Stineff donates basket, photo of weaver, documentation of hop yard days

By Robert Kentta, Cultural Resources Director

Pat Stineff, retired principal of Sweet Home High School, recently was going through some things that her husband had acquired over the years. She thinks he bought a Siletz basket complete with documentation from a fundraiser in the Monmouth/Independence area. She decided that the purse basket and accompanying info belonged back with our Siletz people and brought it to Siletz on May 19.

Lena Butler-Powell, mother of Clares C. Powell, purchased baskets from Siletz members at the hop yards starting in about 1900. This particular basket, a nice purse basket in pristine condition, was possibly made by a weaver she referred to as "Old Annie" in a photo that was taken at that time, ca 1900-1915. Clares Powell apparently donated the basket to the fundraiser where Stineff's husband acquired it.

In a letter dated Sept. 22, 1975, Clares Powell wrote the following about the basket:

"This Indian basket is from my Mother's collection which she acquired from the Siletz Indians. Starting about 1900 she began trading apples plus cash for baskets which the Indians made. ...

The Siletz Indians came to the Independence vicinity each year, in the early fall to pick hops and usually camped on Ash Creek adjoining Monmouth on the north. ... It was a sort of vacation for them and a way to earn money from hop-picking as well as trading their handwork. ... My mother, Lena Butler Powell, made friends with them, one being "Old Annie" whose picture, taken with a glass negative is attached.

Clares C. Powell
Monmouth, Oregon"

On the back of the photo (which is of a robust, strong-featured older lady) it says:

"Old Annie the ("s" word we won't repeat here) has a painted chin (tattooed chin). The bandana is red, the dress dark calico, the big basket has small red stripes, the others are straw color."

We do not have a photo that seems to match the features of this weaver and now we're looking to narrow possible candidates. If your family has an Anne or Annie in the tree and she would have been about 65-75 years old in 1900-1915, was strong-featured and a weaver, we would be grateful if you had photos to compare with this image so we can positively

The past month has been busy for the Tribal Council with many activities taking place.

Chemawa Graduation

I attended the Chemawa graduation ceremony and it was very nice.

All students had been sent home prior to graduation and then the seniors were brought back for graduation day. The auditorium was filled with parents and relatives from all over the U.S. Congratulations to our Siletz graduates.

University of Oregon

Oregon Tribal chairmen and a guest were invited to a luncheon at the University of Oregon with the Dalai Lama.

It was historic for us as well as the university. It was a small luncheon with a much larger audience after lunch in the auditorium.

Tribal Day at the Capitol

The Oregon Tribes displayed their latest projects involving youth and culture at the State Capitol just prior to Gov. John Kitzhaber declaring Oregon Indian Week.

The governor signed the annual proclamation and then signed Senate Bill 3 relating to the membership of the Legislative Commission on Indian Services as representative Tribes looked on in the governor's office.

The Siletz Feather dancers performed in the rotunda and they were a big hit with the audience (see photos on page 14).

Each Tribe was given the opportunity to engage the audience in an activity. It was also a time to visit with our legislators and all others in the Capitol.

Siletz Legislation HR 931

The House Subcommittee on Natural Resources held a hearing on HR 931, the Siletz legislation that recognizes our 1855 treaty boundaries that will allow our Tribe to take land into trust within our original boundary under the on-reservation process. Currently, the process we must follow is under the off-reservation policy.

I testified before the committee. The Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) also testified in support of our legislation. The only opposition is the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde and the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw.

The committee members had no questions of me or my testimony.

The BIA testimony fully supports both our legislation and the Grand Ronde legislation as presented. It also responds to the issues both of those Tribes have raised. We look forward to the bill going to the full committee on Natural Resources soon.

The Grand Ronde legislation is currently being opposed by the Cowlitz Tribe of Washington and the Mohegan Tribe of Connecticut.

Solar panels installed at Tillicum Fitness Center to reduce electricity costs

Last month we wrote about the solar panels on the new carport in front of the Siletz Rec Center. This month we are happy to report that new solar panels have been installed on the roof of the Tillicum Fitness Center here in Siletz.

During Earth Week in April, the weather was sunny and clear and Benton Electric was hard at work installing the new solar panels and the inverter that will tie the produced power to the electrical grid.

The solar panels were purchased from SolarWorld, an Oregon-based company. The roof is outfitted with 32 solar panels that can produce about 9 kW of electricity. The panels are predicted to last for 20 years.

The panels will be grid-tied to the fitness center. This means any electricity that is produced will be measured and then used by the fitness center. If the fitness center uses more power than it produces, the power will be provided by the electric company as it usually is. If more power is produced than is needed, the electric company will buy it for someone else to use.

We anticipate the Tillicum Fitness Center's electric bill to decrease by up to 40 percent because of the electricity being generated by the solar panels. The bill has averaged $170 per month during the past four years. With the savings from this new solar electric installation, we can reduce the cost by about $70 per month and save the Tribe $840 per year.

We also will reduce 9 tons of CO2 emissions. This is equivalent to the electricity used by one home for a year or the gas used by two vehicles for a year.

Stay tuned for more solar to come. We next will install more panels and a solar wall on the roof of the Tillicum Fitness Center. Monitoring equipment will be available so you can watch the production of solar electricity as it happens from the comfort of your computer at home. The contractor also will offer some education opportunities to the community in the coming months.

The Siletz Tribal Energy Program (STEP), with funding from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), purchased these panels and paid the contractor to install them.

For more information, contact us toll free at 800-922-1399, ext. 1271 or 1300; or e-mail step@ctsi.nsn.us. Search for Siletz Tribal Energy Program on Facebook and "like" us for even more information and photos.

Time to gather materials for baskets

Hazel stick gathering is a must for anyone interested in making traditional Siletz baskets. Spruce root can be dug all year round and is used for the weavers or weft of Siletz baskets.

Bear grass and maidenhair fern are used for overlay to make our traditional designs or marks in our baskets and both are picked in late summer.

Tribal members interested in gathering can call Bud Lane at 800-922-1399, ext. 1320, or 541-444-8320, or e-mail budl@ctsi.nsn.us. Just a reminder – basket materials must be gathered in a timely fashion.

Here is a general breakdown of gathering times for different materials:

June

Hazel, willow and fir sticks (until mid-June); spruce roots

July

Fir sticks, spruce roots, bear grass, maidenhair fern

August

Fir sticks, spruce roots, bear grass, maidenhair fern, hazel sticks (limited), willow sticks

September

Bear grass, maidenhair fern, woodwardia fern, spruce roots

Graduates!

Gracie Arellano Maria Zendejas

Love from Grandma Lorna Martin,
Auntie Jackie and your mother Brenda

I would like to congratulate my granddaughters, Gracie Arellano and Maria Zendejas, for graduating from the Institute of Technology.

Gracie completed the medical administrative assistant program and Maria completed the medical assistant program. Congratulations, girls!

Michael Jackman

Michael Jackman has been actively participating in the 477 Self-Sufficiency Program (SSP) in Siletz and GED classes at Oregon Coast Community College.

He recently obtained his GED while at the same time recovering from an accident and collarbone injury. Michael's motivation and determination have now made him eager to begin college courses this summer.

SSP would like to congratulate him on overcoming a huge barrier with a Siletz Tribal Pendleton blanket and a $25 Fred Meyer incentive gift card.

We wish you the best of luck in your future and congratulations on your accomplishment.

niece, Cheyanne Jackman

Tooth Talk: Do you have time to learn all this? References are available

By Mary Ellen Volansky, EPDH, MS

It's that time of year, the month before Culture Camp. As usual, I will cover a topic related to the history of oral health among Pacific Northwest Indians.

Why is this important? Because cavities and gum disease were not a problem for Indians before the Europeans arrived and introduced processed foods and refined sugar. As for all pre-industrialized nations, the life people led and the foods they ate all helped maintain good oral health.

We could go back to the time when cavities and gum disease were scarce – if we had the time.

Today, we can buy a can of blueberries at the local store. At the butcher shop or grocery store, we can purchase meat cut and ready to cook. It takes time to hunt down an elk (plus remove the skin/fur, clean the inside and carry it to your kitchen to make cuts of meat).

Time is needed to hike to where berries or other plants (wild onions, mint) needed for cooking or medicines are located. Some plants need time to dry; others need more time after drying to be ground into flour.

Consider the time it takes to actually make a pie. Also consider the time needed to build the fire to cook the pie or roast the meat and the time needed for cooking.

Have you considered how you would know which plants can be made into flour? Do you know how to make a bow and arrow for hunting a deer or elk? Will you spend the time to learn?

If you make flour from a plant that doesn't taste good, you know not to try that again. How about if you make flour from a plant that induces diarrhea (elder) or another that causes vomiting (devils club)?

So many plants and so many symptoms – how did people begin to sort out the plants that caused diarrhea (broomrape) from those that treated constipation (salmon and thimbleberries) or those that eased pain (California poppy) from those that stopped bleeding (alfalfa)? Or those that helped (evening primrose) from those that ended life (poison and water hemlocks or wild cucumber)?

Besides the time it would take to learn which plants are helpful and which are not, time would be needed to determine what part of the plant is needed. Leaves (goldenrod), roots (camas) or stems (juniper) all can be used, not always from the same plant, yet many have several parts that are helpful (goldenrod and juniper). Some medicines used by Native people combined the leaves, stems or roots of multiple plants.

Now, say we know all the answers to the above, what plant and parts can be used and for what purpose. The next question is, what form of the plant is needed?

Would you want to take the plant as a tea or place it on a wound as a salve? Maybe breathe in the smoke (devils club) or inhale the steam from the plant in hot water? There are decoctions (plant and hot water mixture), infusion (tea) or others are just mashed and/or dried for consumption.

Which plants store well and which must be preserved in some way? Do you harvest the plant in the spring, summer or fall? Is there a traditional time for harvesting? You want to know these steps before you plan to use a plant.

You might need the plant in the middle of the night or in the middle of winter. If you need the flower of a plant, harvesting must be done with the coming year in mind, along with how much you might need during that time.

There is camas that has two varieties, one white and one blue, one helpful and one not. Not a problem you say, look at the flower. Consider that harvesting is done after blooming is complete toward the end of summer to allow the bulb/root to grow fully.

Once you learned which plant was the one you needed, what part of the plant you knew would help best and how to prepare the plant for use, you have one more step to take. And step is the word.

You probably would already have learned where it grows, so now you need to spend time walking or hiking to that area and carrying it home – chaparral (ocean spray or common dandelion) or grasslands (camas, white or blue?), on the coast (salal) or high desert (sage), maybe in the wetlands (cowparsnip or skunkcabbage).

The bark of a tree (Pacific yew) may have the ingredient you need for your uncle's cancer, but how would you prepare the bark to get the best effect? Smoke it? Brew tea or place the leaves in grease for applying directly to the affected area(s)?

This specific plant was used for malignancies by Indians and currently is being used by traditional medicine in the form of taxol for the same reason. Another American Indian plant also used for cancer treatment is May apple, in the form of etoposide phosphate.

When you know all the answers to these questions, you can call yourself an ethnobotanist. But remember, 31,566 kinds of plants were used by American Indians for food, medicine or drugs; fibers and dyes; hunting and fishing; and ceremonial practices.

This number refers to all the plants in North America including Canada, so not every Tribe used a plant (it didn't grow in that Tribe's region) nor did each Tribe use the same plant for the same purpose (lobelia was used by four different Tribes of people in North America for four separate and very different purposes).

Another aspect of all this is more difficult to present here, one I am even less knowledgeable about than ethnobotany. This would be the spiritual aspect of Indian medicine - the special or ritual steps used for harvesting, the specific aspect of collecting plant or plant parts and the prayers said before collection.

This spirituality is a very important aspect of medicine and health, Indian or not. And this knowledge cannot be found in a book or article of science on botany or chemistry.

So come by the Dental table at Culture Camp to learn about the scientific aspects of plants that have been used to treat dental problems, such as a sore lip or tongue or a toothache from a broken or worn tooth – and how Indians avoided cavities and gum disease. There will be pictures and write-ups on these aspects of ethnobotany and activities.

Important things to know about changing your mailing address

Where will my per capita be sent?

Per capita checks and minor trust updates are mailed to the same address as Siletz News.

Tribal members listed as a Missing Moccasin no longer receive mailings from the Tribe. An address update will be needed to start getting your mail.

How do I become a missing moccasin?

When your mail returns to the Tribe! When this happens, we mail Information Change forms to forwarding addresses reported by the postal service. We try to contact you by phone. We make every attempt to get an updated address from you. Tribal members whose mail returns repeatedly are reported as Missing Moccasins.

How do I update my address?

Contact the Enrollment Department right away to update your and your minor child(ren)'s information. You will need to provide your roll number or date of birth. For your security, information changes must be updated in writing and must include your signature.

A form to do this is available online on the Tribal website – ctsi.nsn.us. Click on Government Listings; click on Enrollment, then print out the Information Change form located on the right of the screen. This form can be returned via mail, e-mail or fax.

To receive the necessary form, you also can contact the Enrollment Department by phone at 541-444-8258 or 800-922-1399, ext. 1258; by e-mail at covas@ctsi.nsn.us; or by mail at P.O. Box 549, Siletz, OR 97380-0549.

Note: Be sure to sign your form. Your personal information cannot be changed without your signature, which Enrollment staff verifies.

Plan ahead!

Don't wait until the last minute to update your address with the Enrollment Department.

Your per capita check and minor trust updates could be delayed.

Walker receives NARA's Unsung Hero award for her support of children

On April 27, Polly Walker (AKA Miss Polly), Siletz Tribal Head Start teacher in Portland, Ore., was presented with an award from the Native American Rehabilitation Association (NARA) during a ceremony held at Chief Joseph Elementary.

She was nominated by a member of the NARA staff in February for The Unsung Hero award. The award is in honor of all in the American Indian community, as well as other communities, who work hard toward "supporting every child's mental health."

Polly Walker

Head Start is accepting applications

by Lori Jay-Linstrom, Parent Involvement Coordinator

Siletz Tribal Head Start currently is accepting applications for children who will be age 3 or 4 on or before Sept. 1.

If you have not received an application and would like one sent to you, please call 800-922-1399 or 541-444-2532 and ask for Head Start. We would love for you to apply.

Once you receive your application, please fill it out and return it with all required documentation as soon as possible. Please don't wait until school is just about to start as our slots fill up fast and we want to serve as many Tribal families as possible.

This Head Start program offers a developmentally appropriate and American Indian culturally relevant preschool experience. It has highly qualified and professional staff.

Our program supports the individual growth of each child and offers activities to promote children's physical, social-emotional, language and cognitive development.

The program also extends services to support the families of the children enrolled and offers parent skill-building activities and family support services that are responsive to their needs.

Siletz Tribal Head Start has classrooms in Siletz, Lincoln City, Portland and Salem.

World Elder Abuse June 15, 2013 Awareness Day

What is Elder Abuse?

In general, elder abuse refers to intentional or neglectful acts by a caregiver or “trusted” individual that lead to, or may lead to, harm of a vulnerable elder. Physical abuse; neglect; emotional or psychological abuse; verbal abuse and threats; financial abuse and exploitation; sexual abuse; and abandonment are considered forms of elder abuse. In many states, self-neglect is also considered mistreatment.

Types of Elder Abuse

- Physical abuse - Use of force to threaten or physically injure a vulnerable elder
- Emotional abuse - Verbal attacks, threats, rejection, isolation, or belittling acts that cause or could cause mental anguish, pain, or distress to a senior
- Sexual abuse - Sexual contact that is forced, tricked, threatened, or otherwise coerced upon a vulnerable elder, including anyone who is unable to grant consent
- Exploitation - Theft, fraud, misuse or neglect of authority, and use of undue influence as a lever to gain control over an older person’s money or property
- Neglect - A caregiver’s failure or refusal to provide for a vulnerable elder’s safety, physical, or emotional needs
- Abandonment - Desertion of a frail or vulnerable elder by anyone with a duty of care
- Self-neglect - An inability to understand the consequences of one’s own actions or inaction, which leads to, or may lead to, harm or endangerment

What Should I Do if I Suspect Elder Abuse?

Report Your Concerns.

Most cases of elder abuse go undetected.

Don’t assume that someone has already reported a suspicious situation.

New Native veterans memorial legislation will 'make memorial a reality'

Bill ensures flexibility for NMAI to help complete memorial

WASHINGTON – The National Congress of American Indians (NCAI) announced May 23 that it supports new legislation introduced by Sen. Brian Schatz of Hawaii to clarify the Native American Veterans' Memorial Establishment Act of 1994, amending the bill to allow for the completion of the long-standing project.

The project has encountered a number of obstacles since the legislation's passage, including limitations placed on the involvement of the National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI). The new language removes a number of technical barriers that have hindered completion and allows for the memorial to be built adjacent to NMAI, not inside the museum as originally proposed. Additionally, NMAI would be able to participate in raising funds for the effort.

"It is essential that we fulfill Sen. (Daniel) Inouye and Indian Country's vision for a memorial to honor the service and sacrifice of our Native American service members. NCAI supports the amendments to the Native American Veterans' Memorial Establishment Act of 1994, which will make the memorial a reality and allow for it to be built on the property of the National Museum of the American Indian," said Jefferson Keel, president of NCAI and a decorated veteran.

"Most importantly, this bill allows for more flexibility for Tribal nations and the United States to work together to honor the contributions and sacrifices of American Indian, Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian military service members and veterans," continued Keel. "As a Native veteran myself, I look forward to the day my fellow veterans are recognized for their contributions to protecting the sovereignty of Tribal nations and the United States."

According to a 2012 report released by the Department of Veterans Affairs:

- More than 154,000 veterans identify themselves as solely American Indian and Alaska Native.
- More than 44,000 American Indians served between 1941 and 1945. The entire population of American Indians in the United States was less than 350,000 at the time,

- More than 42,000 American Indians served in the military in the Vietnam era and more than 90 percent of these service members were volunteers.

About the National Congress of American Indians

Founded in 1944, the National Congress of American Indians is the oldest, largest and most representative American Indian and Alaska Native organization in the country.

NCAI advocates on behalf of Tribal governments and communities, promoting strong Tribal-federal government-to-government policies and a better understanding among the general public regarding American Indian and Alaska Native governments, people and rights.

Over-income grant program ready to accept applications for drawing

The Over-Income Rehabilitation Construction program funds over-income families with a $5,000 grant for construction rehabilitation on the primary residence they own or families who have possessor rights to their home.

Rehabilitation refers to repairs or renovations to the home, but does not include appliances, saunas, hot tubs, swimming pools, driveways, fences, etc.

Over-Income refers to Tribal members whose income exceeds the income limits set by the Native American Housing Assistance and Self-Determination Act (NAHASDA) as listed below:

1	2	3	Base4	5	6	7	8
$36,064	$41,216	$46,368	$51,520	$55,642	$59,763	$63,885	$68,006

If you are a Siletz Tribal member and have not received an over-income grant, call the Housing office to request an application.

Applications, including proof of current annual income, enrollment and proof of homeownership with the Tribal member's name on it, must be submitted to the Housing office by July 31, 2013, at 4:30 p.m. Applications received after that date and time will not be accepted by the Siletz Tribal Housing Department.

Qualified applicants will be placed in the lottery drawing, which will be held during August on a date approved by the Tribal Council. If you have any questions, please call Jeanette Aradoz at 800-922-1399, ext. 1316, or 541-444-8316.

USDA distribution dates for June

Tuesday	June 18	9 a.m. – 6:30 p.m.
Wednesday	June 19	9 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.

We have another busy month in June where it will be next to impossible to catch up with us. We will distribute in Siletz during the first week of the month, attend our national conference during the second week and distribute in Salem during the third week.

We then are closed for inventory at the Salem site on June 20 and have June 21 off. We will return to the Siletz warehouse the last week of the month, but are closed for distribution on June 27-28 for inventory and end-of-the-month reports.

I found a recipe for fried apple pies online at the Granny Bunt Bakery Mix site. I made them at both warehouses for our clients to try, with a few of my own additions. Everybody loved them and they are so easy to make.

Fried Apple Raisin Pies

*Bakery mix	*9 apples (medium)
*½ cup water	*½ tsp cinnamon
*¼ tsp salt	*1 cup sugar
*½ can applesauce	*Cornstarch thickener
1 cup raisins

- Peel and slice apples, put them in a kettle with the water, cinnamon, salt and sugar. Cook until apples are tender, add the raisins and applesauce. Mash with a potato masher and set aside until cool.
- Make up dough for biscuits according to directions on the bakery mix bag. Pinch off a 1-1½" piece of the dough and flatten it on a dusted pastry board. Knead and roll it out very thin. Put 2 tablespoons of the cooked fruit mixture in the center, fold dough over and press edges with a fork.
- Place 2-3 pies in hot oil and cook until golden brown on both sides.
- Drain on paper towels and enjoy.

Important information, deadlines for the college-bound Tribal senior

June

- Tribal higher education and adult vocational training applications are due June 30!
- Attend graduation – congratulations!
- Arrange for your final grades to be sent to colleges and universities.
- Good luck!

Do you plan to apply for Tribal education funds?

Some requirements and deadlines to keep in mind

1. The once-a-year annual deadline for funding is June 30 (for funding for the upcoming fall semester or academic year).
2. Students must apply for FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) at fafsa.ed.gov between Jan. 1-31 each year. Your application for Tribal funding will not be accepted if you do not meet this deadline.

Thank you, Boosters!

Thank you for your hard work and dedication to Siletz sports. The donation of these starting blocks will allow us to be competitive against other schools. Additionally, the blocks will help our athletes feel like they belong at meets, and that their school cares about them and their success.

We have had several close calls with starting blocks, and not having enough at the starting line.

Your generous donation will ensure that Siletz athletes are always prepared to do their best!

We are also excited to use our indoor starting blocks down the main hallway. Although, we are definitely enjoying the nice weather, the indoor blocks will provide a wonderful alternative to trying to use blocks on the slippery grass in the rain.

Your donations will allow Siletz Track and Field student-athletes to be competitive now, and into the future.

Thank you for supporting Siletz athletics!

Sincerely,

Emily McMillin

Meet Linda Woods, she served in the US Air Force 1962 - 1966 and received her Honorable Discharge. Last year she was gifted with an eagle head and created an eagle staff for female veterans. The staff is a healing staff with feathers that came to Linda from all over and represent women in recovery, for women recovering from abuse of all kinds, physical, sexual assault, domestic violence, women who are two spirit, for women who have carried children with FAS and women with FAS and more.

Vocational rehabilitation advisory committee recruiting for members

The Siletz Tribal Vocational Rehabilitation Program (STVRP) is seeking individuals from the community to participate on our advisory committee. If you have an interest in working with passionate employees who provide services to individuals with disabilities, please inquire.

Are you an educator, social worker, counselor, advisor, state partner or in the medical field? Do you have a disability or a family member with a disability? If so, we'd like you to be part of our committee.

STVRP is a program that serves as an employment resource for Tribal members with disabilities who have a strong desire to be employed. Through a strength-based approach to employment readiness, this program helps clients find their strengths and build strong foundations for lasting and productive employment.

Similar to other programs of the Siletz Tribe, we offer services within the 11-county service area to qualifying Tribal members with a documented disability. Examples of the services we can provide (but are not limited to) include:

- Employment Services
- Portfolio Building and Résumé Writing
- Guidance Counseling
- Job Development
- Job Training

- Job Coaching
- Addressing and Eliminating Barriers to Employment
- Culturally Relevant Services for Rehabilitation
- Mental, Educational and Physical Health Assessments

As a new functioning program in the Tribal community, we will provide updates about the program with a variety of information and success stories.

To learn more about the STVRP, please call Angie Butler or Fawn Young at 503-390-9494. You also can check out our Jobs and Resources board.

23 Tribes receive USFS Tribal Wildlife Grants for conservation projects

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service announced May 23 its Tribal Wildlife Grants awards to American Indian Tribes in 14 states to fund a wide range of conservation projects.

More than $60 million has gone to Tribes through this program since 2003, providing support for more than 360 conservation projects administered by participating federally recognized Tribes.

These grants provide technical and financial assistance for development and implementation of projects that benefit fish and wildlife resources and their habitats, including non-game species.

The grants have enabled Tribes to develop increased management capacity, improve and enhance relationships with partners, address cultural and environmental priorities and heighten Tribal students' interest in fisheries, wildlife and related fields of study. Some grants have been awarded to support recovery efforts for threatened and endangered species.

The grants are provided exclusively to federally recognized Indian Tribal governments. Proposals for the 2014 grant cycle are due Sept. 3, 2013.

For more information about American Indian conservation projects and the Tribal Wildlife Grants application process, visit fws.gov/nativeamerican/grants.html.

Over a hundred years ago Black Elk had a vision of the time when Indian People would heal from the devastating effects of European migration. In his vision the Sacred Hoop which had been broken, would be mended in seven generations.

The children born into this decade will be the seventh generation.

Vet rep asks Tribal veterans to call in: All Siletz Tribal veterans are asked to call Tony Molina, Honor Guard director and Tribal veterans representative, to verify their DD214s and enrollment numbers so he can process their names to be placed on the Veterans Memorial on Government Hill.

Molina can be reached at 541-444-8330 or 800-922-1399, ext. 1330.

Siletz veterans office open daily: Tony Molina is available for all Siletz Tribal veterans. He is in the Tribal administration building in Siletz on Monday-Friday to help you get information for your VA benefits. Additionally, he needs your help to update our veterans’ roster, especially for those currently serving. See below for contact information.

From our veterans representative, Tony Molina: All of our veterans and families can call me 24/7 at home at 541-444-2828 or on my cell at 541-272-2818. This will help since I’m only in the office part-time. My office number is 541-444-8330 or 800-922-1399, ext. 1330. I thank all of our veterans for their service to our nation.

Fireworks, special float drop, live music help celebrate 18th anniversary

Chinook Winds Casino Resort celebrates its 18th anniversary June 21-23 and this fun-filled weekend includes fireworks, free live music, cake and a special float drop by the Visitor Center Float Fairies.

Josh Turner will perform June 21-22 to a sold-out showroom. Much More Country will perform free both evenings at Chinook's Seafood Grill Lounge located at the hotel.

Cake will be served in the lobby of the casino June 22 starting at 1 p.m. until it's gone. In addition to tasty treats, fireworks start that evening at 10:15.

The Lincoln City Visitor Center's Float Fairies will hide antique and new floats on the beach in front of the casino property June 22-23 for float hunting enthusiasts.

Turner concerts feature songs from new album

As a family man, philanthropist, devoted Christian and passionate sports fan, you might say Turner's commitments run as deep as his voice. Of course, he's also a double-platinum-selling singer, songwriter and disciple of traditional country music, a mentor to up-and-coming artists – and one of the youngest members of the Grand Ole Opry.

All of those layers influence Turner's new album, Punching Bag. His fifth for MCA Nashville, the album is a collection of bluegrass-influenced barnburners, lonesome laments and the slow and steady love ballads on which his trademark baritone excels.

The follow-up to 2010's Haywire, which yielded the No. 1 hits Why Don't We Just Dance and All Over Me, Punching Bag represents Turner in fighting shape. Throughout all 11 songs, he exhibits new range in both his voice and his songwriting. He wrote eight of the record's 11 tracks, including the rollicking title song that set the tone for the entire project.

To the editor:

A special thank you to the Siletz Tribal Charitable Contribution Fund for its donation of $500 to Siletz Grad Night 2013 for a drug- and alcohol-free graduation party.

Sincerely,

To the editor:

Thank You, Siletz Valley Fire Department

On behalf of the Siletz Tribe, I would like to thank Gene Fisher, fire chief, for hosting the Community Health Department's Car Seat Clinic on April 18, 2013, at the fire station on Buford Ave. We appreciate you advertising this important event on your new message board.

Thank you to each and every one of the fire department volunteers: Diane Tische, Gail Johnson, Spencer Hatch, Sarah Wiley and Nick Rivera.

Upon my arrival at the fire station that morning, Gene and his volunteer crew were waiting outside to greet me. They had already moved the fire trucks out of the bays and had parked them close by.

The enthusiastic volunteers asked what they could do to help. They assisted with setting up tables and supplies, attended a brief orientation so they would know what to expect, set up traffic cones and directed traffic flow to ensure safety, worked as greeters to welcome families and share information, and were close at hand to provide support to the CPS technicians while they were inspecting individual car seats.

When the event was over, they assisted with packing up. Their work was stellar and the event would not have been as successful without their help. Thank you for partnering with us to ensure that child safety seats are used correctly.

Please watch your local newspaper for the next Car Seat Clinic in Siletz. The purpose of the car seat checkup event is to provide an education service, not an installation service. Parents and caregivers are educated on the proper use and installation of child safety seats. The knowledge gained from the CPS inspection experience is meant to empower parents and caregivers to properly install and use an appropriate child safety seat for his or her child.

Deepstacks Poker Tour returns to Oregon; Chinook Winds will host state poker championships

18-event series has a $1,100 buy-in, $150,000 guarantee main event

HOLLYWOOD – Already considered the premier gaming property in Oregon, Chinook Winds Casino Resort has extended its partnership with the DeepStacks Poker Tour (DSPT), poker's fastest-growing tournament circuit, to offer another great event for poker players.

The 2013 DeepStacks Poker Tour Oregon State Poker Championships (OSPC) runs Oct. 27-Nov. 4 and features two starting days and newly added mixed games to offer more variety during the series.

The OSPC already has drawn commitments from poker champions Michael "The Grinder" Mizrachi, Tristan "Cre8ive" Wade and Randal Flowers. Female poker pro Jennifer "Jennicide" Leigh also will participate.

In addition to the guaranteed prize pool, the winner of the OSPC wins a seat into the DSPT World Championship at Mohegan Sun in Connecticut in December.

"It has always been a goal of ours to establish the DeepStacks Poker Tour in the Pacific Northwest," said DeepStacks CEO Chris Torina. "The PacWest series was extremely successful for us, so we felt Chinook Winds was the right fit in the Oregon market not only for 2013, but for many years to come."

"Chinook Winds Casino Resort continues to offer the best poker action in Oregon and our continuing partnership with DeepStacks allows us to further enhance the poker experience for our customers," said Eric Smileuske, director of marketing at Chinook Winds. "With more stars, more events and a $150,000 guaranteed main event, the OSPC will most certainly become the premier event in this state."

About DeepStacks Poker Tour

The DeepStacks Poker Tour is a nationally televised, international tournament series focused on increasing player fields and prize pools through pro player participation, great structures and quality television and live-stream programming.

Integrated with the industry's premier poker brand, DeepStacks, the tour is designed to reach a mainstream demographic, utilizing its strong casino partnerships and comprehensive marketing campaigns to fuel the growth of its tournaments.

DeepStacks Poker Tour is the exclusive national poker tour partner of Mohegan Sun with two annual events per year, including the DSPT World Championship.

Volunteer Wanda Hesse checks in books from the book depository for the librarian. Without the liability insurance, this would not be allowed. Thank you STCCF!

To the editor:

Thanks to the Siletz Tribal Charitable Contribution Fund

The Siletz Valley Friends of the Library is writing this letter to express our appreciation for the Siletz Tribal Charitable Contribution Fund grant number 13-3229 in the amount of $800. These monies enable the Siletz Valley Friends of the Library to purchase yearly liability insurance for volunteers who work in the library building and on the adjacent grounds the library sits on.

Our volunteers are a necessary part of keeping our mission statement: "The purpose of the Siletz Valley Friends of the Library is to promote growth and quality of the library, to participate in selected projects benefiting Siletz and the surrounding area and to raise money to assist with the continued maintenance of the library."

Through our volunteer efforts and thanks to the help of STCCF, we have now raised the money to have the exterior of the library painted.

Again, the Siletz Valley Friends of the Library sincerely appreciate having received the Siletz Tribal Charitable Contribution Fund grants. Having the opportunity to use volunteers on the library property would not have happened without the support of the STCCF. Without the support of the STCCF, our plan for painting the building would not have come to fruition.

Sincerely,
Audrey Casper
