Within a vale of western mountains. . .

There's a college we hold dear . . .

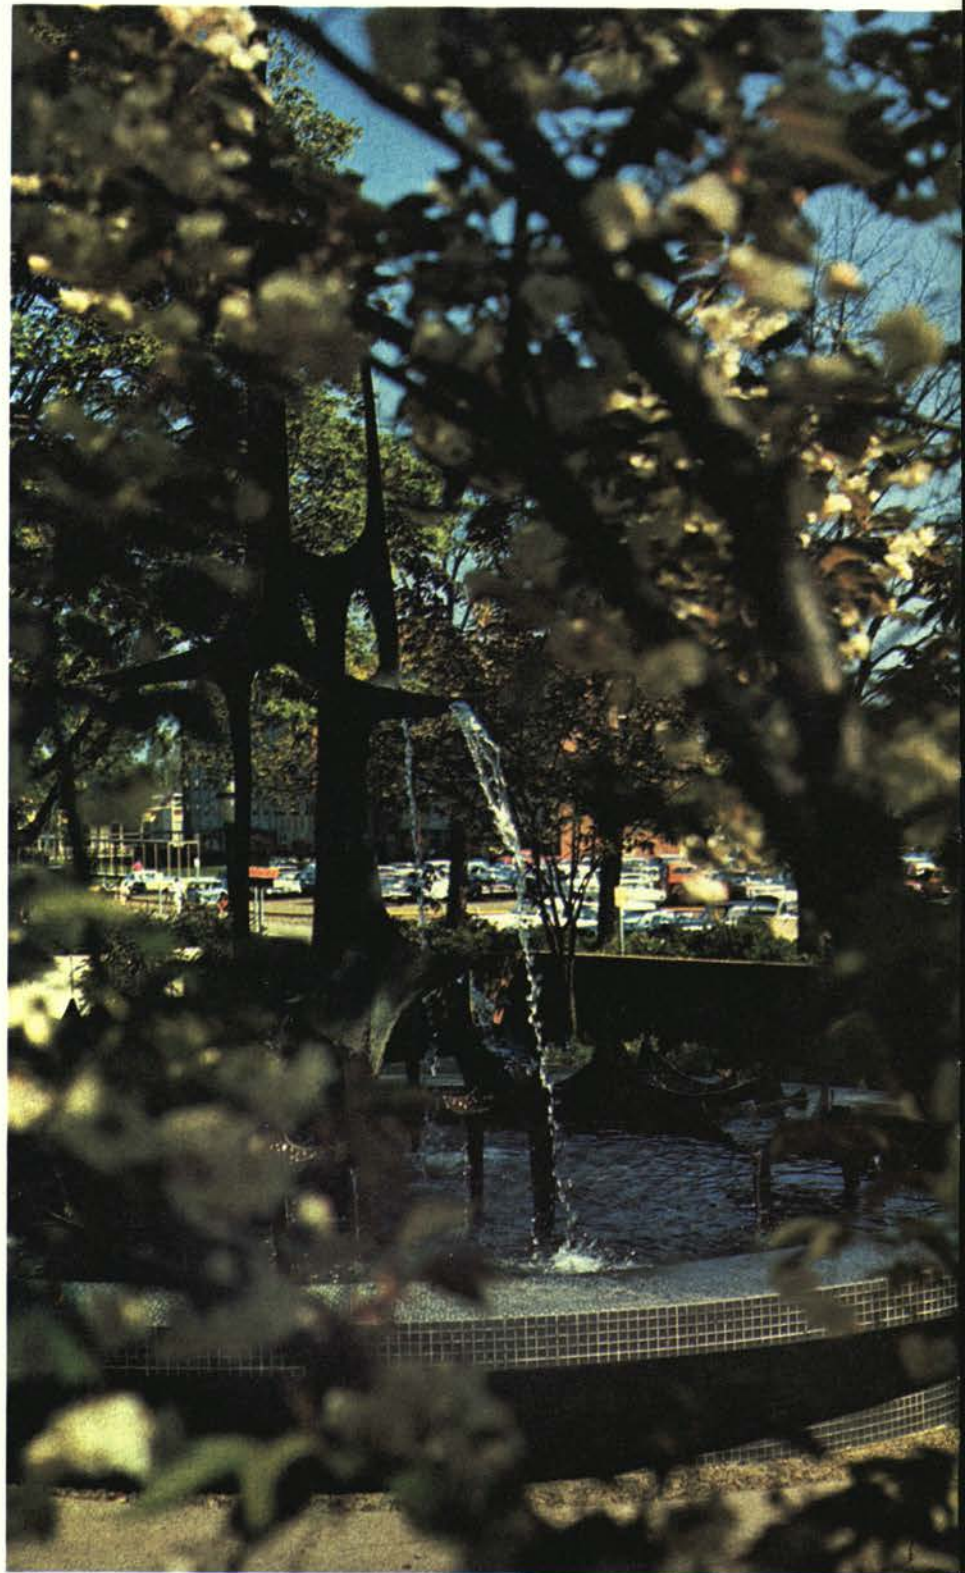

Her shady slopes.

... and fountains
Oft to me appear.

I love to wander on the pathway

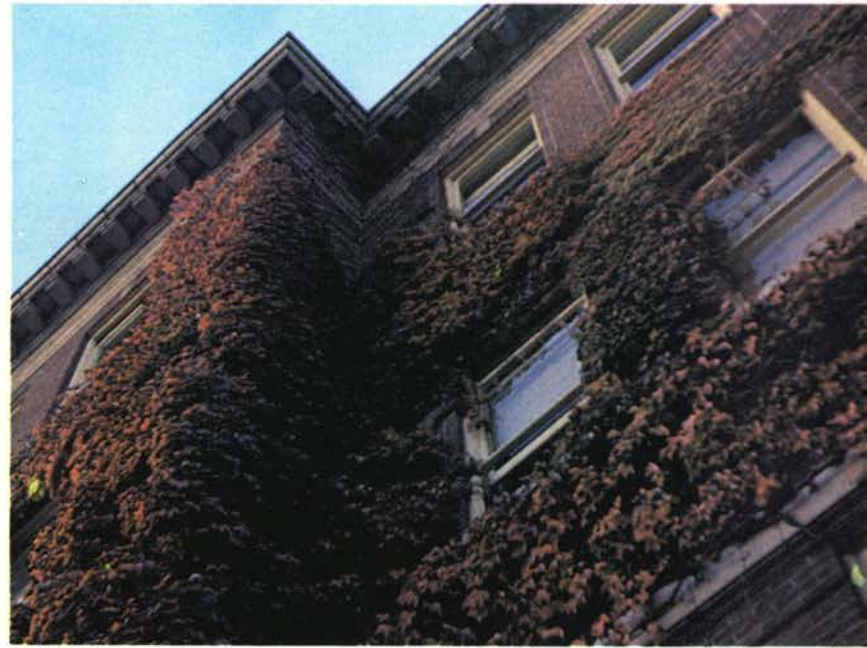

Down to the trysting tree,

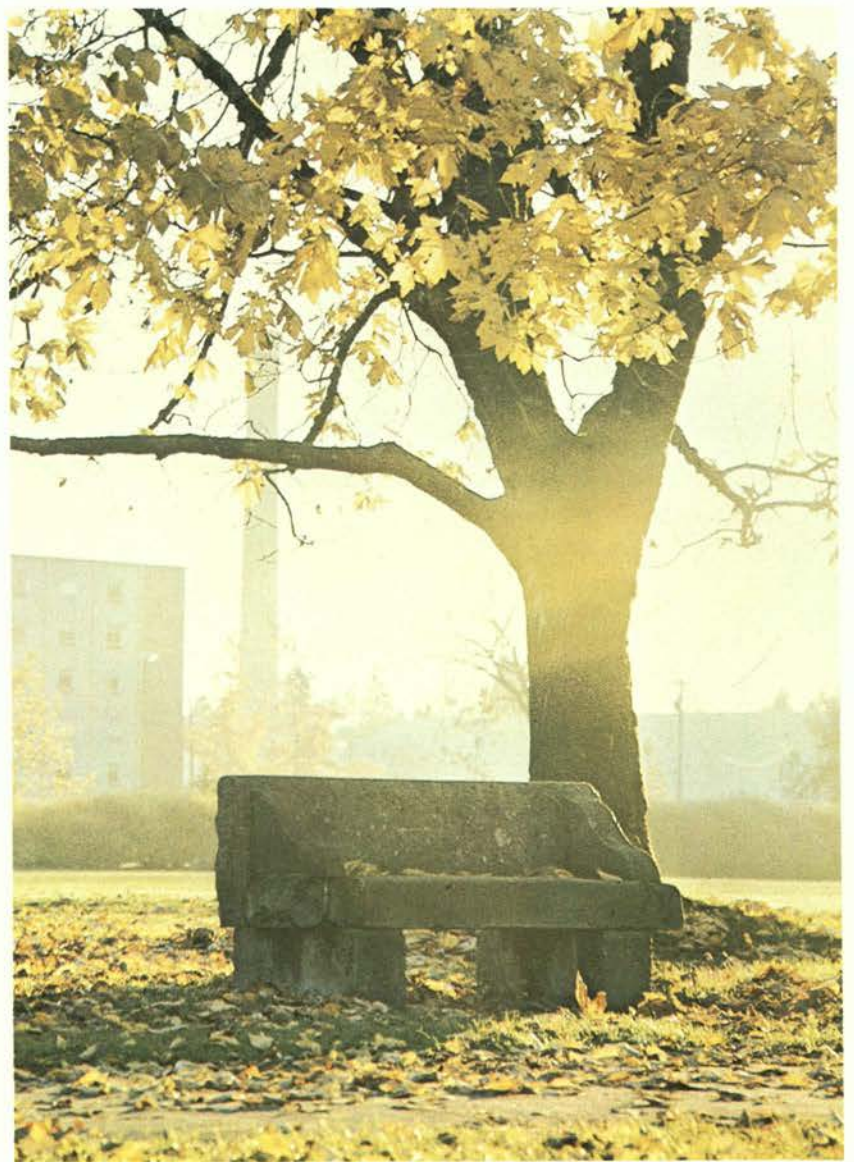

For there again I see in fancy
Old friends dear to me . . .

Carry me back to OSU.
Back to her
vine-clad halls;

Thus fondly ever in my mem'ry
Alma Mater calls.

FALL

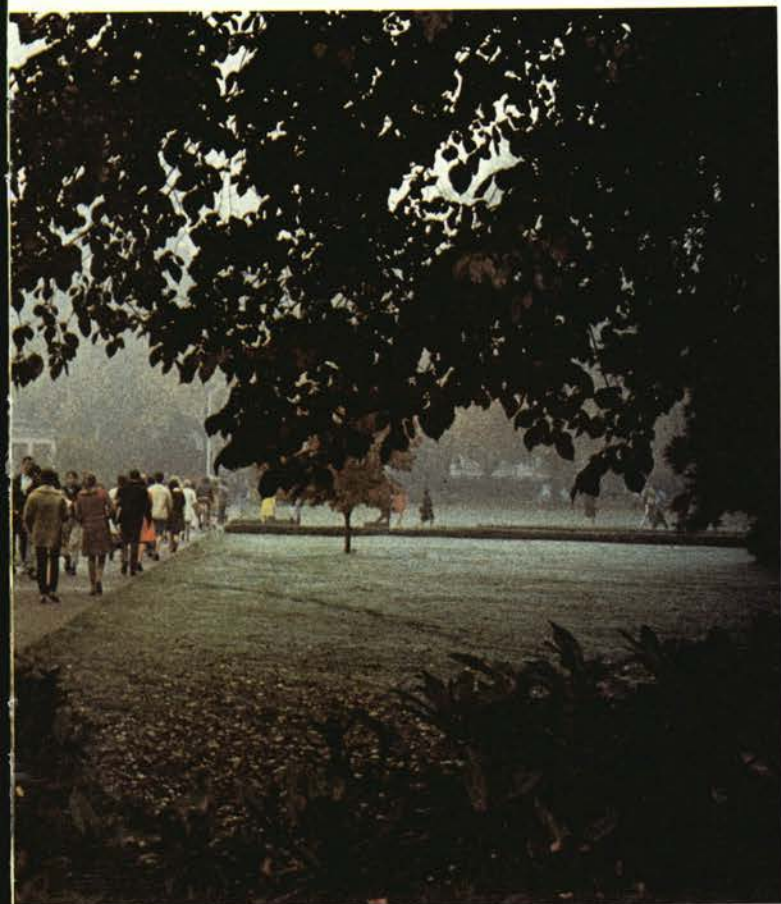

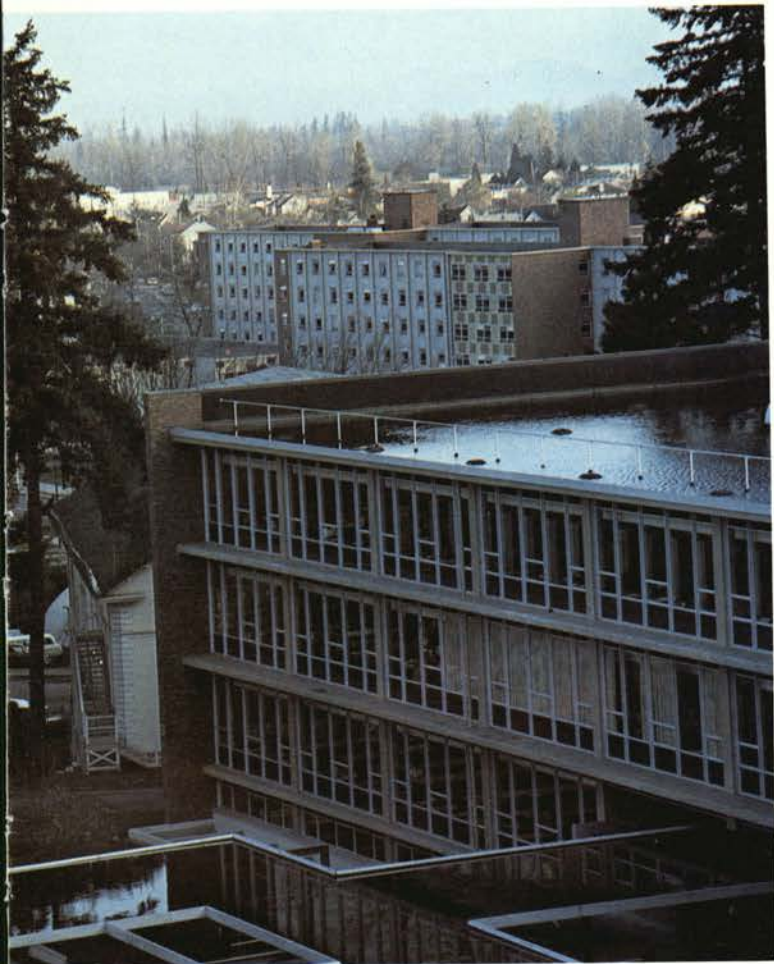

Old friends, new friends and summer companions opened the fall term at OSU.

The summer green turned gold and the neat piles of leaves invited destruction by students' feet.

Fall term saw new students explore the campus, while old students visited familiar haunts. The library became a rendezvous point by night, the quad by day.

After the many attempts to integrate the freshmen and new students into life at OSU, some joined, some were confused, and some refused.

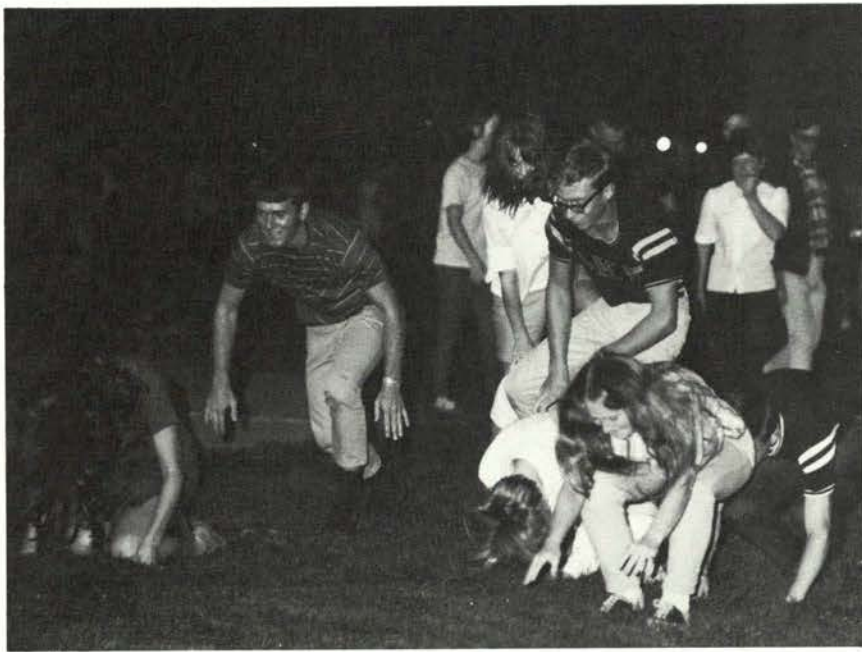

Good-bye Card Pullers

Registration can be appalling for the first run. Next year this process of registering, which seems a mass of confusion, will be extremely simplified through computerization. So, good-bye to card pullers, long lines, wrong lines, slowness, and finding stations in a crowded coliseum and last minute changes in schedule plans.

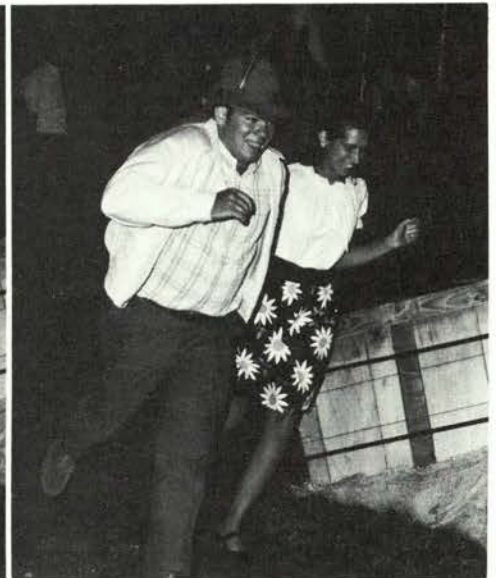

“What’s a Paw Paw?”

Mysterious is the only accurate description of the Paw Paw Pick. Very few rooks hear of it until it is too late and before they know it, they are paired up with another living group and told to get ready to pick Paw Paw’s.

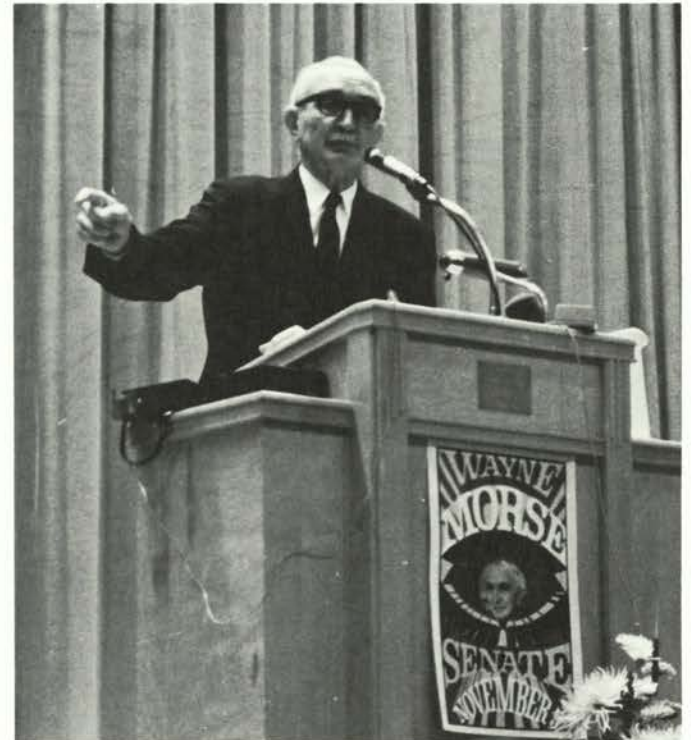

“Paw Paw Pick?” “Make floats?” “Pick Paw Paw’s?” “Fun and games?” It’s too late, they are caught up in a float parade, followed by such classic games as ring-around-the-rosey and leap frog, climaxed by a dance. But the question still remains, “What’s a Paw Paw?”

Speakers

The Morse and Packwood race for the Senate brought both men to our campus. They did not stir as much student activity as Tom Gun, Student Body President at the University of Washington, who caused the Greeks to lose their apathy. He was safely escorted off the campus by the police.

November 14 was the date for the resistance. A small group formulated in the ballroom and a much smaller group turned in their draft cards.

Centennial Means Float Building

The centennial celebrations on November 20 confronted the ASOSU and IFC counsels with a special problem--float building. Because of the lack of experience, completion of the floats occurred the day before the centennial parade.

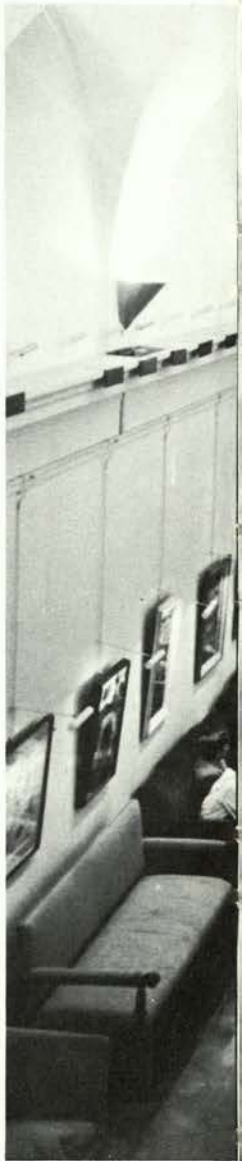

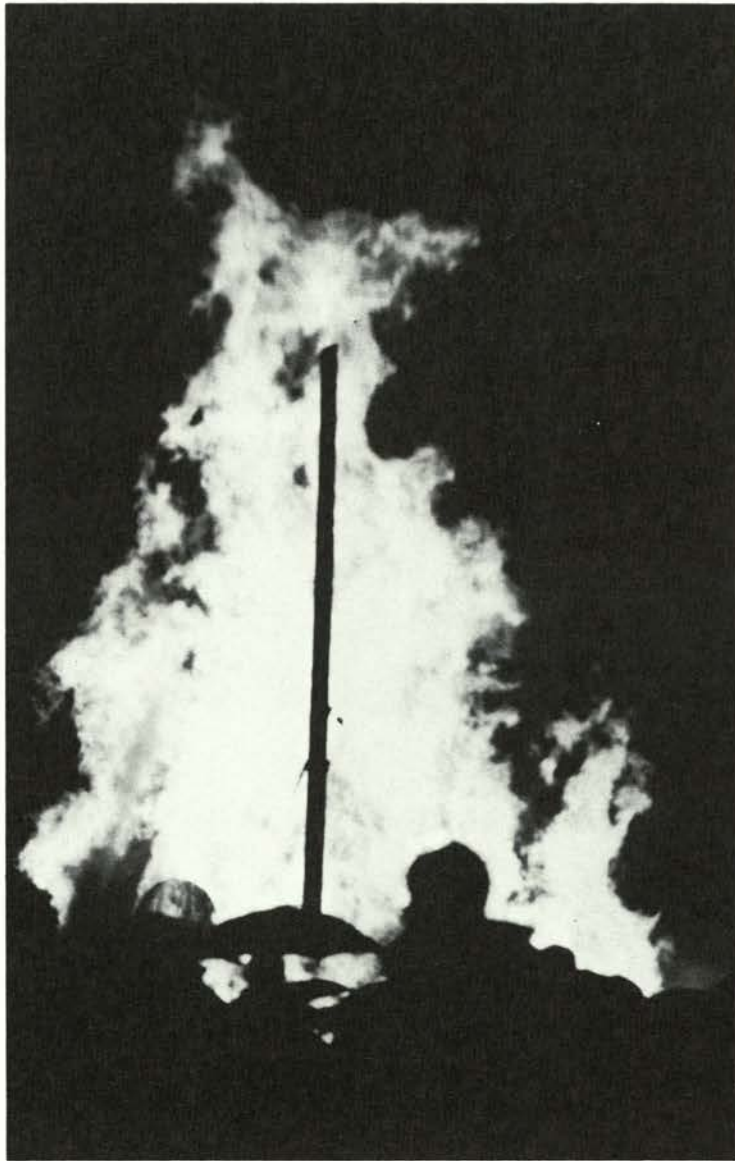

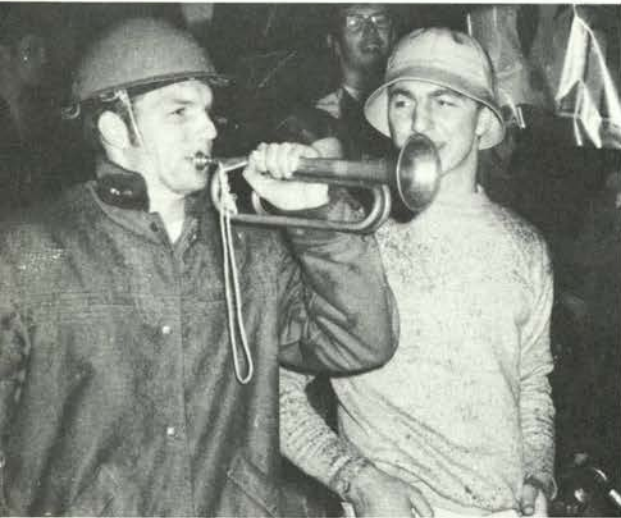

The school's band also filled the parade with brilliant color and sound.

As memories of centennial parades, speakers and concerts fade away so does the art of float building for another 100 years.

Highest Bonfire Yet!

Dull cymbal garbage can lids, shrill trumpets, wooden blocks snapping and cans rolling on rough pavement brought an atmosphere that was synonymous with homecoming. Drenching rain and soaking feet are an added specialty at OSU which never dampens the spirits of the parade. The rooks added to the enthusiasm with the highest bonfire yet.

Christmas is More Than Finals and Vacation

Dead week, finals, the term is coming to a close. Students are busy reading books that were going to be read before the midterm, researching term projects in a weekend, and studying for that final that will make or break this terms gradepoint. A stroll through the MU brings a chance to relax and realize there is more to Christmas than finals and vacation. An old fashion caroling party with candles and hot chocolate, sponsored by the MU, helps brighten dead week.

For a few this would be their last remembrance of OSU.

WINTER

BSU Walks Out

Some 70 Oregon State University students--most of them blacks--made an appearance before an OSU centennial convocation to begin a three-week controversy over minority group and students rights.

Protesting a ruling by football coach Dee Andros that a black athlete shave off his beard or lose his scholarship for the coming year, the students charged the university with interfering with student rights and sought support for a boycott of classes and athletic events.

ASOSU Senate that night voted to support the boycott of classes and to recommend adoption of the proposal made by a special committee on Minority Affairs as administrative policy. Earlier ASOSU President John Fraser had stated that he personally supported the boycott.

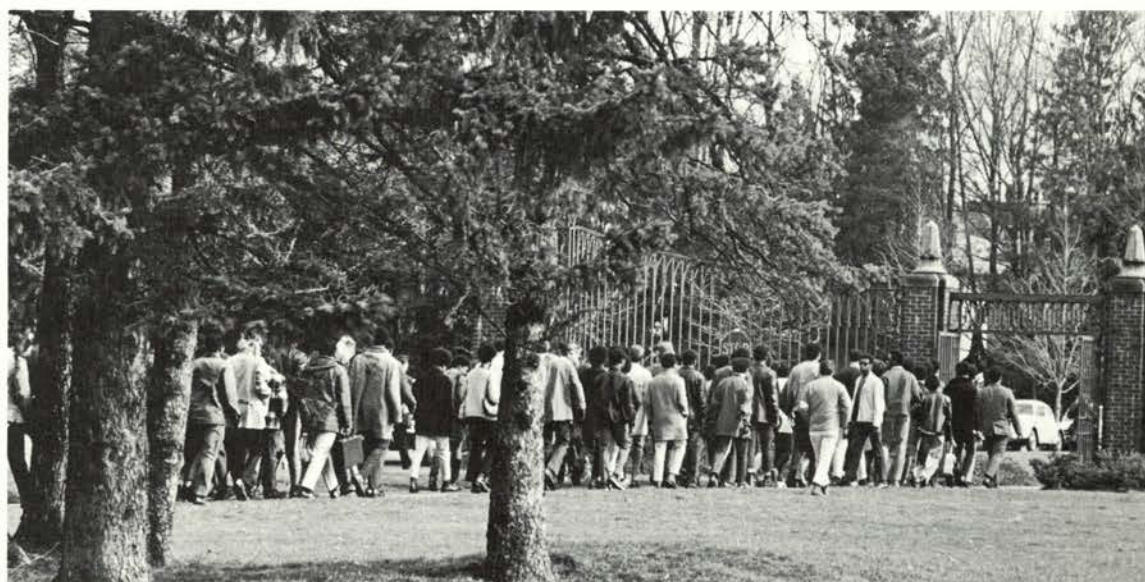

In separate gatherings the next day, coaches from every major sport at OSU denied ever discriminating against any athlete, black or white, while a somewhat smaller Black Student Union rally was held in another part of campus.

A group of visiting negroes and BSU officers staged a symbolic walkout to portray the withdrawal of many negroes from the University.

Following a week and a half of attacks and counter-attacks, Faculty Senate endorsed a slightly altered Administrative Proposal and charged the newly appointed Committee on Human Rights and Responsibility to consider the current controversy. The Faculty Senate also unanimously approved a motion expressing the hope that all students who in protest had or intended to withdraw, stay and work to improve the University.

Two Presidents Resign

Beginning winter term, President James H. Jensen announced plans to retire from his position as head of OSU. An offer from the Rockefeller Foundation to join their program in Southeast Asia, combined with desire to return to his interests in agriculture and food production.

At the end of winter term, John Fraser, ASOSU President, resigned. His decision, made during the BSU controversy, was based on an inclination to devote his time to other areas.

Centennial Lectures

As a part of the Oregon State University Centennial lecture series, six convocations were held in late February. Celebrating OSU's 100th birthday, the first two speakers--Dr. Linus Pauling and Dr. Barnaby C. Keeney--talked on the role of a university today. Later lecturers discussed various, current problems of society. These men included Dr. Charles Frankel, Dr. Philip Abelson, Dr. Edward David, Jr., and Dr. Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr..

Snow Forces All-School Boycott

... And it snowed, and it snowed, and it snowed--20 inches! Classes were cancelled for a day, but for the rest of the week students braved snowball fights and teacherous ice patches to attend sparsely populated classes.

SPRING

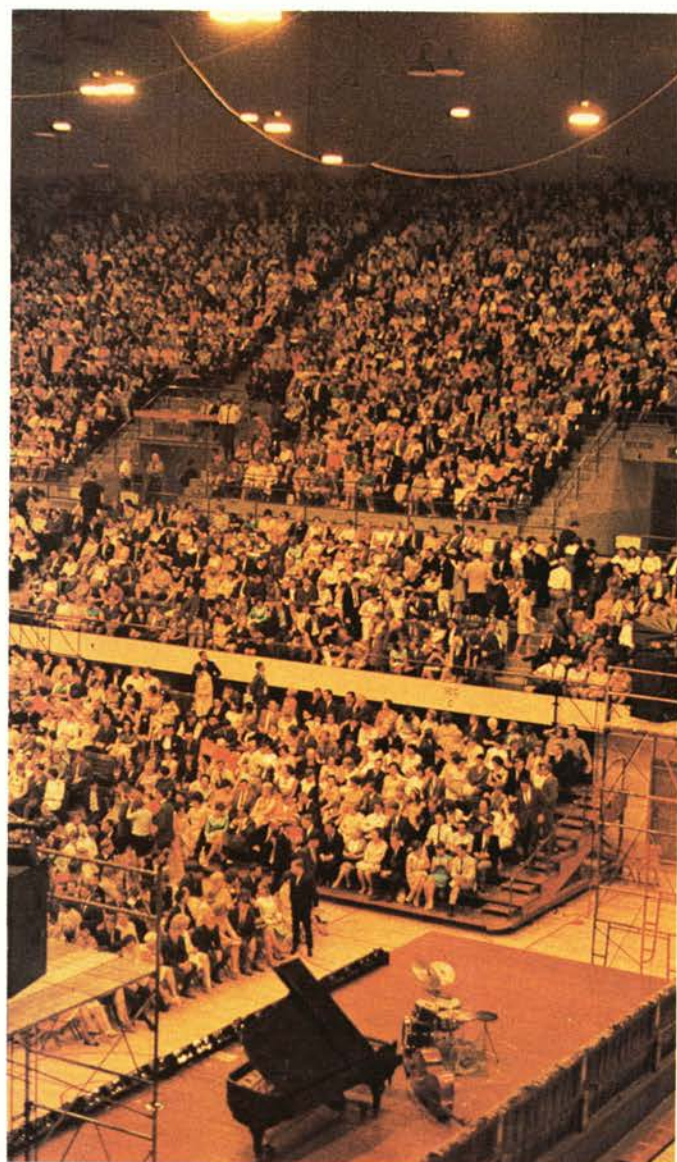

Sun, play, love, life: Spring comes and the students release tensions through outdoor activities. Study is secondary to living...and spring becomes a time for marching, a time for student elections, a time for love, a time to relax.

The culmination of four years of preparation confront the seniors with the question, "Are we ready for reality?" The rest of us put off the question for another spring.

Tickets Crowd

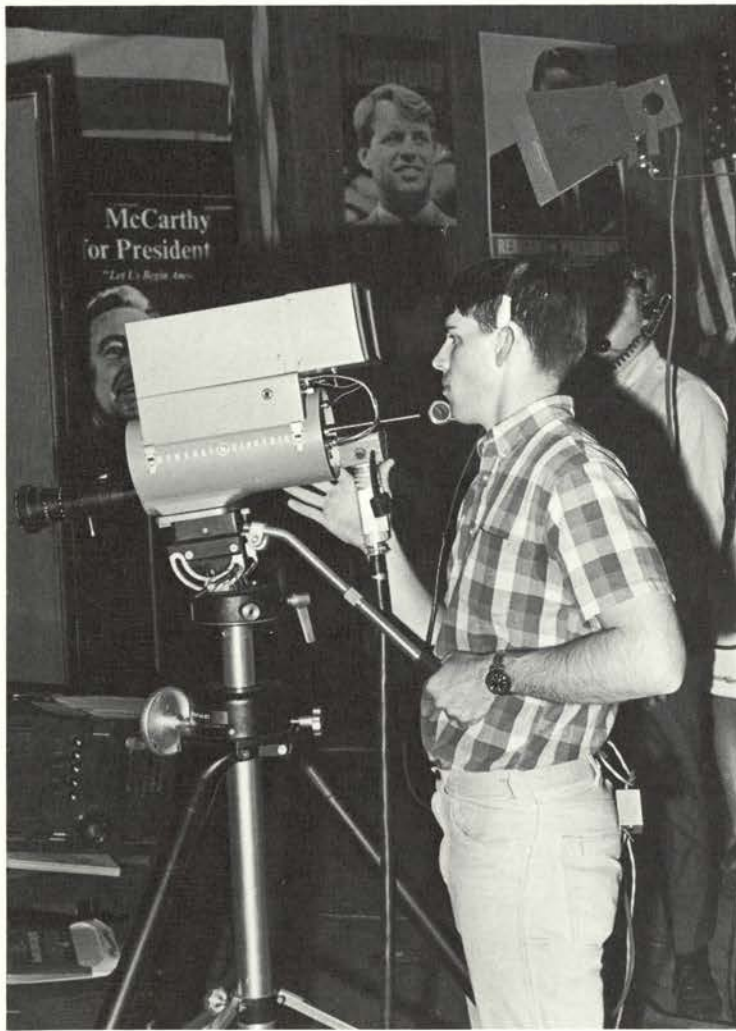

Brown, translucent, rudely cylindrical objects descend the coliseum steps. Labels of common symbols and colors help to clarify them. The purpose seems to be which object can go the farthest without breaking.

Bottle racing is just one of the many diversions occurring as people wait to buy concert tickets.

The scene is a confused mass of sleeping bags and people. Often starting 16 hours before sales, it spreads along the entire covered porch and down the stairs of the coliseum.

Food is plentiful and there is more than enough to drink, ranging from 0 to 93 proof.

Before each concert, fear of last row seats and the attitude "The sooner I buy the closer I sit," lures more students into the maze.

Chicago, Corvallis: What's The Difference

OSU students practiced democratic politics in the campus' Mock Political convention.

The basic problem of the convention was lack of student interest. Even with the addition of local TV coverage, students were still apathetic.

Disorganization made the convention last into the early morning hours. After much debate, fatigued students compromised on favorite son candidate Mark Hatfield. Eugene McCarthy captured enough votes for second place while the other major candidates trailed behind.

The delegates gained much insight into the physical and mental trials of politics.

The Campaigners

The Oregon presidential primary attracted prominent national figures who would have otherwise by-passed the campus and Oregon.

Enthusiasm was generated throughout the campus by the appearance of Robert Kennedy, Eugene McCarthy and Richard Nixon.

Political views separated the candidates, but all were forty-five minutes late.

The question and answer periods after the speeches, were the main factor in forming students' impressions of the candidates.

Sore Feet, Sore Seat: Mom's Weekend

Moms came to be entertained and see the campus.

They were properly greeted with registration lines followed by the usual tours. "That's Education Hall. This is my dormitory."

Nickel cones with two scoops made the ice cream social a favorite stop for tired mothers. Energy renewed, moms watched Stubby, the Tri Delt entry, win the annual turtle derby in Gill Coliseum.

The student-faculty pottery sale offered another break in the action and an opportunity to gather souvenirs.

Mom's Weekend culminated with the traditional IFC Sing. Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Alpha Omicron Pi sang their way to victory in the all campus competition.

Tight-fitting shoes, a wilted corsage, perhaps a pot... moms leave, but they will be back.

Administration

Humanist: President Jensen

In his eight years at OSU, President James H. Jensen has exuded the qualities of diplomat and humanitarian which have placed him in the high esteem of both the OSU student body and faculty.

Heading a firm but receptive administration the President stated that in the event of a student demonstration, "I would feel resolved to see that rights of others are not violated. The use of force or mob action is simply incompatible with higher education."

As busy as he is, President Jensen still has time for a few personal moments which he spends with his family and working in his basement workshop. He is adept at turning out cabinets, bowls, toys and puzzles for his grandchildren.

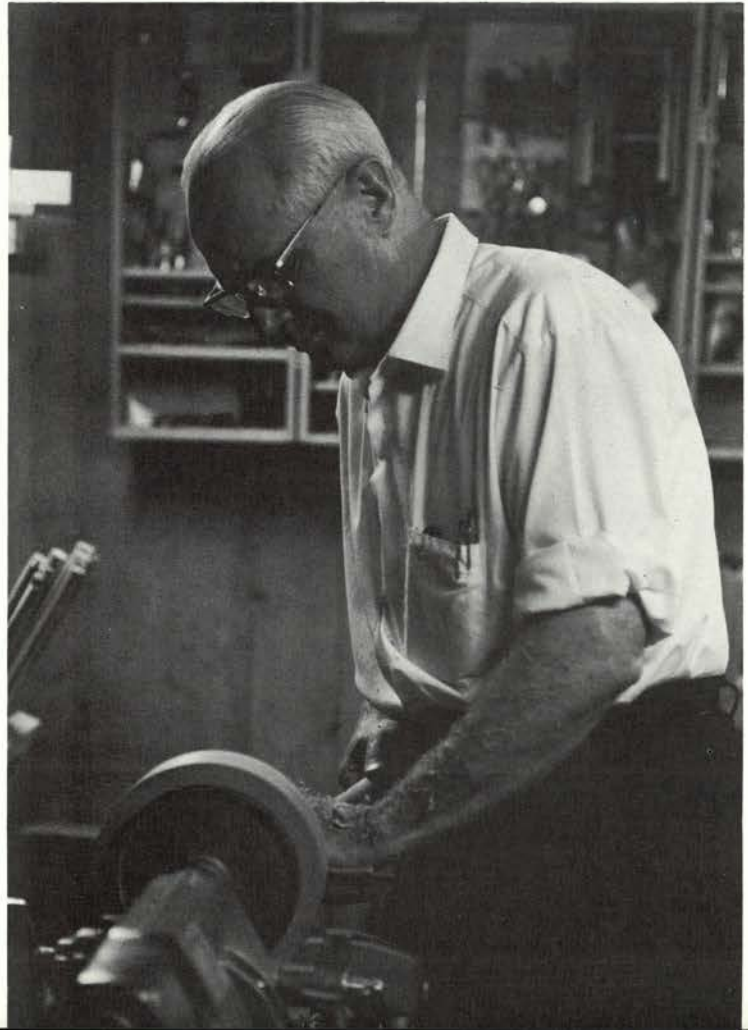

For President Jensen, the past years at Oregon State have provided the most challenging and rewarding opportunities of his life.

The Night And Day Workmen: Campus Police

In the 1920's at Oregon Agricultural College, an elderly man named Johnny Wells was the only campus policeman. As the size of the campus grew, so too did the police force. Now, the police force is comprised of 18 men with Commissioner A.H. Freundt at the helm.

When Freundt arrived at OSU, 7 years ago, he found several old pickup trucks. Today they drive '67 and '68 cars that are capable of 120 mph.

Despite these changes, however, one edict remains the same--no campus policeman carries a gun, nightstick or other weapon. Says Freundt, "The only weapon we carry is a citation book . . . it's our bugaboo."

The biggest responsibility of the force is the $125 million worth of state buildings and equipment and the thousands of dollars worth of student property.

Traffic control is the other major job where their efforts to keep traffic flowing and to protect both the motorists and the pedestrians are often misunderstood.

The campus police perform no disciplinary action except, when necessary, to refer the offender to his dean.

Campus to the Business World . . . A Transition

The world of business is one of change and challenge. Innovation and other forms of competition constantly create changes in consumer demands and, consequently, changes in the way products and services are produced and distributed.

Business and Technology strives to prepare the business student for the increasingly complex problems of the business world.

Dr. Clifford Gray instructs business students in production systems.

Rich Mehlhaf finds time to study.

Because of the enormous variety of present and potential products and services required by society, business encompasses career opportunities suitable for almost any combination of interests and talents. Students majoring in business may be preparing for such diverse careers as accountants, sales managers, personnel managers, stock brokers, real estate agents, bankers, and many other executive positions.

George Burgh and Hugh Williams work with correspondence and personnel files as part of their summer job at U.S. National Bank.

The Placement Process

The first phase of placement is a general meeting of all the graduating business seniors who are interested in interviewing with companies that visit OSU. Students are briefed on which companies will visit the campus to interview, how to most effectively use the facilities, and preparation for and evaluation of the interview.

Before beginning interviews, students build a placement file including a resume, a confidential student rating sheet and transcript.

At front counter, Hugh Williams and Rich Mehlhaf are completing placement forms.

Hugh Williams and George Bergh consult a Hyster Company brochure.

Students are able to sign up for interviews with representatives from different companies who will be visiting the Business School during the year. The Placement office in Bexell Hall provides extensive information on the companies that interview on the OSU campus. Students then schedule interviews with the companies they are interested in.

Rich Mehlhaf inquires about a management training program during an interview with a company.

Lee Crutcher, of U.S. National Bank in Corvallis, interviews graduating business senior, Hugh Williams.

Interviews and Waiting . . .

After the initial interview at OSU, companies invite business students to the home office for further interviews. Airplane tickets and other expenses are paid by the company to enable the student to visit the main plant or office.

George Bergh en route to First Federal Savings and Loan interview.

Businessmen have the primary responsibility for providing the seemingly unlimited number and variety of products and services upon which the well-being and improvement of our society depends. Their work is both imaginative and practical, for while the scientist and engineer may create vast numbers of potential new materials and products, it is the businessman who must predict, develop and distribute those that will be socially useful.

In addition to fulfilling their primary economic function in society, the training and experience of businessmen uniquely qualifies them to play a meaningful role in the attack on significant social problems. Businessmen today are taking an active leadership role in many community and national projects.

Education Counselors Look to Non-Directive Play

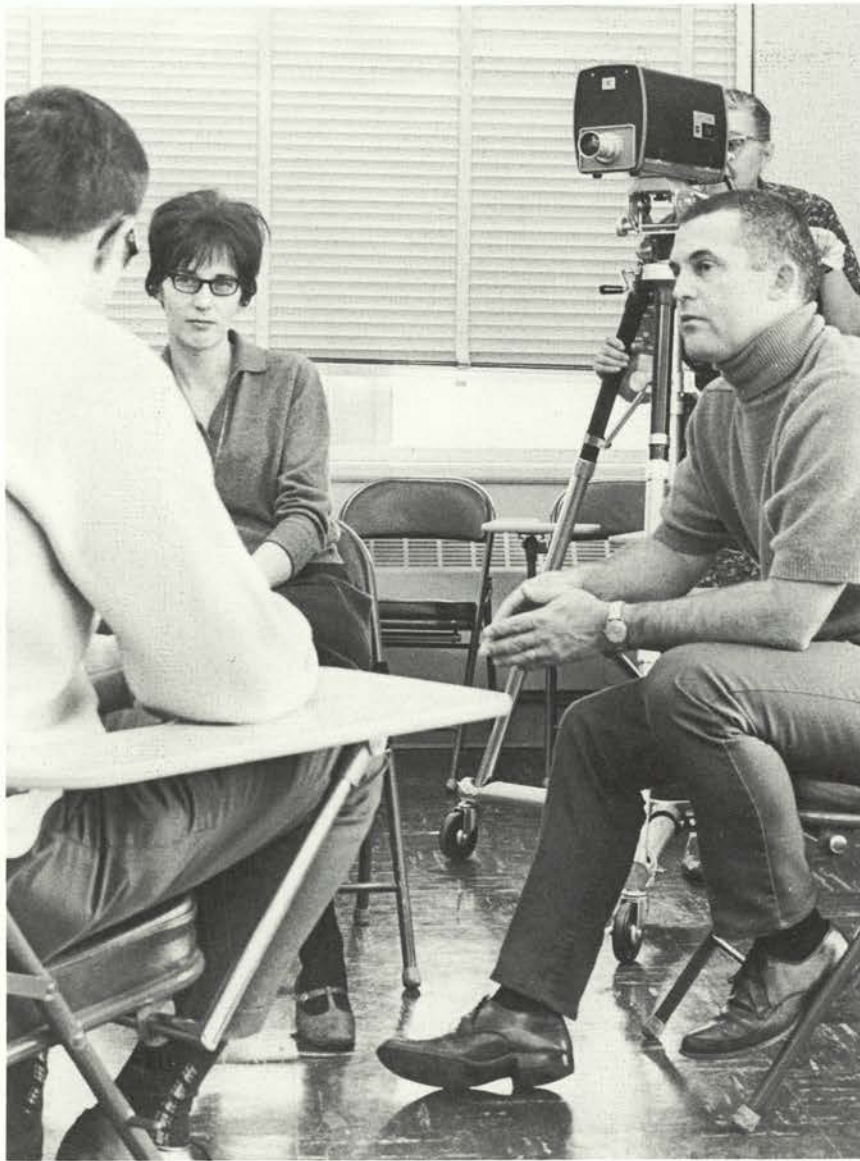

Education is using role playing as a counselor training procedure for group counseling. A counselor and three elementary students are working with problems of poor relationships.

The discussions are taped as well as video taped so that the group may examine the processes later to determine the diagnosis of the group and to ask questions concerning reasons for the reactions.

A New Home for Engineering

The new Rogers Hall, occupied by Mechanical and Industrial Engineering was completed in the spring of 1968. The building was dedicated to the late Dr. Harry Rogers, former Dean of Engineering.

Rogers Hall encloses 50,000 square feet and features a variety of specialized laboratories specifically designed for instruction in mechanical and industrial engineering.

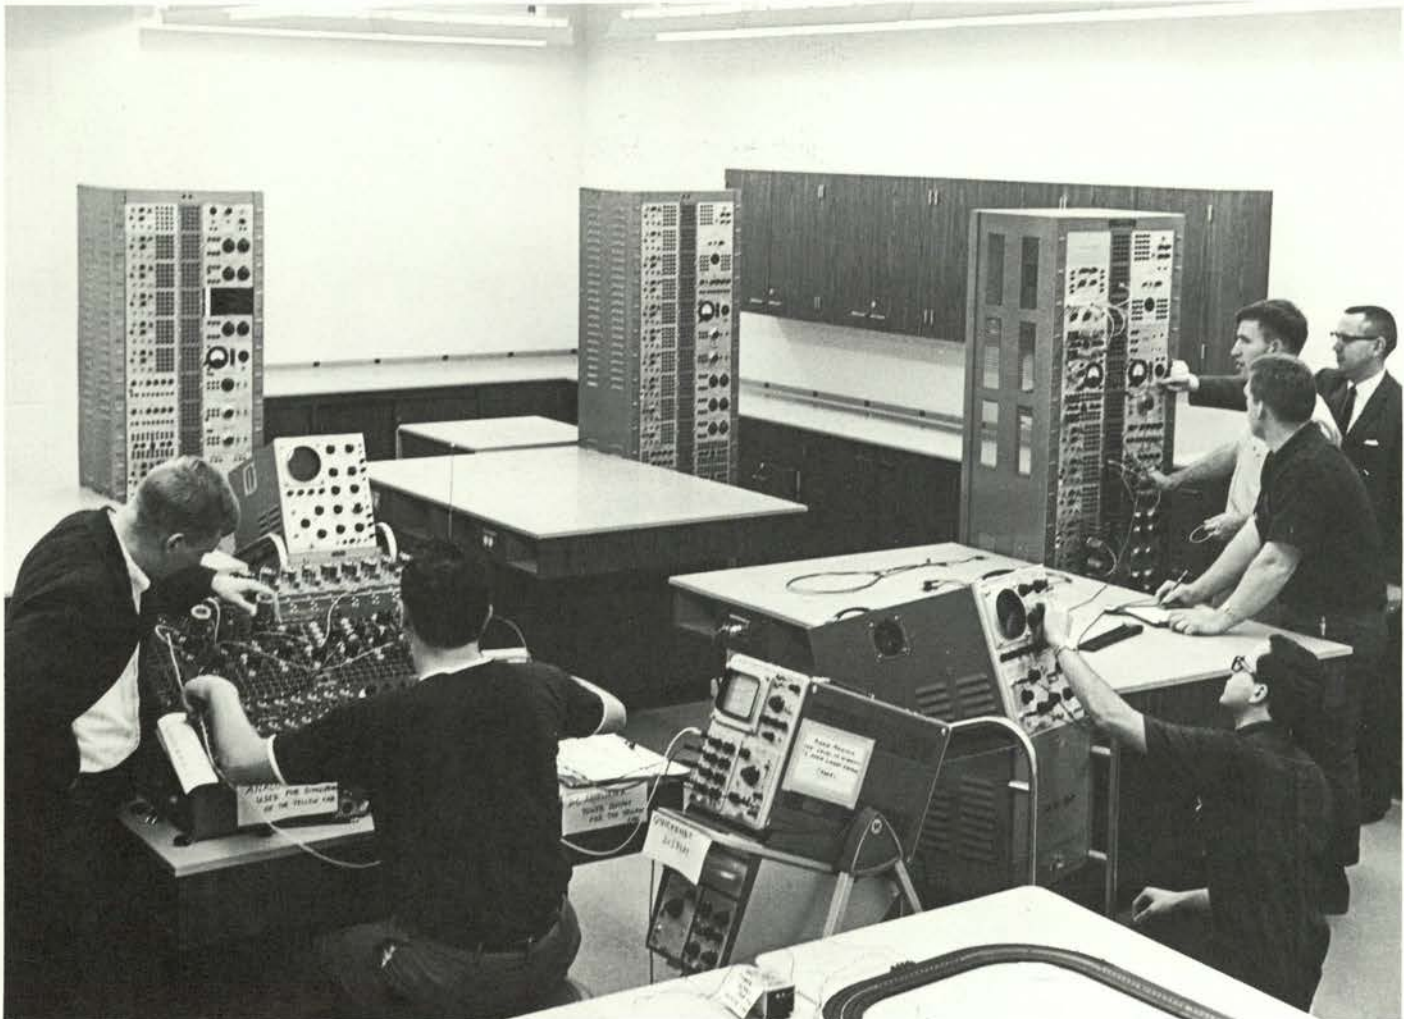

Mechanical engineering students run a performance test using a dynamometer to determine the performance and efficiency of a vehicle.

Rogers Hall is designed with an off-set corridor running the length of each of the four floors, with offices, reading rooms, conference rooms and small research rooms on the short side of the corridor.

Major laboratories on the long side of the corridor are equipped for instruction in energy transfer, fluid dynamics, machine design, gas turbines and other engineering systems.

Space has been provided for graduate research and thesis.

Engineering students work with analog computers.

Better Forestry Through Research

As stands of old-growth timber decrease in accessibility and as dependence of the forest industry on young trees increases, problems of the foresters change in character and grow in importance.

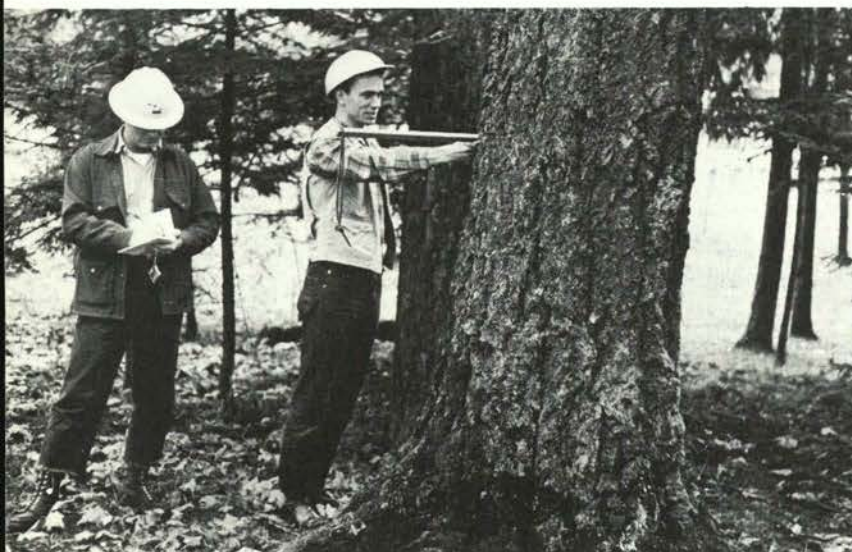

Forestry research falls into four main categories: forest management, forest products, forest economics and forest engineering.

OSU Forestry conducts projects to study seed formation, maturation, storage, dormancy and generation. The object of these projects is to enhance the survival of planted stock by increased knowledge of their resistance to heat, cold, drought and their nutrient requirements.

Forest protection research is being conducted to determine elements that may retard, damage or destroy the forest crop. This research is part of the struggle to acquire information needed in the fight against destructive agents that take a toll of resources greater than that cut and utilized by industry.

Forestry geneticists are working on projects that will culminate some day in strains of trees that grow faster, produce fiber of predetermined quality and resist insects and disease more effectively.

Forest economists are collecting data concerning the tenure and use of forest land, relationships of supply and demand in the plywood industry and marketing problems in the sawmill industry. Studies are being made on taxation, and applications of economic and business principles and techniques in the forest industry.

Home Ec Students Learn the "Whys" of Foods and Nutrition

The Home Economics curriculum is designed to provide both liberal and professional education. It strives to develop sensitivity and understanding both of the student as a thinking, feeling individual and of the world in which he lives as well as to prepare him for a responsible role in society.

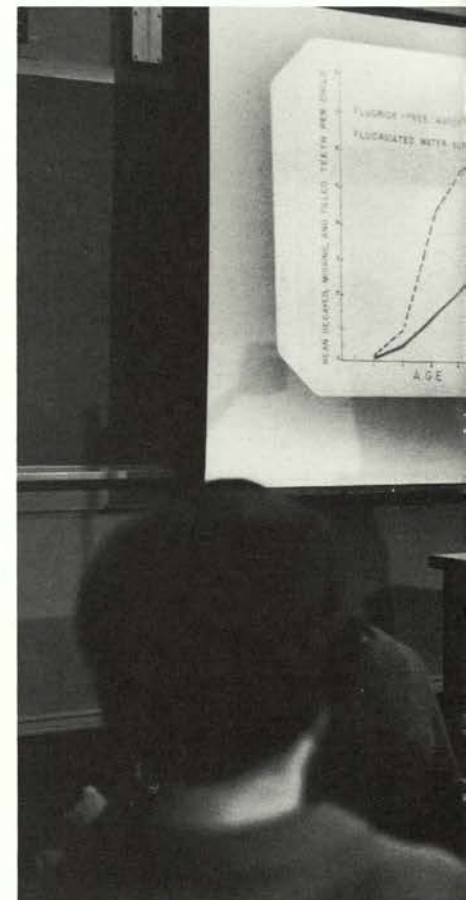

Home Economics represents a group of studies concerned with improving the quality of individual and family life in a changing society.

Foods class extracts proteins from flour to learn the "whys" behind their performance in baked products.

Foods students compare the effect of roasting time and temperature on meat cooking losses.

The microscope is used to relate the cellular structure of foods to quality.

The study of Foods deals with the application of scientific principles and cultural, economic, management and aesthetic aspects to the selection and preparation of foods.

Nutrition is concerned with meeting physiological, psychological and social needs of individuals at all ages and under varying conditions.

Advanced and specialized upper division courses are offered for students with professional interests in areas such as food service and hospital dietetics, and product testing and promotion. Some students will go on to do graduate work that will prepare them for research and college teaching positions.

Students in a beginning nutrition class study the relationship of flouride to dental caries.

OSU Hosts Radioactive Studies

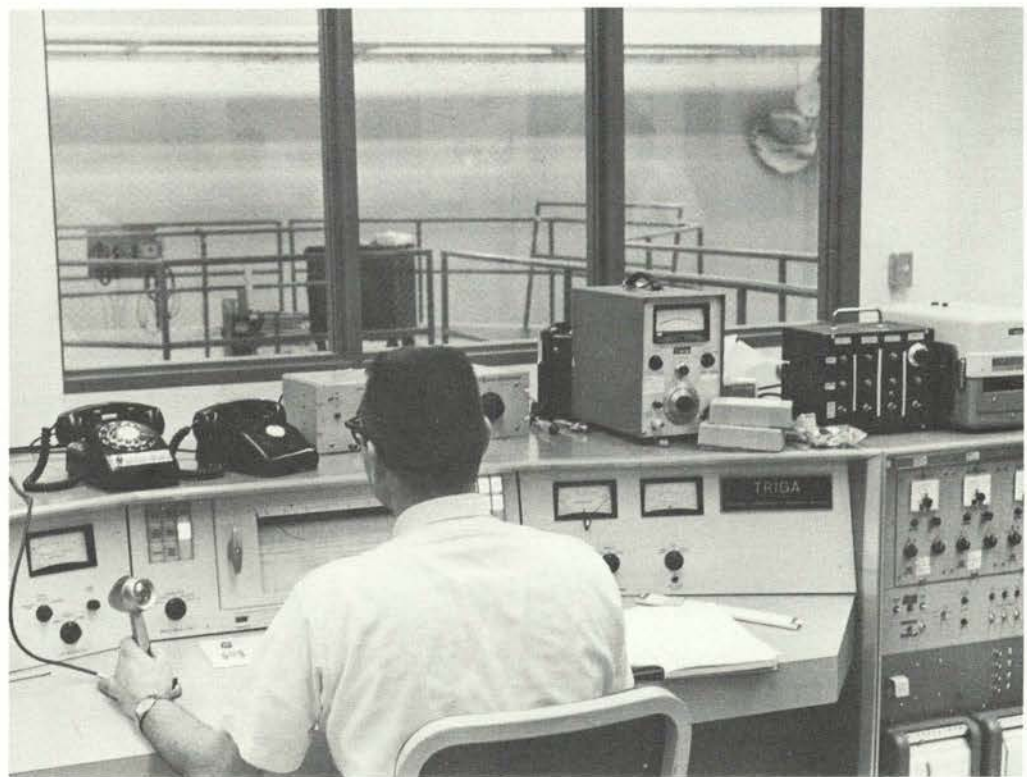

The Radiation Center accommodates internal and off-campus instruction, research and development programs in radiation.

The chemistry department offers glassblowing as a one-hour upper-division course for chemistry and physics majors. The object of the course is to teach science students to design and make the glassworks they will need in post-graduate work or research.

The class is held in the Paleontology building where Mr. Bryant works with students individually according to the needs of their field.

Elizabeth Leoveg, a senior chemistry major, works on a test tube for a research project.

Dr. David Crawford, front, and Egon Nort, back, experiment with brown and serve sausages made from fish.

Ag Conducts Fish Studies

OSU has two main sea life research operations. The Fish Nutrition and Toxicology laboratory at Corvallis deals with the nutritional and dietetic phases of fish production. The second lab, the OSU Seafoods laboratory at Astoria, was dedicated in April of 1968. Constructed with federal and state funds, it is operated by a staff of five. This lab experiments with food utilization of fish.

Ag Offers Wide Range of Study

OSU's School of Agriculture offers areas of study in agricultural economics, engineering, and education as well as soils, fisheries and wildlife, farm crops, and food science and technology.

The curriculum aims at preparing students in areas related to agriculture, and then specialization in a departmental subject area. Other areas deal with the business portion of the field of agriculture. Training is offered in marketing, finance, management and other related areas.

Students receive full credit for their year's study at the University of Pavia and the Italian Studies Center, which was donated to Portland State by the city of Pavia.

Students live in apartments near campus and are free to travel where they wish on weekends. On these weekend excursions, many students went to the Winter Olympics, and the Grand Prix races in Monte Carlos. During Christmas and spring vacations, students scatter to all parts of Europe to take advantage of the longer traveling time. About twenty OSU students studied in Pavia last year.

H&SS Offers European Studies

Janet Ellerby visits out-door market in Dublin, Ireland.

The liberal arts programs abroad provide opportunities for qualified undergraduates to study in Europe. It gives students an immediate experience with countries and cultures perhaps known previously only through books and conversation.

Credit is earned for courses taken at Avignon, Paris, Dublin, London, Tokyo and the German Study Center. Students may study on these programs for an entire year, or for spring and summer terms.

Fine Arts

Art 1969: The Happening

Splash! A blob of paint strikes the canvas. Art, like Oregon State, has changed in the last one-hundred years. In 1869 the Impressionists were exhibiting in Paris and the breakdown of strict linear form was beginning. The artist for the last one-hundred years has been leaving all but the essential out of his works. This has led to a necessary abstraction. The art students at Oregon State are continuing in this tradition by experimenting with new materials to create new art forms.

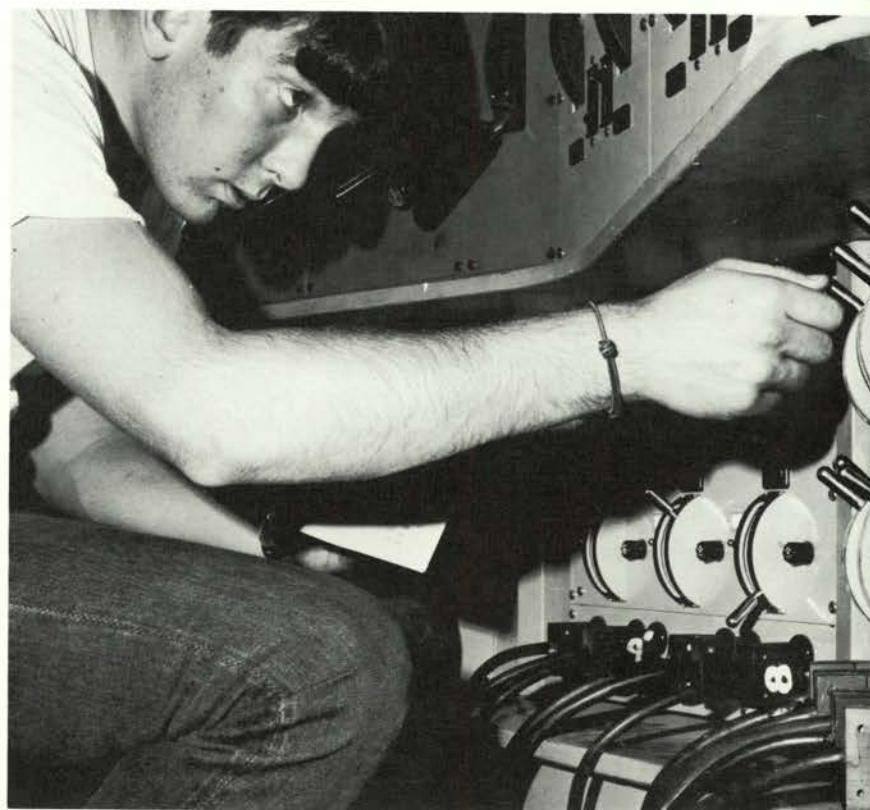

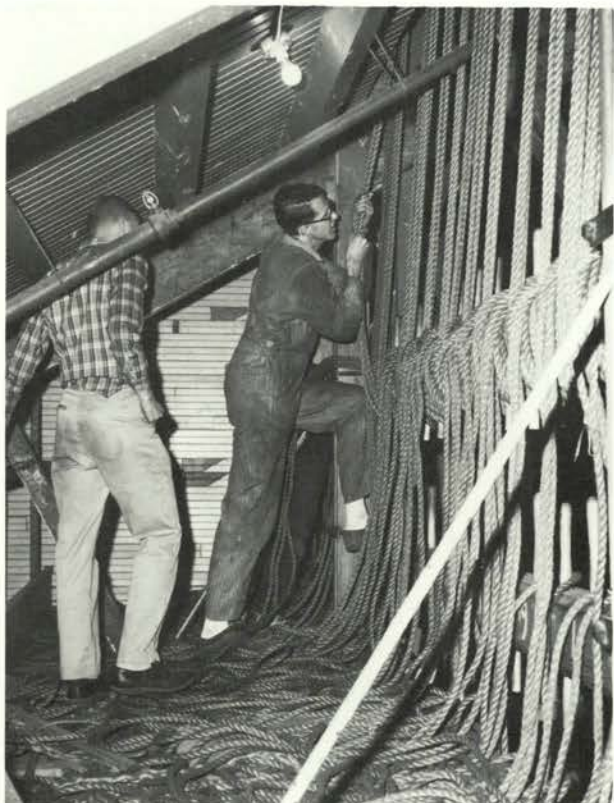

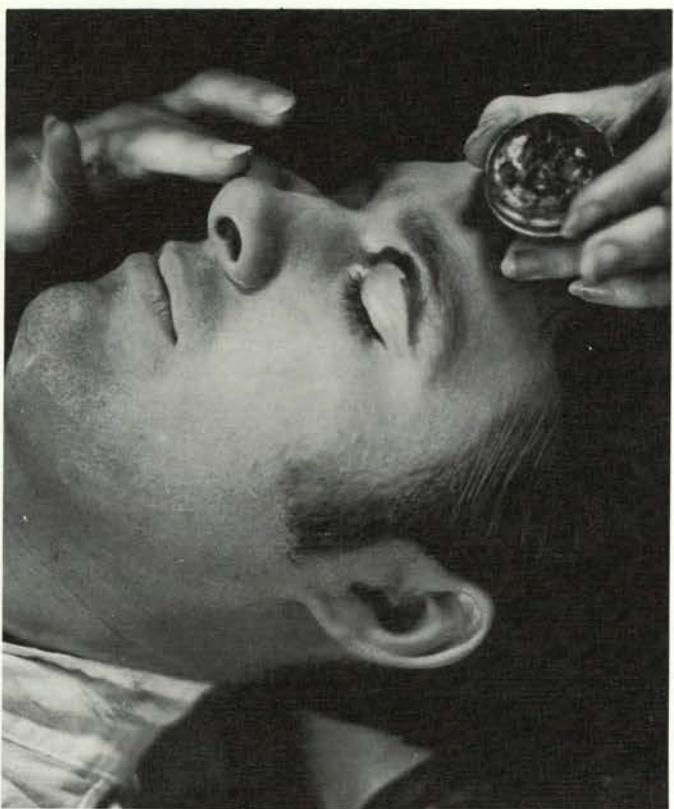

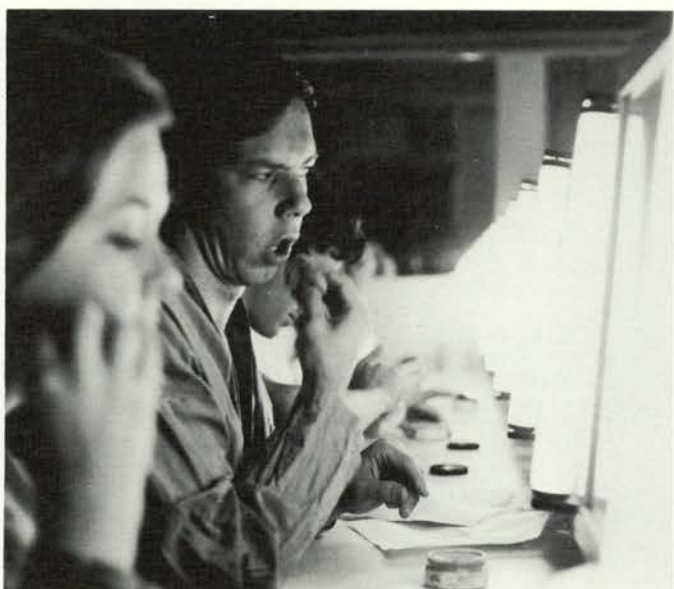

A Play is Born . . .

"Twelve months later my son was born. He was so overdue that when he came out he was already teething. I took him home and put him in a cage in the darkest corner of my room . . ."

The final production of a play goes through many labor pains before it is produced before the audience. Sets must be constructed, lights checked, sound effects tested, costumes fitted and actors made up before the applause of success is heard.

Quads Are Born!

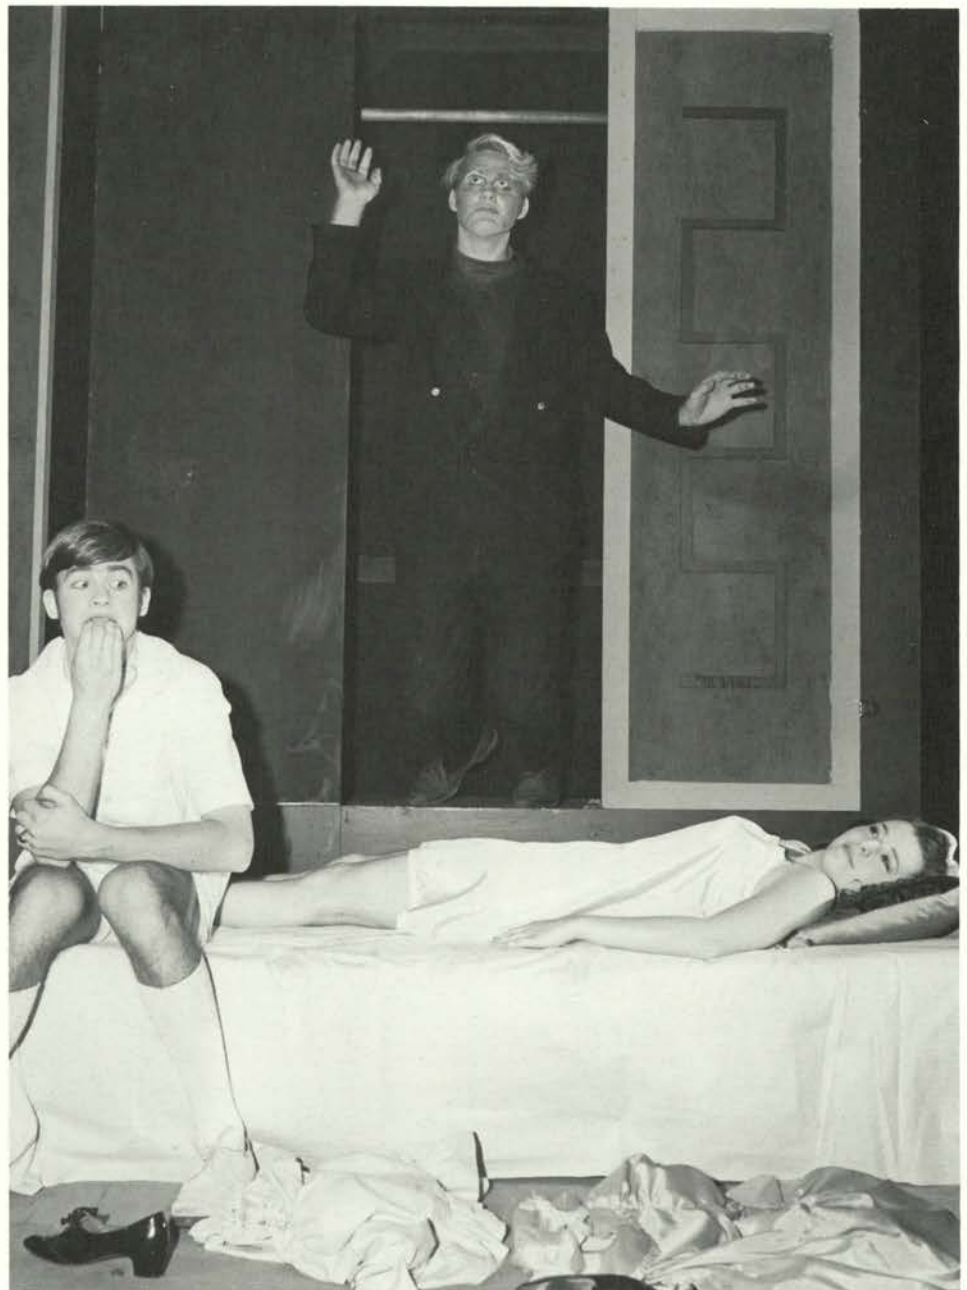

The University Theatre proudly announced the birth of four plays fall and winter terms 1968-9. The dramas presented included a variety of styles, themes and moods, providing both the student and the audience an interesting learning experience.

Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Momma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad... by Arthur Kopit has been described as "a pseudo classical Tragifarce in the Bastard French Tradition."

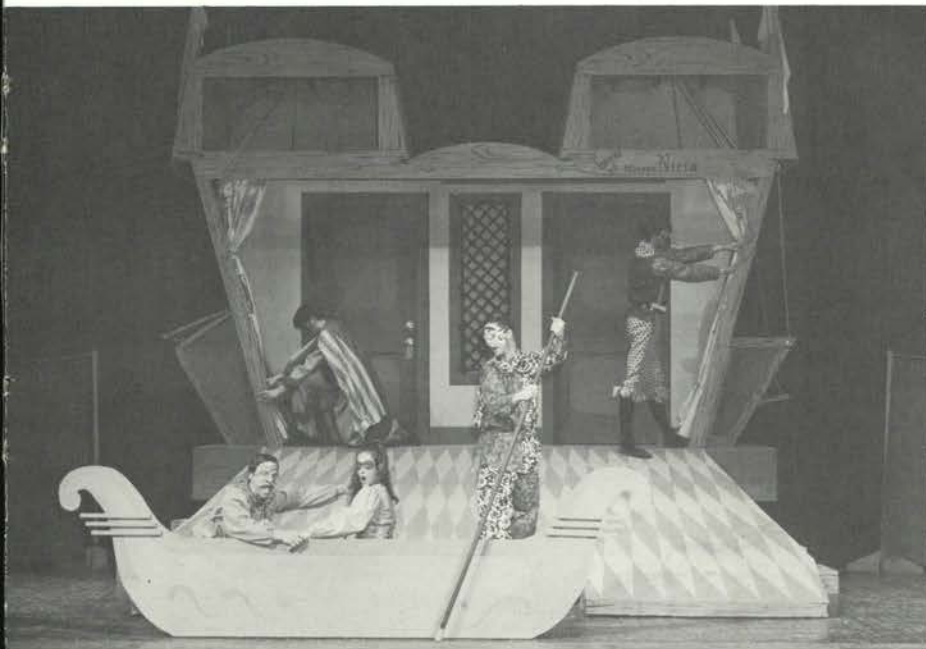

The ribald comedy, La Mandragola, by Niccolo Machiavelli, aroused the audience to laughter with its pungent criticism of the Florentine society.

The dilemma of modern man in an universe that is no longer God centered is the theme of the medieval morality play, The Tragical History of Doctor Faustus by Christopher Marlowe.

The Contrast by Royall Tyler was the first American comedy to win professional production.

The Ears Respond,

There are approximately two-hundred young men and women in the Oregon State University bands. They are divided into four performing organizations: Marching Band, Symphonic Band, Varsity Band and Pep Band.

The eighty-five piece Symphonic Band consists of the most skilled and advanced players on campus. The varsity Band is open to all instrumentalists on campus and serves as a training unit for the Symphonic Band.

The one-hundred and forty piece Marching Band received many letters of praise as a result of its accomplishments on national television. The Pep Band, an all-male organization selected from members of the Symphonic and Varsity Bands, perform at all home and away OSU basketball games.

Music Is . . .

The seventy piece OSU-Corvallis Symphony Orchestra gave three concerts on campus this year. During the concert on February 12 Governor McCall gave a narration of Aaron Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait." Students, faculty and townspeople compose the symphony orchestra.

The orchestra sponsored a contest for high school soloists. The winner played a solo at one of the orchestra's concerts.

The OSU Chamber Orchestra with thirty members gave four concerts this year.

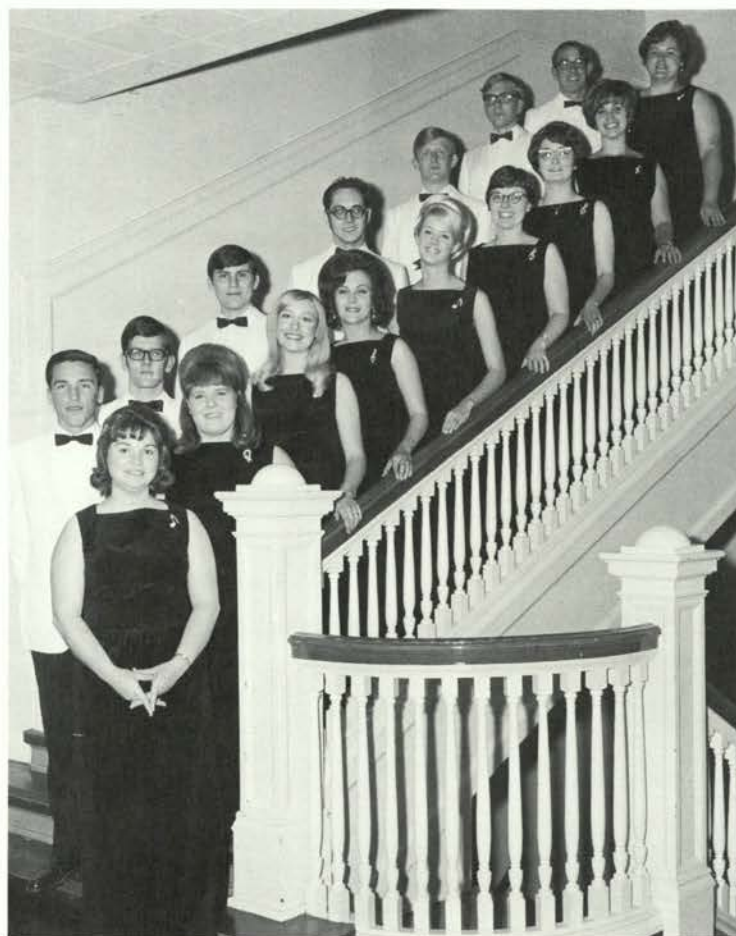

The Choralaires

Do, Re, Mi

The University Chorus is open to all university students, subject to audition. Membership is held to a maximum of eighty-five. In December the Chorus presented "The Saint Luke Christmas Story," by Cecil Effinger, with the University Chamber Orchestra.

An early spring tour of eastern Oregon cities, concerts in the Portland area and several campus concerts highlighted the Choralaire's year. Sixty carefully chosen singers comprise this busy choir, many of them having sung for a year or more with the University Chorus.

Madrigals is music set to love lyrics of the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries. The group had a concert in the fall and carolled at the rest homes and Children's Farm Home during the Christmas season.

Speak Up, Speak Out!

"No, I disagree. Who else but the student can be the judge of how effective an instructor is?"

This was just a spark of the spitfire that occurred in debates between the students during the past year. Meanwhile the more articulate members of the student body joined Forensics and were confronted with a diversity of debate topics. Accompanying the Forensics squad to the tournaments throughout the year was verbal equipment designed with the judge in mind, and the individual personality of the speaker.

"But are you happy, are you really happy?"

ASOSU Senate Adds Foreign Senator

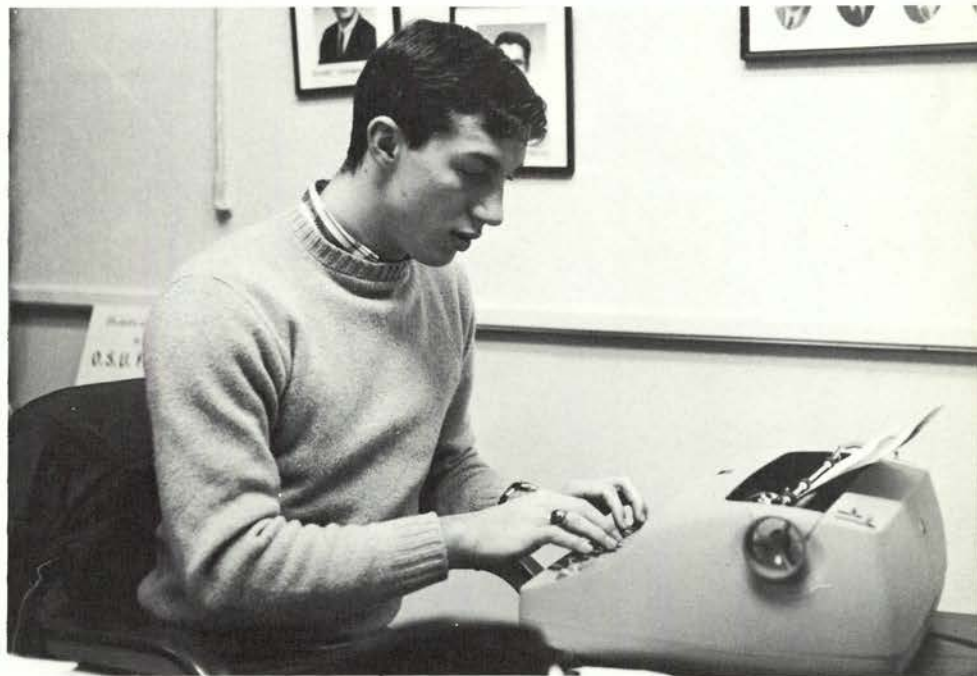

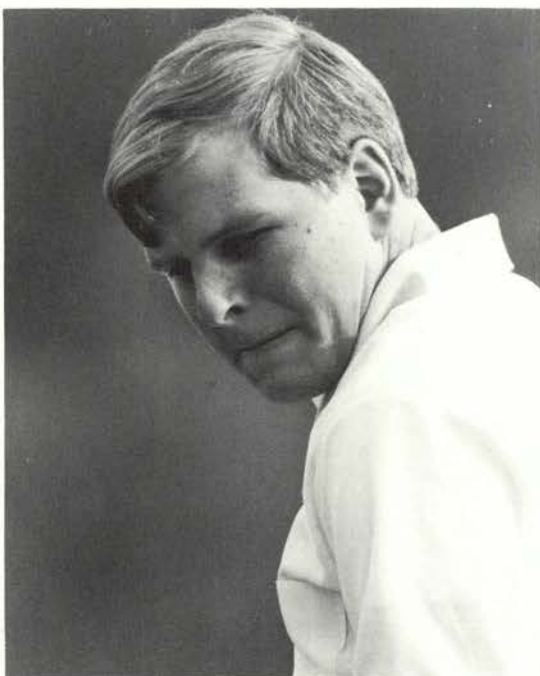

Innovation was the keynote of this year's Associated Students of Oregon State University. Innovation showed itself in new programs, new bills and ideas.

New programs of the Senate included a student-faculty retreat, a new Foreign Student Senator and a minority student program. The retreat was held during winter term to discuss problems of the campus and seek their solutions. The Senate formed the minority students program to help these students find a meaningful place in the university community.

One of the new bills sponsored by the Senate was to expand the amount of time given to students at registration. Another bill allowed students to decide whether to take a course on the Satisfactory-Unsatisfactory basis on or before the sixth week of school.

ASOSU also sponsored the new PAC-8 leadership conference held during winter term.

Student-Faculty Mix Food Technology Club

Each term the faculty and students get together so they can become better acquainted. This is to promote interest in the School of Food Technology.

During spring vacation, they traveled to California and visited food processing plants.

The Engineer's Voice Engineering Student Council

Engineering Student Council is the voice of the engineer on campus. Recognizing the much publicized inability of engineers to effectively communicate on the job and with society, the council studied non-technical aspects of education, caused curriculum alteration and started a movement to change English composition course content.

Members discovered that student ambition is the only limitation to student voice in curriculum matters.

Tom McCall To Narrate 'A Lincoln Portrait' Here

The Oregon State University's Tom McCall will be heard in a new recording — and new medium — when he appears at Oregon State University at 8 p.m. on Feb. 12, in the Student Center.

The recording, which has been performed by such groups as the Oregon State University and the University of Oregon, is a new recording of the famous "A Lincoln Portrait" by the late composer, Elmer Frey.

OREGON GOVERNOR TOM MCCALL will narrate the recording of Elmer Frey's "A Portrait of Lincoln" Feb. 12.

Mortar Board Cancels Ball

The Mortar Board Ball has been canceled due to a lack of student attendance, but the tradition of the Mortar Board King remains.

Mortar Board, a national organization of honor societies, has recognized an outstanding senior male each year for the past eight years by naming him the Mortar Board King. The selection is based upon personality, leadership and personal contribution to OHSU.

Other nominees are: Mike Markham, Russ Peterson, Jack Peterson, Bill Sorenson, Don Sargent, Bill Tingen, Jay Thomas, Larry Theringhouse, John Todd, Tom Vukobrat, Steve Walker, Rudy Wessling and Steve Lee.

Through a series of interviews, Mortar Board will determine the 1969 Mortar Board King. The selection will be made by an ad hoc committee consisting of members of the Mortar Board and other members of the OHSU community.

The Mortar Board King will be presented with a certificate and a trophy, although the tradition for the Mortar Board Ball has not been observed yet.

CENTENNIAL BEAVER 1969

Each year is unique...especially a centennial year. How do you compose a book as good as the award winning 1968 Beaver and still have it different and exciting for a centennial. This was the problem facing the Beaver staff as we dug in last spring and started work.

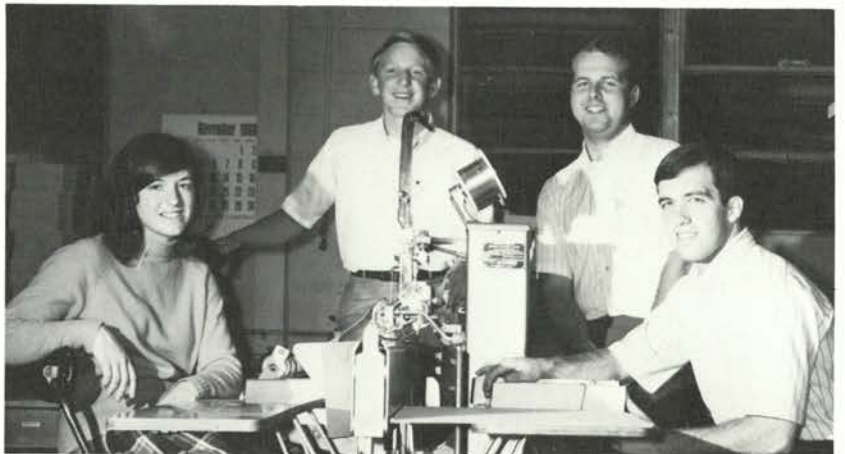

Spring term for the staff filled their Wednesday nights with a class in journalism headed by Mr. Harris. We learned how to do basic yearbook fundamentals such as layout, picture cropping, and copywriting. At the end of the term all of the treks to the Beaver office were rewarded with the Beaver awards banquet.

At the banquet the old staff was praised and their successors were introduced. As the year ended so did the physical work on the book, but we all kept it in the back of our minds.

Fall came rapidly for everyone and work on the annual began at a fever pace to meet the early dates set for several sections. There were weekly meetings to keep us all informed and to meet with the publishers. The publishers brought out their criticisms about the general layout of the book. Most of all they stressed deadlines which led on to those typical evenings with a coffee cup in one hand and a No-Doz in the other.

To many Oregon State students "Fencing" is more than a sport and "Peanuts" isn't just a snack. They are two aspects of the many faces of the Oregon State Barometer. Published by a staff of associated students, the paper is oriented toward the individual opinions prevalent on the Oregon State campus. In keeping with this attitude this paper welcomes contributions from everyone to the "sounding box of the people."

With the new improved format the Barometer had its most successful year. "Campus Scene" enabled the reader to see at a glance the daily activities of the university while the sports page and "pins and rings" were two sections never missed by the average Oregon State student.

"Patronize your advertisers" and "send it home to your parents" were just two of the slogans used by the Barometer business staff to help promote sales and increase operational funds. It was also their responsibility to distribute the papers around campus which was often done in the early morning hours, soggy shoes, and umbrella in hand. These behind-the-scene workers traveled their beat each week, seeking out financial backing for the Barometer. Their success is shown in both the national and local patronage of the newspaper.

Opportunities Await Future Ensigns

Capt. John H. Hitchcock, Professor of Naval Science.

The purpose of the Navy Reserve Officer Training Corps Program is to educate and train well-qualified young men for careers as commissioned officers in the Navy or Marine Corps. To be commissioned as an ensign in the Navy or a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps, a student must take twenty-four hours of naval science, participate in scheduled drills and complete a summer cruise.

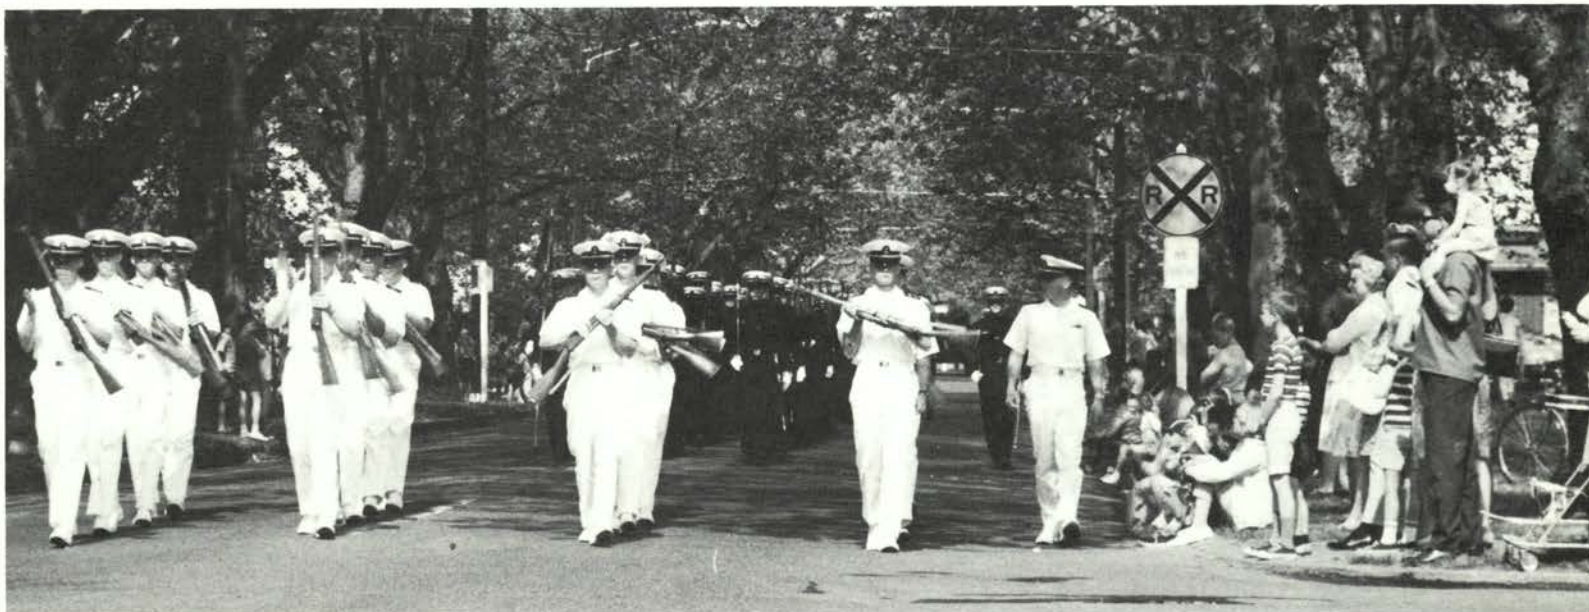

The newly commissioned officer has many opportunities when he enters his career. An ensign may select Aviation Training, Submarine Training or the Staff Corps, while a second lieutenant will go to Basic School after graduation. Both will then go on to serve the country in their chosen fields.

AFROTC Program Expanded

Recently, the Air Force ROTC program expanded to include two-year as well as four-year students. The two-year program is offered to juniors who did not take ROTC during their first two college years. Challenging careers in aviation, science, engineering and many related fields are now offered.

The education of young leaders to meet the challenges of the Air Force has brought about the need for changes in teaching techniques, curriculum and leadership development. Field training is an important aspect in preparing AFROTC cadets for commissioning. Courses included are survival, junior officer training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination, physical training and organization. The cadets are also provided with a chance to earn their private pilot license through the Flight Instruction Program.

The Essence of Victory . . . Men

The Army's mission has changed little since 1775, but the weapons and methods have changed greatly. The means of preserving peace and defending against aggression in today's Army bear little resemblance to those used in WWII or Korea.

The greatest change is in the demands made of the men. . . The army credits men, not equipment, as the essence of victory. The officers who emerge from the campus of Oregon State exemplify the type of men who are accepting and conquering challenges; challenges that only today's complex military and political societies could demand for the maintenance of peace.

Beavers Battle Back to 7-3 Season

The Oregon State Beavers opened the 1968 campaign with roses in their eyes. The team, built around a fine group of seniors with additional help from the juniors and sophomores, had high hopes of a perfect record and New Years Day in Pasadena.

The dream was short lived as the Beavers trekked to Iowa City for the opening encounter with the Hawkeyes. Plagued with turnovers, the Beavers fell to the upset-minded Iowa team 21 to 20.

The following Saturday, Oregon State met Utah in Salt Lake City and pulled out a hard fought 24 to 21 victory.

The Beavers first home appearance was against Washington and the winner would move into the front of the PAC 8 race. After trailing 14-7 at half-time, the team came back to score 28 straight points before the Huskies could dent the Orange goal line. It looked as if the gridders were finally living up to their preseason rating with this impressive victory.

Kentucky was the next opponent and the game turned into a free scoring, offensive battle as the Beavers were subdued 35 to 34.

The team came back to Oregon ready to prove themselves. The Orangemen took on Arizona State up in Portland and beat the Sun Devils 28 to 9. Next, the Beavers traveled to Pullman to battle the Cougars and posted a hard fought 16 to 8 victory. Stanford was the next opponent as Oregon State quickly demoralized the Indians and coasted to a 29 to 7 win.

Homecoming brought Tommy Prothro and his UCLA Bruins to Corvallis. After a tremendous scoring spree by both clubs in the first quarter, OSU settled down and ground out a punishing 45 to 21 score.

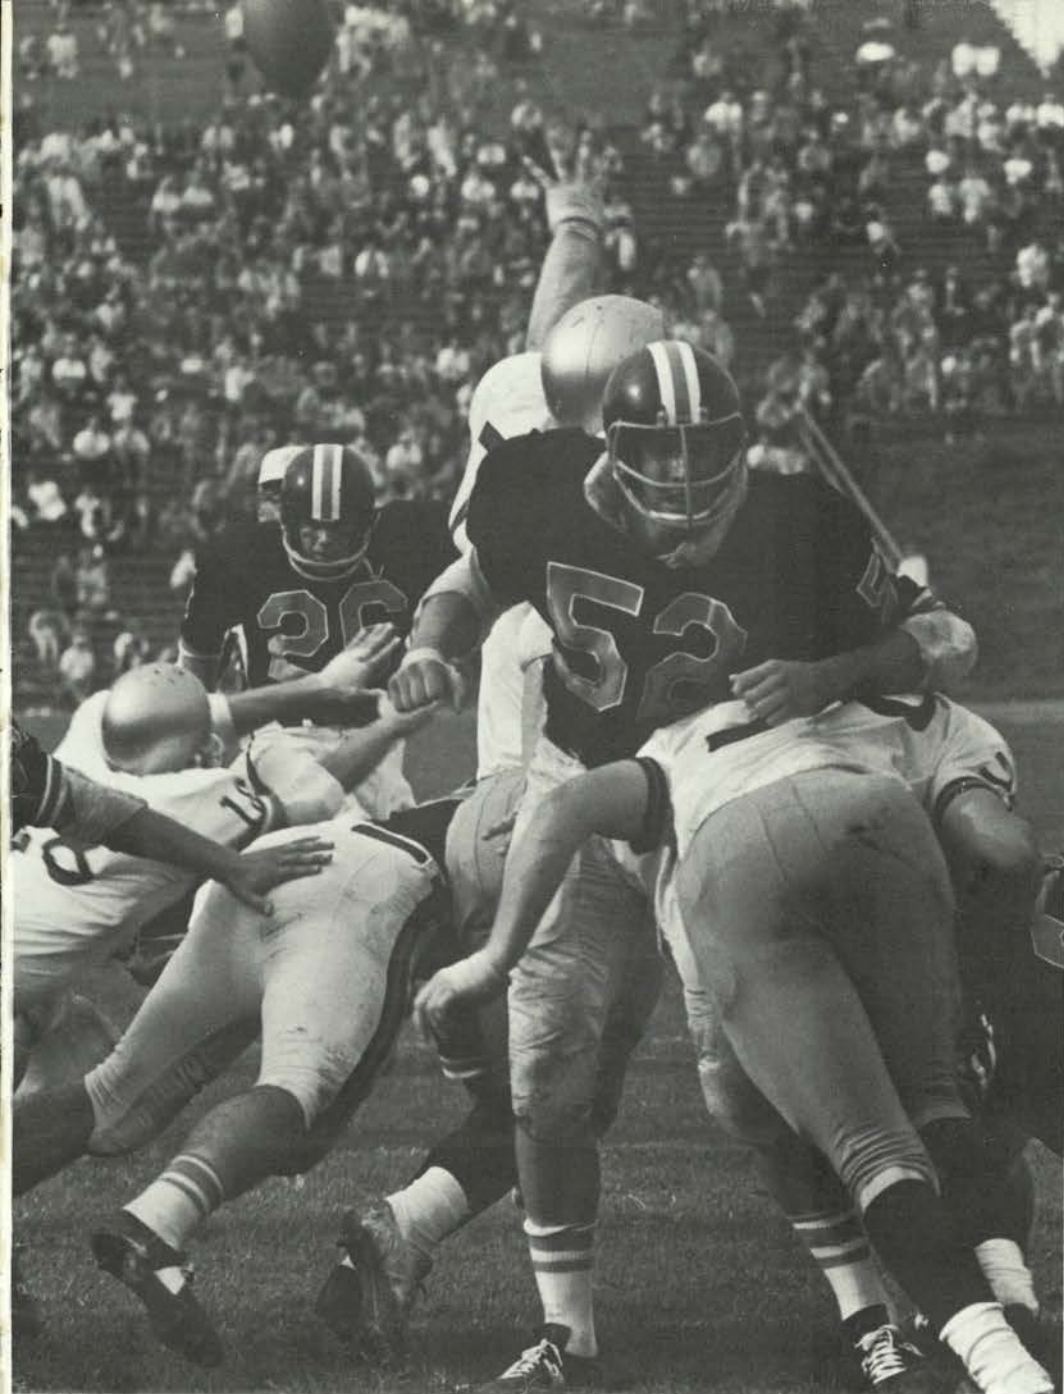

The showdown for the league title and Rose Bowl berth pitted OSU against USC in Los Angeles. After a scoreless first half, the Beavers drew first blood but the Trojans fought back and escaped with a 17-13 victory.

The season's finale matched the Oregon Ducks against the Orange. Seemingly up, from the Trojan let down, the Beavers took command from the opening gun and ran to a 41 to 19 margin.

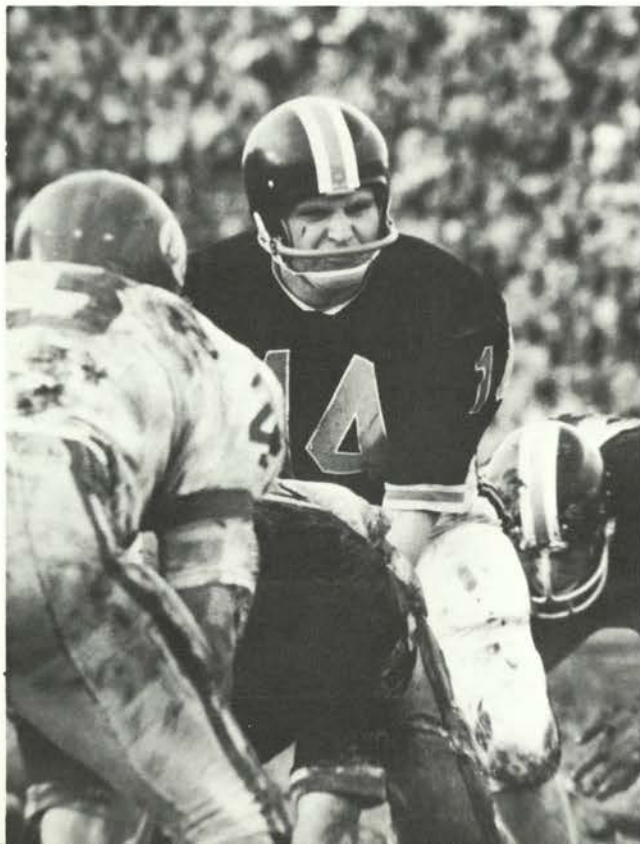

Thus the season ended without roses but the Oregon State football team proved themselves to be one of the best in Beaver history.

Touchdowns

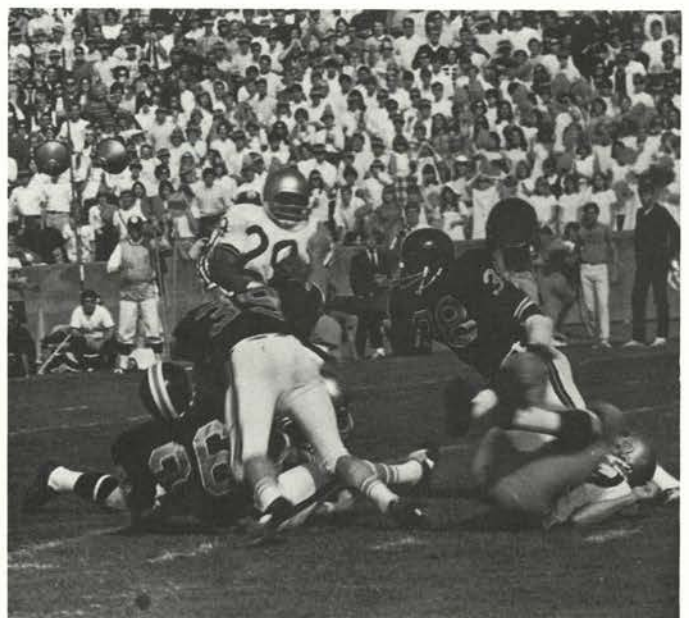

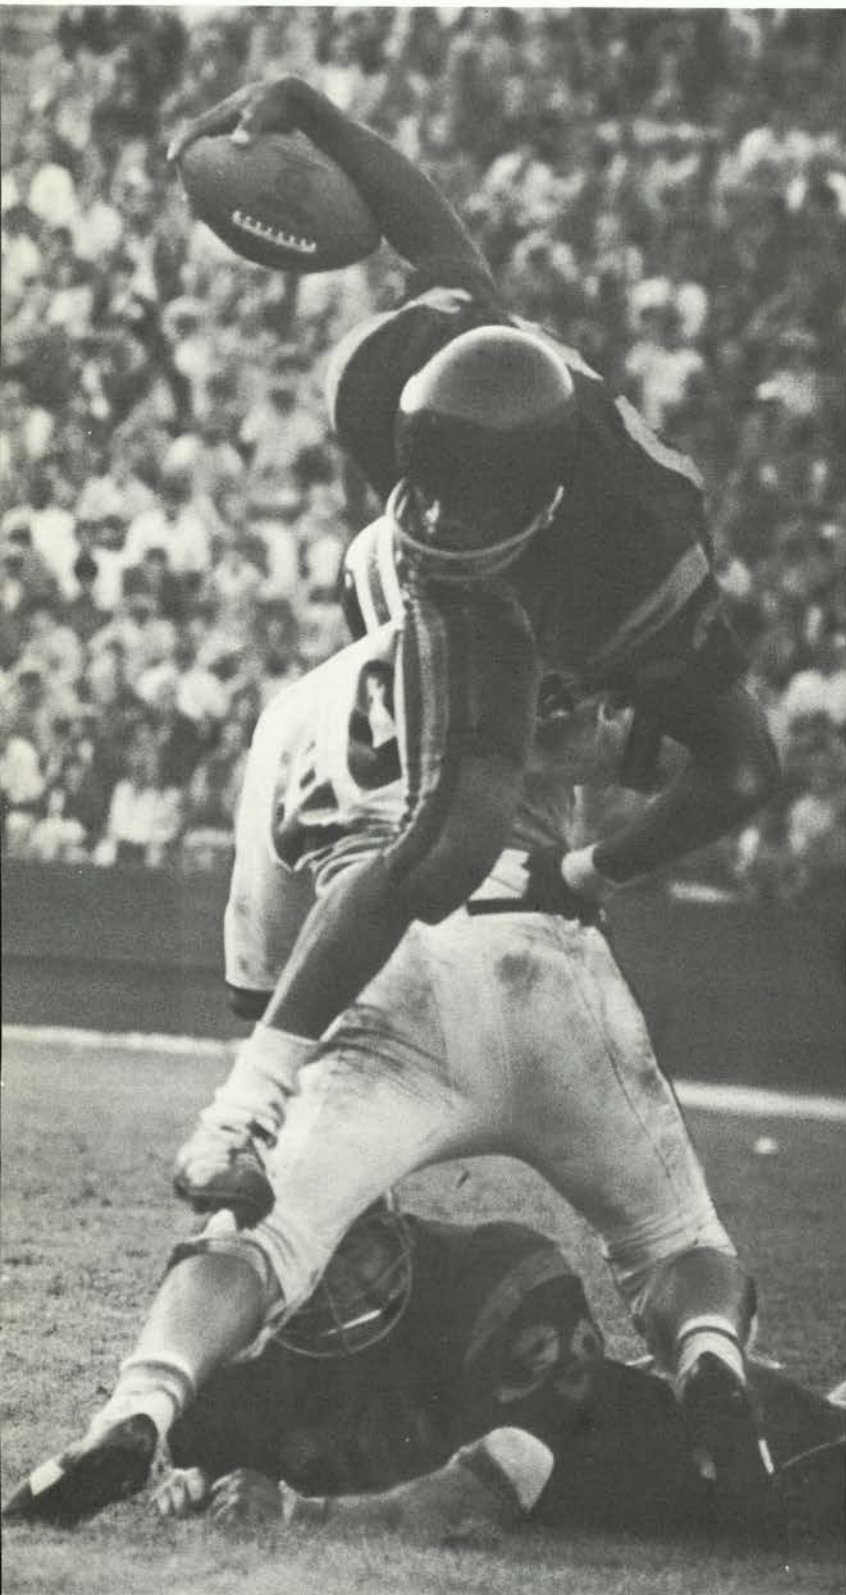

When Oregon State took the field each Saturday afternoon, one could be assured of lots of scoring. The Beavers averaged over four touchdowns per game. "Earthquake" Enyart crossed the hallowed line seventeen times during the season while speedster Billy Main scored fourteen six-pointers.

The fullback oriented offense displayed an awesome ground attack. When yardage up-the-middle was needed, one could always depend on Enyart. Big Bill rushed for 1304 yards in 293 attempts for a 4.5 average. Around end, Main and Summers were the specialists. Time and again, one of the two would take the option pitchout and scamper for the needed yardage. When razzle-dazzle was in order, Bobby Mayes ran the reverse to perfection.

Although the offense was rush conscious, Preece still managed to complete 881 yards through the airways. Throwing mainly from the rollout or play-action, Steve completed over half of his passes including 5 touchdowns. Cantlon, Rodgers, and Main were the able receivers throughout the year. This was truly an outstanding year for the offensive unit. Special credit should be given to the great Beaver line. Anchored by All-American John Didion, Rocky Rasley, Kent Scott, Roger Stalick, and Clyde Smith, the Line opened huge holes throughout the year for the backs.

Right: The defensive backs Larry Rich (26), Don Whitney (37), and Mel Easley (38), gang up on Washington's Harvey Blanks.

Good, Tough, Defense

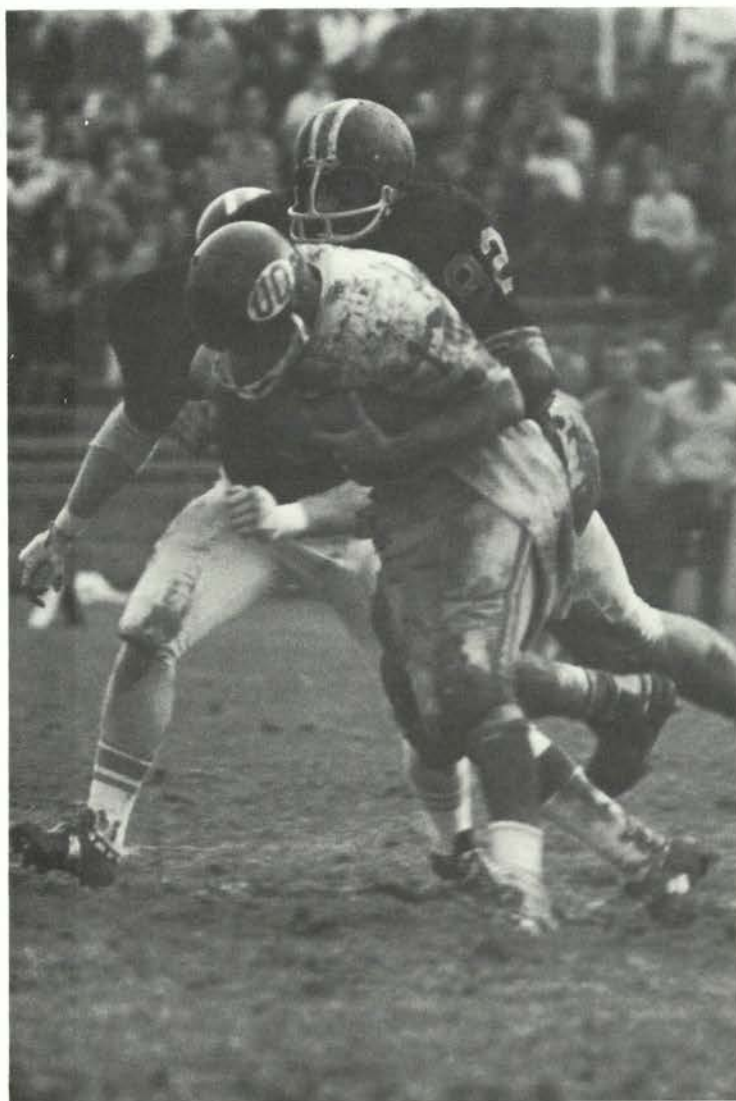

Led by All-American Jon Sandstrom, the defensive unit arose to the occasion throughout the year. The line, having great size and strength, provided a worthy test for any foe while the linebackers and halfbacks handled the secondary duties. Against Arizona State the Beavers held the Sun Devils scoreless for three quarters. The line had the speedsters throttled while the secondary intercepted six aerials.

The Beavers trekked to Palo Alto for an encounter with the pass conscious Indians and once again the defense stymied the opponent. The Orangemen sent Stanford's quarterback to the showers with his worst performance.

In the PAC showdown, the Beavers held the Trojans to a standstill for most of the game until O.J. Simpson broke loose on a couple of runs. Even then the defense came back and fought until the final gun.

Linebacker Mike Groff led the team in total tackles with 82 while Mike Foote was second with 76. Sandstrom, Boley, Johnson, and Belcher rounded out the leaders while Larry Rich and Charlie Olds led the team in interceptions with 6 apiece.

Only Wilted Roses in Los Angeles

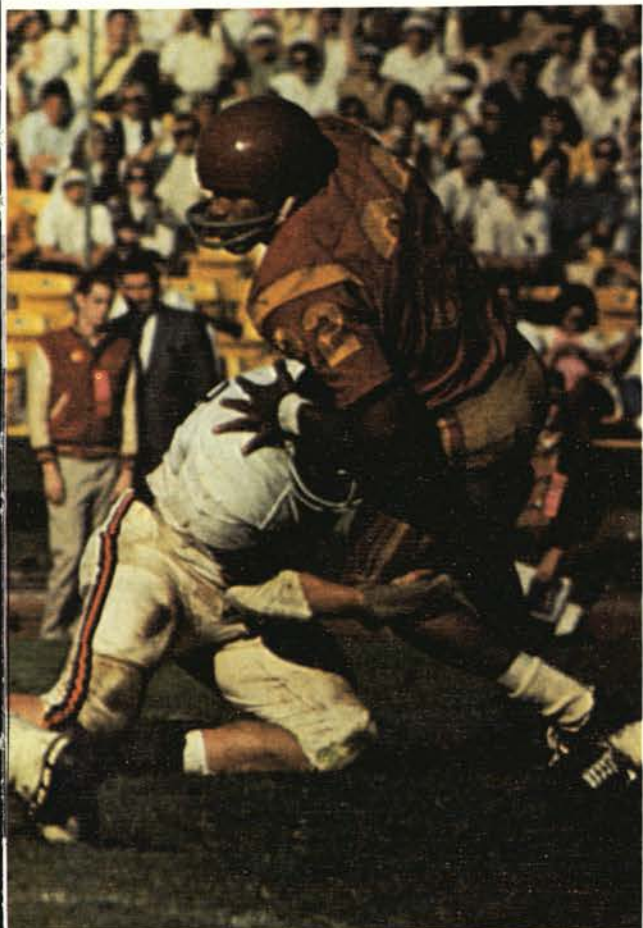

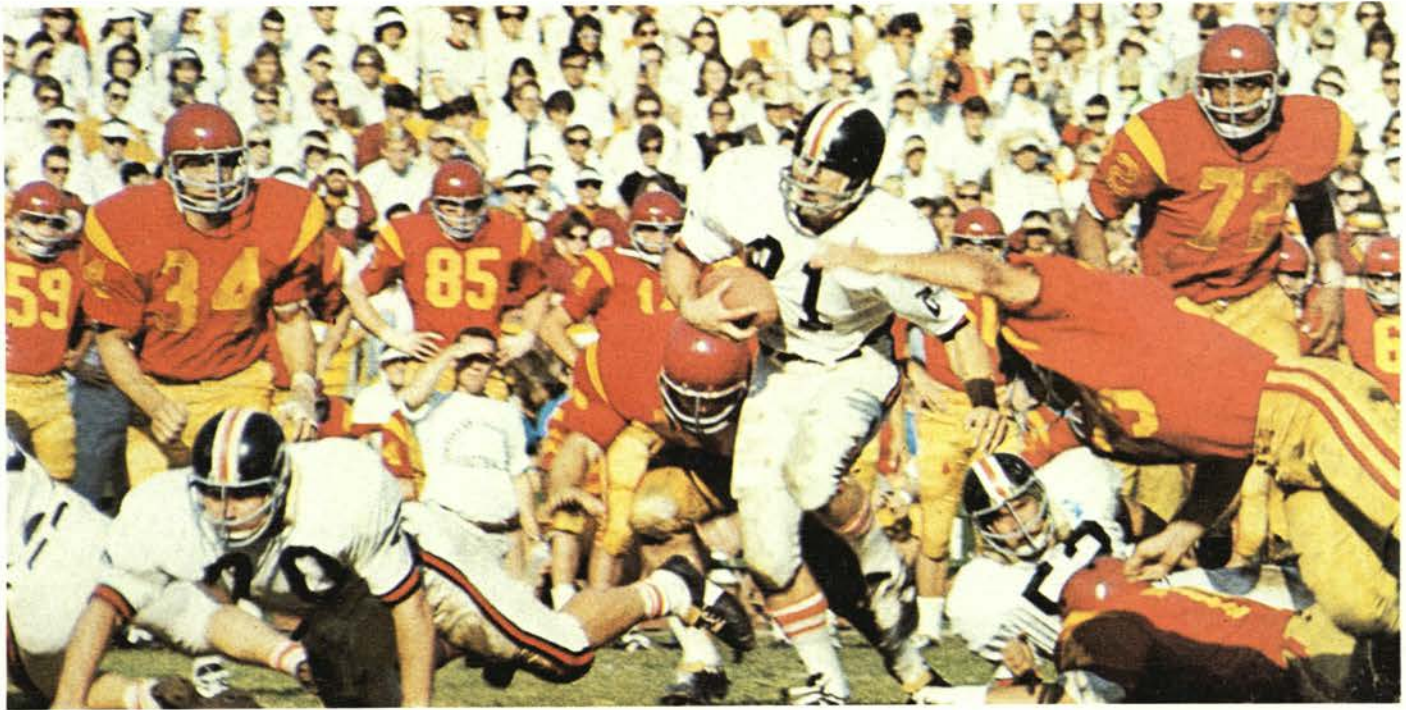

The showdown for the PAC title and a Rose Bowl berth came in Los Angeles when the USC Trojans entertained the Beavers. Ranked number one, Troy was ready to fall and the Orangemen were the able conquerors.

Oregon State completely dominated the first half but failed to score on three field goal attempts. With the scoreless first half, the Beavers came out and drove for the first touchdown but the Trojans weren't to be denied. USC quickly tied the score in the fourth frame and added a field goal. An interception and a sudden touchdown by Simpson gave USC a commanding 17-7 lead but the Beavers fought back. A 72 yard pass from Preece to Main with a minute left closed the gap to 17-13. An onside kick was recovered and then fumbled as time and roses withered away.

A great team went to L.A. but an even greater team came home to face the final foe, Oregon.

... the Massacre of Oregon

Forty thousand fans jammed Parker Stadium to see the annual Civil War and State supremacy in football. The Beavers wasted little time in showing who was number one as they tallied twice before Oregon could mount a drive. By half time the Orangemen were in command 28-7 and ready for the last half of the season.

Oregon fought back gallantly and closed the gap to 28-19 but the Staters had too much class. Mike Groff intercepted a deflected pass and rambled for a score and Enyart tallied for his final touchdown to ice the game at 41-19.

To some the season was long and disappointing, to others a fluke, but to those that viewed the final game, a reassurance that Oregon State had produced another great football team.

Lyman Paces OSU Harriers

Oregon State cross countrymen had a winning season in 1968 with both dual and invitational meet wins. Sophomore Spencer Lyman led the young squad to team victories throughout the season.

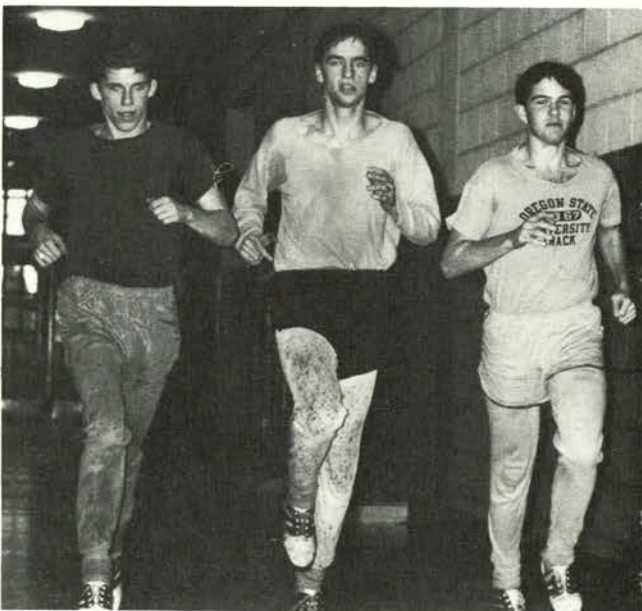

Coach Berny Wagner held high hopes for his Beaver harriers, and they came through for him. Lyman ran away from the pack for his best time of 20:20 on the 4 mile home Avery Park Course, just 12.5 seconds off of the OSU and course record set by Tracy Smith in 1966.

Earlier at Utah, Lyman set a new course record of 20:58.5. It was a tight race against the Victoria Olympic Club, but in the last 50 yards he pulled away for a strong finish. Lyman also represented OSU at the NCAA Championships in New York where he placed 94th in a field of 233 starters in 31:22.

Other Beaver harriers who turned in consistently good showings were Joe Baisch, a junior transfer, and Jim Barkley, a tough sophomore runner.

Cagers Struggle to 12-14 Season

The 1969 Oregon State basketball team can be regarded as one of the most diligent squads ever recruited. Plagued with a multitude of problems throughout the season, the team continued to work hard and strive for victory. Coach Paul Valenti can be given a great deal of credit for the competitive spirit, his team held.

The Beavers opened the season with a trip to California to challenge the San Francisco Dons. After a hard fought defensive game, the Orangemen came away with a 60-50 win. Oregon State continued to prepare for the Far West Classic by downing Nebraska and St. Mary's. Before entering the tourney, the Beavers trekked to Utah and bowed to the Utes and Brigham Young.

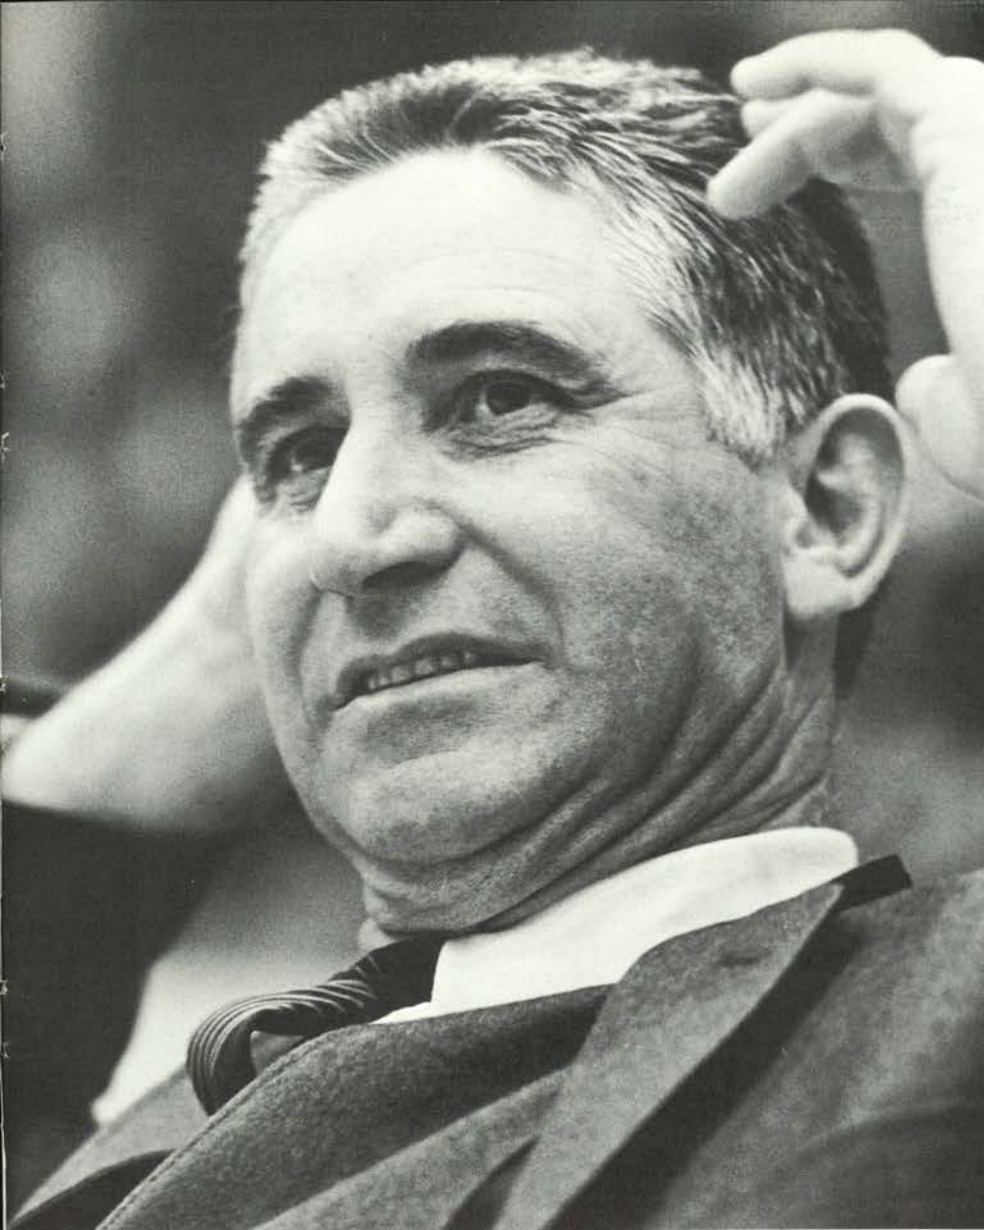

Oregon State entered the Far West Classic with a 3-2 record and were to face the Arizona State Sun Devils in the first round. The game ended in a tie but the cagers pulled it out in the overtime, posting a 46-42 defensive win. In the semi final round, the Beavers challenged the Washington State Cougars and it was a typical battle between these two schools, as it went down to the wire, the Cougs winning 61-60. Eliminated from the finals, the Beavers played Brigham Young for the second time and once again fell 69-64.

Valenti's cagers entered the regular season with a 4-4 record and ready to challenge the PAC and other nonconference foes. The team opened with a league win over Southern Cal but dropped the next four in a row, losing to UCLA, Washington, Washington State and Oregon. The Beavers returned to Corvallis to host Oregon and beat the Ducks 65-53 to even the Chancellor's Trophy series, one win apiece. Oregon State played Portland twice and easily beat the Pilots before rejoining league play.

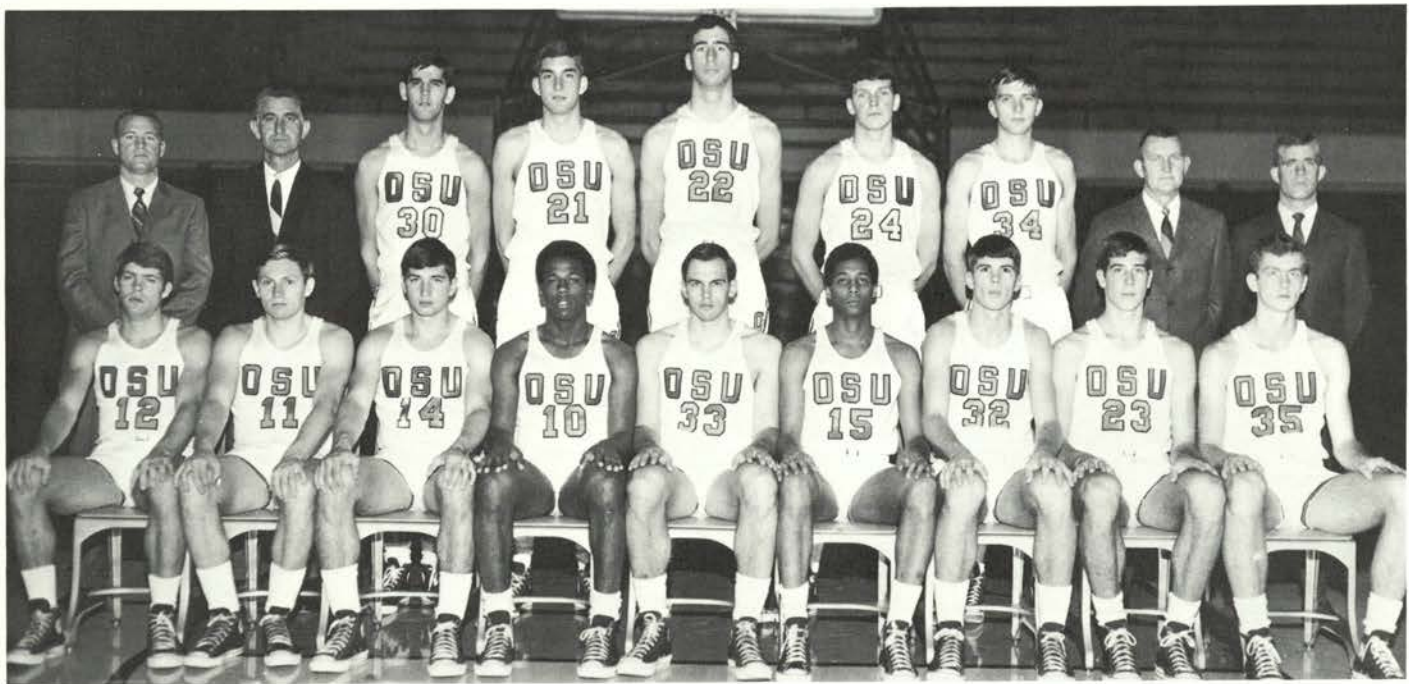

The Beavers played the California schools for the next three weekends, beating Stanford and Cal while losing to the Bruins, Trojans, Bears and Indians. The hoopers returned home for Dad's Weekend and were edged by Washington State but clobbered Washington, 82-52.

The final weekend series pitted Oregon against the Beavers with both teams shooting for the Chancellor's Trophy and Oregon State aiming for one thousand victories. The Ducks came to Corvallis but denied the Beavers by posting a 71-66 victory. Saturday afternoon, the Orangemen reversed the tables, ending the year on a winning note, 66-57.

Beavers Tie For Sixth In PAC

The Oregon State Beavers opened PAC competition with a home series against USC and UCLA. On Friday night, the Orangemen surprised a highly rated Trojan club, coming away with a 61-57 victory. UCLA came to town on Saturday, and Johnny Wooden's Bruins overpowered the Beavers, 83-64.

After an unsuccessful trip North in which the Beavers lost to Washington and Washington State, the Bay Area schools came to Corvallis. Jackie Ridgle led the Bears past OSU by a 69-57 count but Stanford fell to the Beavers, 63-62.

The squad spent the next two weekends in California, losing to Stanford, USC, and UCLA while clobbering California. In the Cal game, the Beavers could do nothing wrong as Dave Moore played his best collegiate game, scoring 18 points.

In the Washington State game, the teams battled evenly for 39 minutes before the Cougars won 62-60. Saturday night, the Beavers completely demolished Tex Winter's Huskies 82-52. The cagers ended the season splitting the series with the Oregon Ducks.

Big Men Lead Scoring Parade

For the second consecutive year the big men, center Vic Bartolome and forward Gary Freeman were the mainstay in the Beaver offensive plans. With the absence of senior Vince Fritz, Vic and Gary were given an additional scoring load.

Freeman lead all scoring with 414 points and was one of the top freethrow shooters in the country, hitting at a .831 clip. The junior forward from Boise, hit double figures twenty one times and held 15.9 scoring average.

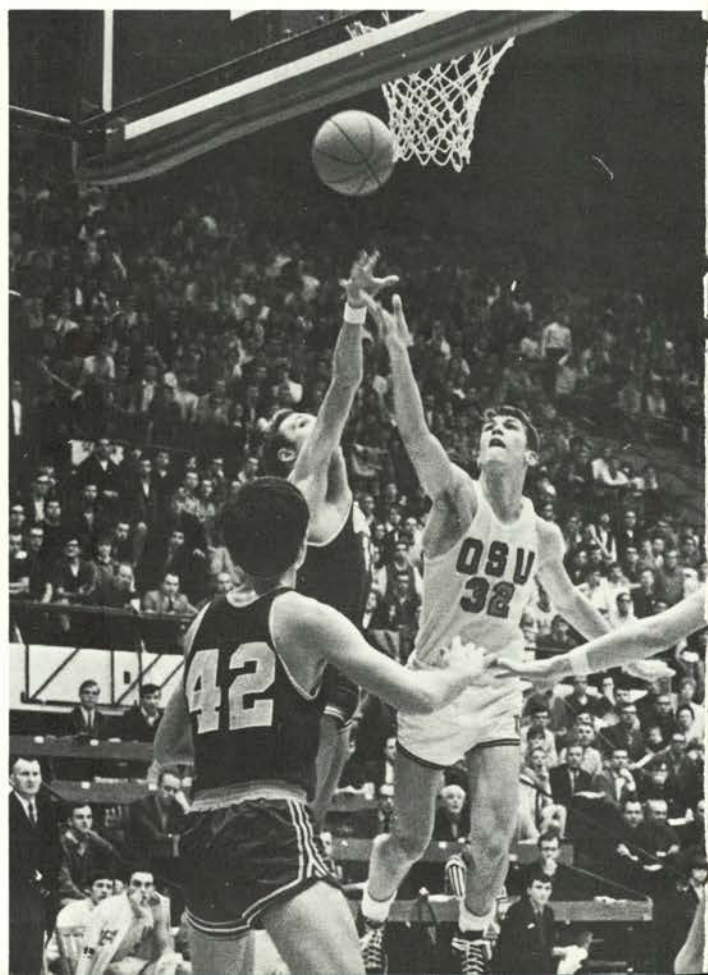

Big Vic was not far behind, averaging 15.4 per game while collecting 402 points over the year. Bartolome hit the double figures column twenty three times with his best performance being 28 points against Nebraska.

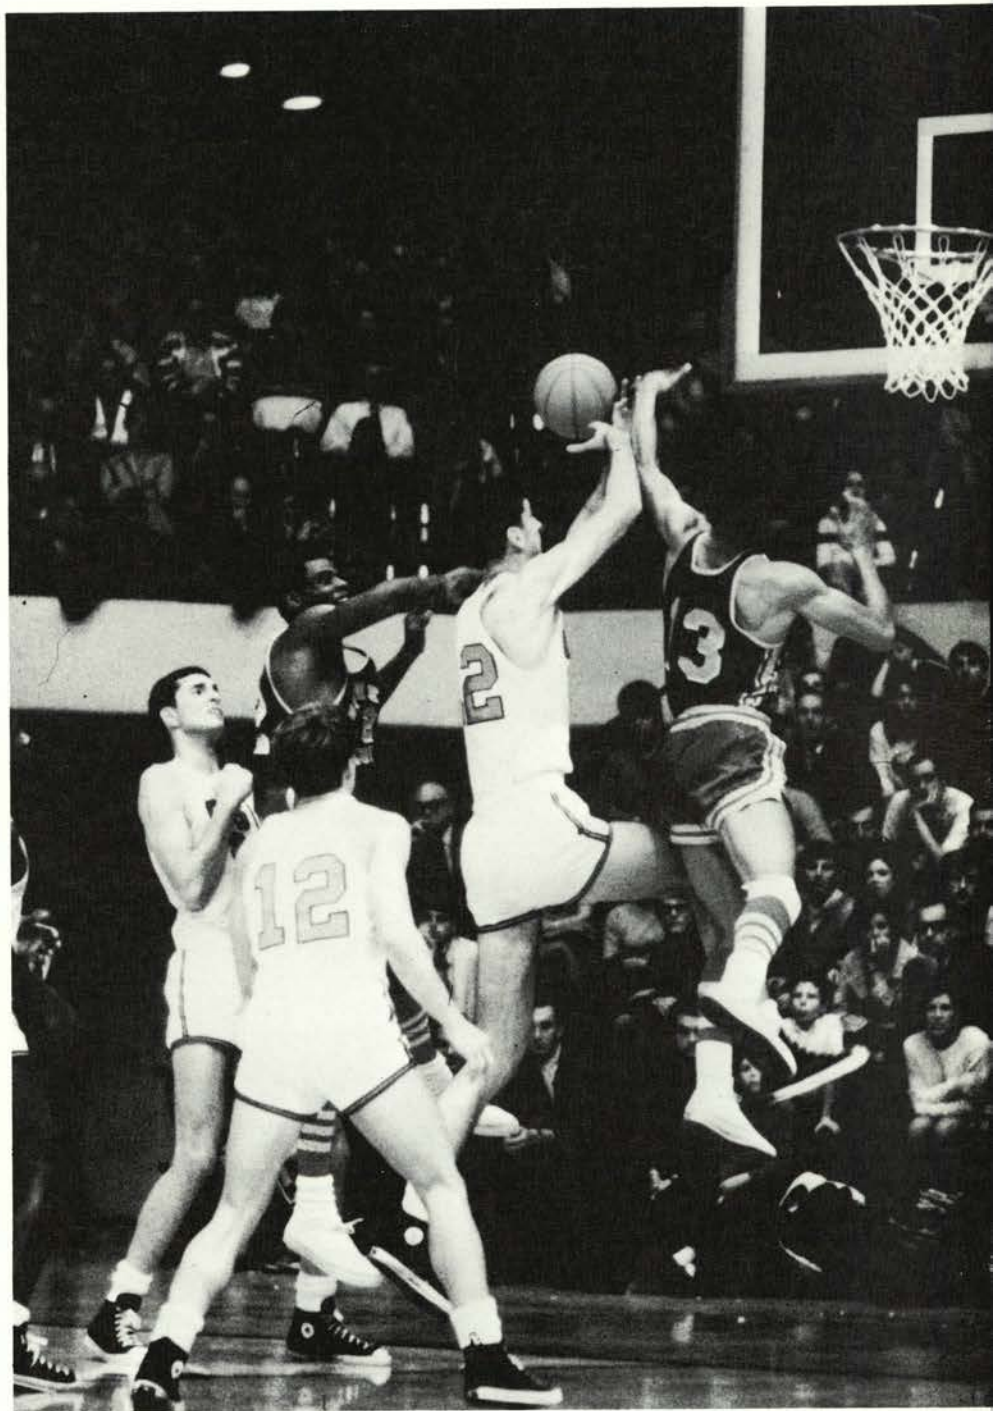

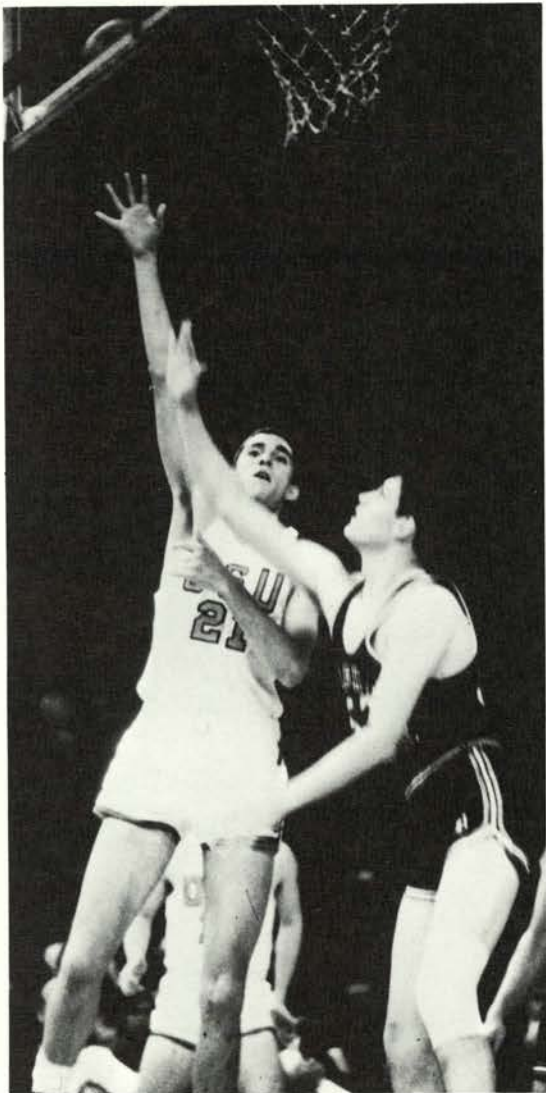

The remainder of the scoring was evenly distributed among the three starters, Mike Markham, Bill More, and Tim Perkins. More hit the cords 216 times during the season.

While Perkins had 179 points for a 7.5 average, Markham tallied 149 times with his best effort coming against Oregon with 13 points.

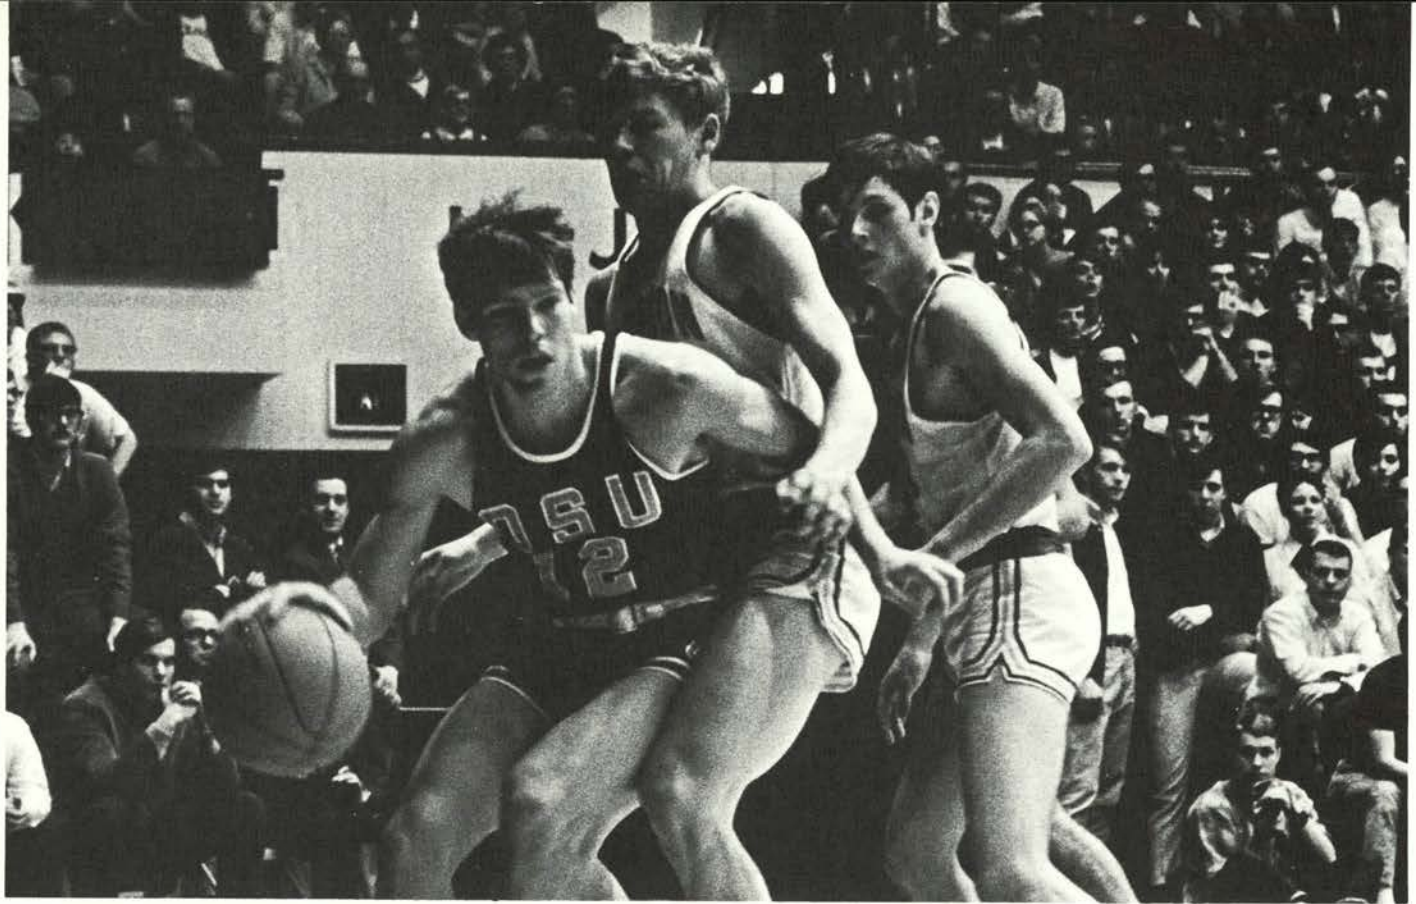

Bruce Bertrand, Dave Moore, Tom Phipps, and Jeff Kuter rounded out the scoring, each contributing valuable points when the opportunity arose.

Beaver Basketball Means Hustle

When one watches an Oregon State basketball game, he soon realizes that the main philosophy is "hustle" and especially on defense. This year was no exception as two seniors, Mike Markham and Bill More, supplied the drive and determination.

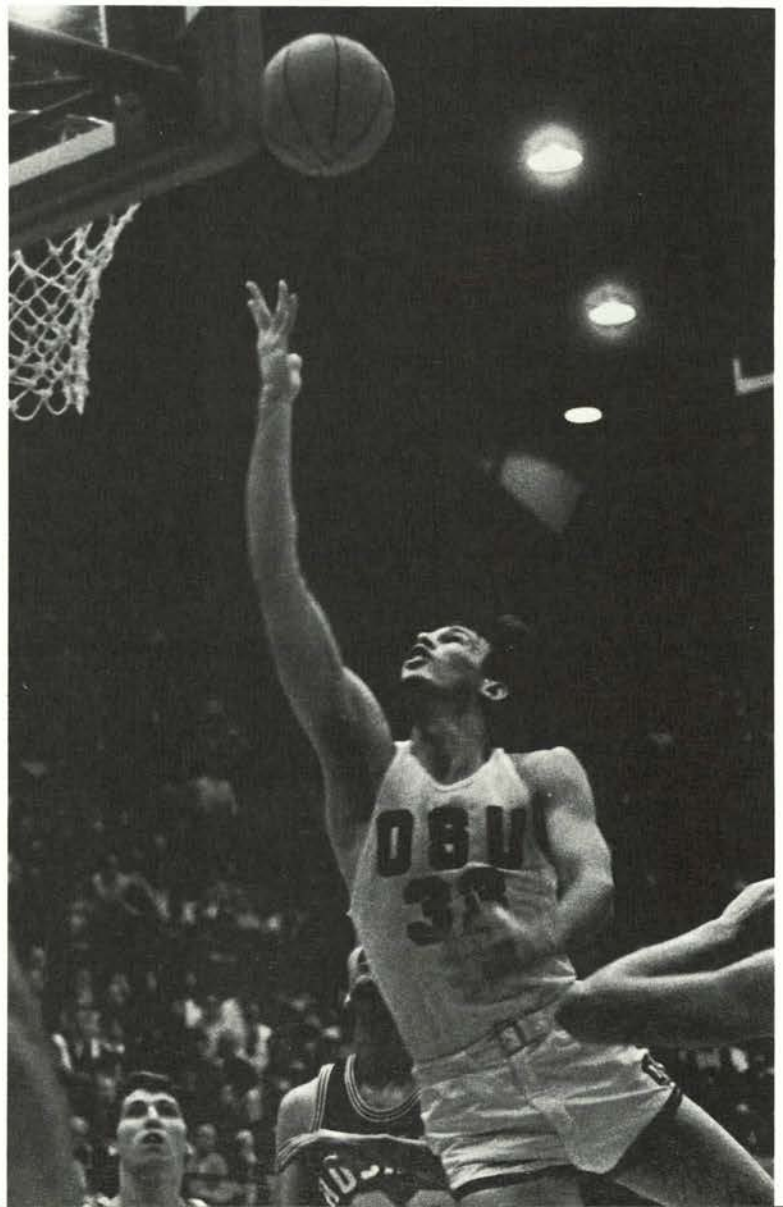

Markham proved to many that the little man isn't dead yet in basketball. The five foot, nine inch guard from Riddle, Oregon, repeatedly made steals and caused opponent turnovers as well as playing good, tough defense.

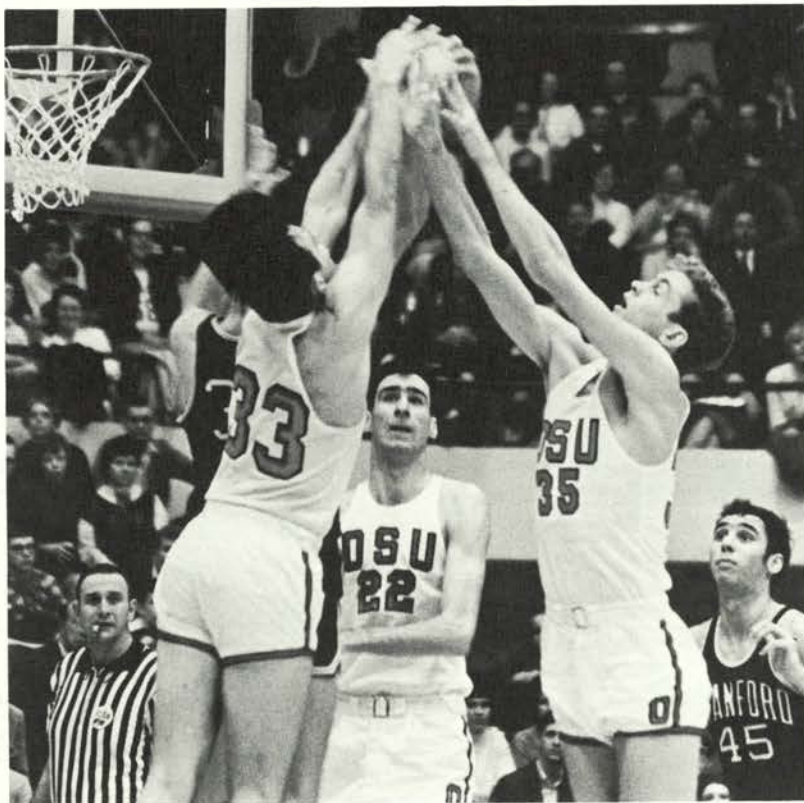

Bill More worked up to a starting position right after the start of the season and thrilled fans throughout the year with just sheer hustle. His best effort came in a losing cause against Washington State but the senior from Parkrose made a number of steals and continually harassed the Cougar offense.

Freeman and Bartolome worked the backboards well during the season as Gary collected 144 rebounds. Vic was not far behind with 112 catches.

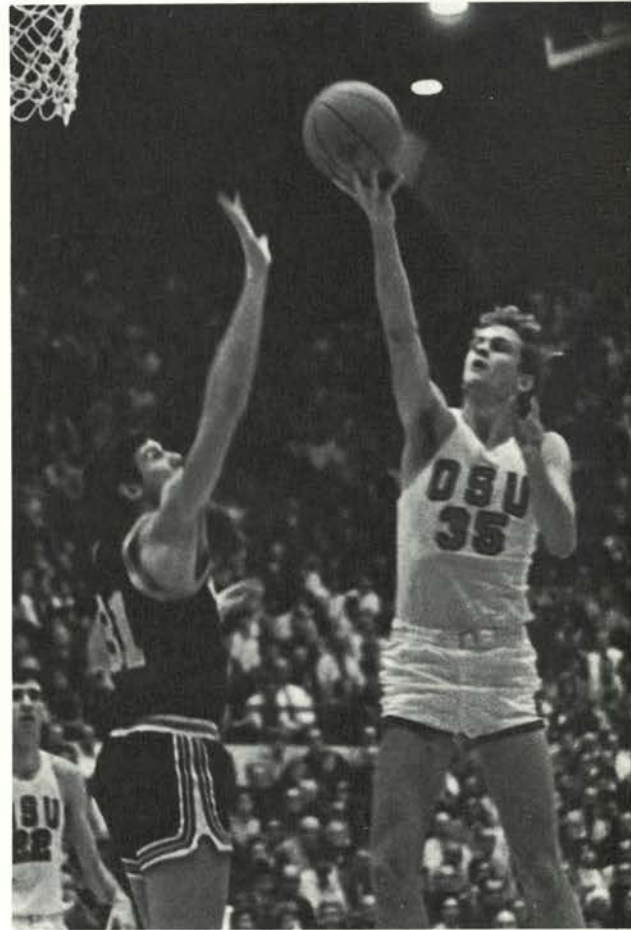

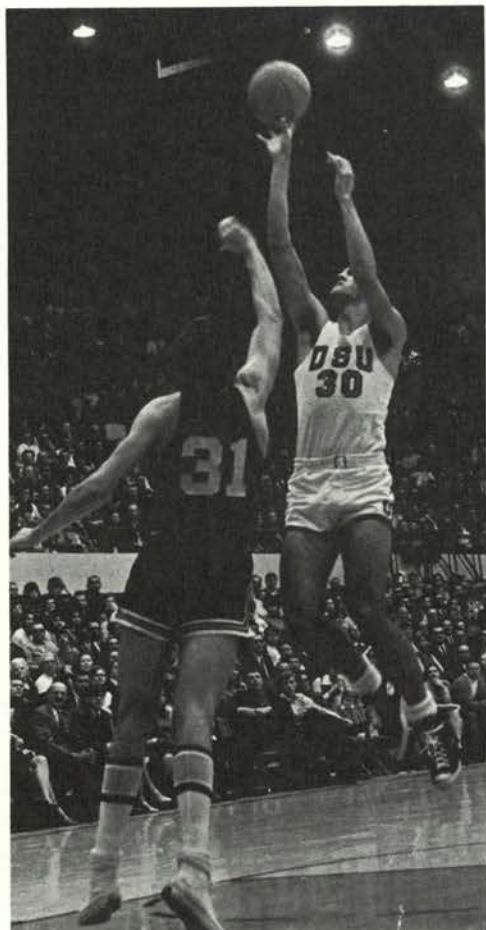

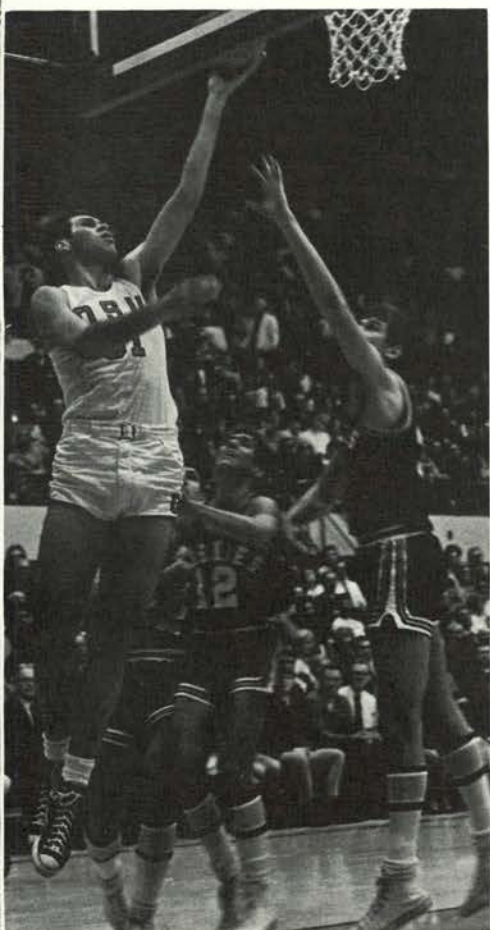

Phipps, Kuter, Moore, and Bertrand provided the reserve strength and did a respectable job when called.

Finally, 1000 Victories for OSU

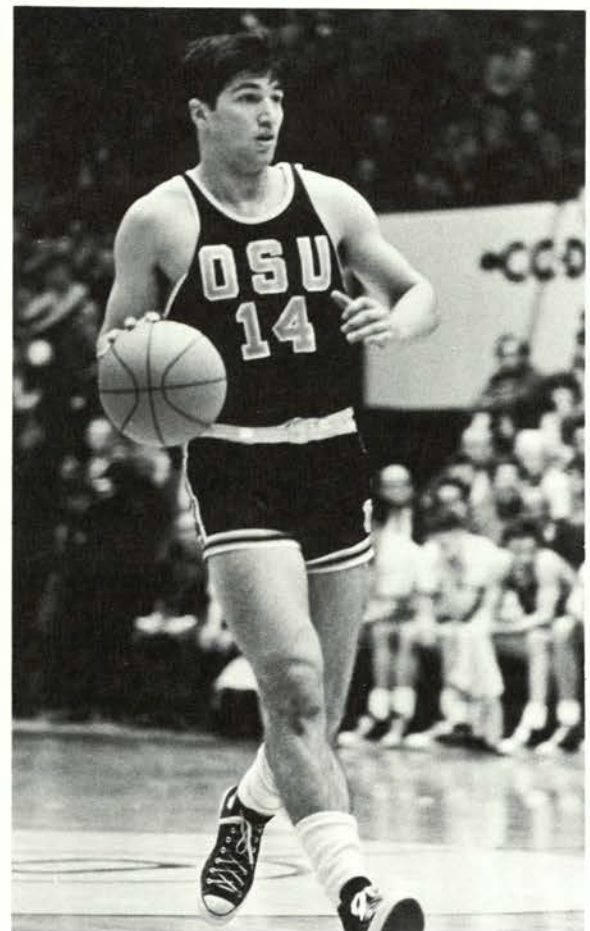

During the 1969 season, three schools, Kansas, Kentucky, and Oregon State, each had the chance to be the first school to obtain 1000 victories. Kentucky accomplished the feat first, Kansas next, and Oregon State won number 1000, the last game of the season.

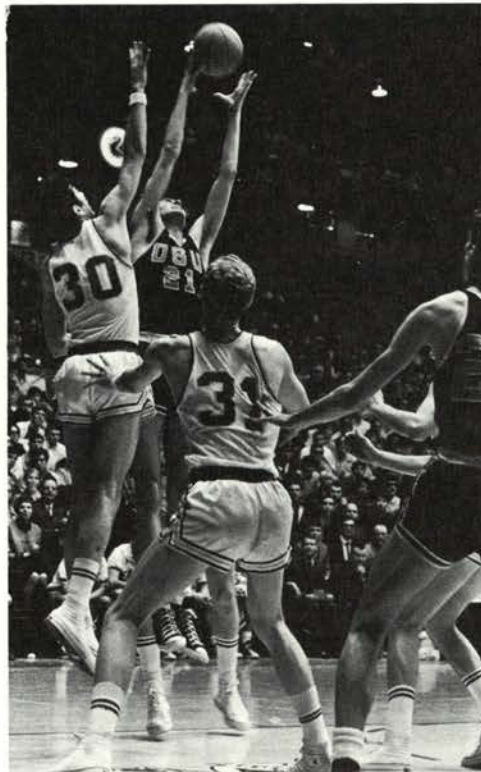

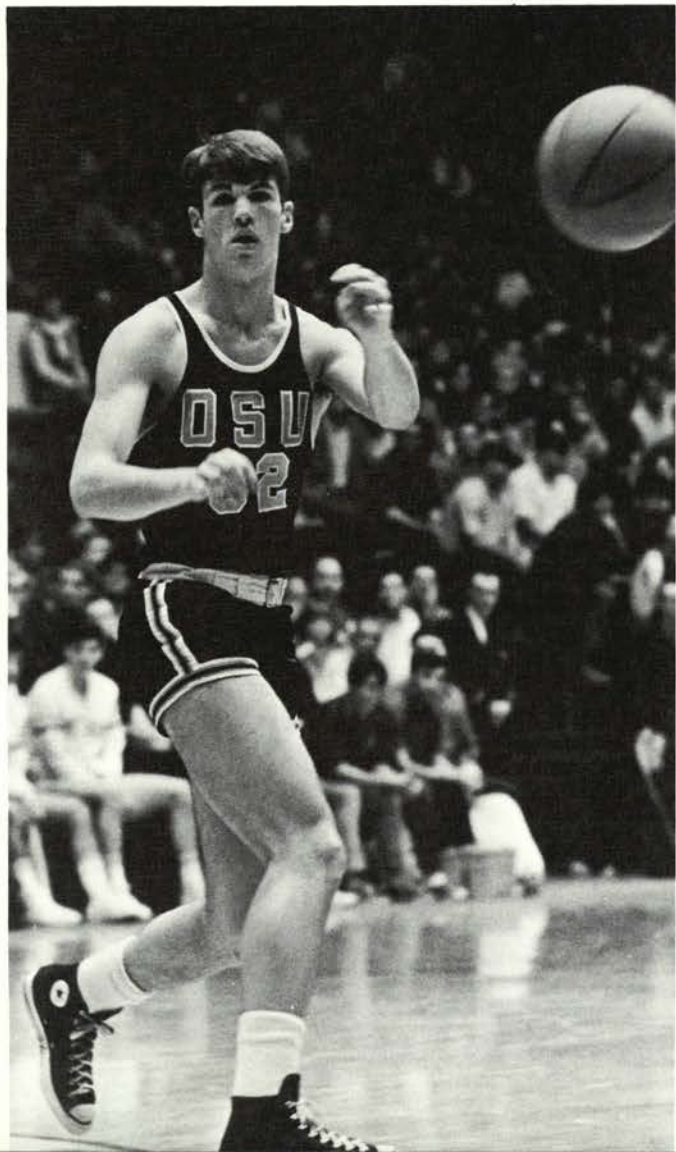

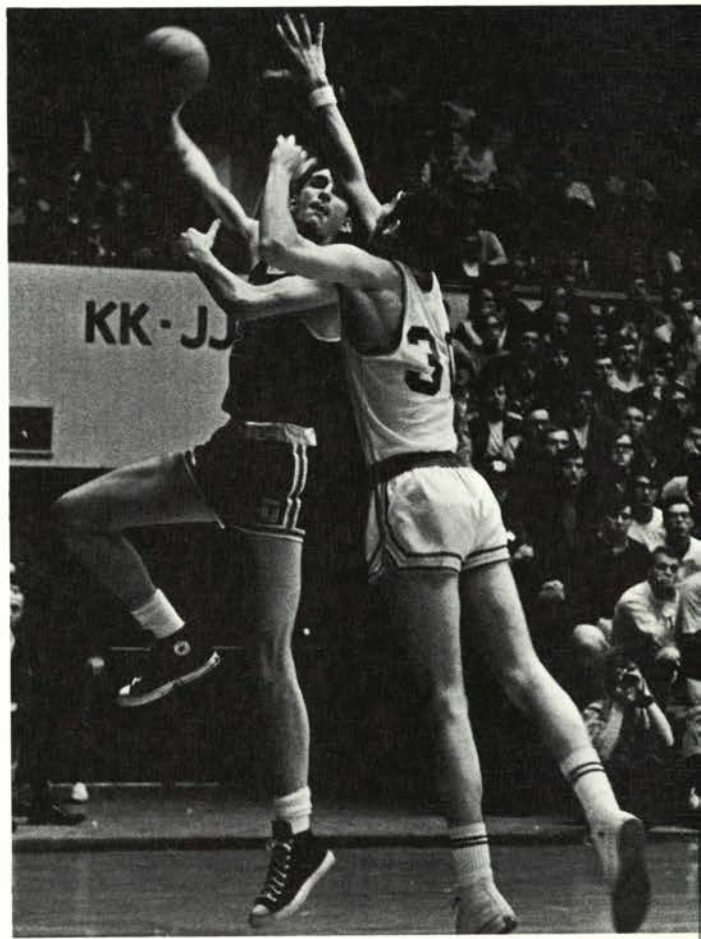

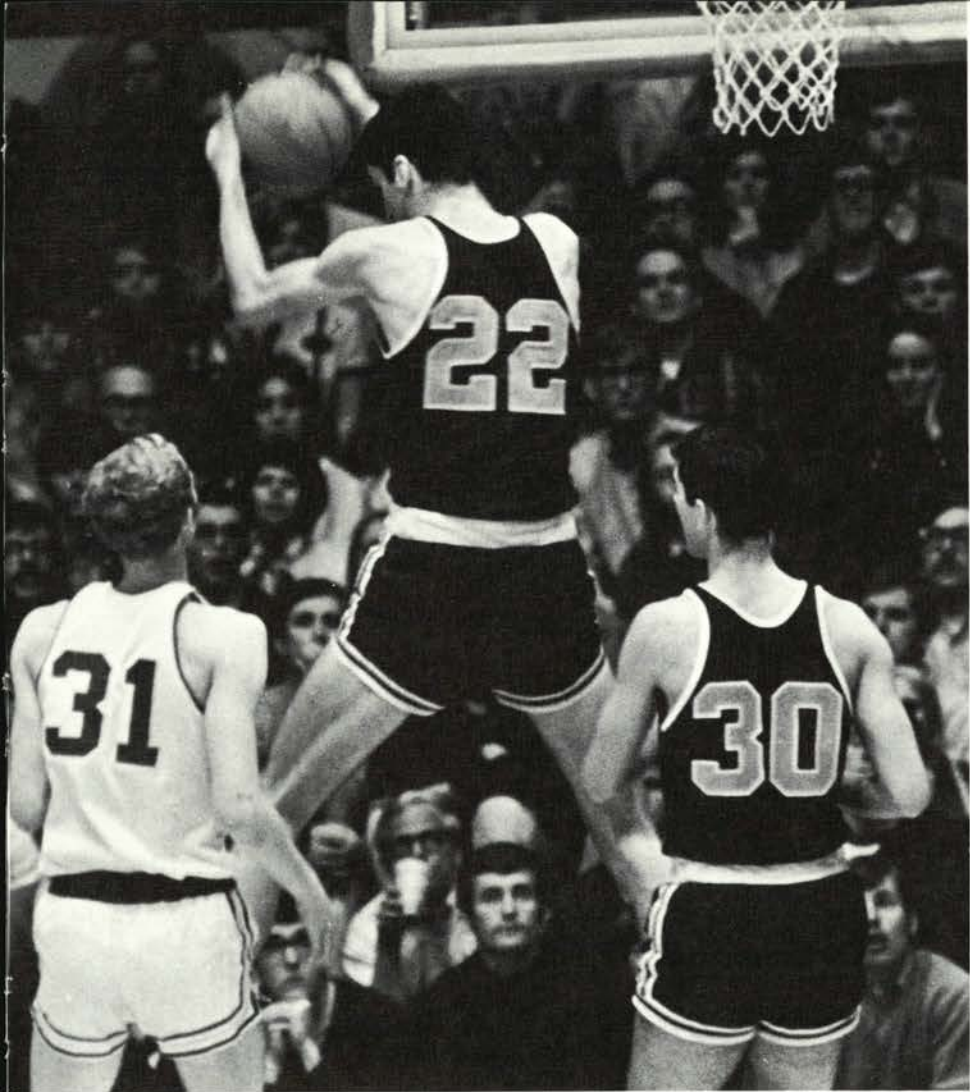

The Beavers entered the weekend series in hopes of breaking even over the season, collecting the Chancellor's Trophy for the year, and hitting that magic number. The Ducks cancelled two of the dreams Friday night by beating the Beavers 71-66 but the televised game on Saturday was different.

The Black Bandits from Corvallis entered McArthur Court destined to achieve their last goal. After a brief student demonstration, the game started and the Beavers took control from the gun. The Ducks narrowed the score toward the end of the first half but six straight points at the start of the second half ended the Duck challenge. From that point until the final buzzer, it was only a matter of time until Oregon State could say, "We're a thousand game winner."

5 Beaver Wrestlers Named All-Americans

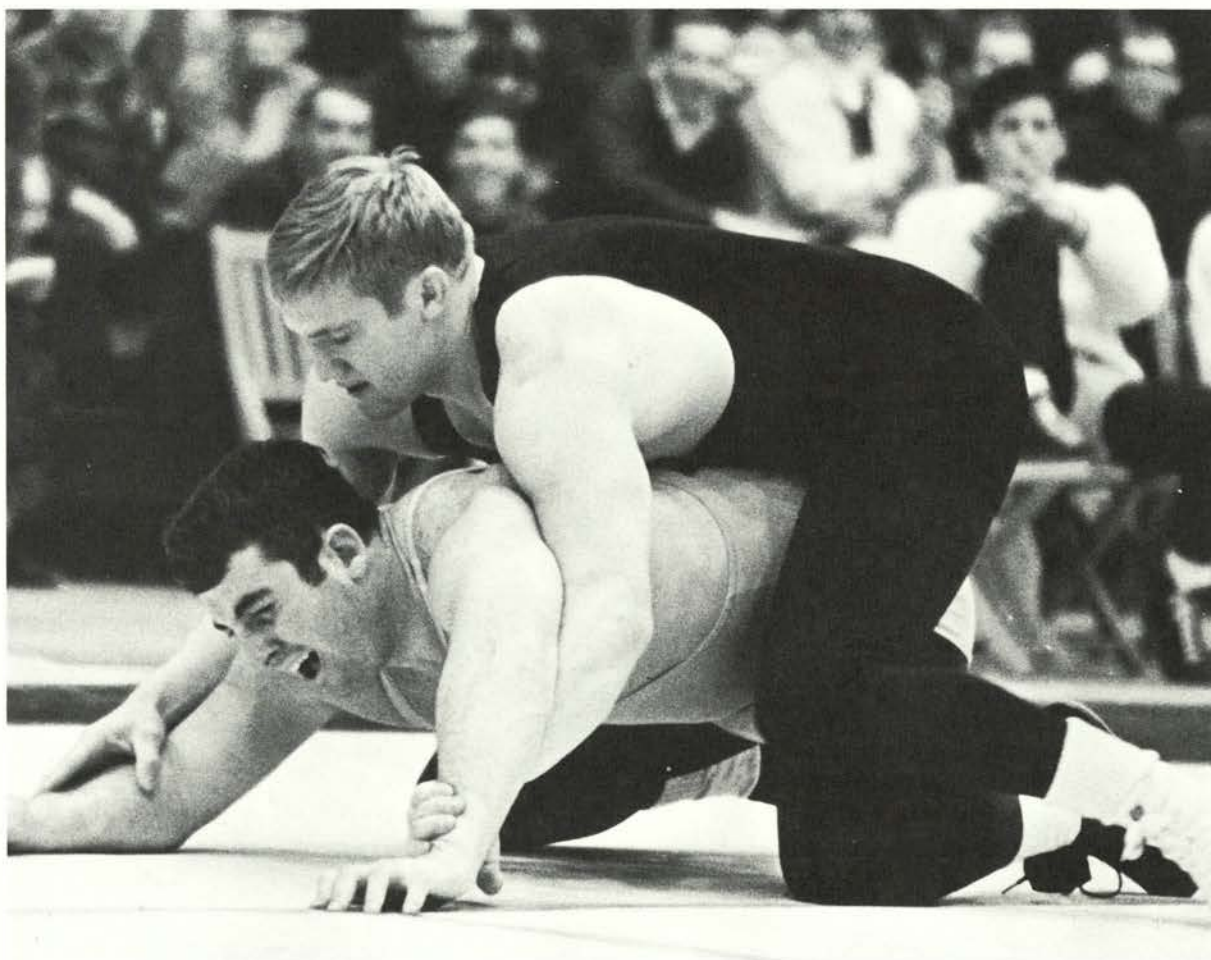

Heavyweight Jess Lewis grappled to the championship as he led the 1969 Beaver Wrestling team to third place in the NCAA finals. Highest finish ever for an OSU team, the third place score of 58 points topped a 20-1-1 mat season, the best ever in the thirteen year tenure of coach Dale Thomas.

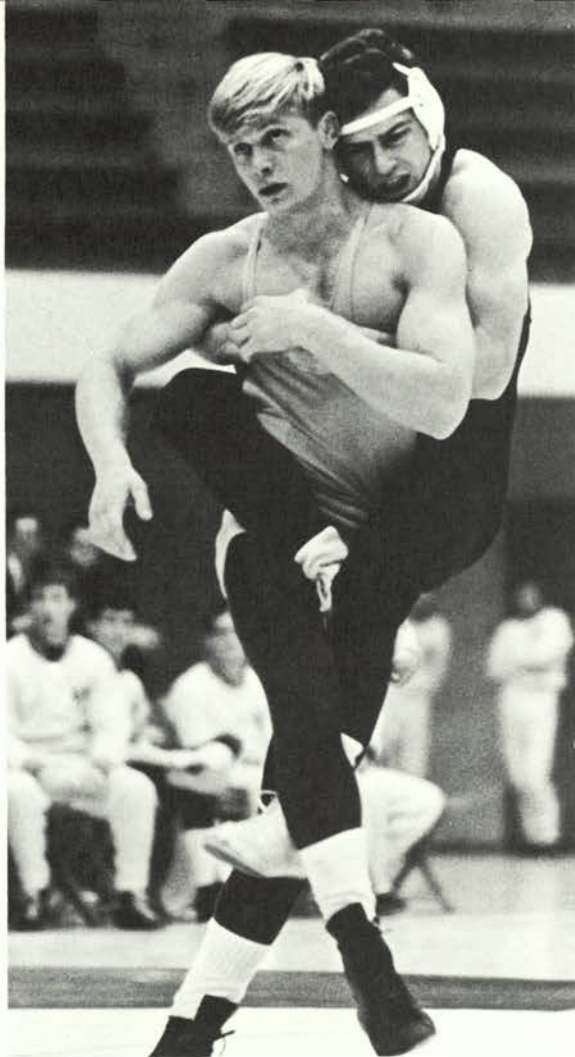

Lewis' victory keyed the Beaver showing, as a win from Lewis was needed to pass Michigan State in the team standings. The OSU junior from Aumsville dominated MSU's Jeff Smith to post a 6-1 victory. With the national title, Lewis became the second Beaver NCAA wrestling champion, and he maintained his undefeated record in season action.

Besides Lewis, Beaver grapplers named All-Americans were Phil Frey, who finished fourth at 145 pounds; Jim Vandehey, fourth at 167; Bob Hawkins, fifth at 137; and Kim Snider at 152 pounds.

Indicative of the youth of the OSU mat squad, of the five Beaver All-Americans, only Frey is a senior. OSU took an 11-man squad to Provo for the championships, the only school with a full team.

Sophomore Lee Garoian, above right, locks his arms around the leg and torso of his Portland State opponent. Above, it's two for this Beaver matman as he fights for the pin.

OSU Pins Down Fifth PAC-8 Mat Title

Enroute to their 20-1-1 mat record and their fifth straight PAC-8 title, the Beaver grapplers faced some of the best in the nation, including several nationally ranked individuals and teams.

The Beavers kept their undefeated string in tact for most of the season, finally dropping a 16-15 meet to Cal Poly during their annual swing through California. The only other team which came close to besting the Beavers was Utah which came away with a 14-14 tie.

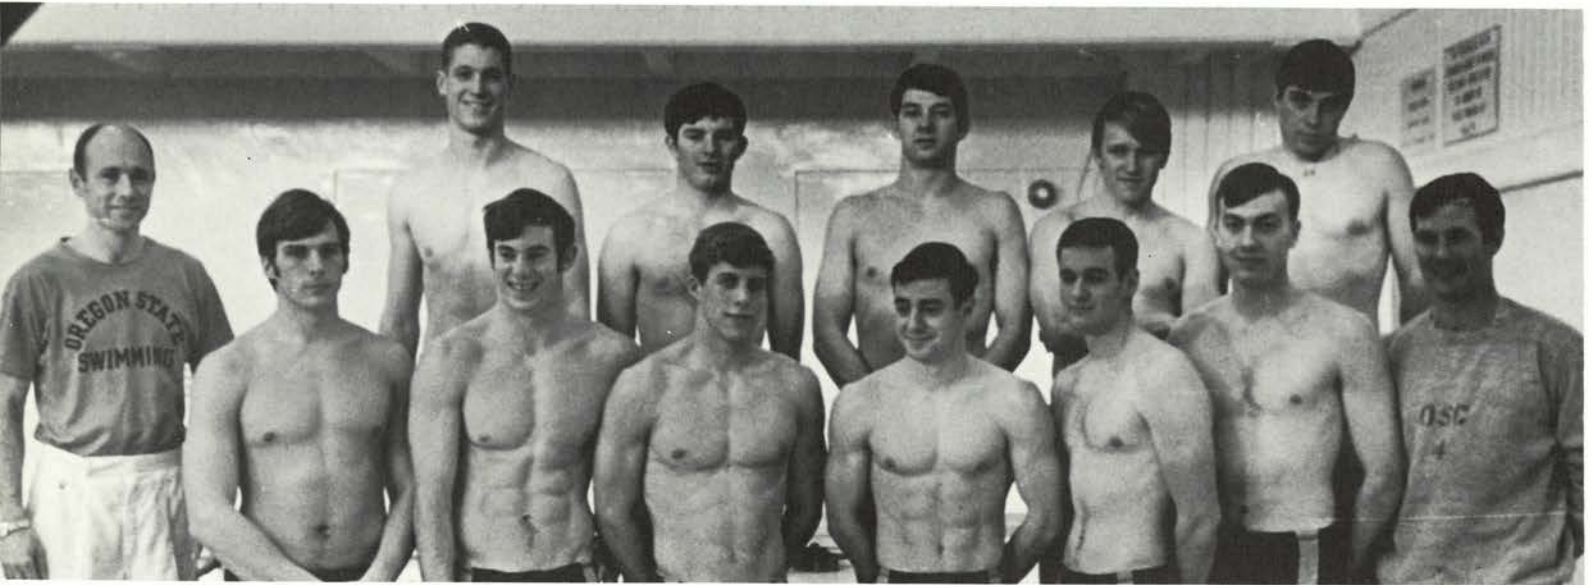

Despite injuries and sickness to key personnel such as Kim Snider, Jim Blackford, and Jim Vandehey, the Orange and Black wrestlers piled up victory after lop-sided victory. Coach Thomas was forced to shuffle his line-up, using several wrestlers at weight levels heavier than themselves.

An Oregon State and a Wyoming wrestler struggle for advantage on the mat as legs thrash through the air, above. The Beaver grappler, left, stands his opponent on his head as he works to earn points and to gain the decisive pin.

OSU Drowns Old Records

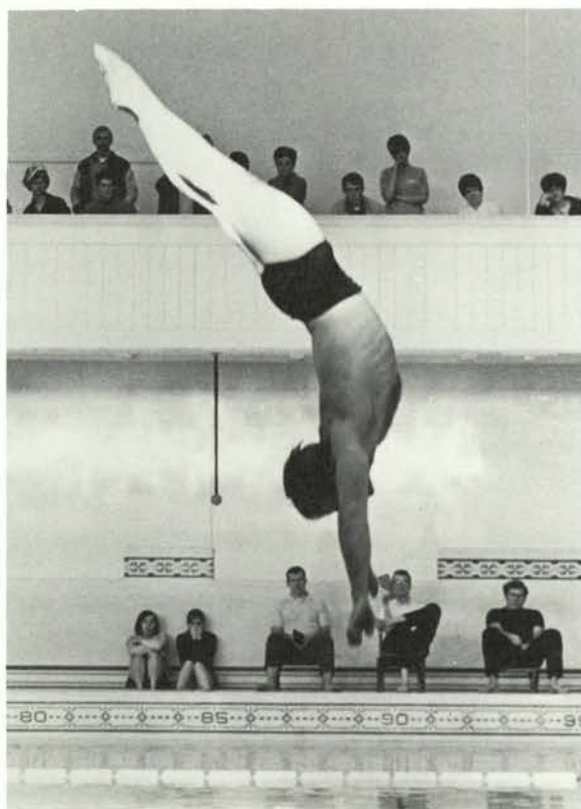

Beaver swimmers garnered 122 points for sixth place, highest Oregon State finish ever, in the tough Pacific-8 conference in 1969. Eight OSU records were established during the season. Coach Bill Winkler said, "These were the best overall performances by any team I have ever coached at OSU."

Seven O-State records alone fell in the PAC-8 meet. Greg Bryan, Joe Ott, and Garth Huffaker qualified for the NCAA Championships on their performances.

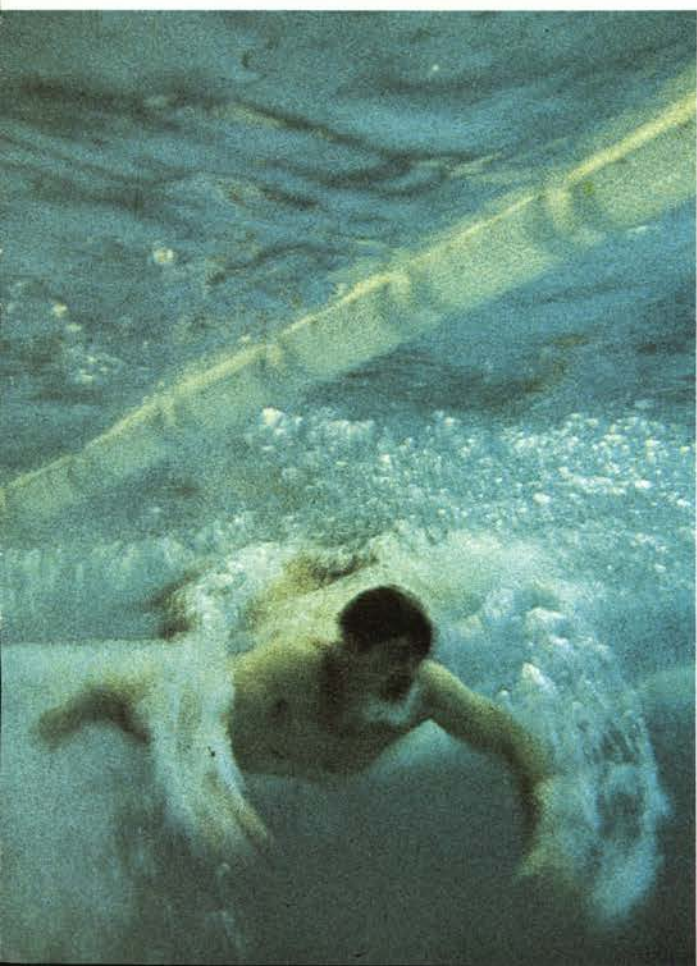

John Josephson set varsity records in the 200, 500, and 1000 yard freestyle. Wayne Richards cut 9.5 seconds from his previous best in the 200 yard butterfly. John Bither swam the 100 yard butterfly in 54.8 for another OSU record.

Josephson, Dave Cook, Bill Thias, and Huffaker clipped six seconds off the old 400 yard freestyle relay record in clocking 3:16.4.

Fosbury Flops 7'4 1/4" for Olympic Gold

Dick Fosbury is the hero of Oregon State track and the spring sports program. First to the astonishment and then to the overwhelming praise of spectators in Mexico City, Fosbury sailed over the high jump bar in his unique "Fosbury Flop" to a 7'4 1/4" Olympic record. This brought the first gold medal in the high jump to the United States since 1956 and was one of the 45 gold medals which the US captured during the 1968 Olympics.

Fosbury achieved his record while competing with injuries to both feet. A blister had developed on his left heel, and he had sprained a ligament in his right foot shortly before the contest. A Medford, Oregon, high school product, Fosbury returned triumphantly to his hometown for a ticker tape parade and has presented a key to the city. He was also featured on national television.

Currently a senior at OSU, Fosbury has been a real competitor in his specialty. As a sophomore, he snared the Pacific-8 and NCAA indoor high jump titles. Last season Fosbury captured the PAC-8 and NCAA high jump crowns again. He was the top qualifier in the Los Angeles Olympic trials, and made a clutch jump at 7'2" in the Olympic trials at South Lake Tahoe which allowed him to go on to his pre-Olympic best mark of 7'3" and to represent the United States in Mexico City.

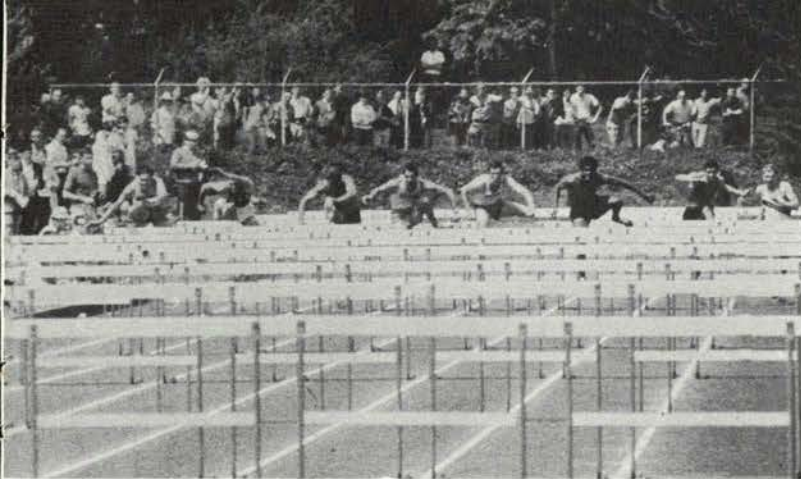

Dick Fosbury's performance was the highlight of a track season which saw the Beavers take the Northern Division title for the first time since 1946 and place third in the Pacific-8 and sixth in the NCAA races. Continued improvement is probable since men scoring 78 3/4 of the 79 points tallied at the conference meet are returning next season.

Spikers Tally

Oregon State thinclads ran for three new OSU records during the 1968 season. Several Beaver runners were standouts with consistently good performances.

Terry Thompson won the PAC-8 title in the 880 with a 1:49.3 time, outkicking the field on the final lap.

Sprinter Ernie Smith clocked his best time of 9.5 in the century against UCLA. Sophomore Willie Turner consistently garnered first place. He set a new OSU record of 9.30 in the 100 against California.

Distanceman Lew Dahlin ran his best 2-mile at 9:04.0 against UCLA.

Don Parish turned in a 13.9 new OSU record in the high hurdles. The 440 relay team also snatched victory against California with an OSU record-shattering 40.0 time.

Beavers Break Records

OSU proved strong in field events in 1968. There were three new Oregon State records to illustrate this, and many of the trackmen were able to improve their career best marks.

Dick Fosbury dominated the high jump event almost wherever he competed. But John Radetich, with a 7 foot mark, and Steve Kelly at 6-10 were consistent winners, too.

It was at the Texas meet that Charlie Olds recorded his best jump of 25 feet. George May was not far behind at 24-9, and in the triple jump, missed equalling Olds' 48-11 1/2 leap by a quarter inch.

Weightman for the Beavers was Tim Vollmer who notched a career best at the meet with Oregon by putting the shot 54-8 1/4. Vollmer's 204-2 fling of the platter broke the existing OSU record.

When Steve De Autremont begins to throw the hammer, people take notice. His 189-4 mark added a new chapter to the OSU record book.

Sophomore Tim Voth sent the javelin flying and picked up a career best of 224-3 during 1968.

Diamondmen Battle To Fifth In Nation

The Oregon State Beaver Baseball team opened the 1968 campaign with high hopes of improving on the third place finish of a year ago. Blessed with strong hitting, a solid core of returning lettermen, and a promising group of sophomores, Gene Tanselli's troopers seemed destined to provide worthy competition for any foe.

Entered in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Tournament at Santa Barbara, the Beavers opened with impressive wins over small college powerhouses, Chapman and Grambling. The team continued to play fine ball throughout the week and left Southern California with 7 wins against 1 loss and the tourney title. With this fast start, OSU was anxious to test Northwest Competition.

The Beavers continued their winning ways in non-conference action with strong wins over Linfield, Pacific, Willamette, and other Oregon Conference opponents. The baseball squad opened the home schedule against Linfield and posted a 4 to 0 victory. The remainder of the non-conference games followed much the same pattern with the diamondmen displaying just too much hitting and pitching for their small college rivals.

As conference play rolled around, the Beavers were riding a thirteen game winning streak and were set to improve their record. Oregon State's first challenge came at the hands of Washington and the diamondmen pulled out a hard fought 2 to 1 victory. OSU trekked to Pullman the following day and managed to split a doubleheader with highly rated WSU. The Beavers lost the first game 3 to 1, and took the nightcap 5 to 2.

Rated fifth in the nation, Tanselli sent his troopers south to meet the giants of college baseball and giants they were. The baseball squad lost six straight to the California schools along with the national rating. From the disastrous road trip to the end of the season, the team never regained its previous form. Hampered by bad weather, Oregon State compiled a 4 and 4 record for the remainder of the season.

The Beavers ended conference play with a disappointing 6 to 11 mark while placing seventh in the tough PAC. The overall record was 23 wins and 12 losses. Highlight of the 1968 baseball season was the win over nationally ranked Stanford in Corvallis.

Finish 7th In PAC

Tom Jones duplicated his 1967 performance by leading the OSU hitting attack. The lanky first baseman who was hampered throughout the season with a .329 mark and 55 safe trips to the plate. Two promising sophomores, a junior, and two seniors rounded out the hitting attack. Centerfielder Larry Rich hit safely at a .273 clip while Bob Beall, Coach Tanselli's left-handed third baseman, had a .252 average. Junior catcher Tim Gleason lead OSU conference hitting with an impressive .367 mark. Senior Tom Tracey added clutch hitting throughout the year while Darryl Summerfield led the team in runs and home runs with 23 and 5 respectively.

Coach Tanselli was somewhat skeptical about his young pitching staff at the start, but as the season progressed his skepticism changed to optimism. Led by Junior Ken Forsh with a record of 8 and 3, the young Beavers finished the season with a 3.63 ERA. Forsh supported a very respectable 1.92 ERA and later signed a professional contract. Jerry Johnson, Denny Tower, and Cleve Benson rounded out the regular rotation staff while Terry Lee was the number one reliever.

Golfers Record Match Victories

Hampered by bad weather throughout the spring, the Oregon State golf team posted a 5-5 match record. The young golfers did however place second in the Northern Division. In one of the better matches of the season, the Beavers lost by only two strokes out of 1250 to the powerful Oregon squad.

The BAC-8 championships were held in sunny southern California with the USC Trojans as host. After placing third a year ago, the Beavers were hoping to improve but could only manage a fifth place in the tourney. Steve Smith was the lone surprise finishing tenth in the strong field.

Beaver Netters Rate PAC-8 Sixth

Oregon State's tennismen wrapped up a 9-7 season before taking sixth in the Pacific-8 Tournament at Washington State. Coach Don Megale completed his fourth season at the Beaver helm.

Sweet victory came to the OSU racqueteers during the PAC-8 tourney. After bowing twice to Oregon during the regular season, the Beaver tennis players plucked the Ducks 7-2 in consolation bracket play. Favored USC took its third consecutive conference title by downing UCLA. Washington topped the OSU Orangemen 7-2 to put the Beavers in sixth berth.

The season opener against Chico State found the OSU netters on top 5-4. Pacific, Foothill, and San Francisco also fell before the Beaver onslaught. San Jose State was the first to down the Orangemen, 8-1.

Victories balanced with losses continued for the rest of the 1968 season. Idaho, Washington State, Seattle Pacific, Portland, and Whitworth met defeat at the hands of the Beaver netters. Powerful California and Stanford both blanked the OSU tennis team, and Oregon passed the Beavers twice by 7-2 and 6-3 margins.

Coach Megale attributed some of the team's difficulties to "bad breaks" in the three-set matches. Of 32 matches decided on the third go-round, OSU faltered in 23. Beaver wins in the clutch could have tilted the winning balance toward OSU several times.

Two-year letterman Ted Jackson paced the Beaver tennis players in the 1968 season. Other returning veterans included Bill Bower, Craig Cooley, John Kearney, and Bill Rombeau. New to the varsity squad were Roger Beck and Bill Reinig who tallied important singles wins during season play.

Lightweight Rowers Repeat Title

Competing for the first time as a major sport, the Oregon State crew team rowed through a season marked by willingness to improve the caliber of Beaver crew, according to coach Karl Drlica, 19-year veteran as OSU rowing mentor.

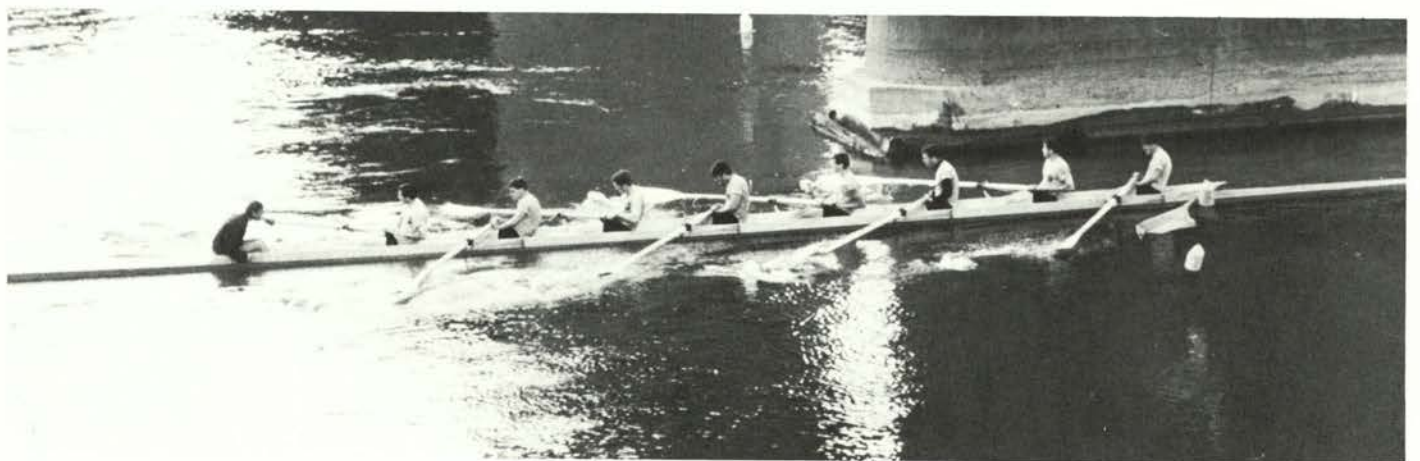

After besting Long Beach, Pacific Lutheran, and Santa Clara, the defending lightweight coast champions remained unbeaten for the third season with a 6:24.7 showing against Pacific Lutheran at the Western Sprints.

Heavyweight eights finished sixth in 6:13.8 at the Sprints. Beaver JV's beat Oregon once and finished tenth in the Sprints.

During the Corvallis Invitational, the Beavers amassed 200 points to retain the Julius H. Barnes placque for the fourth consecutive year.

This summer, Skip Spiering and Jeff Young powered a mixed-school team to fourth in final Olympic trials. Bill Strickland was fifth in the US National Sprints in the lightweight singles class in New York, too.

Jeff Young was selected most valuable senior, and Jerry Marks was dubbed most outstanding oarsman for 1968 Beaver crew.

In a similar play against the Ducklings, Roger Smith, below, struggles against tacklers to gain valuable yardage.

Rooks Move Pigskin For 2-2 Season

The 1968 Rook football team, coached by Mike Dolby, recorded a 2-2 season. Quarterback Steve Endicott guided the Baby Beavers, and Mike Keck played safety. Fullback Pat Lyons and halfbacks Ralph Show and Jerry McBurney completed the backfield. Defensive guards were Murray Booth and Mike Martin. Mark Booth played defensive end.

OSU beat the WSU Couababes 15-10 in the season opener. The Oregon Frosh came out on the short end of a 10-6 Beaver win in their first encounter.

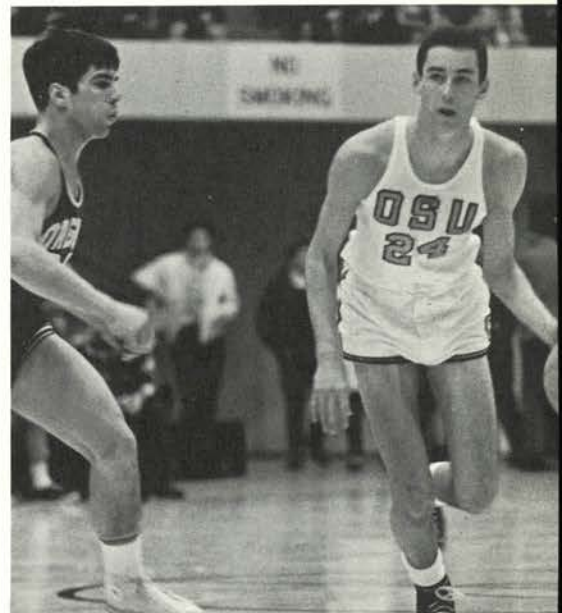

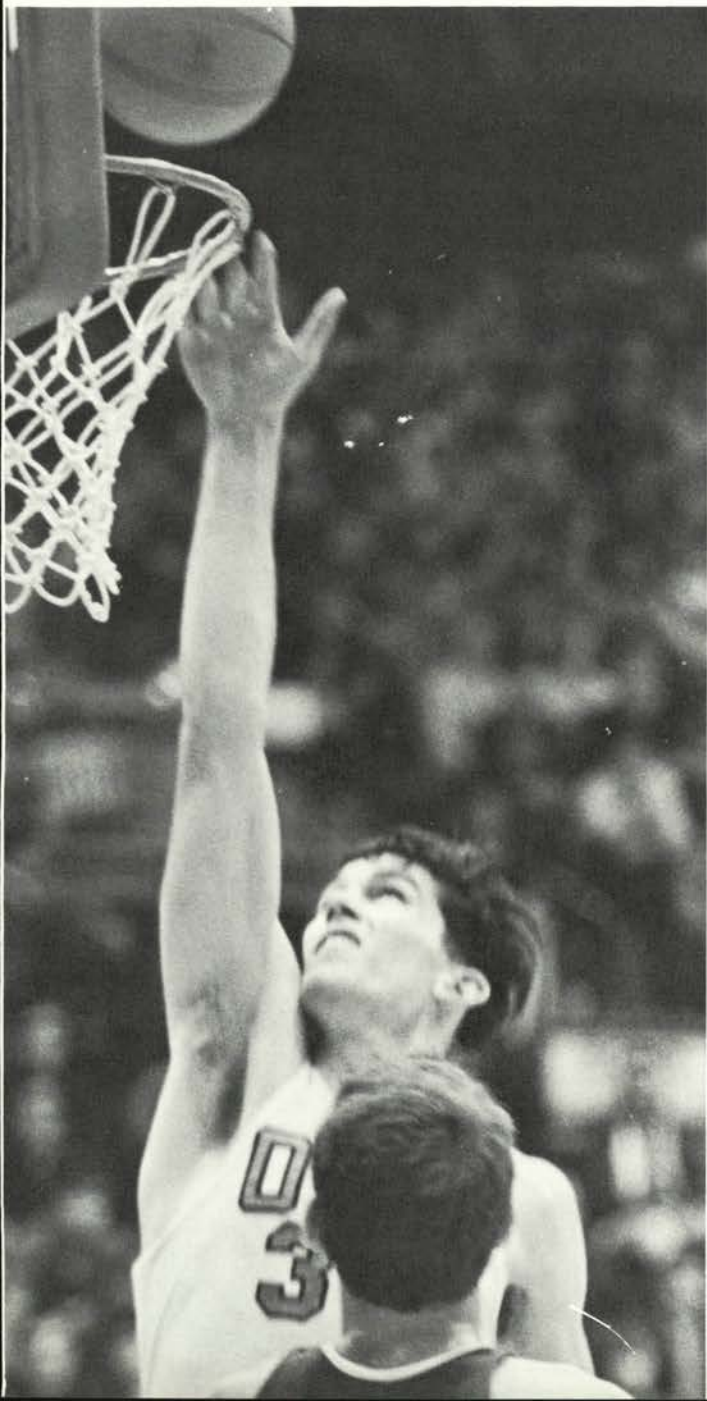

Defensive unit injuries hampered the Rooks in the second half of season play. Playing in the mud, the OSU team fell to the Washington Pups 10-6. Oregon topped the Rooks 29-0 in their second game.

Rook Hoopsters Nab 18 Wins

Oregon State's 1969 Rook basketball team tallied 18 wins and 3 losses for one of the most successful seasons for an OSU freshman team. Coach Bill Harper's cagers averaged 75.5 points a game.

Although the squad lacked last year's height, their speed and ball handling abilities compensated for this. Freddie Boyd led all Rook roundballers with a 20.0 point average. Bob Thomas and Mike Keck were close behind, and Jim Pinola and Denny Strickler regularly added baskets to the Baby Beaver total.

The Rooks split a four game series with the Oregon Ducklings. Washington took the third game from OSU, but the Rooks retaliated later in hoop play.

Rooks Out-Perform Foes

Baseball

Coach Bill Bonser's 1968 Rook baseball team finished the season with a 16-9 record. The strong pitching of Leo Edge, Lloyd Wilson, and Bob Bentley paced the Baby Beaver 9. Dave Eikrem, Don Mason, and Dave Gardiner knocked in several runs for Oregon State victories.

Tennis

Rook tennis players swept through a 12-0 season, coached by Alberto Olmedo. Included were 5 1/2-3 1/2, 5-4, and 7-2 wins over the Oregon frosh. Outstanding Rook netters were Raul Hernandez, topseeded Central American tennis player, and Steve Sansone, ranked No. 7 in Northern California.

Swimming

The toughest overall Rook swim squad in recent years broke 7 Rook records this year. Larry Morgan set 100 and 200 yard butterfly marks, Jim Cherry rated in 500 and 1000 yard freestyle, and Ric Jeffries scored in the 200 yard backstroke. Bill Stringfellow and Mark Jeffery, relay swimmers, also paced the Rook Tankmen.

Cross Country

Cross countryman Mike Tolstad led the 1968 Rook harriers to a 3-1 season. Allen Boyce Rick Goldner, Greg Barnett, and Pat Carey also finished high to score points in the Portland State Invitational, Central Washington Invitational, and Vancouver Olympic Club Juniors.

Track

Highly rated, the 1968 Rook track team scored six wins and no losses. The Oregon frosh fell twice to the powerful Beaver squad. Setting new Rook records were Harold Agner in the 440 (48.0); Jim Barkley in the mile (4:08.0); and Jay Pomeroy and Leon Johnson tied at 14.5 in the high hurdles. Onia Bates kicked to 9.7 in the 100 yard dash.

Wrestling

Stand-out Rook wrestlers were Jim Crumley at 177 pounds, Steve Thomas at 145 pounds, and Mike Jones at heavyweight. The Beaver grapplers pulled out a tough 21-13 win over the Oregon matmen. Jones and Mike Bertoglia at 145 pounds pinned their Duckling opponents to pace the win.

Crew

Oregon State's Rook crew team glided past the Oregon Ducklings twice. At the Corvallis Invitational Regatta, the Rook rowers clocked 5:29.5 to beat Lake Merritt. A third place finish behind Washington and Stanford at the Western Sprints ended the season for the Baby Beavers.

Golf

Jack True and Larry Giustina were rated top Rook golfers by coach Rick Holland. A winning season with a 7-3 record capped season play. Other top Beaver linksters included Steve Bennett, Ken Petersen, Leonard Hainz, and Keith Rohrbough.

Above, OSU's ruggers make headway with the ball. Below, arms, legs, and feet tangle in the scrum.

Ruggers Win Divine Cup

Beating the Oregon Ducks two out of three times by 13-3 and 22-6 scores, the OSU Rugby team gained possession of the Divine Cup. In other action, the Beavers beat Western Washington and Washington, but fell to Victoria, California, and UBC.

Kickers Lead League

With ten returning lettermen, coach Iain MacSwan spurred the OSU Soccer team to a 10-1 season record. Outstanding men were goalie Dave Harmon (at right), left winger Phil Cannon, and fullback captain Herbert Wanyanga. Inside forward Don Archer and Dave Bielenberg consistently tallied scores to put the Beavers ahead.

Oregon State lost its first game with SOC, which maintained a firm grip on the league title throughout most of the season. In the second half of play, OSU avenged this previous loss and gained the conference lead as a result.

The Staters, in trouncing Pacific 14-1, tallied the highest score ever for OSU and in the conference. The previous OSU high had been nine. Bielenberg scored 6 goals in the rout, and Archer added three more.

Skiers Take To Slopes

Tom Ford led the men's contingent, and Bev Clunes and Cindy Pattison paced the women as the 1969 OSU Ski team took to the slopes for Oregon Intercollegiate Ski Conference competition. Coaching the snowmen was Bard Glenne.

At Crystal Mountain, Ford took the downhill in 1:08.9. Clunes came in second in :68.0 in the slalom. The women's team title fell to Clunes and Pattison in the Class A division.

The OSU team captured top spot in the slalom at Hoodoo Bowl and Anthony Lake. Traveling to Alpendale, Washington, the team garnered first in the giant slalom for both men and women.

It's out along the edge and then down the slope for the

Women's Hockey Places 4 on All-Star Team

The Women's Field Hockey team downed PSU 4-0 and Oregon 3-0 before gaining a 1-1 draw with OCE. Jane Farr coached the Beaver team.

Lyla Voth scored three goals and Nancy Conover tallied one in the PSU game. Each member of this duo scored twice in the win over Oregon.

At the Northwest Tournament, OSU won two and tied two. Linda Lewman, Jean Rhoden, Emily Beard, and Nancy Conover were named to the All-star team.

Pistolers Fire Safely

John Dimick is captain of the Oregon State Pistol team. Purpose of the group is to encourage pistol shooting among students and faculty of OSU.

Competition is against member teams in the Willamette Valley Pistol League and in NRA-sponsored collegiate postal matches. Safety is stressed at all times.

Sharpshooters Win

Shoulder-to-shoulder and postal matches comprise the competitive scope of the OSU Rifle team. Dan Wendling is president, and Dr. Gerald Fowler is coach.

The group fires in the Willamette Valley League, as well as with other colleges across the country. Against Junction City, the Beaver sharpshooters, paced by Neil and Gene Koozer's handicap match win, downed the riflemen from the south.

Beaver Bowlers Knock Down Pins

Men

Dennis York captured second in the regional ACU tournament to lead the Beaver men's bowling team. Don Martin coached the group to a third place finish in Oregon Intercollegiate Bowling Conference action.

For the season, Dale Olsen had high series at 670; Dennis York took high average honors at 187. In the Jamboree at the close of the season, Rob Hall had a 609 high series, and team president Vern McLean had a 232 high game.

Sandy Niemi led the women's bowling team with a 172 average. Jeannette Masionis coached the lady kegglers.

Mary Ann Cates and Judy Ferguson took fourth in doubles at 997 at the regional ACU tourney. This duo repeated their win at the NW District Women's Bowling tourney, and Niemi captured the singles and all events categories.

Men, Women Volliers Score Points

In their fourth year of competition, the OSU men's volleyball team boasted six returnees. Herb Kirchner, Randy Hass, Claude Elmore, and Mike Johnson were spikers; Bill Shuck and Jerry Harrold were setters. Dow Poling coached the team.

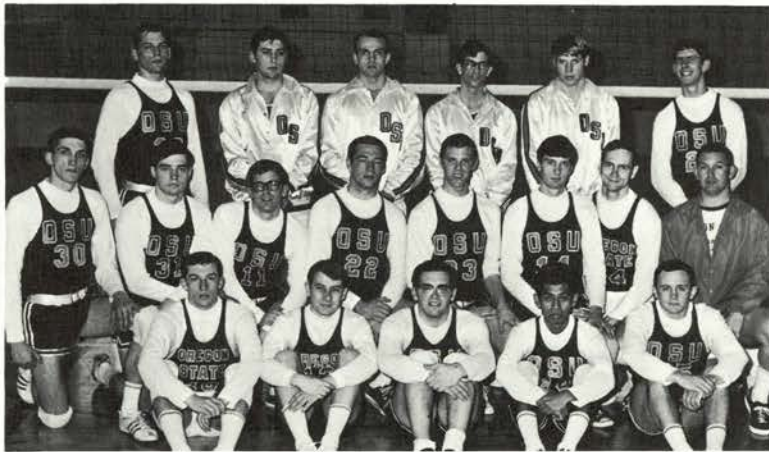

This was a year for rebuilding as the Beavers faced tough competition. The Staters managed to finish in the top bracket of tourney play in most matches.

At the UBC Invitational, Oregon State finished third with 7 wins and 3 losses. The Beavers broke even at 5-5 in PSU matches. Sponsors of the second annual OSU Invitational, the team captured second place on a 10-2 record. Steve Hart and Ron Grantz were stand-out players.

Capturing second in the Pacific Northwest Women's Volleyball Tournament capped a season which saw the OSU women's team tally a 4-2 season. Sally Hunter coached the coed team.

The Staters split games with PSU and OCE. Oregon volleyballers beat the OSU squad, but SOC was blanked 3-0 by the Beaver volliers.

Beaverette Tracksters Are Champs Twice

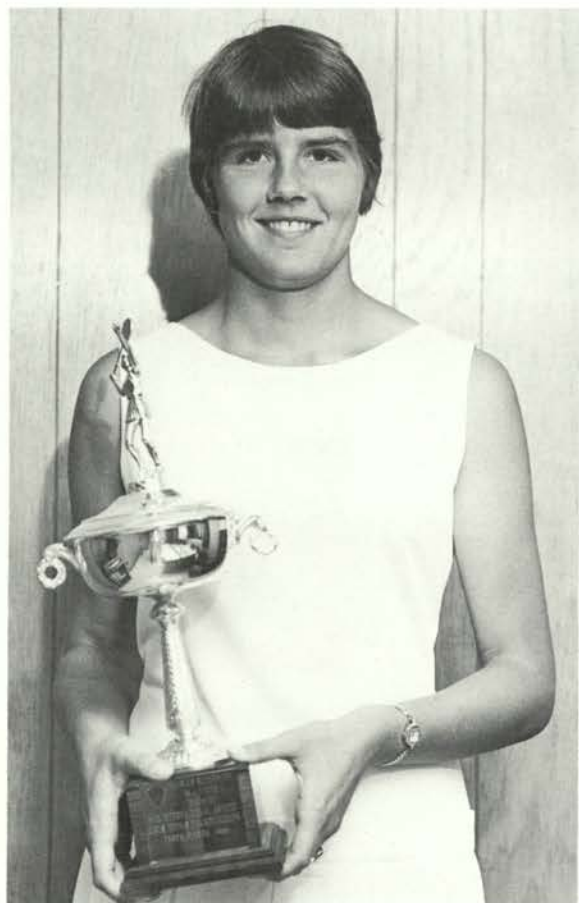

Women tracksters, coached by Sally Hunter, compiled a 3-1 season, including championships of the Oregon State Women's Intercollegiate Track meet and the Pacific Northwest College Womens' Track meet.

In the Oregon State Championships, Beaverette spikers Vickie Thomas took the 220 in 28.8, Mary Rae Evans won the 440, Lyla Voth was a double winner in the javelin and discus, and Joan Heeter won twice in the 75 yard dash and in the shot put at 39'5-3/4", a new state record.

Cindy Miller, Pat Spady, Pam McCoy, and Linda Petermen captured the relay medley at the Northwest Championships. Evans clocked 62.3 in the 440 to win it.

In the season finale, PSU edged OSU 63-55. Heeter heaved the shot 41'1-1/2" for her career best and ran the 75 in 9.1 to win.

Netters Repeat NW Title

In dual matches, the Beaverette netters ran up a 4-0 season. Sue Graham and Mary Gardenier took singles wins to lead a 4-1 victory over Oregon. Sevall, Babs Brendlinger, and Sue Lonsford took all singles; Lewman and Carey, Mari McKee and Gardenier, and Karen Berliner and Barbara Slane captured all doubles against OCE.

In a return match, OSU again wiped out OCE 6-0. Season finale with Oregon ended 4-0-1. At the AAWU tourney, OSU's women netters rated fourth. McKee and Gardenier were defeated in the quarter-finals. Berliner and Slane lost in the finals of the consolation bracket.

Coed Softball Team Hits Paydirt

Jane Farr coached the women's softball team as it compiled a 4-1 season record. Operating under the OSU Recreational Sports Program, the coed team beat Oregon three times and split with OCE.

Pitcher Shirley Radcliffe had a 2-0 record, and teammate Aleen Swofford compiled a 2-1 win-loss average. Leading hitters were Joan Heeter at .650, Lyla Voth at .571, and Pat Manning at .454.

The season opener found the Beaver ball club on the short end of a 5-4 score with OCE. Oregon fell to the staters 9-4 and 8-6 on successive weeks. OSU avenged its earlier loss by shellacing OCE 18-4, and the Beaver club downed Oregon 14-9 in the season finale.

Sevall Paces Hoopsters

With their ranks swelled by many returning players, the OSU Women's Basketball team remained undefeated for the sixth year. Season record for the coed hoopsters was 8-0 under the coaching of Sally Hunter.

Sherry Sevall was high scorer for the second consecutive season. Her highest scoring production of 27 points came in a 59-33 OSU win over OCE. Nadine Grass and Lyla Voth were other top scorers.

At the Oregon State Collegiate Women's Basketball Sportsday, the Beaver squad swept to three wins over Oregon, OCE, and Portland State. Against PSU, the OSU coeds had a scorching game at the free throw line, making 100% of their shots.

Gymnasts Are Champions

Oregon State's women gymnasts captured the PAC-8 conference championships in the first year they entered competition. Sylvia Moore coached the women as they edged WSU and Oregon.

Janet Brandt took the floor exercise and vaulting titles. Merrilee Muir was second on uneven bars. Susie Coffield rated second on the beam, and Lyla Voth captured third in vaulting.

Coeds Splash in Time

OSU coeds interested in synchronized swimming have organized themselves into the Sea Horses. Jeannette Masilionis coaches the group which is co-sponsored by the Recreational Association.

Highlight of each Sea Horse year is the water show, presented during Moms Weekend. Theme of this year's event is "Stop the World, I Want to Get Wet."

The mermaids practice weekly during fall and winter terms to prepare for the water extravaganza. New figures and stunts must be learned, and the women must practice rhythmic swimming. The pool in the Womens Building is the site of Sea Horse activities.

Rowers Race To Win

Beavers live in the water, but the Beaverettes of the Oregon State women's crew team glide along on top of the water in shells and race other women's rowing groups.

Functioning this season as a part of the OSU Recreational Sports Program, the women's crew team is coached by Astrid Hancock.

Practice is regular and strenuous as the women prepare to meet well-trained contingents from other colleges and universities. Activity begins early in the day at Stevens Crew House on the Willamette River, and drills resume in late afternoon.

The Beaverette rowers swept the course at the Green Lake Regatta. In senior fours, the Stater rowers Denise Jolly, Madeline Miles, Debbie Hermens, Wilda Wilson, and coxswain Erika Bessmer set a new course record. Jolly and Wilson repeated with a win in double skulls, rowing away from Lake Washington by a 50 second margin. The senior eights also beat the Seattle Junior Crew team.

It's stroke, stroke, stroke for the Oregon State women's crew team foursome as they slice through the murky Willamette River water during a pre-race warm-up.

Orange O Honors Top WRA Coeds

In recognition of outstanding service to the Women's Recreation Association, upperclass women are tapped each spring for Orange O membership. A service honorary for WRA, Orange O ushers at football games and the Seahorse Watershow, and sells programs and Homecoming mums.

WRA was formally organized in 1928 as the Women's Athletic Association. It became WRA in 1945. Besides offering intramural competition for all OSU women, WRA fields 10 teams which represent OSU in competition with other colleges in the Pacific Northwest and the Pacific-8. Miss Velda Brust advises the organization.

Board Guides Recreation

Five students, four faculty members, and the coordinator serve on the Recreational Sports Committee. The group sets policies, approves budgets, and allocates funds for 15 sports clubs serving over 1000 students.

The coordinator implements committee decisions, administers policies, and promotes the program and its future development.

Tom Mohrman, Recreational Sports Coordinator

Intramurals . . . A Time to Relax

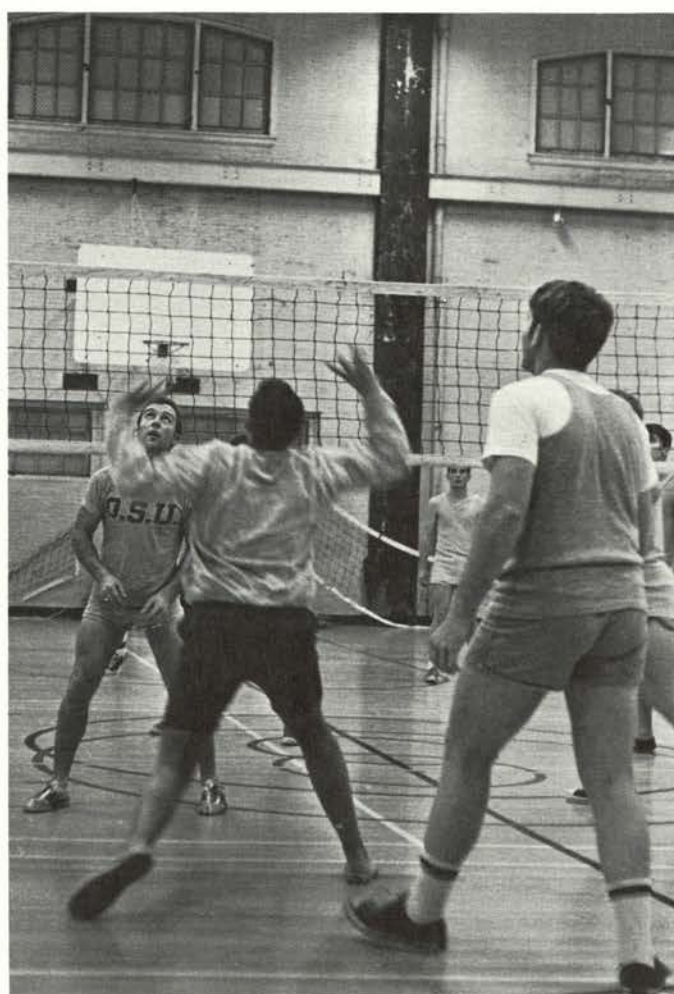

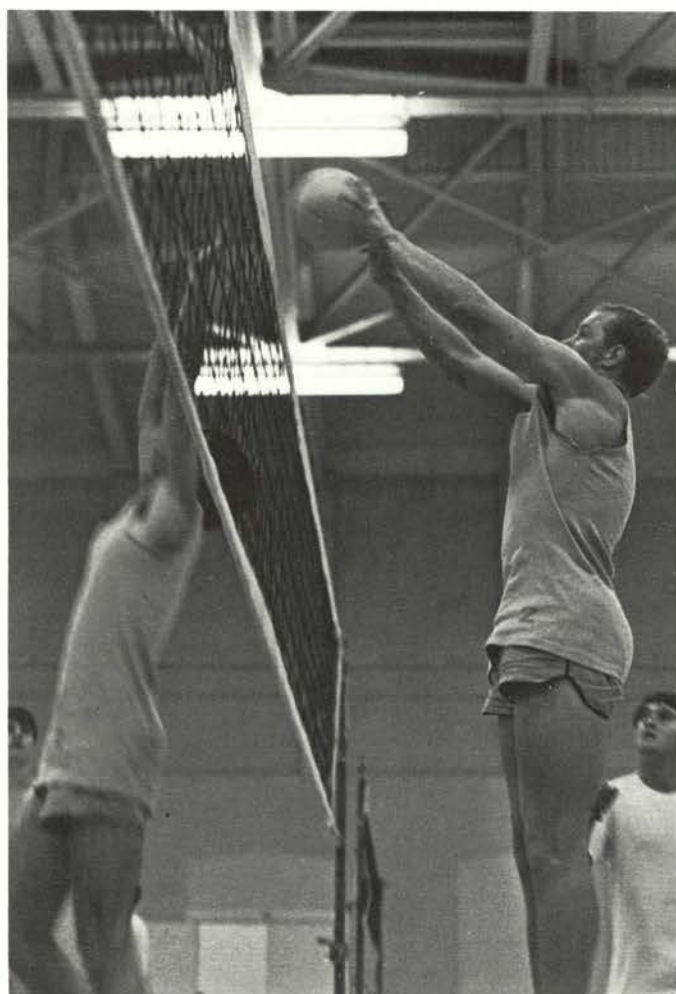

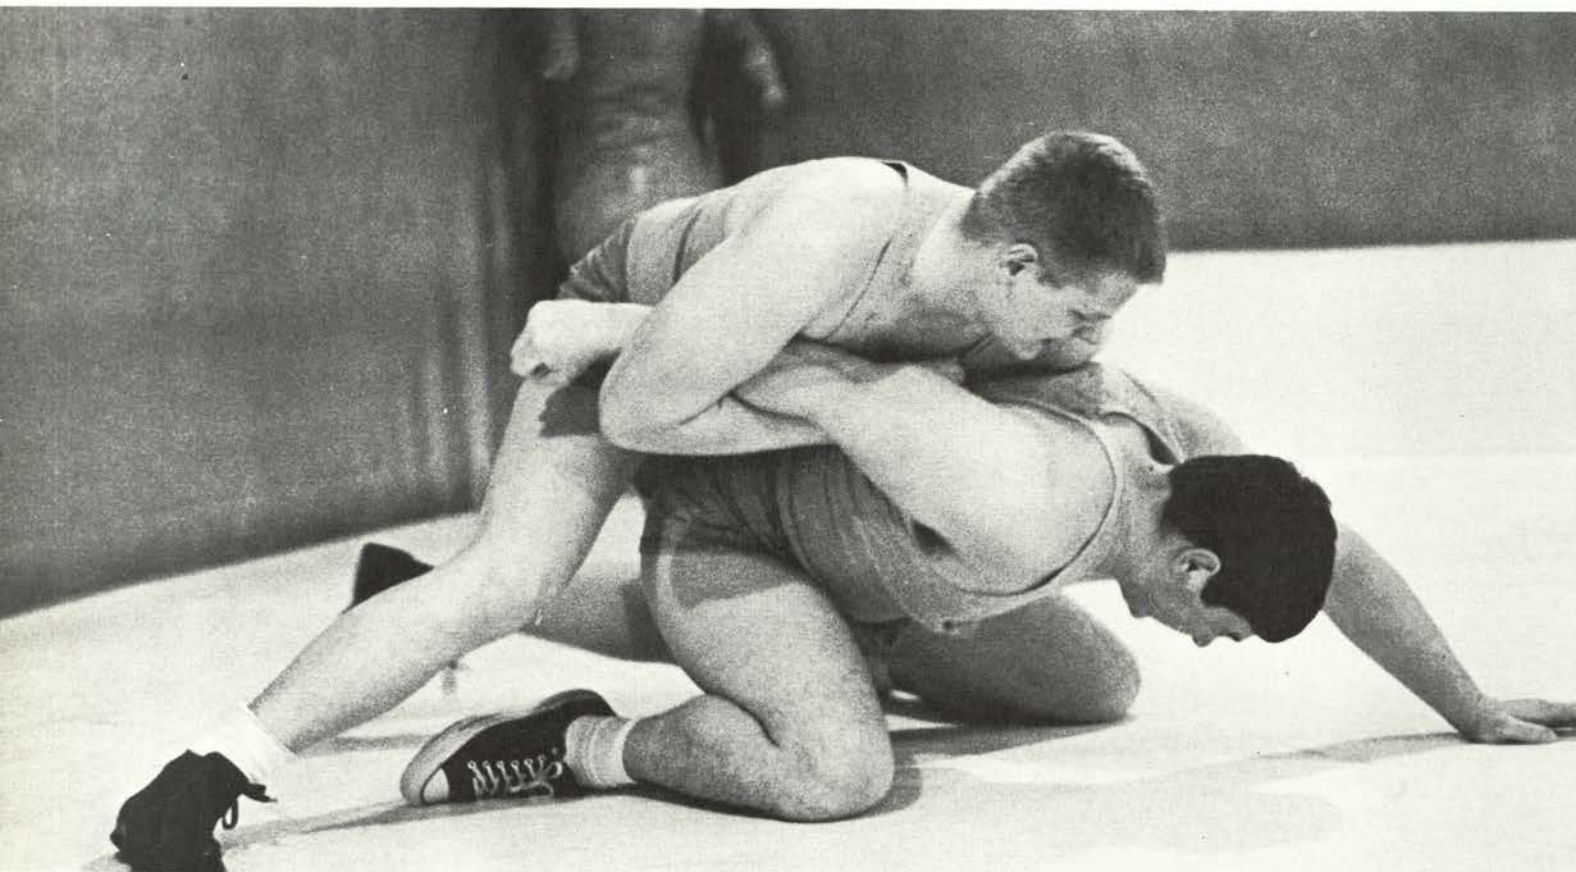

With approximately 3500 men participating, the Oregon State intramural program is designed to provide athletic competition for men not involved in regular athletic programs. The system is basically divided into two groups, the Greeks and Independents, with the champions in each division meeting for the All-School championship. The program attempts to cover every sport including the recreational activities.

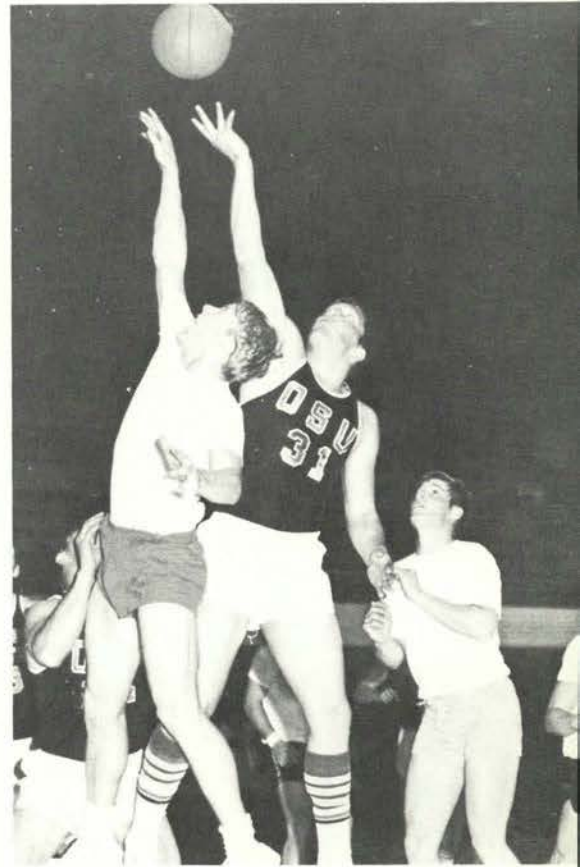

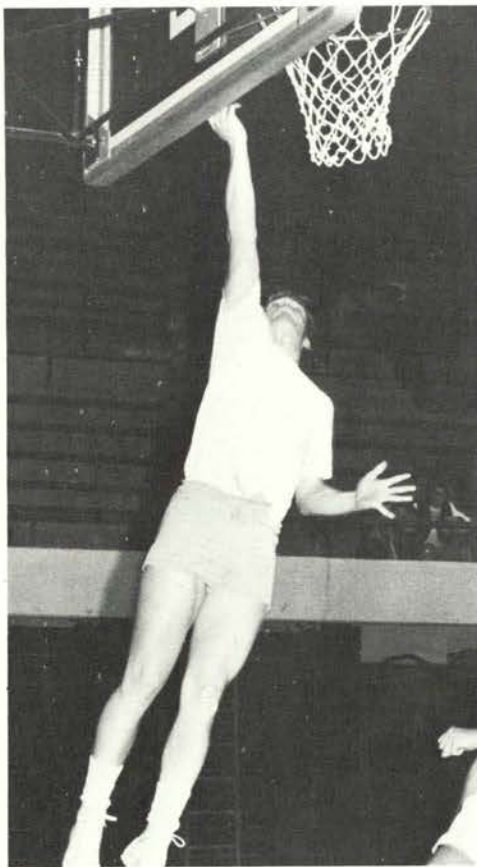

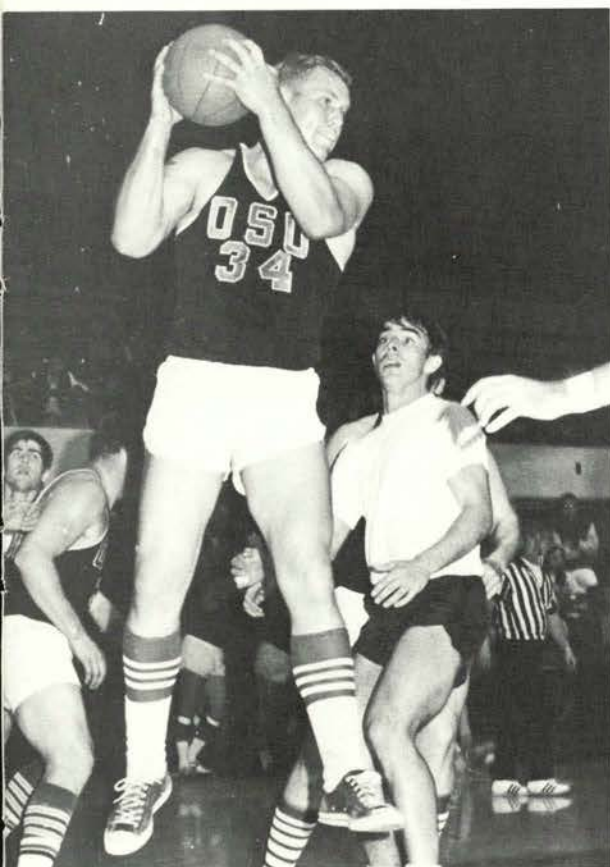

In flag football the Independent team, the Mustangs defeated the Phi Deltas, 27-16 for the title. The IM basketball program, divided into three teams, saw the SAE's continue to win the "A" championship. The Phi Deltas decided Heckart Lodge for the "B" title while the Sig Eps won the "C" trophy. The Phi Deltas also won the swimming and volleyball championships.

Wilson Fourth won the fast-pitch softball title while the DU's walked away with the slow-pitch trophy. Beta Theta Pi won the All-School track honor.

Thanks to Judy Durst and Chris Billings, Index Editors.

Thanks to Mr. Bill Jacobs of American Yearbook Company, Ball Studios, Hise Studios and the Archives staff for their great patience.

Thanks to Mr. Ralph Vincent for the use of his "Pyramid Play" picture.

Thanks to my wife Sue, without whom this book would have never been finished.
