GENERAL OUTLOOK

For any less-determined coach than Paul Valenti, an Oregon State basketball outlook minus the presence of all-American Jim Jarvis would be ample reason to throw in the towel before the season ever began.

But not so with Paul Valenti.

He realizes fully how much the Beavers will miss their highest-scoring guard in the school's history, and also knows all too well that OSU faces a murderous schedule this coming campaign. But Paul has always welcomed a challenge, right from his playing days on into the coaching field, and isn't about to give up without a fight.

Speaking realistically, there are plenty of big "ifs" on this Beaver casaba crew. Some provide encouragement, others do not. But rather than worry about Jarvis being gone, Valenti and his capable aide, Jimmy Anderson, are ready to take 'em on, one at a time, and do the best job possible for Oregon State.

In early practice sessions, it appeared that Valenti would go with a starting unit composed of four lettermen and a 6-5 transfer from Pepperdine, Loy Petersen. The veterans include 6-6 Ed Fredenburg, 6-4 Charlie White, 6-3 Scott Eaton and 6-0 Rick Whelan. There's lots of experience from that group and Eaton has good speed.

Petersen shows promise of becoming one of the truly fine basketeers at OSU, but it's rare indeed when a sophomore can step right in and accomplish all the things expected of him without a few miscues. He does have good natural ability, however, and is destined for greatness sooner or later.

Another transfer, 6-6 Harry Gunner from Cisco JC in Texas, is sure to be battling for one of the starting jobs, but like Petersen, lacks experience in this fast competition the Beavers play. He's sure to improve, however, and as he does, it will help the Beavers greatly.

Some of the other veterans on hand, in addition to those already mentioned, are Dave Fox, Larry French, Jeff Cudworth and Ray Carlile. They all lettered a year ago and this will mark the third varsity season for Fox.

Three sophomores up from last year's Rook squad are making determined bids against their more experienced teammates. This trio includes 6-8 Gary Wilken, 6-6 Karl Weide and 6-0 guard Bob Franz. They paced the 1964-65 Rooks to a fine season.

So it's hard to tell just what to expect of the Beavers in 1965-66. They'll work hard—you can be sure of that—and chances are their defense will be mighty stingy. Those two ingredients are a trademark of any Valenti-coached team. The Beavers need to uncover some scoring punch from several different sources and to utilize well what height they have. And they may have to scramble some, game in and game out.

But whatever they do, it will be interesting. Any Oregon State fan can count on that.

THUMBNAIL SKETCHES

Charlie White

6-4 and 189. Senior from Detroit, Mich. Transferred to OSU a year ago from Monterrey (Cal) JC and did exceptional job. No. 2 scorer on squad with 250 points and leader in rebounds with 183. Good spring in legs and tireless worker. Should be vastly improved this winter and one of best in league.

Ed Fredenburg

6-6 and 202. Junior from Coos Bay, Ore. Stepped in and won regular center spot as sophomore. Third leading scorer with 202 points, second in rebounds with 169 and shot .784 at the free throw line. Can go either at forward or center. Has fine hook shot and tough to defense.

Scott Eaton

6-3 and 192. Senior from Medford, Ore. Came along fast towards end of junior season and may be ready now to fulfill predictions made about him earlier in career. Terrific speed and plays good defense, but in past has needed to improve on shooting. This could be his year.

Rick Whelan

6-0 and 184. Senior from Milwaukie, Ore. Another seasoned veteran, with one of best shooting eyes on squad. Scored 167 points last year. Good ball-handler who knows how to work against a defense. A little short on quickness, but good hands and outside shooter.

Loy Petersen

6-5 and 190. Sophomore transfer from Pepperdine. Home town is Anaheim, Cal. Most highly-regarded sophomore to show here in several years. Good size, fair speed and can stuff the ball. Ambidextrous shooter. Lacking only in experience, but expected to be a regular in his first year.

Dave Fox

6-3 and 193. Senior from Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Scored 89 points last year. A two-year letterman who specializes in jump shooting and one-handers. Came through in clutch shooting role at Far West Classic a year ago. Should be good defensive player.

Harry Gunner

6-6 and 210. Junior transfer from Cisco JC in Port Arthur, Texas. Long and lanky and ranks as fine prospect. Jump shot is his specialty and must learn to hook better. Sure to find a place in the lineup sometime, but lack of experience hurts right now.

Ray Carlile

5-11 and 159. Senior from Sacramento, Cal. Transferred to OSU from American River JC and saw lots of action last year. Fine defensive player, with excellent quickness and desire. Scored 59 points. Has shown promise of becoming good outside shooter.

Larry French

6-6 and 206. Junior from Pendleton. Lettered last year as a sophomore. Extremely rugged in backboard play and tough to dislodge when near the basket. Scored 38 points last year, and should show marked improvement this winter. Works hard to improve game.

Karl Weide

6-6 and 205. Sophomore from Garden Grove, Cal. Showed great promise with Rook team and one of top scorers, as well as rebounders. Could make strong bid for starting job as he gains experience. Needs to improve on shooting. Fine physique.

Gary Wilken

6-8 and 220. Sophomore from Fairbanks, Alaska. Regular center with Rooks last year and improved fast towards end of season when he consistently broke into double figures in scoring. Considered a fine prospect for future, and likely to see lots of service in neophyte year.

Jeff Cudworth

6-2 and 172. Junior letterman from Redwood City, Cal. One of top players on Rook quint two years ago, and saw some service as varsity sophomore. Shoots well from outside, but a bit lacking in speed. Fine attitude and hard and willing worker.

Bob Franz

6-0 and 175. Sophomore from Sacramento, Cal. Regular guard on Rook squad last year and one of most consistent scorers. Very accurate outside back of key, and also from the corners. Should see lots of action when he gains the necessary experience.

THE COACHES

PAUL VALENTI — Head Basketball Coach

Starting his second season as head basketball coach at Oregon State is popular Paul Valenti, who turned in one of the finest coaching jobs in the Pacific Athletic conference last winter.

Taking over a club that had been badly hit by graduation and the loss of All-America Mel Counts, Valenti led the Beavers to a respectable 16-10 campaign, won the Far West Classic (9th straight for OSU) and retained the Chancellor's trophy by whipping Oregon three out of four times.

In addition, Valenti's Beavers were 4th in the PAC with a 7-7 record. All in all it was a great head coaching start for Paul, who had been a top assistant to Slats Gill over an 18-year span, following a great career as an OSU player himself.

Valenti isn't a native of this state through birth, but the state is quick to claim him by adoption. He came to Corvallis as a freshman basketball player out of Larkspur, Cal. in the fall of 1938, and but for navy service in World War II, has been on the campus ever since.

The Beaver coach gained a winning touch his first year at OSU. He led the Rooks to an undefeated season in 1939 over a 16-game slate, and was top scorer on a club that included such future varsity greats as John Mandic, Sam Dement, Don Durdan and Jack Mulder. Valenti scored 142 points for top honors.

Paul stepped right into a varsity berth as a sophomore and remained there for the campaigns of 1940, 1941 and 1942. Northern division championships were recorded in 1940 and 1942. Stanford edged the Beavers in a close three-game series in 1942 and later went on to win the NCAA title in a breeze.

Valenti was regarded as one of the best long-distance shooters ever to wear the orange and black. Following his graduation in 1942, Paul served in the Navy in World War II, returning to OSU in the fall of 1946 to become freshman coach. His Rooks won 14 out of 15 games and in 1951, his junior varsity crew swept 16 in a row without a loss. In 1955, Paul's club went undefeated with 15 straight.

When Gill resigned as basketball coach to become athletic director at OSU on July 1, 1964, Valenti was named headman for the Beavers and promptly began to administer the same sound basketball program begun years previously. Judging from the results last year, Valenti indeed has a bright future as a head basketball coach.

JIM ANDERSON — Assistant Coach

Young and capable Jimmy Anderson, who was a star guard at Oregon State in 1957-58-59, is Paul Valenti's right-hand man and now is in his second season as top aide. Anderson was one-half of that great guard combination that also included all-American Lee Harman and together they helped lead OSU to a tie for the Pacific Coast conference championship in 1958. Another key member of that team was Dave Gambee, still playing pro ball with the Philadelphia 76ers.

Anderson came to OSU as a transfer from Grays Harbor JC, after a great prep career at Hoquiam, Wash. Jim went on to gain his master's degree following graduation and coached the OSU Rooks in 1960, 1961 and 1962. Among his proteges were Terry Baker, Mel Counts and Jim Jarvis. In those years he compiled a 45-8 record. Jim coached two years at Newberg (Ore.) high before returning to his alma mater as assistant coach.

BILL HARPER — Freshman Coach

Another ex-OSU basketball and baseball star, Bill Harper, begins his first season as freshman coach. He was a star basketball guard in 1949-50-51, and as a sophomore played on a Pacific Coast conference championship squad that placed 4th in the NCAA finals. Bill coached both basketball and baseball for many years at Roseburg high school, and also had a great record as coach of the Roseburg American Legion junior baseball team. He returned to OSU two years ago as a member of the physical education staff.

Oregon State University

Oregon State University is the oldest and largest state-supported institution of higher learning in Oregon. It is now in its 97th year with a record enrollment of approximately 12,000. This is 1000 more than a year ago and 2000 more than 1963. OSU is one of the nation's Land-Grant Colleges, started by the Morrill Act of 1862 to make educational opportunities available to all Americans who have the will and ability to learn.

OSU schools of study, in order of student enrollment, include Sciences, Engineering, Education, Business and Technology, Humanities and Social Sciences, Agriculture, Home Economics, Pharmacy and Forestry. Eighty separate departments are included in the nine schools.

The number of students working for advanced degrees—masters and doctors degrees—has doubled in the past 10 years. Today, about 11 percent of the students at Oregon State are in the Graduate School. National reports of two years ago showed that OSU ranked 7th in the West and 41st in the U.S. in the number of doctors degrees awarded during each of the past five years.

Nearly 100 major buildings are located on the 400-acre main Oregon State University campus. Approximately 4,000 acres adjoining the main campus are owned and used by the University for research and instruction, and 24,000 acres more are utilized by Branch Experiment Stations for research. The School of Forestry owns and administers 14,300 acres of forest land within seven miles of the campus for instructional and research purposes.

Value of the Oregon State University plant is estimated at approximately $60,000,000 — compared with about $8,000,000 thirty years ago.

Oregon State University is nationally-known for many of its major specialized fields. OSU was one of the first colleges to establish work in Food Science; its departments of Fish and Game Management and Forest Engineering are unique and highly regarded; all of the schools and departments are fully accredited.

Students from every county in Oregon, 47 states and 63 other countries are attending Oregon State this year.

OSU is a part of a world-wide system of seismograph stations reporting and studying earthquakes.

Oregon State University has become one of the foremost ocean research centers in America. Its oceanography teaching program is the fourth largest in the nation. OSU has its own "navy" too. At least that is what the students call the university's $300,000 ocean research vessel, "Yaquina." It operates out of Newport.

OSU has the only nuclear reactor in Oregon, a $165,000 gift from the Atomic Energy Commission. It is used to train students in physics, chemistry, chemical engineering, mechanical engineering, and other technical fields for careers in nuclear science.

OSU has the only cyclotron in the State of Oregon. It was built by OSU scientists. A gigantic electronic computer is now under construction by the Departments of Mathematics and Electrical Engineering. It will be capable of solving the most complex research problems (aided, of course, by the highly trained scientists in the two departments).

Oregon State is one of the only 34 institutions in the country that offers ROTC work in all branches of the military services — army, navy, air force and marine corps. ROTC training is voluntary.

Oregon State University is the West's top center for science-mathematics teacher institutes sponsored by the National Science Foundation. It was one of the first 16 U. S. universities selected to give the teacher training.

OSU operates on a "year-round" school basis. During the summer, 12 weeks of classes are offered for those who want to attend, making it possible for students to earn a full term's credit, and to graduate in three full years rather than the four school years if they choose.

Only 16 schools in the nation prepare students for jobs as professional meteorologists. OSU is one of them.

The Natural History collection in the Natural History building contains 34,000 specimens of terrestrial vertebrates and nearly 800 mounts of birds and mammals. The Herbarium in Cordley Hall contains about 152,000 named specimens of seed plants, ferns, mosses, algae and fungi. The Entomological Collection in Cordley Hall has about 275,000 specimens. More than 2,400 mineral specimens are included in the Geological Collection housed in Education Hall. The William Henry Price memorial collection in the Memorial Union contains 53 paintings.

ATHLETIC STAFF

SLATS GILL — Athletic Director

One of the most successful and respected athletic personalities in America is now in his second year as Athletic Director at Oregon State University.

He's Slats Gill, who resigned as basketball coach at OSU after 36 seasons to become head of Oregon State's athletic program that has grown so steadily. Gill replaces well-known Spec Keene, who retired on July 1. Keene had been Beaver athletic boss since 1947.

It was natural that a man of Gill's stature would step into the shoes filled so ably by Keene. Slats was an all-American basketball player at OSU in 1924 and his roots to the school have been extremely close ever since. And in that time, he helped elevate Oregon State into the role as a national basketball power.

Under Gill's tutelage, OSU won northern division hoop crowns in 1933, 1935, 1940, 1942, 1947, 1949, 1954 and 1955, and tied for the top spot in 1948. The Beavers swept outright Pacific Coast conference titles in 1933, 1947, 1949 and 1955, and tied with California in 1958. Oregon State was 4th in the NCAA in both 1949 and 1963, and tied for 5th in 1947, 1955 and 1962.

Eight players won all-America recognition under Gill, including Buck Grayson, Ed Lewis, Wally Palmberg, John Mandic, Lew Beck, Red Rocha, Cliff Crandall, Swede Halbrook, Dave Gambee, Lee Harman, and Mel Counts. Beck was captain of the U.S. Olympic team in 1948 and Counts made the squad this year.

Gill's teams never lost a game in winning eight consecutive Far West Classic championships. They swept the Chancellor's trophy from Oregon 11 out of the last 12 years. Slats is past president of the National Basketball Coaches Association and a member of the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame. Twice he has coached in the East-West game, and one year he won the Hayward Award as the state's top sports figure. About the only goal that ever eluded him was an NCAA title, and he came close to that three times.

Slats and his wife Helen are parents of two children, Jane (Mrs. Jack Stephenson) and John, and they have three grand-children.

JIM BARRATT — Assistant Athletic Director

Moving up from the post of athletic business manager to that of assistant athletic director is capable Jim Barratt, who has been on the athletic staff at OSU since 1951.

Jim originally is from Heppner, Oregon, where he was a four-sports star. Following navy duty in World War II, he enrolled at OSU and was extremely active in campus affairs, being editor of the Daily Barometer his senior year. He graduated in 1950 and became assistant alumni director. In 1951, he switched over to athletics.

Barratt handled ticket sales for many years, and his unbounding enthusiasm and attention to details helped establish him as one of the top men in his field. He proved to be a top-notch aide to Spec Keene through the years, just as he is sure to be to new Athletic Director Slats Gill.

When Comm Hennessey took over the ticket duties, Barratt was free to concentrate more on various other promotions connected with the athletic department, and with game scheduling.

He and wife Dorothea are the parents of two daughters, Brenda and Janet.

BILL ROBERTSON, Head Trainer, has been chief of the OSU tape brigade for 19 years, and long has been one of the most popular citizens in the Corvallis community. Famous for his always well-received vocal rendition of "Casey At The Bat" and dozens of other recitations, Bill is much in demand at banquets and social gatherings. The athletes call him "Rope-sole," and his reputation as an athletic trainer ranks right near the top of that field. Robertson originally is from Vancouver, B.C., but became an American citizen many years ago and has lived in the Pacific Northwest ever since. He served in the army in World War II, and saw duty in both Italy and the Aleutians. Bill is a graduate of OSU.

JOHN EGGERS, sports publicity director, recently observed his 15th anniversary on the athletic staff at OSU. He joined the staff on July 1, 1950, as an assistant to director Irwin Harris, and was moved up to the top spot on July 1, 1952. Eggers was born and raised in Pendleton, the "Round-Up City" of eastern Oregon. He was an all-state basketball player at Pendleton high, a prep teammate of Lew Beck who later went on to win all-America fame at OSU and play in the Olympic Games. Eggers played one varsity basketball season at Willamette while only a freshman before enlisting in the Navy for World War II. After discharge, he attended OSU from the fall of 1946 through 1949. Before returning to the OSU staff, he worked for one year as a sports writer on The Oregonian in Portland.

COMM HENNESSY, athletic ticket manager, is one of the hardest-working members of the OSU athletic department. He joined the staff Feb. 1, 1961, after serving nine years with the physical plant at Oregon State. The last three years were spent as an accountant for that department. Hennessy was born in Fontana, Kansas, but came west to Oregon in 1946. He has lived in Corvallis most of the time since. Comm is an extremely diligent worker and a top specialist in accounting or bookkeeping duties of any nature. As Jim Barratt's right-hand man, he also handles all ticket sales to free Barratt for more promotional administrative work.

BILL SEMON, football trainer, is now in his second year with the Beavers, following an experienced career. He graduated from Enumclaw, Washington high school, prior to three and one-half years in the Navy in World War II. Graduated from Central Washington State College and was trainer for all sports at Central for three years. Served as trainer for the Seattle Ramblers pro team eight years and one year was football trainer at Lewis & Clark College in Portland. Was on the staff at Stanford for a short period of time, before coming to OSU for the 1964 season. Semon is inventor of the patented Palmer Knee Brace used by professional, college and high school football players.

Oregon Forest Facts

The State of Oregon ranks No. 1 in the United States in standing timber and production of lumber, plywood and particle board. It has over 21 per cent of the nation's commercial timber volume. It produces 22 per cent of the nation's lumber and 55 per cent of its plywood.

Almost half of Oregon's 62 million acres are in forests (30 million acres). Of these, 26 million acres are classified as commercial forest land. The federal government controls about 15 million acres of the commercial forest land, the state and counties about 1 million acres and 10 million acres are held by some 36,000 private owners. The gross state forest product is valued in excess of $1.3 billion per year.

The forest industry employs about 75,000 full time workers each year. In 1964, they earned about $425 million. On addition, several thousand non-manufacturing workers derive their income directly or indirectly from the forest resources. Overall, forests account for almost 60 per cent of Oregon's economy.

In Benton County, where Oregon State University is located, 35 per cent of the total number of industrial persons employed derive their living from wood products. In Benton County, nearly 30 per cent of all income comes from forestry.

Oregon, indeed, is the "land of the tall timber."

10TH ANNUAL FAR WEST CLASSIC

PORTLAND, OREGON — DEC. 27, 28, 29, 30, 1965

Participating Teams: OSU, Oregon, WSU, Michigan, Air Force Academy, Stanford, Utah State

The 10th annual Far West Classic, rapidly becoming one of America's best holiday tournaments, will again be staged in Portland's Memorial Coliseum (Glass Palace) on December 27-28-29-30. Oregon State inaugurated the classic in 1956, and six years ago invited Oregon to serve as co-host for the annual affair.

CHANCELLOR'S TROPHY

In 1953, Dr. Charles D. Byrne, then-chancellor of higher education in the state of Oregon and an avowed sports fan, originated the Chancellor's Trophy to be awarded annually to winner of the basketball series between Oregon State University and the University of Oregon.

It was retired at the end of 11 years, with the team ahead in years won retaining permanent possession. In years where there were four games instead of three, and a tie resulted, the team that had won the season before retained the trophy for its showcase. New Chancellor Roy Lieuallen started a new trophy three years ago.

AAWU BASKETBALL EXCITEMENT TELECAST AGAIN

AAWU basketball, featuring the two-time NCAA Champion UCLA Bruins, again will be telecast this season over an expanded, six-state, 20-station Pacific Coast network.

Frank Sims will be at the "Game of the Week" mike for Sports Network Incorporated, producers of the weekly basketball telecast. The games will be beamed into Oregon, Washington, California, Nevada, Idaho and Montana.

All of the eight AAWU teams will be featured during the nine weeks of live action, with California and WSU kicking-off the series from Pullman Jan. 8. UCLA will be seen playing two top contenders for the AAWU crown they have now won or shared four straight years. The SNI cameras will show UCLA at Stanford Jan. 15 and at Oregon Feb. 19.

All games will be played at 2:30 p.m.

The complete schedule and the list of the stations on the network follows:

Jan. 8	California at WSU
Jan. 15	UCLA at Stanford
Jan. 22	OSU at Oregon
Jan. 29	Hawaii at Washington
Feb. 5	USC at Washington
Feb. 12	WSU at USC
Feb. 19	UCLA at Oregon
Feb. 26	OSU at WSU
Mar. 5	California at Stanford
