialized and that of the donor.

In addition, the Library's collection was enriched by 1,283 gift books from individuals, groups, publishers and firms, with an estimated value of $15,353.05.

The Memorial Book Plan, originated in 1943 and originally sponsored and promoted by the Friends of the Library, Oregon State University, has grown over the years and is now directed through the OSU Foundation for greater ease of administration.

The Friends of the Library in their 1985-86 annual membership/fund raising drive have raised over $16,000 directed in support of the library materials portion of a challenge grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

ALMA MATER

Within a vale of western mountains,
There's a college we hold dear.
Her shady slopes and fountains
Off to me appear.
I love to wander on the pathway
Down to the Trysting Tree,
For there again I see in fancy,
Old friends dear to me.

(Chorus)

Carry me back to OSU,
Back to her vine-clad halls;
Thus fondly ever in my mem'ry
Alma Mater calls
