Home to Victory; Let's Romp on the Green

Homecoming Day, November 18! And the Beaver atmosphere in which the student body and alumni are bathed just now is highly conducive to football fever. Many cases have already been contracted; all others have been suspicious symptoms and are rapidly weakening. The only sure cure is to Come Home on November 18.

Every Old Boy and Girl back for the Homecoming week-end is the idea and preparations are going forward at a great rate to take care of them all for this is The Big Day in the history of the Beavers—the day when the Lemon-Yellow players come over to meet the Beaver gridsters—the day when the Aggies' "Sixty Minutes of Fight" is going to break up that 0-0 score of the past two years. This isn't just any old game! The huge auto caravans from Portland and Salem and all way points is proof of the fact.

to register at headquarters. The soccer game with U. of O. comes at 9:30 and the Bag Rush between the rooks and sophs is scheduled for 11:00 o'clock.

The Alumni Luncheon at noon, 12:00 o'clock promptly, is the get-together time for every loyal Beaver. Come one, come all! Crowd the home economics tea room to capacity! Grads must eat somewhere that noon. Lunch together! Reservations are not necessary. Just come! Husbands and wives and sweethearts and special guests are welcome, of course. If possible, tell the alumni secretary that you are coming to the Luncheon but don't stay away because you didn't make reservations. Put the final edge to your enthusiasm!

Cross country, a dual meet of the U. of O. trackmen will take place preceding the game and the

The Bonfire and Rally to be held the night before the game will take the "old grads" back to younger days. The Big Fire doesn't need comment. The Rally which will be staged in the Armory afterwards will feature real pep stuff—stunts, the band, grad talks—such as will get under the skin and give that raw meat reaction.

Saturday morning is full—so full that alumni will have to get up early so as to miss nothing. Alumni headquarters will be the scene of many meetings and greetings and the starting place for trips over the campus. Every alumnus is expected

Varsity "O" parade around Bell Field will be staged just before the pistol shot.

The "Beaver Feed" after the game will call all of the 400 lettermen, honor the team of Fighting Aggies and give occasion for a concentrated shot of Beaver Pep. Varsity "O" men are giving all letter men special detailed information concerning this affair.

The Home Coming dance will be given at the men's gymnasium and is in charge of the sophomore class. Make a night of it Beavers! It will be a hot time in the old town that night.

SPORT CHATTER

BY WALLACE KADDERLY, '16

Freshman Coach Hubbard has started his yearlings on the paths of victory. Wins over the Columbia "preppers" 17-14; Medford High 19-14; and Chemawa 66-0 is their record to date. These successes will all be needed when the Rooks line up against the Oregon babes in Eugene on November 4. "Cack" has a 60 to 70 yard punter in Coleman, brother of our own Ralph, but there are no outstanding stars in the line or the backfield—just all good willing kids, working hard all the time. That's them.

Luke Gill's punting and open field running were missed in the Stanford game.

One of the encouraging things in that defeat, however, was the playing of big "Mush" Hjelte. In his first varsity game "Mush" played Captain DeGroot about even. The 200 pound southern center outfoxed him one in a while but not twice in the same place.

Basketball practice is on under the direction of Coach Hager. It looks like a good hoop year. Hager will have last year's team intact with the possible exception of Richards who is hard to beat as a guard and who has left college as a result of sickness. Captain Ross and "Slats" Gill are practicing regularly. Ryan, Perry and Crane, last year's second stringers are on the job and fighting hard for places. On top of these men Hager has at his disposal the entire freshman team of last year and from this aggregation two or three men will surely land a place on the regular squad.

Most of the sport writers hereabouts were very kind in the Stanford game writeups and declared that we lost the game because of a "break" against us.

Perhaps. But the naked truth is that the play which lost the game came when we attempted to run three yards on fourth down from punt formation in midfield instead of kicking. It was one of those plays that would have provoked admiration had it succeeded and it might have broken Stanford's spirit but the fact remains that it was NOT good football. The game was early; we had made 7 yards in two plays through Stanford's right tackle and had been stopped dead in an assault against the Cardinal left side. A punt would have put Stanford up against her goal line right off the bat and almost anything might have happened. But—it's all over and probably we won't see another similar instance this season.

And while we are speaking our thoughts plainly we rise to observe that in the Washington and Stanford games the Aggies missed touchdowns by scant margins—touchdowns which if put over would undoubtedly have spelled victory in each instance. To one who was right there on the sideline it looked as if when our men got close to a touchdown they simply went into the air. They forgot everything they had been told; forgot to use the plays that had been given them for use under exactly the position in which they found themselves—third or fourth down and only a scant yard or two to go. We believe that they have now had their "seasoning" and that in games to come they will pull through without those costly lapses of memory provoked by stress of time and a consuming desire to "put her over."

And when they do get that seasoning look out. They are a cracking good defensive team and have a good offense, although the lack of a George Powell is keenly felt.

When from 300 to 400 Aggie rooters journeyed to Seattle for the Washington game they established a precedent. Who ever before has heard of that many rooters going that far to any contest in Beaver athletic history? It was remarkable testimony to the fact that the student body is behind the team.

Student Assembly Gives Invitation

Every student of O. A. C. is eagerly looking forward to the Eighteenth of November when we will have the privilege of entertaining our alumni. We hope that it will be possible for every person who has ever attended O. A. C., and who is now living within one thousand miles of Corvallis, to be with us during our Home Coming, when we meet Oregon.

The Student Assembly extends a most cordial invitation to every Alumnus to be present and participate in the program. The date is November 18, 1922.

Very sincerely,

JOHN B. ALEXANDER

President, Student Assembly.

A DUTY AND A PRIVILEGE

"After serious deliberation I am convinced that I have at least sixteen years to spend among the mortals, and as I deem it a duty and a privilege to support our association I take the liberty of sending you this $40 check as payment of life membership in full." So reads a letter from an "old grad." It expresses very well the attitude of the some four or five hundred who have made tangible expressions of their loyalty to the work of the Association and their faith in its future since Alumni Day, last June. But what about the other thousand or so members of the alumni fold? Have they no sense of the obligation which they owe their alma mater and themselves to do their bit toward unifying the great body of O. A. C. men and women? Have they ceased to appreciate the fact that they are numbered among the few who can boast of a college degree among their assets and call themselves "Beavers?"

STANFORD, WASHINGTON, WIN FROM AGGIE TEAM

With lickings received at the hands of Washington and Stanford to the tune of 14-3 and 6-0, respectively, the "Fighting Aggies" entered the 1922 football championship race under a handicap. Both games were thrillers from the standpoint of the spectator and in neither defeat is there cause for any Aggie supporter to feel other than proud of the fight exhibited by the wearers of the Orange and Black.

The first half of the Washington game looked all O. A. C. Coach Rutherford's powerful lop-sided formation made yardage consistently and the highly touted Washington tackles, Gimm and Captain Ingram, looked like just ordinary players after all. Quarterback Garber put over a drop kick early in the game and it was only lack of time that prevented a touchdown in the second quarter. The Beavers had marched down the field until they were on the four yard line but in their haste to complete plays before the half ended the backs failed to punch the oval over the line. The gun cracked as the last down started and when the tangle was unwound the ball lay a scant six inches from the line. And that was that.

A lead of three points wasn't enough. Washington came back strong and, with Fred Abel calling signals instead of Myron Hanley, put over a touchdown in about three minutes of play. It happened thus: Washington was held on her 30 yard line and kicked to Garber, who fumbled. Washington recovered on our 30 yard line and after two unsuccessful attempts to advance the ball from scrimmage Zeil shot a bullet pass to end Hall who eluded the Aggie halfback and safety and scampered over. In the fourth quarter Zeil uncorked another long pass to Hall who was downed on the one yard line. Two line plays showed the ball over for Washington's second touchdown.

The Stanford game was bitterly fought from whistle to whistle with neither team having an edge in ability to advance the ball. A mistake in judgment on the fourth play of the game cost the Aggies the contest. With three yards to go on fourth down McCart was called back as if to punt but instead was signaled to run Stanford's left end. He didn't even reach the line of scrimmage and it was Stanford's ball in midfield. Two line plays failed to gain and then Stanford slipped over a forward pass that lodged the ball on the Aggie 12 yard line. The

Percy Locey
Captain of the "Fighting Aggies"

Beavers held and Wilcox, Cardinal halfback, missed a place kick. An exchange of punts followed and then, standing behind his own goal line, McCart booted the ball out of bounds on the fifteen yard line. Stanford summoned her every effort and punched over a touchdown with the Aggies bitterly contesting every foot.

The following Beavers were started in the Washington game: ends, Scott and McFadden; tackles, Captain Locey and Micklewaite; guards, Ash and Clarke; center, Rich; quarter, Garber; halves, Miller and Gill; fullback, Tousey. The Same aggregation lined up against Stanford on the kickoff with the exception that Gill and Rich were on the sidelines with injuries and their places were filled by McCart and Hjelte.

PROBATION STUDENTS ARE 51

Probation students for the fall term number 51 according to scholarship committee reports. Sinking below a weighted average of 70 per cent causes a student to be placed on probation which means that such student "shall not be a candidate for or hold any office in the student body, in a class, or in any other student organization, nor shall he be permitted to represent the college or any college organization in any capacity."

NATIONAL HONORS ARE AWARDED BEAVER ORATOR

The awarding of first place in the national Peace Oratorical Contest to Clarence Hickok, a junior in mechanic arts, is an honor which has come to O. A. C. since the last Alumnus appeared. To be allowed to compete, three students from any institution must have appeared in preliminary tryouts, and at least three institutions of the state must have submitted orations. Five institutions participated in the Oregon contest, hence when Hickok placed second he did so over 13 other men. The exact number entering in the national contest is not learned here but likely at least 20 or more states including 180 contestants were defeated by the Beaver orator.

Clarence Hickok

Winner in national peace oratorical contest

Hickok was given first place on the basis of composition on his oration. "The Better Way," which was sent to New Bedford, Massachusetts, to be judged. The Peace Contest is the outgrowth of plans laid by Mrs. M. N. L. Seabury of Massachusetts.

The old line contest will see a strong aspirant for honors this year in the person of Hickok. Hickok won the intersection prize offered by Dr. Varney last year and prospects are bright for his repetition of the first honors carried off by Good in the 1921 old line contest.

FORENSIC SIDELIGHTS

BY RUTH KENNEDY, '20

Mask and Dagger, dramatic club, has chosen for its fall production the modern American Comedy "Adam and Eve," and will give it on December 9 at a matinee and evening performance.

There is nothing like having the interest and support of alumni members and for this reason a Mask and Dagger alumni directory is being compiled. This will give the club an opportunity to keep the former members in touch with the organization's activities. Alumni members connected with live organizations in the towns Mask and Dagger will visit with the community drama work should insure the club a success, so far as a "full house" is concerned. If any O. A. C. Alumnus thinks Mask and Dagger could be of help in his town write to John Q. Corrie, President, Corvallis Oregon.

The next three months will see a great change in the present club rooms since plans are well under way for refining and refurbishing the abode in Shephard Hall. The furniture being chosen, is such as may be used in the stage productions of the club.

The ultimate aim of Mask and Dagger is a Little Theatre on the O. A. C. campus to be used as a work shop. Miss Elizabeth Barnes of Portland, the new coach, a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory, has had several years in community drama work and is most enthusiastic in the club's plans.

Nineteen men turned out for the triangular debate tryouts. Of this number 10 were chosen to compose the squad from which teams will be chosen to represent the college. Those on the squad are Paul Knoll, who proved his ability in the meet with Penn State last year, Chester Merklin of last year's varsity, Vernon Payne of last year's freshman team, George Studor, S. M. Smart, Ed. Salstrom, G. E. Beagle, Paul Dickey, and R. M. Gunn.

The question for the triangular debate this year is, "Resolved, that a federal court with power to enforce its decisions be established to adjudicate industrial disputes." O. A. C. meets Oregon on December 8. Remember the date and watch for results.

An annual prize of twenty-five dollars in gold to be awarded to the student making the best record in forensics for the school year, is the gift of Mr. Jacob Reichart, a Corvallis tailor, father of Robert "Bob" Reichart, '17, past Aggie debator and orator.

University "Hello" Book Is Scored

(An editorial—O. A. C. Barometer carrying head "Gems of Culture Revealed in New University 'Hello' Book")

Several copies of the famous University of Oregon "Hello" book have been sent to the college, and one of them found its way into the Barometer office today. This book is published under authority of the associated students of the university, and here are a few statements taken from it:

"Athletics—But whatever you be, performer or bench warmer or rooter, howl to beat hell when the yell monarch says we're going to beat O. A. C. Because we are!"

In what? Last year O. A. C. beat U. of O. in all four games of varsity basketball, all four games of varsity baseball, all four games of freshman baseball, in both wrestling contests, in all contests in tennis and soccer, and in the dual varsity and track meets! The Beavers tied U. of O. in both varsity and freshman football; and in all athletic contests between the men of the two institutions lost only in freshman basketball.

"School Spirit—If you want to learn to milk cows, or muck in ditches, or learn to build silos, or learn a hundred odd trades, go on over to O. A. C."

Did the students of O. A. C. who won the state intercollegiate oratorical contest and the national peace oration contest last year, who for the past four years in debate and oratory have earned a half more points than their competitors, including the U. of O; who carried off the greatest number of conspicuous honors at the National Dairy Show, including high-point men out of 60; the student who won 5 trophies and 5 cash prizes at the National Rifle Tournament; and the student who won honorable mention at the Art Students' league of New York—did these students learn anything at O. A. C. except "to milk cows or muck in ditches?"

High school students throughout the state will be interested to read the following greeting which was placed in the hands of the freshmen of the university:

"'Hello!'—Class of 1926, learn to say this damn you, and keep on saying it! Forget the little one by two high school with its cliques and clans and its terribly blase atmosphere."

Robert "Bob" Warrens, ex-'21, A, who is operating a pure bred live stock ranch near Forest Grove, is leader of the best Pig Club in the state. His team won high honors at the Banks Fair and will represent Washington county at the Pacific International.

Since the College is a state institution dependent entirely upon the people and their official representatives for its future usefulness to the state is it not reasonable to assume that alumni and students will inquire, before going to the polls, the attitude of each candidate for office toward the Oregon Agricultural College.

National Honors Are Won by Dairy Judging Teams

First in dairy cattle judging, first in butter judging, and several seconds and thirds at the National Dairy show in St. Paul, Minnesota, placed O. A. C. high among the winners of the judging contests. Oregon men made their initial bow to the National Dairy show this year and covered themselves with glory. Every leading agricultural college in the United States was represented in the judging contests.

O. K. Beals of Corvallis took first in judging all breeds of cattle, defeating 60 of the sharpest dairy students in the United States, who have been groomed for months for the occasion. L. L. Love of Corvallis took second in Jerseys, and the team and organization having a national conference, and every big breeder, manufacturer, and dealer connected with the dairy industry, was at the dairy show and was an interested observer of the manner in which these college men handled themselves.

The O. A. C. Dairy Club financed the trip of the two judging teams by selling ice cream bars during Junior Week-end festivities. These the club made and sold, netting $300. The Oregon Butter Makers association gave $100, the Oregon Jersey Breeders gave $65, Columbia County Holstein Breeders, $25, Oregon Holstein Breeders, $25, Tillamook County Guernsey club, $10, and the Oregon Guernsey Cattle club, $25, towards the expense of the trip.

composed of these two men and K. C. Poole of Portland finished second among 20, North Dakota taking first and Iowa third.

Don McKenzie placed first in the butter judging of the dairy products judging contest. A. C. Poole of Portland, and P. M. Muray of Roy, Washington, won high places in butter, cheese, and milk judging, bringing the team to fifth place in the contest.

"Any place in the first half of the division would have brought the college before the notice of national dairymen. Second and fifth places in the two judging contests is sure to bring recognition to the west," says P. M. Brandt, professor of dairy husbandry at O. A. C.

COLLEGE AIDS IN FARM ORGANIZATIONS

That plans for farm organization are fruitful is shown by the farm of Harold Rumbaugh, ex-'05, at Albany, Oregon. The farm management department has made final introduction of plans on the ground. Mr. Rumbaugh purchased his place without buildings or permanent field arrangement and development. The farm house is now completed and the crop rotations as planned have been started, and although it is granted that four or five years of development will be necessary to bring the plan completely into operation, it is also agreed that it is a very fine piece of land which will develop into an excellent farm home.

Results of Ag Training Are Seen at State Fair

The 303 animals shown by the boys' and girls' clubs from over the state completely filled the livestock exhibit barns set aside for them by the fair board of the Oregon State Fair this year, and necessitated the setting up of an extra 30x60 tent. This is of special note and comment since the largest number exhibited heretofore was 182 animals. In addition to competing for club prizes at the fair some of the club livestock was entered in the open class and won 17 firsts, 18 seconds and 19 other places, including 1 champion. This is a record of which L. J. Allen, '14, state leader of livestock club work, may well be proud, and demonstrates clearly the value of this and other boys' and girls' club work which develops in Oregon better agricultural methods and farm products which often outclass those of the farmers themselves.

Another satisfactory result from this club work noted is the thirst for knowledge and further training which this experience brings to the boys and girls. Fifty or 60 of these club workers were students at O. A. C. last year and the number approaches the 100 mark this year.

The free scholarship to the two weeks session of the boys' and girls' summer school held on the campus in June of each year is a much sought after first prize offered to the winners in all club work. These scholarships are provided by various business houses Portland and live stock breed associations in the state.

An educational exhibit occupying four times the space of last year and providing four times as attractive according to those who prepared, saw, and judged, is the record of O. A. C. at the 1922 Oregon State Fair.

Prizes and awards to a gratifying high number were won by exhibits and teams in charge of O. A. C. graduates. C. C. Cate, '04, took sweepstakes on the Jackson county exhibit, showing the largest variety and highest quality of products. The Jackson pear display was a feature of his booth. Mr. Cate has been with Jackson county for eight years. Last spring Lloyd Moss, '21, was taken on as his assistant and as club leader for the county. Mr. Moss brought up a judging and a canning team and aided with the agricultural exhibit.

W. D. "Doug" Pine, '21, Tillamook county agent, placed third with his exhibits, while D. H. Kennedy, '21, came away with 14 prizes on the club work of which he is leader. His judging team tied with that of Linn county for third place.

Benton county placed fourth in the agricultural exhibits due to the efforts of Cyrus R. Briggs, '21, who has found it necessary to do double duty of county agent and club leader this year. Fifth place was awarded to Walter Carpenter, '18, with his

Sherman county display, noted especially for its wheat exhibit.

Other showings were made by Warren Daigh, '22, Wasco county agent, who received many compliments on the organization and arrangement of his booth; Ira Whitney, '05, Lane county agent who brought a stock judging team; H. B. Howell, '16, county agent of Josephine county, who brought a judging team; Claude C. Calkins, '17, Morrow county agent, who sent an exhibit; and E. W. McMinds, '18, who had charge of the Clatsop county club and livestock exhibit. The honey exhibit in the Clatsop club booth was unusual in that it represented the only bee club in the state.

W. D. "Bill" Kinder, '22, brought a corn club exhibit from Malheur county which cleaned up the state, taking the first seven places, although only five are recorded. The county agricultural exhibit of which he was also in charge won seven blue ribbons on potatoes, corn, wheat and barley. Mrs. Kinder, accompanied "Bill" to the fair and assisted in the work.

The Linn county club livestock exhibit occupied the extra tent set up and represented 86 head of stock. Of this number 56 were awarded ribbons. To Fred Williamson, '21, county club agent is due this excellent showing. He coached the judging team which tied for third and the canning team which placed fourth.

Helen Cowgill, '13, had charge of the canning teams which demonstrated each day at the fair. She also supervised the judging of the girls' club work.

Hogs were the only animals exhibited by the college this year but they upheld their usual record. The hog showing was in charge of A. W. "Al" Oliver, '18, and drew a junior champion boar, 3 firsts and 2 seconds from the Berkshires and 1 first, 1 second and 3 fourths from the Duroc Jerseys. O. M. Nelson, professor of animal husbandry, was superintendent of sheep, while George "Scooty" Dutton, ex-'19, was superintendent of horses.

An exhibitor of outstanding Jersey herds was Ivan Loughary, '16, who is with his father in the dairy business at Monmouth.

COMIC OPERA ROLE PLAYED

Arthur Bouquet, '06, A, sang one of the leading roles in the comic opera, "The Hindoo Head Hunters," presented by the Corvallis Women's club on October 26 and 27 for the benefit of the local library fund. Mr. Bouquet took the role of Sinafoo, king of Hindoo land.

Professor and Mrs. Bouquet have just returned from a trip to England. November issue of the Alumnus will carry an article by Mr. Bouquet concerning his observations while abroad.

FACTS ABOUT THE FACULTY

J. H. Painter of Washington, D. C. has a half-time teaching fellowship for two years in the pomology section of the department of horticulture. Mr. Painter is a graduate of the University of Maryland and comes directly from New Jersey where he was employed in the research work in the quarantined area established for eradication of the Japanese beetle.

J. Ralph Beck, '20, A, has just been appointed county agent for Lincoln county. This position was made vacant by the resignation of J. E. Cooter, '13, A, who has gone into the dairy business for himself near Toledo, Oregon.

On October 1 Professor E. B. Fitts began his work as professor of dairy husbandry with the extension department of Penn State college, after almost 10 years of service at O. A. C.

Professor James Dryden, for 14 years head of the poultry department at O. A. C., has resigned. Professor Dryden has purchased an acreage about 25 miles from Oakland, California, and among orchard trees will develop a chicken farm. He expects to continue his bulletin and special writing.

Director James T. Jardine was married on August 18 to Miss Gladys Carroon of Las Vegas, New Mexico, where the wedding took place. Mr. and Mrs. Jardine are living at 127 North 26th street, Miss Milam's house.

Colonel J. K. Partello and family are now living in Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where Colonel Partello is student officer in the army service school.

Miss Lena Rowenhorst, of the school of music, spent the summer in the east visiting her parents and doing special study.

Professor John B. Horner, who as head of the department of history has for several years performed the duty of director of Oregon historical research, now has the title of "director of Oregon historical research" given by the board of regents in recognition of his services. The action of the board of regents follows the action of the Oregon legislature, which by joint resolution, February 25, 1919, unanimously commended "Professor John B. Horner, author of 'Oregon—Her History, Her Great Men, and Her Literature,' in collecting and publishing historical data of Oregon down to the present year."

Dr. Bennett T. Sims and Miss Lillian LaLonde were married on June 21 in the Church of the Good Samaritan at Corvallis, Oregon. The couple spent their wedding trip in the Cascade mountains and are now living in their new home at 231 North 30th street. Dr. Simms took his bride for a visit to his old home in Louisiana this summer.

Dr. F. A. Gilfillan

in the Yale graduate school which won him the degree of doctor of philosophy, and a year as research chemist for the Calco Chemical company of Bound Brook, New Jersey, returns to his alma mater to teach in the school of pharmacy.

Courses in pharmacognosy, materia medica, manufacturing pharmacy and pharmaceutical Latin are the subjects taught by Dr. Gilfillan. He plans to organize such new courses as room and facilities will permit. He will edit all lecture and laboratory notes so that they will conform to the new Pharmacopoeia. He acts as advisor for freshmen students and tutors them in their difficult subjects.

While at Yale, Dr. Gilfillan was elected to membership in Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity; to Alpha Sigma Phi, honorary chemical fraternity; to the presidency of the association of Yale graduate students; and was chosen to represent President Kerr at the recent inauguration of President Angell of Yale. During his graduate course Dr. Gilfillan acted as assistant instructor in chemistry and tutored in German, French, Russian and Spanish. Several scientific articles on problems solved in connection with his graduate work have appeared in leading science journals. He will be remembered on the campus as a member of Forum and as associate editor of the Barometer for two years. He received his degree from O. A. C. in 1918.

James Davis Fountain, BS, one of the six members of his class is heard from as follows in reply to a questionnaire for information as to address and occupation:

"After a long time yours of last August finally reached me and I take more than ordinary pleasure in replying to your request. I am chief clerk in a candy store at 627 Fourteenth street, Oakland, California.

"Since leaving Corvallis college I have had a varied experience. I was for several years prior to coming to Oakland dabbling in mines near the historic town of Shasta. Having spent several thousand dollars trying to dig a fortune out of the ground I gave it up as a bad job and went to work in the store.

"I have always enjoyed good health and manage to secure most of life's necessities and a few of its luxuries. I hope some day to be able to pay a visit to the O. A. C. and look up some of my old friends and school mates. In the meantime, please remember me to all inquiring friends."

Bertha S. Davis, DSA, '09, MS, HE, formerly field supervisor in home economics education at O. A. C., tells of her new work at Mills College as follows:

"My position here is manager of the Campus Tea Shoppe and instructor in institutional management. The Tea Room here differs from the O. A. C. Tea Room very much in arrangement. This is a regular commercial concern located in an attractive new building which houses the Art and Stationery Shoppe, the Post Office and Tea Room, each occupying entirely separate rooms.

"We have a hired cook, assistant cook and two waitresses. Students assist us in rush hours.

"We serve breakfasts from 9 to 10:30 o'clock in the mornings; luncheons from 11:45 to 1:30 o'clock in the afternoons; afternoon teas from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoons and dinners from 6 to 7 o'clock in the evenings. We have from 20 to 30 persons at breakfast, 75 to 100 at noon, comers and goers all afternoon and varying numbers for dinner in the evening. We are very busy all the time.

"I like it here immensely and have met many interesting people. Miss Lila O'Neale came out to see me recently. Dorothy Ariss spent the evening with me not long since.

"Give my regards to my dear O. A. C. friends. I surely miss them."

1894

Charles S. Chandler, A, is a candidate for United States senator on the republican ticket, according to a news clipping received here. The clipping is from Ely, Nevada, Mr. Chandler's home town, and tells of his lead of 339 votes.

1895

Willard W. Smith, ME, is a surgeon living at 805 North Fourth avenue, Phoenix, Arizona.

Andrew B. Kidder, A, sends along his dues with the remark that he expects to be on the campus for Home coming. His home is Whiteson, Oregon.

1899

H. L. Kuhl, ex-'99, ME, lives at Canyon City, Oregon, and is engaged in business at that place. Mr. Kuhl is a Varsity "O" football man who expects to visit the campus for Home coming.

1904

Leena Rusk, DSA, now Mrs. Cornwall, is a housewife living at Manhattan Beach, Oregon.

1908

Thomas R. Sleight, EE, is chief engineer for the Concrete Pipe company with offices at 827 Board of Trade building, Portland, Oregon.

1909

Jesse J. Peddicord, Min, is cashier and underwriter for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company at San Diego, California. His residence address is 1046 Adella avenue, Coronado, California.

Otto H. Elmer, A, writes from the botany department of Iowa agricultural experiment station, Ames, as follows:

"There are somewhere near 20 former O. A. C. students here at Ames, and a get-together of our O. A. C. Club is a function in a class by itself. There is no doubt in any of our minds that the O. A. C. spirit which the traditions of O. A. C. taught us while at Corvallis is finer and more genuine than any school's spirit with which we have come in contact here in the middle west. This spirit is illustrated by the football game in Portland. I well remember when, after the game and we had lost to U. of O., the rooters took in the town so completely that those who had not heard the score were all saying how O. A. C. had won the game.

"I am taking work towards my Ph. D. which I hope I may earn by next June. I am working half time in the Iowa experiment station as a graduate assistant. Mrs. Elmer, our daughter, Marion, aged two and one half years, and Harold, aged 24 days, join me in wishing to O. A. C. and the Alumni Association more power and richest blessings."

Frank H. Boulan, A, accompanies his dues with the following:

"It is gratifying to know that the Alumni Association has enough money on hand nowadays to create a trust fund. It would appear that the association is getting somewhere." Mr. Boulan is farm loan supervisor for the Idaho State Life Insurance company with headquarters at Boise, Idaho.

C. E. Schultz, A, writes as follows:

"My official address is Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Washington D. C., but I will be stationed at Idaho Falls during the winter. My work here consists of publishing market information on the white potato crop in this section. With the closing of the season here I will probably move to various other parts of the country and issue market reports on other commodities.

"While in the Imperial Valley last summer I ran across Mr. Nishizaki, a former '12 man. He was down there distributing cantaloupes for Japanese growers. Incidentally, I partook of a Japanese dinner with Nishizaki and his wife. Recently met Mr. Sheehan, former instructor in the agronomy department at O. A. C. Mr. Sheehan was energetically lining up seed growers to sell their crops through the organization he represents.

"Enclosed find check covering annual dues. I have been very lax in keeping track of O. A. C. and her people during recent years but will try to do better in the future."

Jay P. Green, A, who is office manager for the Vesper Motors company at 701 North Broadway City, Oklahoma, writes as follows:

"Since coming to this part of the United States I have seen but two graduates of O. A. C. Sometimes a lonesomeness steals over me and I have a longing to visit the wonderful Northwest where I may see some of my old friends and classmates again."

1913

Harry M. Teel, CE, is farming at Echo, Oregon.

Anna Johnson, DSA, now Mrs. Ivan H. Severance, is a housewife at Cat Creek, Montana. She spent the summer in Oregon visiting. Ivan H. Severance is an ex-'13, ME.

Hazel Holt, DSA, now Mrs. Francis W. Triska, writes as follows from Jackson, Wyoming:

"We are living on the Winter Elk Refuge where I am kept busy right in my home and so am not teaching at present. We lost a little girl last fall and have another one seven months old."

Ethelbert Dowden, Jr., Min, is employed as engineer with the East Butte Cooper Mining company, at Silver Plume, Colorado.

Marie A. Hofer, DSA, is teaching in the Pasadena schools. Her address is 474 Galena avenue, Pasadena, California.

I. M. Compton Anderson, A, starts life membership payments and gives us the following information:

"I am managing my father's ranch at Drewsey, Oregon, feeding steers for the market and starting a registered herd of Short Horns as a side line.

"I have three children, one four, one two, and a baby six months old. The oldest is a girl and the other two are boys."

Henry C. Gilbert, A, encloses dues and says, "Mrs. Gilbert (formerly Katherine Asbahr, '20, HE) and I are taking advanced graduate work at the University of Minnesota this year. To keep from being murdered by any one of many heartless bill collectors I am teaching botany in the School of Agriculture and, during the illness of one of the professors, aiding in teaching freshman botany in the college. Katherine and I are both very busy, healthy and happy."

Frank F. Dietsch, A, and his wife, formerly Ruth Burnell, '16, HE, are living at Gervais, Oregon, where Mr. Dietsch is teaching in the high school.

Clara Post, C, writes from Fairfield, Washington, as follows in answer to my card regarding information for the Directory:

"I must say that I now rank only as a housewife. I taught commercial subjects in the high school until this year. My husband is now superintendent of the Fairfield schools."

Emerson Perry Black, A, has moved from Crescent City to Orick, California.

Tung Ming Hoong, A, writes from Amoy, China, where he is instructor in charge of the department of agriculture at the University of Amoy. Until recently he has been instructor of biology at the Angelo Chinese College.

Herman A. Stone, A, is district boys' and girls' club agent on the extension service of the University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho.

Edwin A. Hartley, A, writes from Syracuse, New York, as follows:

"I am here with the title of assistant professor of forest entomology, Syracuse University, in charge of the work with insects affecting ornamental trees and shrubs. I occupied my position on the first of September, coming on from Philadelphia, where I was employed by the State of Pennsylvania, bureau of plant industry, as an inspector of ornamental nurseries."

Palmer Patton, A, sends along his dues together with the information that the weather bureau work in which he is engaged has taken him to Williston, North Dakota, for about seven weeks and has now landed him in Miles City, Montana.

Leta Meacham, HE, sends her dues from New York City where she is attending Columbia University and gives her address as follows: Apartment 34, 106 Morningside Drive.

Arthur Moulton, A, writes as follows from Aurora, Oregon:

"As for myself, there isn't such a 'thunder of a lot' to write! Suffice it to confess to being a happy-go-lucky single chap, the 'kid farmer' (as the neighbors say) on an eighty-one and a half acre farm, named Midvale, located in the heart of the Mollala valley, two miles from Mollala.

"Down here I believe in doing the 'county agent' sort of thing by putting ideas into practice. Present prices have proven mighty hard all through the country. The chief result, though, is to 'force' better and more efficient farming, more dairying, chickens and hogs, more diversified farming and better rotations. That is the way this little 'demonstration farm' is being handled, and along there-with comes purebred livestock—Poland China hogs and Guernsey cows. In the hog line, I have been working quietly and toward an end, and believe that by next summer the herd will be hard to excel. And the Guernseys are being developed similarly as rapidly as conditions permit, the aim being high production, the highest and most economical records.

"Other things here include almost everything; a big bunch of fancy Leghorn chickens; saddle, driving and work horses; six milking cows; lots of hogs; rabbits; pigeons; bees; orchard, creek and cultivated lands; and so on.

"And, in between, I continue to write articles for the Oregon Journal, for the Oregon and Western Farmer, and for eastern papers.

"My best regards to all the 'gang' and though the state is 'dry' yet we, 'way down here' have the spirit alive and kicking and need but the 'say-so' and the gang is rarin' to go."
