DR. LYNN J. SNYDER

Director of Athletics

Started at OSU: July 1, 1985

Previous Employment: Marshall University, Huntington, WV, 1979-85
 University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign, 1966-79

Born: March 6, 1942, in Bloomington, Illinois
Education: B.S., Personnel Management, Illinois, 1964
 M.Ed., Educational Psychology, Illinois, 1969
 Ph.D., Educational Psychology, Illinois, 1978

In 1985, Lynn Snyder replaced Dee Andros as Oregon State's ninth director of intercollegiate athletics after six successful years in the same capacity at Marshall University.

Under Snyder, Marshall doubled the athletic budget in six years through increased revenues from fund raising, radio and TV, despite a 50% reduction in state support. Institution of an academic program to help student-athletes attain their degrees, and development of a departmental computer system are further accomplishments during Snyder's tenure.

Snyder appointee Rick Huckabay advanced Marshall basketball to the next level with NCAA Tournament berths in 1984 and 1985. In 1984, the school experienced its first winning football season in 19 years under the first-year coach Stan Parrish, another Snyder hiring. Marshall was 39th in the nation in basketball attendance (8,799 avg.) and 15th in 1-AA football attendance (15,650 avg.) in 1984-85, both school records. During his six-year stay at Marshall, Lynn spearheaded several facility improvements, including a new basketball arena, a new baseball facility and a new training table facility. Marshall was in the process of gaining final approval for a new campus football stadium seating 25,000 when Snyder left the school.

He started at Illinois in 1966 in the office of admissions and records as a systems and procedures analyst. He held that position until 1969, when he was named assistant dean in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences with primary duties including supervision of a departmental budget totaling $30 million.

In 1972, Lynn decided to turn to athletics and accepted the position of assistant athletic director at Illinois. His duties included grants-in-aid and eligibility processing, academic advising, rule interpretation, facility scheduling, equipment purchasing, budget planning, summer job procurement and promotion of programs and activities.

Lynn became Associate Director at Illinois in 1978, a title he held until taking the Marshall job in 1979. As associate director, his duties were expanded to include supervision of budgeting for the ticket office, golf course operations, equipment and laundry operations and training table. He had responsibility for maintenance of all facilities, staging of all events, and football and basketball travel and promotion.

Lynn graduated from Mount Vernon Township High School in Mt. Vernon, Illinois, in 1960. There, Lynn earned nine letters while competing in football, basketball, baseball and track and field. At Illinois, he played freshman baseball and was on the golf team his sophomore and junior years.

Upon graduation from Illinois, Lynn spent 1964-66 as a 1st Lieutenant in the U.S. Army Quartermaster Corps.

He and his wife, Louesa, have three daughters—Gretchen (10/7/66), Bridget (2/11/68) and Erica (3/23/71). Lynn is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, International Rotary and the First Presbyterian Church. He enjoys golf and gardening.

for Administrative Services

Started at OSU: August of 1981

Previous Employment: National Academy of Artistic Gymnastics, Eugene, 1973-76

 Lane County Auditorium Assoc., Eugene, 1971-74

In just 11 seasons at Oregon State University, women's basketball coach Aki Hill has transformed the Beaver program into one of the finest in the country.

Hill has guided the Beavers into post-season play in six of her 11 seasons, including two consecutive NCAA appearances, 1983 and 1984. She has led Oregon State to 20 or more wins in five of the last 11 seasons, a win-loss mark of 191-118 good enough for a .618 winning percentage. She has coached an All-America center, an All-America forward and an All-America guard at OSU. And she was named Coach of the Year by her peers in the Northern Pacific Athletic Conference (NorPac) in both of the league's first two years.

The 49-year-old Hill is regarded as one of the best women's basketball coaches in the country and has a style unique among collegiate women's teams. Her halfcourt press defense is an Oregon State tradition as is the Beavers' 40 minutes of constant pressure.

Hatsue Aki Hill is a native of Japan, born July 7, 1940 in Tsugawa, Niigata. She trained under some of basketball's most noteworthy authorities, including the legendary UCLA coach John Wooden. Other mentors of Hill include Tatsuo Hata, a leading Japanese authority on basketball; Hall of Famer Pete Newell; and Stu Inman, former General Manager for the Portland Trail Blazers.

Hill has spent the past 28 years playing, studying and coaching basketball. Her U.S. coaching career began in 1976, when she was an assistant at Foothill Community College and Santa Clara University in California.

In 1970, Hill became the first and only woman coach in Japan's 75-team AAU organization. She coached the Tokyo Marine Insurance teams, guiding one to a second place national finish during her final year.

In 1972, Hill took a leave of absence from coaching to study in a special program under Wooden at UCLA. She is one of the few women, or Japanese, coaches to have such an extensive background of training in the United States.

As a player, Hill competed for three years in high school basketball, then seven years on an AAU first division team in Japan. She was a starting guard for the Tokyo Marine Company, the same team she later coached. Her team won the national championship in 1965.

Hill has been nominated for national Coach of the Year honors four times in her 11 years at Oregon State. She has to her credit a pair of National Women's Invitational Tournament titles, two Northwest Women's Basketball League crowns and a NorPac championship.

Aki does need help seeing eye-to-eye with OSU All-Americans Carol Menken-Schaudt and Steve Johnson.

THE "AKI" PHILOSOPHY:

- "Our style of basketball is winner's basketball and that has certainly brought us a number of championships here at OSU. We play a sophisticated, aggressive press defense and transition game. We also emphasize taking the highest percentage shot and working our passing game in a controlled situation.

This style of basketball demands the most out of you, such as intelligence, tough character and quickness, as well as the best body control and highest skill level. We want to pursue the most exciting, sophisticated style of basketball."

- "I don't know of any other woman coach in the United States who has a background of such sophisticated basketball as both a coach and a player for a total of more than 25 years. I have the knowledge of overall concepts, but also of the small details which can change your play.

I am also very fortunate to have had some of the greatest teachers in basketball. I learned from our men's coach Ralph Miller, John Wooden of UCLA, Mr. Hata of Japan, Hall of Famer Pete Newell and, of course, Stu Inman of the Portland Trailblazers. My association with each of these people has been long and close."

- "We are all together; as a coach I want to motivate and educate my players. They are at a time when they will have just one chance to make the most of an opportunity—to play college basketball. It is a special time, a time to place demands upon yourself, not rely on a coach. I get my greatest satisfaction when my team can go out on the court and achieve things without my guidance. This makes me most happy."

- "Our recruiting philosophy may be low-key, but I am not comfortable with the high-pressure recruiting which so many schools seem to be using. We like to be open and honest and try to provide as much information as possible so that prospective students can make the right decision. This is the start of an open communication and, in the long run, people will understand our philosophy and sincerity and it will help our recruiting."

- "The nicest thing about OSU is the excellent academic program the school offers, yet OSU manages to keep to a good size so students can get very special, individualized care. We have excellent academic programs in many fields. There is a warm atmosphere at OSU and caring people is one of the main reasons I took the job here. The people in the community recognize athletes and are very supportive."

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS WITH HEAD COACH AKI HILL

QUESTION: WHAT DO YOU FEEL YOUR STRENGTHS WILL BE THIS YEAR?

"One strength is the combination of experience from the junior class with Izzy Maryntschak, Shanna Daniels and Angela Ernst. We'd like to have a good surprise from some of the newcomers and sophomores. It's kind of exciting for me to see who's going to come out strong. I'm not sure what's going to happen."

QUESTION: YOU LOST CHELLE FLAMOE'S SCORING PUNCH, WHAT'S THE TEAM GOING TO DO TO OVERCOME THIS LOSS?

"This year we are encouraging everyone to be a scorer. We are trying to develop everybody to have some type of scoring power. Everybody needs to improve their scoring skills and improve their defensive running game. That's the way we hope to get the balanced scoring we need."

QUESTION: WHAT DO YOU FEEL THE WEAKNESSES OF THE TEAM ARE?

"Experience and lack of a proven player. Year after year we have had one. Although the leadership on this team looks really strong. Everybody has a chance this year if they show what they can really do. But the weakness is definitely experience."

QUESTION: WHAT ARE YOUR CONCERNS GOING INTO THE SEASON?

"Experience and rebounding. We do not have a definite scoring guard. Which is kind of exciting, but also a weakness. There are a lot of question marks at this point in the season."

QUESTION: YOUR THOUGHTS ON RETURNING VETERANS?

"I think that probably the person who has proven herself the most is Izzy (Maryntschak). She's a very cooperative person. Shanna (Daniels) and Angela (Ernst) have the opportunity to start sometimes. There are good parts to their games. Some of the games they really show they can score and be a factor. If they build up some mental consistency, they will grow to be very good competitors. Audrey might surprise some people."

QUESTION: YOUR THOUGHTS ON NEWCOMERS?

"Mireille Smits is a transfer student of sorts. She is one big question mark, but she's working hard. There's a good chance she could injure her knees again, but it would be a big surprise if she can make it through the season. I am very excited about having her in the lineup. Margo Evashevski is showing very good things conditioning wise. Marlo Cormier is showing that she can be a shooter. We need Margo to improve her shooting game and Marlo to improve her movement. Right now it's just a matter of polishing up on our strengths and developing our weaknesses."

About OSU

The Ultimate Goal-A Diploma

We hope that any prospective student-athlete contemplating Oregon State has, first and foremost in her mind, taking advantage of her athletic ability by earning a college degree. The OSU basketball program is simply a highly visible facet of an institution that has accepted the challenge of providing a worthwhile education to its enrollment.

Aki Hill has several honors and championships. They make news, but the greatest accomplishments of those who participate in Oregon State basketball may never earn praise.

It is a tribute to the staff, faculty and administrators at OSU that approximately 80% of the athletes that complete their eligibility here also leave here with a degree and a promising future. Hill takes great pride in the achievements of her former players on and off the court.

Her satisfaction has to be shared with the "other coaching staff" within the department. Academic Counselor Michael Beachley and assistant Mary Alice Stander are in charge of advising student-athletes throughout their college education and that 80% is directly attributable to their work.

For the majority, graduation from college must be the greatest return they will benefit from their special athletic skills.

Beachley sums up what the student-athlete can expect in assistance. "Nothing is more important for a student-athlete than a solid, well-balanced educational foundation from which to draw the mental strengths and vitality of a lifetime. Oregon State athletics provides the student-athlete with many services and support, which balance out the rigors of a demanding athletic schedule. The prime objective of my office is to lead the student-athlete to the baccalaureate degree and to share in that celebration of off-the-court victory."

Teaching is number one at OSU, but the institution is also recognized as one of the major research centers in America with grants towards research totaling more than $50 million.

Yes, OSU is a university for everyone, everyone is helped in every possible way to succeed—in athletics, other fields of endeavor and, more importantly, in life.

#25 AUDREY MOORE Game-By-Game Statistics 1

About OSU

A Rich Athletic Tradition

Women's basketball has averaged 20 wins a season with annual post-season tournament invites in the 1980's, but Oregon State Athletics, as a whole, is accustomed to a winning tradition.

Football at Oregon State has included a Heisman Trophy, two Rose Bowls and a Liberty Bowl appearance under head coach Tommy Prothro, who went on to coach the Los Angeles Rams and San Diego Chargers after posting a 63-37-2 mark in nine Corvallis seasons. Men's basketball, dubbed the Orange Express, under Hall-of-Fame coach Ralph Miller, captured four of the last ten Pacific-10 Conference championships and participated in NCAA post-season tournaments, while compiling one of the nation's best records within the 1980's, the fifth best in collegiate basketball history. Taking the helm following Miller's retirement, coach Jim Anderson promises exciting basketball ahead.

Beaver baseball is also a regular in the NCAA Playoffs in recent years and head coach Jack Riley has 12-15 players in pro baseball. Women's gymnastics is perennially ranked among the nation's Top 10 with its share of national champions. Wrestling has an equally rich tradition that includes two Pac-10 titles in recent years. OSU crew has been represented on a majority of the United States national teams competing in Europe. 15 sports at Oregon State, all with their own loyal followings and noteworthy achievements.

Many graduates from OSU and Aki Hill's program have gone on to coach at the NCAA Division I level or continue their playing days abroad in Italy, Japan and northern Europe. OSU's current coaching staff boasts one of Aki's best in Robyn Clark, Judy Spoelstra is in the same capacity at Idaho and Cindy Johnston-Riley is now coaching and playing in Australia. Carol Menken-Schautd (on inside back cover) prospered in Italian and Japanese basketball leagues for several years and represented the United States on the gold medal team of the 1984 Los Angeles games. Menken-Schautd has been joined by Spoelstra, Juli Coleman and Chelle Flamoe as recent All-Americans from the Beaver roster. Flamoe was named GTE CoSIDA first team All-American as a junior and senior, plus she was also named the Division I Academic All-American Player of the Year as a junior and senior. Flamoe had a 3.98 GPA during her OSU academic career. Coleman made the Academic All-American list as well.

The opportunities to make an early difference are here at Oregon State.

The Aki Hill Era of OSU basketball has seen its share of success—numerous team and individual honors and the memories that are cherished long after the college days are over:

1981 All-American and 1984 Olympian Carol Menken-Schautd, "OSU has one of the fastest growing women's basketball programs in the United States today. The coaches are dedicated to the sport and to the athletes. They took an honest open approach to recruiting me and I found Oregon State to have a very good academic environment." (Now in television work)

1983 All-American Judy Spoelstra, "I was looking for a good, positive atmosphere to play in and Oregon State provided me with it. They have a well-known program and a good schedule. One of the reasons I came to OSU was because Aki Hill is recognized as a great coach. She is a great communicator both on and off the court. She is extremely constructive and cares about her athletes. Respect is mutual." (Head coach at Montana State after being asst. coach at Idaho and playing pro basketball in Japan)

1985 All-American (court and classroom) Juli Coleman, "The coaches are very knowledgeable and easy to get along with: I like the atmosphere of the campus and the people are really friendly. The program really gets a lot of support from everyone." (High school teacher/coach in Washington state)

About OSU College Town, U.S.A.

Corvallis is one of the largest cities in Oregon with approximately 42,500 people. All the basic comforts are here. There are excellent restaurants, several major shopping centers, a substantial downtown core of businesses that is expanding to the outskirts of town, many theaters including an old-fashioned drive-in, and plenty of nightclub entertainment.

There is something about the town — small and unencumbered, revolving around the university, yet conveniently possessing the "city life" — that makes it extremely attractive.

Ideally located in the Willamette Valley, Corvallis is close to both the splendor of the Cascade Mountains and the West Coast's beautiful shoreline. Downtown Corvallis is less than an hour's drive from a major airport, and can be easily reached by car, bus, or charter airline. You can fish, boat, or water ski less than a block from downtown, bike along an extensive network of bicycle paths, or ski in the nearby Cascades.

You can stroll through one of Corvallis' many parks or enjoy a game of golf or tennis at one of the city's public or private clubs. Experience a delightful lunch overlooking the Willamette River or savor continental cuisine before a warm fire. At night, enjoy dancing to live music or take in concerts and plays.

Rarely will you find a community that will be more friendly and make you feel more welcome. Many former athletes have stayed, making their homes in Corvallis. While many avid supporters of Beaver sports hail from throughout the Northwest, the core of those in attendance at home games are from the Corvallis vicinity. The city is alive with an active, athletically minded populace.

The relationship between Corvallis and Oregon State University is as secure and healthy as you will find in the nation.

About OSU

The Beautiful State of Oregon

One of the most distinctive advantages to Oregon State is the ideal environment that Oregon provides.

The State of Oregon is large, yet pleasantly populated with just under three million people. There are many, many amenities to experience that you would find in the largest metropolitan areas in the nation. Portland, Corvallis, Eugene, Salem, Roseburg, Grants Pass, Medford and Ashland all line up along Interstate 5 for easy access to well over 75% of Oregon's public. A recent national survey ranked the City of Portland, just 80 miles north of Corvallis, as the most livable city in the nation. It's no wonder. It's a spacious city, not out of control in its growth, but with plenty to offer those who desire the city atmosphere with the country in their back yard.

Many times, OSU students like to drive to Portland for a weekend, a pro basketball game or a major concert.

Perhaps, Oregon's most striking aspect is the great variety of recreation available the year around. The open expanses of the eastern desert provide exciting vistas as you drive northeast toward Pendleton and the world-renowned Pendleton Round-Up or toward Steens Mountain for camping or a glimpse of antelope and other wildlife — or maybe you just want to enjoy the authentic western atmosphere of one of the many small towns scattered across the desert. The lofty, snow-capped Cascade Mountains are ideal for backpacking and offer some of the finest ski slopes in the nation. Cross country skiing is a particular favorite of many enthusiasts.

The Willamette Valley, stretching from Portland to Eugene, is one of the most productive and beautiful agricultural drives in the United States, featuring expanses of grain crops, mint, or the vineyards of Oregon's young, flourishing wine grape industry. The Valley is the heart of Oregon and Corvallis happens to be in the heart of the Valley. It will remain the most favored region in Oregon for a long time to come.

On Oregon's Pacific coastline you can stroll along unspoiled public beaches or spend hours browsing in tiny shops — and on the Newport waterfront you can drop in at Mo's for a bowl of famous (and truly superb) clam chowder! In the Southwest you will find such attractions as Crater Lake National Park, Oregon Caves National Monument, and historic Jacksonville where you can tour authentically preserved 19th Century homes. In Ashland you can attend one of the premier Shakespearean theaters in the nation.

And all of this is within a few hours' drive of Corvallis!

THE EVOLUTION OF OSU WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Women's basketball at Oregon State actually got its start before organized men's competition began. The first women's game was played in 1898; the first men's contest in 1901.

That game bore little resemblance to modern day basketball, however. The court was divided into three zones, each containing two players from the two teams. The divisions included areas for guards, centers and forwards. A center jump was held after every basket and no one was allowed to leave their zone.

Scores were low in that era — in 1914, for example, Oregon State beat Oregon by a 10-8 score.

By the 1930's, there was a change in philosophy in women's sports. Competition, per se, was discouraged. On the other hand, mass participation via class instruction and intramurals was encouraged. That philosophy prevailed until the early 1970's although women's basketball was organized as an extramural and club sport in the late 1950's.

No school in the Northwest was quite as successful as Oregon State University. Competing against clubs from other schools, Oregon State teams went undefeated from 1959 to 1966.

Basketball became an intercollegiate sport for women in 1972, when the newly organized women's athletic department started competition as a charter member of the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW). Teams competed in the Northwest College Women's Sports Association (NCWSA), Region 9 of the nine-division AIAW.

Accurate records, however, were not kept in women's basketball until the 1976-77 season, when Mary Covington coached the Beavers.

CAROL MENKEN-SCHAUDT: OSU's Golden All-American

Carol Menken came to Oregon State unrecruited by anyone else in the state. She had grown up in nearby Jefferson, Oregon, played a year of junior college ball at Linn-Benton Community College and was ready to move up to the NCAA level. No one was willing to take a chance with her except the OSU coaching staff of Aki Hill and Ross Cook.

Three years later, Menken left Oregon State as one of the top basketball players in the country. She was named a Kodak All-American during her senior year and led OSU to a sparkling 22-6 record in 1980-81. Menken also led the country in field goal percentage, hitting 363 of 484 shots, an incredible .750 shooting percentage.

Menken still maintains her amateur status and was selected for the U.S. team at the 1984 Olympics. She contributed to the U.S. gold medal winning team at Los Angeles.

The honors go on and on and Carol Menken is still making a name for herself. She played AAU basketball in Turin, Italy, where she was among league leaders in scoring and rebounding. After six seasons in Italy, Carol played in Tokyo. International basketball is nothing new to Menken, however. She played in the World University Games for the United States in the summer of 1981 and toured Romania, Yugoslavia and Cuba.

Home of the Beavers 10,400-SEAT GILL COLISEUM

The 10,000-seat house that Slats Gill built is the house that Ralph Miller filled to the point of mandatory expansion.

Gill Coliseum, Home of the Beavers since the 1949-50 season, expanded 400 vital seats and a wholesale sprucing up in 1984 giving Oregon State one of the most ideal facilities for the viewing of college basketball.

New lighting, floor and wall coverings, additional, more comfortable seating and improvements in meeting rooms, concession stands and rest rooms were all part of the 1.6 million dollar project. No state funds were used for the renovation as all the money was raised through seat options and booster donations.

The site of the NCAA Western Regionals in 1952, 1953, 1954, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1964, 1967 and 1983 (nine times total) was named after the late Slats Gill, head basketball coach at Oregon State for 36 years (1929-1964) and later the school's athletic director. The building is perfectly suited for basketball. It is not a fieldhouse. There are no posts obstructing vantage points and 85% of the seating is along the sidelines.

The structure covers one and one-third acres. The peak of the coliseum is 83 feet above the floor; equivalent to a four-story building. The framework consists of 12 fabricated steel arches. In all, there are 1,000 tons of structural steel and 14,000 cubic yards (over 70,000 sacks of cement) of concrete in Gill Coliseum. In addition, more than 14,000 pumice blocks were used for partitions and finishing work.

Some of those blocks have been knocked out with the renovation enabling Gill Coliseum to accommodate approximately 10,400 fans now and host many more events with additional meeting rooms behind the new collapsible theater seats on the arena floor.

The largest crowd to witness a game at Gill Coliseum arrived in 1962 to watch the Oregon State men defeat rival Oregon, 82-66, 11,709 showed up that day, but fire marshall regulations prevent that figure from being surpassed unless additional expansion occurs.

The playing surface now in use is 10 years old and made of the best wood variety.

Conference of Champions THE PAC-10 CONFERENCE

The Pacific-10 Conference has long enjoyed the reputation of being the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate athletic conference in the country. The reputation is well deserved.

Indicative of the strength of the Conference is the fact that Pac-10 members have won 187 NCAA team championships in men's sports, far and away more than any other conference (the Big Ten is runner-up with 131). Pac-10 men's programs have won at least four NCAA team titles in 16 of the last 18 years, a feat unprecedented in intercollegiate athletics.

The NCAA has been conducting women's championships for six years and Pac-10 members have won four team titles four times. The total of 21 NCAA team titles by Pac-10 members far outdistances any other conference (the Southwest Conference is runner-up with 12). Included in the NCAA team titles are all seven tennis crowns, and three out of six championships in track and field and softball.

The roots of the Pacific-10 Conference go back over 70 years. On December 9, 1915, the Pacific Coast Conference was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland, Oregon. Original membership consisted of four schools — University of California, University of Washington, University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University).

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916. One year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the PCC, and Stanford University joined in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California and the University of Idaho. Montana joined the Conference in 1924 and in 1928 the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-team league until 1950 with the exception of 1943-45 when World War II somewhat curtailed athletic competition at the university level. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference. The PCC continued as a nine-team conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC dissolved and a new conference was formed called the Athletic Association of Western Universities. Original AAWU membership consisted of California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA, and Washington. Washington State became a member in 1962 with Oregon and Oregon State joining in 1964. In 1968, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted.

Ten years later, on July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality.

OREGON STATE BASKETBALL
PRODUCES ALL-AMERICANS,
OLYMPIANS ... AND MORE

Two of Oregon State University's finest, Juli Coleman (upper left) and Carol Menken-Schaudt (above), are proof of OSU's commitment to excellence. Coleman was an Academic All-American and all-conference performer. She met her husband, pictured, at OSU and both are coaching in the Washington state high school system. Menken-Schaudt also met her husband at OSU. The 1984 Gold Medalist in Los Angeles has continued her basketball career playing in professional leagues in Italy and Japan.
