The Chancellor's Greeting

To all former students returning to "Oregon State" and to all of you young people who are now entering the institution for the first time, I extend a cordial greeting, with sincere wishes for a happy and successful year.

W. J. KERR,
Chancellor.

Fred Saling, Pres. Associated Students

The next four years will be important cogs in preparing you for your future life as an American citizen. College has become an outstanding period in the lives of many Americans and we can see that you desire to succeed in life through choosing Oregon State as your Alma Mater.

Oregon State College is full of ideals and traditions. It is up to you through all of your years as students to keep up these ideals. In the first year at college you have an excellent chance to prepare yourself to carry on these ideals and traditions when you supplant the present upperclassmen. Here you have excellent opportunities to take part in many different activities and at the same time get one of the most thorough educations that may be had in any institution of higher learning in the land.

Traditions

Oregon State is a college of ideals—ideals of character, honesty, courage, and fair play. Upon these principles are the traditions of the institution built. No college is stronger than its ideals; and all colleges are revered and loved because of traditions based on high ideals.

Conduct Traditions

Pride in the campus censors the practice of walking on the grass.

Smoking on the campus is prohibited by one of the oldest, most rigorously observed traditions.

Every student is expected to attend athletic events, but there shall be no "fussing"; that is, he shall not accompany a young lady to the games.

Rooks must wear their green hats at all times, and rookesses their green ribbons on the scheduled days.

At athletic contests all students always stay until the event is finished.

All men students remove their hats in buildings.

Class Traditions

Seniors

The Class Gifts

The custom for each departing class to leave a gift that will enrich the campus started with the class of 1901.

The large silver poplar tree, between the administration building and science hall was used as a gathering place for students. The class of 1901 placed a large granite stone under the tree to hallow the surrounding ground so that only seniors could tread the grass under the old sentinel, now known as the trysting tree.

The class of 1902 left the lady of the fountain at the eastern entrance to the campus. The lady was stolen but later found in Portland. It was returned to the college and securely placed in position only to be completely demolished by vandals in the fall of 1928.

A Word From the Beaver Knights

Ray Janz, Duke

The Beaver Knight chapter of Intercollegiate Knights is an underclassmen's honorary service organization which acts as a "pep and tradition" committee for the college. The order is authorized by the constitution of the Associated Students and sanctioned by the college administration.

The object of the organization is to instruct the freshman in songs, yells, and traditions of the college which must be upheld in order to have true Oregon State spirit; to receive and entertain visiting teams; to help with campus traffic; and to function at all college events such as athletic contests, convocations, and receptions.

The student council, backed by the administration, encourages the work done by the Beaver Knights. The method of instruction of traditions and the method of punishment of offenders may at times seem harsh and unnecessary, but it is the sort of discipline that experience has shown most effective.

You are required to carry this "Rook Bible" at all times. The schedule in the back must be filled in completely in ink. Be sure that you receive credit for all work done, duties fulfilled, convocations and rook dances attended.

You are required to memorize the following information and be ready to recite when called upon by any Beaver Knight.

Homecoming

Homecoming week-end occurs at the time of the Oregon football game each year. The campus is appropriately decorated for the return of alumni, and the entire college commu-ity turns out for a rapid-moving program headed by student cheer leaders.

Annual inspection day occurs on a regular drill day in the third term. The R.O.T.C. unit is reviewed by military and civil authorities.

Awarding of honor prizes and announcements of honor organization pledgings occurs on Phi Kappa Phi day in May.

Campus Week-end is outstanding in that it is the time when freshmen are allowed to discard their "lids", the sophomores don cords, juniors cultivate embryo mustaches, and seniors realize that they are near-alumni. The rook-soph tug-of-war, burning of the green, junior breakfast, junior follies, are popular attractions.

A number of social events have become traditional on the campus. During fall quarter the freshmen have their fling with the Rook dance and Freshman mix. Sophomore Cotillion, Junior Prom and Military ball usher in the all college formal season during winter term while the Co-ed ball and Senior ball climax the social events in the spring.

Co-op Book Store

The Co-op book store is owned and controlled by the students of the Oregon State college and operated under the supervision of a board of directors consisting of seven students and two faculty members.

The board meets at the discretion of the president and transacts all business pertaining to the efficient operation of the store. A manager is chosen, under the articles of association, whose duty it is to operate the store on a business basis under the direction of the board.

Any vacancy caused by the withdrawal of a member is filled by the board, six of whom constitute a quorum. The term of office is one school year.

Members of the co-op board are Kenneth Munford, president; Hayden Whitehouse, vice-president; Ruth DeArmond, secretary; and Charles Prah, Edwin McLaughlin, Stanley Thompson, Vernon Warren, Dean G. W. Peavy and Dr. W. J. Gilmore.

Inter-collegiate Independents Association

Oregon State college, one of the first to organize its non-fraternity and non-sorority students, has one of the strongest and largest organizations of its kind in existence. Four years ago it became a charter member of the inter-college organization.

Governed by the Independent Student council, the association aims to provide social and athletic ideals. It attempts to direct the lives of its members into those channels which aid them in their collegiate and business careers. Lasting friendships result from the close acquaintanceships formed during college days.

Students not members of a fraternity or sorority automatically become members of the association. Upon payment of a small fee they are listed as active members.

The association is divided into four divisions: the women's hall, Phrateres club, men's halls, and Rosswood clubs. Last year's membership listed over half of the students on the campus.

Honor Societies

Any student receiving the distinction of election to any honorary society is looked upon with approving eyes by college authorities and students who are working toward that same goal. Election to "honorarys" is based on excellence in scholarship, leadership, personality, and efficiency in a particular subject. Only a limited number of the student body is chosen yearly for membership. The fact that most of these societies are national in scope, with chapters in the leading colleges and universities and with uniformly high standards for membership, makes election to one a distinction highly prized. It is important that each new incoming student realize the importance and significance of such organizations from the beginning of the college year—freshman week. To "make an honorary," a few don'ts may be helpful.

Don't be afraid to study.

Don't put off until the week end what is to be studied today.

Don't be a know-all, but rather cultivate a pleasing personality.

Don't be a high-brow; encourage the "hello" spirit.

Don't wait for someone else to go ahead.

Don't give up.

The following list include honorary organizations to which both men and women are eligible for membership. Other honor societies are listed in their respective sections.

Delta Sigma Rho—Forensics.

Kappa Delta Pi—Education.

Kappa Kappa Alpha—Art.

Mu Beta Beta—4-H club work.

National Collegiate Players—Drama.

Phi Kappa Phi—Scholastic.

Rho Chi—Pharmacy.

Pi Mu Epsilon—Mathematics.

Sketch of Oregon State

In 1862 Congress appropriated 90,000 acres of land to the state of Oregon, on condition that a state college should be in operation in 1867.

The destiny of Oregon State might have been changed had it not been for the generosity of the South Methodists in donating their church building as the first "Temple of Learning."

This simple old structure served as the entire college for many years, for in 1867 there were but 20 students registered.

In 1868 "Corvallis College" was designated as the State Agricultural college by the state legislature which definitely confirmed it as a national and state institution in 1885.

In 1887 Benton county gave 35 acres of land to insure the permanent location of the college at Corvallis, and in this same year the citizens of Benton county laid the cornerstone for the present administration building.

At this time only four courses were taught, agriculture, general science, mechanical arts, and household science.

In 1899 only a limited number of students could take advantage of gratuitous education, only one being chosen from each senatorial and representative district.

By way of comparison, the college has grown from main courses with five instructors and 20 students in 1867, to 10 degree-granting schools including more than 60 departments, approximately 400 instructors and over 5000 students. Oregon State includes in its enrollment representatives from every county in Oregon, from 18 states, and from nine territories and foreign countries.

In accomodations the college has developed from one building and 35 acres of land in 1885, to 43 substantial buildings and 499 acres of land in 1930.

The College

The resident instruction division is but one of the three main divisisons of college work. The other divisions include the research and the extension service.

The State Board of Higher Education

The general government of the college is vested primarily in the state board of higher education which supplants the old board of regents. Under its control are four other administrative bodies, the administrative council, the college council, the faculty, and the staffs of the experiment station and extension service.

The administrative council determines all questions dealing with policy and administration; the college council considers all matters pertaining to educational work, including courses, requirements for admission, and graduation; the college faculty considers questions of methods and discipline.

Members are: Hon. C. L. Starr, Hon. B. F. Irvine, Hon. E. C. Sammons, Hon. F. E. Callister, Hon. C. A. Brand, Hon. George B. McLeod, Hon. C. C. Colt, Hon. Herman Oliver, and Hon. Cornelia Marvin Pierce.

Alumni Association

About 1920 the alumni association was re-organized. Plans were worked out whereby a permanent secretary might head the work. Branch organizations were formed in all sections of the state, and the interest of the incoming graduates was enlisted. That efficient cooperation was secured is well proved by the effective way in which the alumni responded in the successful passage of the millage bill and in support of the Memorial Union fund.

Success in any line cannot be gained without financial support. Every graduate is given the opportunity to become a part of the organization by one of three ways: By paid up life membership, life membership to be paid by installments, or by payment of yearly dues. In return he is given the right to active participation in the organization, a subscription to the "Oregon State Monthly," published monthly, and admission to the alumni luncheon and dance held each year during the Commencement week on the campus.

The alumni association is the medium by which Oregon State men and women keep in touch with their Alma Mater.

Board of directors of the alumni association are Charles H. Reynolds, president; Don W. Holgate, vice-president; Arthur K. Berman, treasurer; David A. Wright, Kenneth C. Poole, E. C. Allworth, secretary.

The Memorial Union

"The Memorial Union, dedicated to the service and inspiration of the living and to the memory of our immortal dead."

The Memorial Union is a student service building that houses various undergraduate activity groups and the alumni organization, supplies banquet and cafeteria rooms, fountain service, offers facilities for student body dances, has a stage for plays, houses the co-op store, has lounging rooms for faculty and students with special rooms for men and for women, has trophy rooms, and in general serves as a center for student life.

The Union has been made possible through contributions made by students, alumni, faculty, and other friends of the college. Costing more than a half million dollars, it stands as an example of classic magnificence in architecture, a silent tribute to our soldier dead, and a lasting inspiration to the living generation on the campus.

The idea for a memorial was first formed by a few students who, following the world war, sought some means by which the college could honor its war dead. The student union building was considered a more fitting memorial than a monument, since it would, through its service, inspire and aid as well as remind.

Enthusiasm for the plan was immediately evidenced by students and alumni alike. Enthusiastic drives following the perfection of the architectural plans, drawn by an Oregon State alumnus, netted enough pledges to start construction. The site for the union was dedicated in 1926 and ground was broken for construction in the spring of 1927. The cornerstone was laid Alumni day, June 2, 1928.

The ground floor includes the ball room which has a stage at one end, so that the great room may be converted into a showhouse. It may also be used as a banquet hall for large assemblages. The kitchens, cafeteria, and fountain are all located on the ground floor.

The next is a mezzanine floor with a beauty parlor, checking, and rest rooms at the west end, The east end contains the co-op store, a barber shop, and a ticket office.

Above the mezzanine is the first or main floor which contains the main concourse, the central lounge room, with a smaller separate lounge for women students at the west end and for men at the east end. Various student, alumni, and building offices are also on this floor.

The second floor has trophy rooms and office rooms for various campus organizations. A balcony runs around three sides of the main lounge. At the west end is the women's faculty lounge room.

Honor fraternities, publications, among which are the Daily Barometer, the Beaver, the Monthly, the Directory, and the Technical Record; graduate manager's department, various clubs, athletic news bureau, Associated Women students, and alumni association are among the groups housed in the Union.

Executive control of the Memorial Union is vested in two boards. The board of governors has charge of finances and construction and is composed of four alumni, one regent, and two student members. The board of directors has charge of the building's activities. It is composed of four student members, one faculty, and one alumni member, and graduate manager. The general manager is appointed by the board of governors. He is responsible for all financial affairs of the Memorial Union and the orderly management of the building, and has charge of all employees.

Board of Governors, Memorial Union: R. Earl Riley, '12, chairman; Roy R. Clark, '09; E. E. Wilson, '89; F. E. Callister, F. E. Price, '22; Kenneth Emery, '34; Sidney Lathrop, '34.

The Board of Directors, Memorial Union, consists of Kenneth Emery, president; Dorothy Ann Sidler, Warren Reid, Fred Saling, Carl Lodell, G. V. Copson, and J. F. Porter.

The Associated Students

This is an organization of the entire student body working under a constitution and by-laws approved by the faculty, and having general authority over all student body enterprises. Officers are elected annually, nominations and elections being conducted in a manner similar to that of the state electorate. The officers consist of a president and secretary chosen from the senior class, and three vice-presidents, chosen one each from senior, junior, and sophomore classes. The president, first vice-president, secretary, and senior and junior members of the board of control constitute the executive committee of the student body and have general supervision of all affairs of interest to the student body.

The Student Interests Committee

The student interests committee is composed of the president of the Associated Students, editor of the Barometer, president of the Independent Student Council, president of the Interfraternity Council, president of Pan-Hellenic Council, president of the Associated Women students, the dean of women, the dean of men, chairman of scholastic committee, chairman of the housing committee, and the director of physical education. This committee is designated to look after those interests of the students which are not strictly academic in character. It assists in working out student social problems. It helps to maintain a wholesome relationship between clubs and fraternities and the college. It is prepared to assist student organizations in all their financial dealings. In short the committee strives to bring about those conditions which will make the student's college life of the greatest profit to him.

Class Organization

Each class is fully organized with its class officers and its committees, the class dues, as provided in the constitution of the Associated Students, being a compulsory tax collected as part of the regular registration fee. The money so obtained is used to defray class expenses and to buy a gift for the college upon graduation of the class.

Officers are chosen by popular vote, each class voting for its own officers only. Those elected for this year include the following:

Student Publications

The Oregon State Barometer

Warren Reid Editor
Dick Brown Manager

In March, 1896, the literary societies of the college began the publication of a monthly periodical, the "O. A. C. Barometer." The enterprise met with deserved success and "the organ of the student body" is now issued as a four-page eight-column daily except Sunday and Monday. It publishes the news of the college and is of general public importance as representing the interests, character, and accomplishments of the student body at the college.

By action of the board of regents, resulting from an unanimous recommendation of the student body, a portion of the regular student body fee is devoted to the "Barometer," and every student regularly receives the paper.

Dean Jameson's Greeting

On behalf of the Associated Students of Oregon State College, I welcome you to the campus. In these days of financial stress, all college students are fortunate. As you budget your expenses, may I advise you to budget your time also. More students by far fail in college by wasting time than any other one thing. By spending your time wisely and choosing your friends carefully, you will come to Commencement Day with no regrets.

fully, you will come with no regrets.

Margaret Zimmerman, Pres., A. W. S.

To the Women Students of Oregon State:

You are now a student of one of the outstanding institutions of higher learning in the West, and it is up to you to conduct yourself accordingly as you take your part in the life of this institution. Years have been spent in building up the ideals and traditions of Oregon State, and the help and cooperation of everyone is necessary in furthering these important parts of college life.

You are fortunate to have found it possible to receive a higher education, and because of this it is all the more necessary to make your time count in all you do. Cultivate friendships, remembering that this in itself is one of the most vital things you can gain from college.

Associated Women Students

Associated Women Students is the name given the organization to which every woman belongs when she enrolls at Oregon State. Five officers, elected in the spring of each year, form the executive group.

No one organization can hope to meet the varied interests of all the women. There are those interested in dramatics, athletics, journalism, social service, international, social and economic affairs, dance and music. Because many women are engaged in each of these, clubs have been formed such as the Women's Athletic Association and the Y. W. C. A.

Because A. W. S. means all women, it also means all women's organizations. For example, one might consider Associated Women Students as a wheel. The spokes would represent groups of women with common interests, joined at the center of a common ideal or purpose. Binding all together, like the tire of a wheel, is the executive council, with its spirit of democracy, of sportsmanship and of loyalty characteristic of O. S. C. And all of these units and this spirit taken together, make up that all-inclusive group—A. W. S.

Since five officers cannot adequately represent the interests of all women, a council composed of these officers and the vice-presidents of women's organizations was formed. It is hoped that not only will valuable friendships be formed, but that each member will carry back to her own group a little clearer the idea of what all women will be striving for during the year, and how each individual organization can carry forward toward that larger goal.

Associated Women Students of O. S. C.

The rim of the wheel is the executive council composed of the five officers of A. W. S., and the vice-president of each organization. The spokes are the women's organizations which support the hub, or common aim, of each group.

Kinlani lodge is a cabin near the headwaters of Mary's river about seven miles west of the College campus. It is surrounded by beautiful woods, ferns and wild flowers in the spring and is a popular place for co-eds to gather for picnics and outings.

Kinlani Lodge

The cabin is owned by the Associated Women Students, and so every woman is always welcome there. You will find a huge fireplace with an old-fashioned crane and kettle in one side of the rustic living room. A fully equipped kitchen invites you to prepare supper. When your eyes begin to droop, the comfortable beds upstairs will be waiting.

Many different organizations schedule picnics and trips to the "retreat." Sometimes every woman takes a knapsack on her shoulders and hikes out. Other times, parties ride horseback or drive.

Women's Campus Organizations

The Associated Women Students is a chapter of the National Federation of Associated Women Students, which is represented by chapters in all large colleges and universities in the United States.

Pan-Hellenic is an organization of representatives from each sorority on the campus. Mutual problems are discussed and rulings are made to the satisfaction of all concerned. The local chapter is a member of national Pan-Hellenic which includes all organizations in the Greek-letter world.

Greater Halls Council is composed of the officers of each of the women's dormitories and meets once each month to discuss problems which are common to this large group of women.

Phrateres, national social organization for women, draws members from all women. It is one of the largest organizations on the campus and is active in student affairs.

Talons is an organization of sophomore women. The chapter seeks to foster the spirit and traditions of Oregon State College among incoming freshman girls and to serve the Associated Women Students.

The Y. W. C. A. is a world-wide organization which fosters clear thinking on the vital problems of modern civilization, brings lecturers on international affairs to the campus and sponsors discussion groups among keen minded students. It has organized the Freshman Commission, in which all freshmen women are represented; Big Sisters, an organization of sophomore women who aid the freshmen in their new home; and the Upperclass Commission, with world fellowship as its major consideration. The "Y" also sponsors the Freshman Mix, the International Banquet, radio meditation and vesper hours and various teas during the year.

The Home Economics Club is composed of the entire registration of the school of Home Economics and is active in campus affairs. Every student registered in this school owes it her allegiance.

The Physical Education Club, to which any woman interested in sports is eligible, is composed largely of those students minoring in physical education. Hikes, informal meetings and campus projects are sponsored by this group.

The Women's Athletic Association sponsors women's athletic contests between the classes. It works in close harmony with similar organizations on other campuses and awards sweaters for continuous participation in sports.

Honor Societies for Women

Membership in Cap and Gown, local honor society for senior women, is one of the highest honors conferred on women at Oregon State College, an honor to which practically all women aspire. Its members are chosen for their outstanding leadership in scholarship and activities and their strength of character and friendliness.

Parthenia, local honor group in Physical Education, chooses members from among women athletes as a basis of grace, skill and strength, and desirable character attributes.

Phi Chi Theta, national honor society in business administration, chooses members from that school on a basis of scholarship and leadership.

Omicron Nu is the national honor group for women in Home Economics. To be recognized as a leader of character in as noble a profession as that of home economics is a much coveted honor.

Theta Sigma Phi, national professional and honor fraternity in journalism, chooses college women who have achieved success in campus publication work and as writers, and who are interested in journalism or some of its phases as a career.

Euterpe, local honor society in music, chooses women for their talent and interest in all phases of music.

Orchesis is a national honor society for women interested and proficient in interpretive dancing. Its members take leading parts in the May Fete, Dance Recital and other affairs and encourage dancing among women students.

Alpha Lambda Delta—Scholastic honor society for underclass women chooses its members from the women of the Freshmen class at the end of Spring term.

Alpha Tau Delta—National honor society for nursing chooses its members from outstanding women taking nursing training.

Temenids is a campus organization for students who are members of the Eastern Star.

Oregon State "Y. W."

The Y. W. C. A. is an international movement of women. The students are aiming toward more real values in life. Friendships are made, barriers are broken down, and leadership developed through such interests as world fellowship, music, annual waffle breakfast, bazaar, and teas.

A freshman who shows ability and interest as a committee member is eligible for a chairmanship. Those who prove themselves especially valuable may serve on either council or the cabinet.

Council members are led by the following officers: Marion Dunham, president; Mary Whitelaw, vice-president; Alice Griffin, secretary; Candace Rumbough, treasurer.

Talons

Talons is a sophomore women's national honorary society whose purpose is to promote all activities in which the student body takes part and to uphold all college traditions. New members are pledged and initiated at the close of the spring quarter by the retiring Talons. The Talons rules are :

Forty percent of the men in Oregon State are helped through college by work obtained through this employment service.

The association takes into membership all men who subscribe to its objectives. No membership fee is required.

Officers for this year include Taylor Reedy, president; Milton Carlson, vice-president; Herbert Eisenschmidt, secretary; John Comfort, treasurer.

Oregon State Sports

Minor Sports at Oregon State

Minor sports at Oregon State consist of tennis, cross country, and swimming and in each of these three sports schedules are drawn and run off similar to the major sports. Much campus interest centers about these sports, and each year they gain in popularity. Polo is now recognized as a special military sport at Oregon State and receives much support on the campus. At the time of publication schedules for the above mentioned minor sports are not available.

Intramural Athletics

“Every man at Oregon State in athletics,” is a slogan that is nearly being fulfilled each year. Ninety-five per cent of all the men of the institution that are physically fit are engaged in some form of intercollegiate or intramural athletic work. Each intramural sport is played in its season. The program for intramural sports extends from the beginning of the fall term until the close of the spring term.

The intramural relays enlist more than 40 teams who compete for the coveted trophy. The cross country sport affords competition for more than 500 men, many of whom develop into varsity distance men.

Representatives of more than 45 organizations enter the track and field meets each spring. Many new records are set each year by the time the all-school track and field meet is decided. An annual Thanksgiving week turkey run is sponsored by the business men of Corvallis who give turkeys as prizes to winners.

The 100-foot tank is open to all and is the scene of many contests. Forty teams competed in the 200-yard swimming relays for all-college title and plaque. Besides the relays an all-college swimming meet is given in every event of the sport. The compulsory swimming rule insures that every graduate from O. S. C. is proficient in swimming.

Baseball is a popular sport because it affords activity for almost every college man who wishes to represent his organization. All-school titles are also determined in horseshoes, handball, and tennis.

Oregon State Songs

Alma Mater

Within a vale of western mountains,
 There's a college we hold dear.
 Her shady slopes and fountains
 Oft to me appear.
 I love to wander on the pathway
 Down to the trysting tree,
 For there again I see in fancy,
 Old friends dear to me.

Chorus:

Carry me back to O. S. C.,
 Back to her vine-clad halls;
 Thus fondly ever in my mem'ry
 Alma Mater calls.

Hail to Old O. S. C.

Here we come with a toast and song
 To the college upon the hill,
 We love its shady slopes and trees,
 Each memory cheers and thrills.
 But the fondest tho'ts when the years have run,
 Will be of teams and victories won;
 Each man a loyal son,
 Hail to old O. S. C.

Chorus:

O. S. C., our hats are off to you,
 Beavers, Beavers, fighters through and through
 We'll cheer for every man,
 We'll root for every stand
 That's made for old O. S. C.
 Rah, Rah, Rah,
 Watch our team go tearing down the field,
 Men of iron, their strength will never yield;
 Hail, hail, hail, hail,
 Hail to old O. S. C.

Beaver Pep

Cheer for the Beavers ever,
 The heroes of my song,
 We will desert them never!
 We're ready to back the Orange and Black
 All day long—Rah!
 Mighty in bold endeavor,
 They fight for you and me,
 They are the lunging, plunging, wonderful team
 They are the men of O. S. C.

The college health service is just south of the administration building. Medical attention is free to students.
