Hello, Class of 1946:

We are proud to receive and welcome you as members of the Associated Students of Oregon State College. You are now part of the OSC family and we feel fortunate to have you with us.

You are privileged to be able to enter college with the world in its present chaotic condition. Our country is the only place left in the world where students can continue to pursue a normal education. Entering college at this time places upon you many serious obligations, and yet the next four years will see you presented with many splendid opportunities. Make scholarship your first goal in college because all other achievements must use it as a basis.

We offer an extensive extra curricular activity program and you should participate in it as much as your time will permit. A well rounded education is not gained entirely in the class room but partly by association with students and faculty in these activities.

Ours is a great institution; we are proud of our traditions and the reputation we enjoy as a friendly democratic college. We hope you will carry out these traditions and uphold this reputation. You will find college an excellent training ground for character and personality as well as scholastic achievement. Make the most of it while you are here, work hard, and play hard.

You are now a "Beaver." This is your college. Yours is a great obligation, and yours is a great future.

Dave Baum,
ASOSC President.

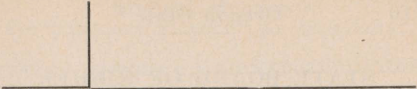

Oregon State Creed
And Student Obligation

I believe in OREGON STATE,
Builder of men and women,
Seeker after truth,
Organized for the service of a great commonwealth.

I believe in her traditions,
A heritage from the deeds and dreams of yesterday;
In her sportsmanship and honor,
A reality with the students of today;
In her aspirations and ideals,
The assurance of a magnificent tomorrow.

I believe in her democracy
And her far-reaching bond of Beaver brotherhood;
And I realize that since she has accepted me
as a Beaver,
I too am a guardian of the Beaver spirit;
If I degrade myself I degrade her;
As I honor myself I honor her.

I therefore pledge to her, my Alma Mater,
My loyalty, my love, and my devotion.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Associated Students of Oregon State College (ASOSC) is an organization of students working under a constitution and by-laws which controls and sponsors such activities as intercollegiate athletics, student publications, forensics, dramatics, concert series and others. Officers are elected annually, nominations and elections being conducted in manner similar to state elections.

The officers consist of the president and secretary elected from the senior class, the three vice-presidents, elected one each from the senior, junior and sophomore classes, and the yell king. These students with the Memorial Union president, Associated Women Students president and Barometer editor make up the executive council which acts as an advisory and counseling body for the president.

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS: Dave Baum, president; Cal Schmidt, first vice-president; Arlene Ingersoll, second vice-president; Don Moyer, third vice-president; Jeanette Sims, secretary; Don Hall, Memorial Union president; Glen Schaeffer, Barometer editor; John Lynch, yell king; and Jean Floyd, president of Associated Women Students, make up the Associated Students executive council.

CLASS ORGANIZATION: Within the ASOSC are organized classes which elect their own officers, appoint committees and collect dues as provided in the various class constitutions. Officers are elected by popular vote of the members of each class. Class reunions are held by the alumni. In the spring each succeeding class celebrates its 25th anniversary.

SENIOR CLASS: Harry Moss, president; Leona Leonard, vice-president; Mary Louise Armstrong, secretary; Dale Dustin, treasurer; and Karl Klinkinbeard, sergeant-at-arms.

JUNIOR CLASS: Jerry Herburger, president; Joy Hoerner, vice-president; Norma Long, secretary; Bill Shinn, treasurer; and Tom Clark, sergeant-at-arms.

FRESHMAN CLASS: Freshman class officers are elected at a meeting of the class during freshman week. Candidates for offices are selected by a nominating committee of upper class students and student body officers.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS: Jean Floyd, president; Mary Carmody, vice-president; Vicki Hall, secretary; Joan Menig, treasurer; Pat Clark, sergeant-at-arms; and Dorothy Gerling, publicity chairman.

The Associated Women Students (AWS) is an organization to which all the women on the campus belong. It sponsors and supervises all activities of women students, climaxing each year with Women's Weekend.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL: Marguerite List, president.

The Panhellenic council is an organization composed of one representative from each sorority on the campus. Its main purpose is to maintain fair play in rushing among sororities. As a member of National Panhellenic it is enabled to deal with campus sorority problems and to keep in close contact with the problems of each organization.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL: Gordon Green, president.

The interfraternity council is composed of the presidents or a representative of each fraternity on the campus and acts on problems that confront the organizations and the school as a whole. The council is held responsible for enforcing rushing rules and generally upholding fraternity standards.

INDEPENDENT STUDENT COUNCIL: Ken Arney.

The independent student council was formed to further the interests of the independent students on the Oregon State campus. Each hall in the men's dormitory, each women's dormitory, Phrateres, all downtown independent organizations are represented on the council.

GREATER HALLS COUNCIL: Margaret Sherrard, president.

The greater halls council is composed of representatives from each of the women's dormitories and fills much the same position for independent women that Panhellenic does for sororities. The council cooperates with the faculty heads of dormitories in problems of the women who live in Waldo or Margaret Snell hall.

ASSOCIATED MEN'S HALLS: Brent Nyden, president.

Associated men's halls is composed of representatives from each hall in the men's dormitories and acts as a governing body for the large group of students who live in the halls.

He is responsible for financial affairs, the orderly management of the building, and has charge of all employees.

The building serves as a student center, containing the offices of the student body, the student body publications, the offices of the director of student educational activities and athletic director. Many honor societies and clubs hold regular meetings in the building. The dining room for the men's dormitory is located in the west wing of the building and the college tea room is available for banquets and meetings.

The Memorial Union houses the co-op book store, provides lounges for students and faculty, and provides facilities for student body dances and meetings.

CO-OP BOOK STORE

The Oregon State Co-op book store, located in the east end of the Memorial Union, is a student-owned and controlled school-supply business. It is supervised by a board of directors consisting of seven students and two faculty members.

The board employs a manager, who operates the store on a business basis. Any student may become a member of the co-op by payment of a 25-cent fee. Membership privileges include voting for directors and participation in the distribution of profits. Sales slips are given with each purchase which entitle the holder to a refund at the end of each year.

The book store is operated under the management of Paul Irvine.

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE

Oregon State provides a modern well-equipped hospital for medical aid to students while attending college.

Finished in 1936, the new three-story fire-proof brick building is located directly northwest of Commerce hall. Its dimensions are 46 by 127 feet.

On the ground floor are the dining room, kitchen, heating plant and refrigeration plant. The second floor holds the dispensary, including the registration office, waiting room, secretary's office, clinical laboratory, pharmacy, minor surgery, X-ray laboratory and physicians' consultation and examination rooms. On the third floor there are 30 beds in two-bed and four-bed wards for students requiring confinement for general medical care or isolation for contagious and communicable diseases.

A bronze tablet greets all those entering the building, which is dedicated to the memory of the late Dr. Wendall James Phillips, organizer and first director of the Oregon State college health service, 1916-18.

All students needing medical aid may obtain it by going to the infirmary and applying at the office.

History and Traditions

HISTORY OF OREGON STATE

Oregon State's history dates back before the Civil War, back to Oregon's territorial days. In 1858 a building was erected on the corner of Fifth and Madison streets of Corvallis to house a co-educational community school which in 1858 was incorporated under the name of Corvallis college. In 1865, the college passed under the control of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

In 1862, Congress appropriated 90,000 acres of land to the state of Oregon on condition that a state college be in operation by 1867. Lack of a building for such a school was the immediate problem and the South Methodists donated their church as the first "Temple of Learning."

This simple structure served as the entire college for many years, for in 1867 there were only 20 students registered. In 1868, "Corvallis college" was designated as the state agricultural college by the state legislature which definitely confirmed it as a state and national institution in 1885.

In 1887 Benton county gave 35 acres of land to insure permanent location of the college at Corvallis, and in this same year the citizens of Benton county laid the corner stone for the present administration building.

At that time only four courses were taught, agriculture, general science, mechanical arts and household science.

In 1889 only a limited number of students could take advantage of gratuitous education, only being chosen from each senatorial and representative district.

By way of comparison, the college has grown from four courses with five instructors and 20 students in 1867, to seven degree-granting schools including more than 60 departments, nearly 400 instructors and over 4500 students. Schools were added gradually to the curriculum with the first instruction in engineering being offered in 1888. The school of forestry, now one of the largest of its kind in the United States, was first introduced in 1906-07 and was organized into a degree-granting school in 1913. Pharmacy became a school here in 1917.

In accommodations the college has developed from one building and 35 acres of land in 1885 to 46 substantial buildings and approximately 6,160 acres.

The development of the 189 acres of land in the campus proper during the last quarter century has been in accordance with a plan submitted by landscape architects of national prominence. The original plan was prepared by John C. Olmstead in 1908 and was later revised in 1925 by A. D. Taylor. The plan allows for a much greater expansion in instructional buildings as well as dormitories as the school grows.

Newest additions in buildings are the infirmary, finished in 1936; the new chemistry building, finished in 1939; a new wing on the library, added in 1941; and interior improvements in Education hall, Shepard hall and the Memorial Union.

TRADITIONS

Oregon State has a few traditions that have stood the ravages of time and have manifested themselves as ideals. Traditions were not and will not be designed to hamper the life of the student. Neither are they to be confused with the ancient and outlawed hazing of freshmen.

Traditions are for all Oregon Staters. It is only human nature that a few will not abide by the unwritten laws. Thus a few traditions have become mandatory.

It is with pride that old grads return to their alma mater to view observance of traditions that were observed in their days also. Social atmosphere and genuine college life are founded upon the observance of a few traditions whose usefulness has been proved by their endurance.

Oregon State has two organizations that have as their chief function the observance of traditions—Talons for women and Thaners for men.

TALONS: Carol Schramm, president—Talons, sophomore women's service honorary, became a local organization in 1933, formerly having been connected with the national society, Spurs. Each year approximately 24 members are chosen from the incoming sophomore class.

Talons invoke minor penalties on rookesses for neglecting to wear the green ribbon on Wednesdays and failure to comply with other traditions as explained to rookesses during freshman week.

Each year Talons entertains and is in turn entertained by Kwamas, the sophomore service society at the University of Oregon, to promote friendly feeling between the two schools.

Selections of new members are based on qualities of leadership, scholarship and cooperation in observing traditions during the previous year. The candidates are selected by Talons and passed by Mortar Board, the Dean of Women and Talons adviser. Rookesses who have been before Talons court for breaking a tradition during the year are ineligible for Talons.

THANES: Bob LeTourneux, president—Thanes, formerly an upperclass society, has been reorganized this year as a service honorary for sophomore men, similar in function to Talons. Thanes see that the Rooks wear green lids, attend convocations and that all students observe campus traditions such as keeping off the grass and not smoking on the campus.

Members are chosen from the sophomore class on a basis of outstanding work in scholarship, leadership, cooperation and service. One member is selected from each fraternity and hall, and three from Rosswood association. Their white sweaters with the orange shield and crossed swords distinguish them.

GENERAL TRADITIONS

1. NO FUSSING (DATING) AT ATHLETIC CONTESTS. If you have never been embarrassed, just escort the "little one" to a game. You'll never do it again.

2. STUDENTS STAND WHEN THE ALMA MATER IS PLAYED OR SUNG. Respect for the school makes this courtesy automatic. Men should stand with heads uncovered. After a game, students stay in the stands and sing the alma mater. Oregon Staters stay until the finish of the game.

3. DO NOT SMOKE ON THE CAMPUS. Observance of this rule keeps the campus clean and cuts down on your bills. Oregon State is widely known for the neatness of its campus.

4. KEEP OFF THE GRASS. No signs blotch the landscape but the unwritten law says keep off, and Oregon Staters stay on the walks.

5. STUDENTS DRESS BY CLASSES. Only freshmen may wear tin (rook) pants. Only sophomores may wear moleskins. Only upperclassmen may wear cords.

FRESHMEN ALONE

Rooks wear green lids and are proud of their greenness. Wear the lid even if you are not proud of its greenness. Rookesses are recognized every Wednesday by the green ribbons in their hair.

Always attend, non-fussing, all athletic events.

Attend all class meetings, student body assemblies and convocations.

Learn the songs and yells in the Rook Bible and attend all rallies.

Remove your green lid before entering buildings.

Wear your rooker's lids on days of athletic contests.

Never wear high school pins or sweaters.

Wear not cords lest you be pantsed in some public spot. Tin pants are favored.

Have a copy of the Rook Bible in a nearby pocket in case an upperclassman should ask for copy of same.

Observe general traditions that upperclassmen also abide by.

TRADITIONAL EVENTS

Homecoming weekend, the first big traditional celebration of the school year, and the starter for many to follow.

The formal season starts with the All-school formal which is followed in close sequence by the Sophomore cotillion, Junior prom and Mortar Board ball. Spring term brings the season to a climax with the Scabbard and Blade ball and the Senior ball.

Other special traditional occasions are the freshman mix during freshman week, the rook dance which is held near the opening of winter term, and the AWS carnival.

Campus weekend is the all-school main event during spring term. It is at this time that rooks "burn the green," sophomores exchange soph pants for cords, juniors hold their annual breakfast and the seniors begin to reminisce.

Other traditional events include the annual review of the ROTC by the governor and ranking officials of the state and area, women's weekend, engineer's bust, agricultural weekend, alumni day, fernhopper's banquet, scio-mix, and dad's day.

Class Traditions

CLASS GIFTS

The placing of a granite stone under the large silver poplar trysting tree, between the administration building and the education hall by the class of 1901 to hallow the surrounding ground for seniors only, was the beginning of the tradition for each graduation class to leave a gift that will enrich the campus. These gifts are as follows:

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Student Educational Activities Board

Student educational activities consist of the college band, the glee club, the madrigal club, the college orchestra, Beaver annual, Daily Barometer, Student Handbook, student directory, concert series, class activities and all other activities sponsored by and receiving financial support from the associated students except those activities included under inter-collegiate athletics.

These activities are supervised by a board known as the Student Educational Activities Board appointed by the president of the college and approved by the chancellor. The board this year consists of Professor Paul Petri, chairman; Professor Fred M. Shideler, journalism department, secretary; Professor C. B. Mitchell, speech department; T. P. Cramer, Oregon State College, acting secretary; Dr. U. G. Dubach, dean of men; Mrs. Buena M. Maris, dean of women; Ralph Coleman, director of intra-mural athletics; Jean Floyd, president of AWS; Dave Baum, president of ASOSC; Cal Schmidt, Arlene Ingersoll and Don Moyer, first, second and third vice-presidents respectively of ASOSC; Glen Schaeffer, Barometer editor; Don Hall, Memorial Union president; and Jeanette Sims, secretary of ASOSC.

A director of student educational activities is appointed by the board. The director has charge of all matters pertaining to educational activities, preparing budgets, cooperation with the faculty, students and outside concerns to promote the welfare of ASOSC.

Percy P. Locey, a graduate of Oregon State, is director of educational activities.

Funds to cover the expense of administration and promotion of the various activities supervised by the board are obtained from tuition, subscriptions to publications, advertising in the publications, admission charges at program attractions and other sources as may be provided by the board or by the administration of the college.

Standing committees under the board are:

Forensic committee—Professor C. B. Mitchell, chairman; forensics manager; Women's forensics manager; and the second vice-president of ASOSC.

INTER-COLLEGIATE ATHLETIC BOARD

Intercollegiate athletics consists of all sports participated in by teams representing Oregon State college in inter-collegiate competition, provided the competition warrants the rating by the intercollegiate athletic board. Football, basketball, baseball, swimming and track as major sports and tennis, golf, boxing, wrestling, skiing and fencing as minor sports come under this rating.

These activities are supervised by a board known as the intercollegiate athletic board appointed by the president of the college. The board for the coming year consists of G. R. Hoerner, member of the experimental staff at the college; C. V. Ruzek, professor of soils; Ted Cramer, manager of the college business office; Dr. W. T. Johnson, Corvallis; Allan Rinehart, Portland; Dave Baum, president of ASOSC; Glen Schaeffer, editor of the Barometer; Hal T. Hutchinson, Portland; Lowell Stockman, Pendleton; and E. M. Smith, Corvallis.

A director of athletics is appointed by the board to handle all business in connection with the promotion of intercollegiate athletics. He is responsible for the scheduling of games, supervision of coaches and the financial setup for all athletic teams. Percy Locey is the director of athletics. The intercollegiate athletic board approves budgets, makes all athletic awards, and acts as an advisory and counseling body to the athletic director.

STUDENT ATHLETIC TICKETS

The State Board of Higher Education has provided for the support of the educational activities program by allotting to it a percentage of tuition, reducing the student fee to $10, all of which will go to athletics.

On payment of tuition at registration, every student will be given an identification card admitting him to all educational activities attractions. By paying the optional $10 fee, the student may have his card stamped to entitle him to admission to all athletic events for the school year. The payment may be made at one time or on a partial payment basis of $6 in the fall and $4 at the beginning of winter term. Students who purchase the athletic ticket and later leave school will be given a refund in proportion to the elapsed program at the time of withdrawal.

The actual value of an athletic ticket in individual admissions for the year is approximately $35.00. Any student who attends athletic contests during the year will actually spend more than $10 by buying tickets for the individual contests. Only holders of the athletic ticket will be allowed to sit in the student section at games.

Gate receipts at athletic contests are split with the opponents. However, the income from student fees is all retained by the athletic department. A loss of income to the Oregon State athletic program results if students purchase individual admissions rather than student athletic tickets.

The ten per-cent federal tax will raise the total purchase price to $11 this year.

SOCIETIES AND ORGANIZATIONS

Oregon State offers honor societies and organizations, both campus and national, for every form of scholastic effort and efficiency that one may take part in while attending college. Societies and clubs abound on the campus so that everyone is offered a chance to put his pet form of pastime into instructive and creative practice.

Because of the high standards set by the honoraries their entire roll includes a very small percentage of the college enrollment so that those "making an honorary" are those who have put forth their best in scholarship, leadership, efficiency and personality in their years of college life both in the class room and in activities.

The honor societies, being national in scope, have a national prestige which makes election to such a group a distinction which is highly prized by both members and outsiders.

OREGON STATE SONGS

Alma Mater*

Within a vale of western mountains,
 There's a college we hold dear.
 Her shady slopes and fountains
 Oft to me appear.
 I love to wander on the pathway
 Down to the trysting tree,
 For there again I see in fancy,
 Old friends dear to me.

Chorus:

Carry me back to O.S. C.
 Back to her vine-clad halls;
 'Thus fondly ever in my mem'ry
 Alma Mater calls.

It is a worthy land grant college
 By the noble Lincoln planned.
 Her sons' and daughters' knowledge
 Tills and guards the land.
 So honored by her name forever;
 Sing the praise of O. S. C.
 Ah, naught in all the world can sever
 Friends once true to thee.

*The loyal Oregon Stater always stands while the "Alma Mater" is being played or sung, male students with their heads uncovered.

Hail to Old O. S. C.

Here we come with a toast and a song
To the college upon the hill.
We love its shady slopes and trees,
Each memory cheers and thrills.
But the fondest thoughts when the years have run,
Will be of teams and victories won;
Each man a loyal son,
Hail to old O. S. C.

Chorus:

O. S. C., our hats are off to you,
Beavers, Beavers, fighters through and through
We'll cheer for every man.
We'll root for every stand
That's made for old O. S. C.
Rah, Rah, Rah,
Watch our team go tearing down the field.
Men of iron, their strength will never yield
Hail, hail, hail, hail,
Hail to old O. S. C.

O. S. C. Medley

Who am I, sir? An OSC man am I
An OSC man sir, and will be till I die.
 Ki Yi!
We're up to snuff, we never bluff, we're in for any fuss—
There isn't a bunch of college men can beat us in a muss,
So we'll fill our lungs with lusty air and shout it to the sky—
We'll fight for dear old OSC
For an OSC man am I.

OSC, OSC, ziz-boom, ziz-boom, ziz-boom-bee,
 OS, OS, OSC,
 OSC, OSC,
 Smash 'em, bust 'em, that's the custom;
 OSC.

For I'm a Beaver born and a Beaver bred
 And when I die, I'll be a Beaver dead.

So it's rah, rah, for OSC,

Rah, rah, for OSC.

Rah, rah, for OSC,

Here's to the men we know and love,
 Beavers tried and true;

Here's to the men of the Orange line,
 Fighting for me and you.

Up with glass and pledge them, lads,

Flashing its amber gleam,

While deep in our hearts the toast shall be

Here's to the grand old team.

OSC, our hats are off to you,

Beavers, Beavers, fighters through and
 through,

We'll cheer for every man,

We'll root for every stand

That's made for old OSC

RAH, RAH, RAH

Watch our men go tearing down the field,

Men of iron their strength will never yield,

Hail, hail, hail, hail,

Hail to old OSC.

Fight for Oregon State*

(Written especially for Oregon State
 by Fred Waring)

Here we go—we're lucky plucky Staters.
 There they go—they're stallin', crawlin' freighters.

The Beaver men attack again, we'll raise the Orange and Black again,

So high, high, high, high, high atop the hill.

So now they know the troucin' bouncin'
 Beavers.

Goodbye foe—Go 'way you gay deceivers.
Don't forget that you'll lose your bet for the odds are much too great.
We fight, fight, fight, fight, FIGHT FOR
OREGON STATE.

Hear ye, hear ye, fear ye,
Oregon State, Greater than great.
Cheer ye, the Staters
Boom, give a rah; Boom, give a ray!
Boom, get a victory today.
Oh Oh now, whoa now, So now
Oregon U, what'll you do?
You know how the Beavers win the fight
for Oregon State.
Here we go—the fight is for the Staters,
There they go—tonight they're second raters.
Since eighteen sixty-eight, A. D. we've fought for many a victory,
Oh! Oh! Oh! Oh! Oh! Oregon State will win.

So slow 'em down—we'll bend their line
and break it.
Mow 'em down—they can't stand up and take it.
We'll knock them loose and we'll cook their goose and we'll send 'em home by freight.
We fight, fight, fight, fight, FIGHT FOR
OREGON STATE.

Well, oh., Fellow, Hello,
Oregon U, Sorry you're through,
Yell, oh, you Staters
Boom, give a rah; Boom, give a row!
We want a victory right now.
I say there, Hey there, stay there,
Orange and Black, give 'em the sack,
Okay there—you beavers fight! and win
for Oregon State.
