"Spaghetti Spook," Junior-Senior Prom to Highlight Weekend

'Street of Dreams' Theme for Prom

By LINDA WOOD
Barometer Reporter

"Street of Dreams" has been revealed as the theme of the Junior-Senior Prom, according to Larry Walker, '60, chairman of the dance. The Prom will be tomorrow night from 9 to 12 p.m. in the Coliseum.

Closing Hours have been extended to 1:30 p.m., according to the Dean of Women's office.

Campus Drive Honors Randall

The fall blood drive, to be held on the Oregon State campus on November 12 and 13, will be dedicated to Buzz Randall, OSC football-great who recently passed away. Randall who died of leukemia in September used gallons of blood in his fight for survival.

"It seems only fitting that OSC students should have an opportunity to give blood in memory of Randall," said Dick Williams, president of Alpha Phi Omega, sponsor of the drive.

No trophies will be given for living-group participation this year, as it is felt they aren't needed in this worthwhile cause. A record quota of donations is expected this year, according to Williams. Bill Johnson, '61, is acting chairman of the drive.

Huff Presents First Reading

"Poetry is either personal or it is nothing," declared Robert Huff, instructor of English at Oregon State College, when he inaugurated the first of a series of poetry readings at the Memorial Union Wednesday night to a near-capacity crowd of approximately 150 students, faculty and townspeople.

Introduced by R. D. Brown, assistant professor of English at OSC, who had a few words to say about the projected programs for the series, Huff began by explaining his own definitions of obscurity and subjectivity in poetry and gave examples of his theory by reading from the works of E. E. Cummings, Theodore Roethke, W. B. Yeats, and Gerard Manley Hopkins, poets, he said, who have taught him much.

Huff impresses audience Reading from his forthcoming book, "Colonel Johnson's Ride," Huff impressed the audience with the vigor of his language, the bizarre nature of his imagery, and occasionally, with the fine quality of his sentiment.

An air of tension enveloped the room as the audience, at first slow to respond to the poet's readings of the works of others, soon became engrossed with Huff's own "Rainbow," "Brahman," "To Ursula," among others, which were greeted with a resounding applause.

Late Hour Stops Questions Because of the lateness of the hour, the projected question and answer period was foregone. The second of the series of readings sponsored by a sub-committee of the Liberal Arts Lectures Committee of the Lower Division will be held on December 3. At that time Melvin Walker LaFollette, also an English instructor at OSC, will be the featured poet.

OSC'er New Prexy Of ASAE Section

Thomas Tye '60, was elected chairman of the student division of the Pacific Northwest section of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, during the regional meeting on campus last weekend. Dale Schulte, '61, was named secretary and vice president to serve with Tye.

Ephrata, Wash. was picked as the site for the 1959 conference. Some 150 agricultural engineers from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and British Columbia attended this year's sessions.

Meetings

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB will meet Friday at 8 p.m. in room 123 Home Ex. building. The program will be a panel discussion on "Education of World Campuses."

HOUSE PRESIDENTS will meet Monday at 12 noon in Memorial Union 212.

CHIN TUCKERS will tryout today at 5 p.m. in Women's Building 15.

VOL. XLIV, No. 20 Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oregon Friday, October 31, 1958

LLOYD M. FRAZIER and Martin F. Johnson are shown putting the finishing touches on the new OSC seal to be placed in the Quad next week. The seal was a gift to the school by the senior class of 1957.

Official OSC Seal Ready; To Be Set In Quad Soon

Oregon State College's Official Seal will be placed in the quad next week embedded in a concrete anchor. A year and a half of planning and preparation was required to ready the handsome seal for placement.

This bronze seal is four feet in diameter and weighs 900 pounds. A board consisting of President A. L. Strand, E. B. Lemon, dean of administration, and officers of the class of 1957, selected the present site of the seal.

It will be placed just off center of the middle of the quad. Dean Lemon said. Reasons for this are to keep students from walking on it and also this location fits in with the landscape.

Class of '57 Donates Money The class of '57 donated $1300 for this project as a class gift. They had hoped to have it installed this last summer so that it would be ready for the students when they returned to OSC this fall term.

State Aid to Private Schools Discussed At Forum Here

By DOROTHY SCHOLZ
Barometer Reporter

A forum on the question of state aid to private and parochial schools, sponsored by Y-Round Table, was attended by over 200 people in the Home Economics Auditorium at 8 p.m. last night.

Principle speakers for the event were Dr. Raymond E. Balcomb, pastor of the First Methodist church in Corvallis, and Reverend Martin Thielien, Director of Education in the Roman Catholic Archdiocese in Portland.

Terry Lekman, '61, Y-Round Table treasurer was chairman of the event. He introduced the moderator, William A. McClenaghan, assistant professor of political science at Oregon State College.

McClennaghan read statements from Mark Hatfield and Governor Robert D. Holmes which had been sent upon request of the Y-Round Table.

Holmes stated that by making state approved textbooks available to all students we are taking out insurance that our children will be given generally accepted basic education. The textbooks, of course, are not kept by the student, but are on a rental basis and must be returned in good condition, he said.

Hatfield says the taxpayers are saved money by the operation and maintenance of private and parochial schools; therefore, the state, in supplying textbooks to these schools, is not showing them financial favoritism.

A flip of the coin made Father Thielien first speaker of the discussion. "I believe in separation of church and state, but I do not believe in separation of God and state," Thielien said.

U.S. Should Befriend Religion The government of the United States and of the individual states should be friendly to religion, he said. If the separation of church and state is pressed too far it may

Mayhem Producer Needed For Show

A producer is needed for Mayhem, a musical show given annually by the Associated Independent Students during Mothers Weekend, according to Harley Smith, '59, AIS president. Applications are available in the East Bay of the Memorial Union and will be due Nov. 7. Committee reports from last year are available for reference at East Bay. Any student at Oregon State may apply, but he must be familiar with dramatics. The producer will decide what show will be presented and helps pick the cast. Then he works as over-all head, coordinating the project.

World Affairs Meet To Be Nov. 12-15

"The New Look" in Western Europe" is the theme of the Ninth Annual Institute on World Affairs to be held on the Oregon State College Campus Nov. 12-15. Featured speaker for the convocation on Nov. 12 will be The Right Honorable Anthony Nutting, former minister of state for foreign Affairs of Great Britain, and now a special correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune.

The convocation will be held in the Coliseum and the student forum on Nov. 14, featuring Senator Wayne Morse, will be held in the Home Economics Auditorium.

If living groups are interested in holding World Affairs firesides they may be scheduled during this institute.

11 Co-eds Chosen Court Candidates

Eleven Oregon State College women were selected last night as semi-finalists for the 1958 OSC Homecoming court.

The semi-finalists include Sharon Garrow, Norma Bell, Joanne McDonald, and Carol Scott, all '59; Sandra Hayes, Charlotte Ralls, and Priscilla Prince, all '60; and Sharon Spencer, Jeanne Van Egmond, Joan Deagen, and Diane Myers, all '61.

The 11 co-eds will be honored at a tea Sunday afternoon, Nov. 2, in the Memorial Union. They will meet the members of the queen selection committee at that time. The five finalists for the Homecoming court will be chosen after the tea Sunday.

The 11 semi-finalists were selected from a group of 37 candidates. Oregon State's 1958 Homecoming queen will be elected by an all-school vote on Wednesday, Nov. 12. The chosen queen will reign over Homecoming festivities here the weekend of Nov. 22.

Senate Gives $500 to MUN For Conference

An allocation of $500 to aid in covering expenses for Oregon State College's delegation to the Model United Nations session this spring was approved by the ASOSC Senate in its meeting Wednesday. In granting the Model UN the $500 aid from the ASOSC funds, the Senate voted that the MUN be placed on the ASOSC budget in future years.

Because of annual requests by the MUN for Senate aid to its program, the senators felt it necessary to budget money for the program each year. The Senate hopes that this act will save an appreciable amount of discussion time in future years.

Other Programs Get Aid Discussion on the senate floor centered around the fact that the Model United Nations program is similar to programs on campus being sponsored directly by Educational Activities funds. Several senators were in favor of seeking to establish the MUN program as an educational activity on the same basis as the forensics program, the OSC band, and the choruses. These groups receive an annual allotment from the Educational Activities budget.

Rather than attempt to go through the channels necessary to establish the MUN as an official expense under the Educational Activities program, the senate decided to budget the yearly appropriation to the group. If the ASOSC treasury is depleted at the end of each year as a result of appropriating money to the MUN, Educational Activities will aid the senate financially.

Senate Wednesday also voted to establish a committee to study the areas of campus life that the legislative group is now working in and to recommend possible new projects that the senate could undertake.

A committee was also established to study and make recommendations on methods for selecting the OSC Rally Committee chairman in future years.

Membership of these two committees will be announced by ASOSC President Larry McKenyon at next week's Senate meeting.

Large Crowd Expected At Jr.-Sr. Dinner

The "Spaghetti Spook" buffet-style dinner for Juniors and Seniors is expected to attract a sizeable crowd to the Memorial Union ballroom tonight at 6 o'clock, according to Bill Carson, '60, committee chairman.

The menu will consist of Italian-style spaghetti, served with tossed green salad, garlic bread, and coffee. The cost is 50 cents for juniors and seniors with class cards, and 75 cents for those without cards.

Decorations will keynote both Halloween and the fall season. Entertainment will be provided, but is being kept as a surprise until tonight.

Dress will be grubby for juniors and campus for the seniors attending.

Also serving on Carson's committee for the "Spaghetti Spook" are Howie Smith, '60, Master of Ceremonies; Glenn Ely, '60, publicity; Barbara Davis, '60, serving and decorations; Ken Mills, '60, tickets, and Neil West, '60, cleanup.

All juniors who are interested in helping with the Prom are invited to meet after dinner in the coliseum to decorate and help with the programs, according to Carson.

Cast Practices After Workout

After nearly four weeks of memorizing lines, gestures and body action, the cast for "Ladies in Retirement," first speech department play of the year, is putting the hard-earned techniques into practice.

With dress rehearsals starting Sunday, nearly all the kinks are already out. According to Don Henry, assistant professor in speech and director of the play, the audience will see a good performance when they open next Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the College Playhouse.

The play, a psychological melodrama, is a story that centers around an 1885 setting. The entire play takes place inside an English home (Estuary House) which is an old pre-Tudor farmhouse.

The cast includes Dottie Douglas, '61, as Lucy Gilham; Sally Stimson, '62, as Leonora Fiske; Diane Holloway, '62, as Sister Theresa, the Catholic nun; Phil Black, '60, as Albert Feather, the only male part in the play; Mary Murphy, '61, as Ellen Creed; Joan Blomquist, '62, as Louisa Creed; and Trudy Donnelly, '61, as Emily Creed.

Spirit Exhibited In Campus Rally

A rally led by the OSC marching band and the rally squad will begin tonight at 7 near Benton Hall, Gordy Kee '60, rally king, announced today. Students attending the rally will march through the streets into the Corvallis business district. All students are urged to participate, Kee said.

"The purpose of the event is to build spirit for the game tomorrow," Kee said. "We want the spirit to come from the Corvallis townspeople as well as OSC students."

When questioned as to the possibility of a student car rally following the parading students, Kee observed: "We want to make noise!"

Spontaneous Rally Staged Yesterday Approximately 200 Oregon State College students, led by the OSC Marching Band and the Rally Squad, yesterday afternoon paraded across the center of the campus, into the Memorial Union, and down to the football practice field behind the Coliseum in a display of noisy anxiety anticipating Saturday's football crucial with the University of California.

As the rally progressed, a light aircraft from the Corvallis airport circled the campus dropping leaflets. The entire campus yesterday seemed to bustle with evidence that this Saturday's football war between the two top contenders for the Rose Bowl is going to be a big one. Shirts, jackets and coats were bristling with orange and black "Beat the Bears" cards distributed by the Corvallis Chamber of Commerce. Members of the football team could be seen wearing strips of adhesive tape on the backs of their jackets with the words "Beat Cal" printed on them.

The afternoon rally culminated at the practice field where students chanted OSC yells, cheered members of the team, and sang the Alma Mater. Beaver Coach Tommy Prothro spoke to the students participating in the spontaneous rally. The successful Beaver mentor commended students for the spirit they have shown this year and thanked the students for their display yesterday.

Corvallis merchants for the past several days have been wearing the "Beat the Bears" cards during working hours. Townspeople and students alike have begun to make a display of their football hopes — just in time for one of the "big ones."

College Union Meet Holds Kick-off Meal

The Region 11 ACU conference began a busy two days today as 212 delegates, including students, faculty, and guests, attended the kick-off breakfast in the Memorial Union building.

The students and faculty members who are here for the conference will discuss such topics as "Regional Cooperation," "New Pending Unions," and special interest groups covering cultural, dance, publicity, recreation, and personal programs.

Last year's conference at the University of Washington set a new record in attendance as 120 students met for the 8th annual conference. This year's attendance at Oregon State is the highest yet, and some delegates were still registering this morning.

Delegates Have Responsibility Although many staff members attend the Region 11 conference, they are there as resource people only. This leaves the largest share of responsibility on the student delegates in conducting meetings and discussions.

All schools in the region, with or without union programs were invited to the conference. Conference Ends Saturday The final business session will be held from 12 to 1 Saturday afternoon. During this meeting awards will be made to outstanding unions, the site of next year's conference will be announced, and summary booklets of the conference will be handed out to all delegates.

The conference will then officially adjourn, and many of the delegates will attend the Oregon State-California football game. A special student section has been arranged for the delegates. Conference Schedule for Friday A.M. 8-12—Registration at M.U. Activity Center. 8-9—Kick-off Breakfast. 9-30-15—Meeting of old and new Boards. 10-15-11:45—First Workshop Session "The Role of the College Union." P.M. 12:15-1-30—Lunch. 1-30-3—Second Workshop Session "The Union at Work." 3-30-5—Third Workshop Session "The Region at Work." 6-30-9—Conference Banquet, U. G. Dubach featured speaker. 9-10—New Board Meeting.

Rally Committee Seeks Chairman

The Rally Squad Committee will be seeking petitions for Rally Committee Chairman until Tuesday noon. Petitions can be obtained at the East Bay. Reviewing for the selection will be done Tuesday night by the Rally Committee. The senate will make the final choice Wednesday noon.

Foreign Film Stars Tickets Sold Out

The Classic Foreign Film series being shown at the College Playhouse this year is sold out. The subscription-only sales are sold out for the year.

This week's performance Saturday is a double feature. The two movies are "Where Mountains Float" and "Mr. Hulot's Holiday."

Chester A. Garrison, Assistant Professor of English, said "We are glad that so many students have shown interest in the films this year."

Weather CORVALLIS — Increasing cloudiness tonight. Mostly cloudy with scattered light showers Friday, probably becoming heavier Friday night. Low both nights 40-45. High Friday 56-62.

Card Stunt Manuevers Explained; Cooperation of Students Desired

Card stunts for the Oregon State-California football game will require the cooperation of all participating students, according to Don Nash, card stunt quarterback. The stunts, which will be shown between halves of the game, will include all students sitting between the two 35 yard lines on the Oregon State College side.

All students may sit in this section including married couples provided they arrive in time to secure a seat and are wearing a white shirt or blouse, stated Nash. This will be OSC's first attempt at fusing in many years.

Because the card stunts are complicated, the cooperation and attention of every participant is needed. A brief summary of the procedures to be used follows. Instructions to be Available Before the stunts are given, the section will be cleared of all extra students so that each participant has an instruction sheet and a set of cards. Each person should make sure that he is sitting directly behind the person in front of him.

Each instruction sheet should have a list of numbers indicating when each card is to be used. The color card should be raised when the number is called. Since several of the stunts involve motion, the student must wait until his number is called before raising his card.

Varied Colors to be Used Some participants will use two colors in one stunt. The cards are held back to back and when the second number is called the second card is rolled over the first. Pictures of each stunt will be shown prior to each one. Special terms by the quarterback are listed below. IN POSITION, CARDS, READY, one—the command means for the card holder to get the right card and get into position to some up on the count of one. MOVING STUNT—one in which the stunt will unfold on a count from the quarterback. Persons should listen for their individual number. "The card stunts are complicated but if each card holder pays attention to his individual instruction sheet and listens to instruction from the quarterback, the stunts will be simple. I'm sure we can make a success of the stunts," said Nash.

READY DOWN — command to come down with the cards on the word down. Persons then prepare for the next stunt.

ROLL OVER—a term for a stunt in which the card is merely flipped over in the holder's hand when the second color is needed. This may mean two cards have to be held with the second color facing the holder.

JUDY ROAKE '61, shows how the Card Stunts are to be administered from the upward position back down. If students will follow the simple instructions for the stunts a good card section should be the result.

Mixed Sections: The Big Experiment

Speaking of "fussing," we're sure that everyone will agree that it's a fine practice.

If you're speaking of "fussing" and you mean "fussing at football games" — it's not so desirable.

Call it a "mixed rooting section" and you'll be referring to the plan exactly as the OSC Rally Committee has intended it to be.

Tomorrow's experiment with a mixed student rooting section at the OSC-Cal football game is being carried out with the hope that it will facilitate a better quality card stunt section. It is an invitation to married students — and all interested students — to sit in the card section and to participate in the stunt program. No one will be checking marriage licenses in the stands, but the experiment is not an open invitation for boy-girl dating at the game. We hope that the students do not regard tomorrow's game as a fussing event.

In order that the card stunts be effective, it is important that students pay attention to the card quarterback and follow his instruction to the best of their ability.

No one like a "dead fish" — either male or female. If students sitting in the mixed rooting section feel self-conscious about yelling then they'd be better off not sitting in the section. To refrain from showing the same individual spirit that has been displayed in the separate sections simply because you're worried that the boy or girl sitting next to you will be displeased is merely submitting to petty social pressures.

There's no good reason — not even social pressures — that should prevent Saturday's mixed section of students from making as much noise as has been made at previous games.

Uppermost in the minds of all students, of course, will be the desire to see the Beavers defeat the Californians. The sidelights (card stunts and a noisy rooting section), however, are an important part of the excellent spirit that we'll need. Let's all perform in a "winning" style.

Annual Student Union Meet

Today some 214 college students will be attending workshop sessions as the 9th Annual Region 11 Conference of the Association of College Unions gets underway on the OSC campus. This conference may seem remote to Oregon State students, but after reviewing the national association's statement of purpose, we feel that all college students can see their connection with such an organization.

The Role Of The College Union

1. The Union is the community center of the college, for all the members of the college family—students, faculty, administration, alumni and guests. It is not just a building; it is also an organization and a program. Together they represent a well-considered plan for the community life of the college.

2. As the "living room" or the "hearthstone" of the college, the union provides for the services, conveniences, and amenities of the members of the college family need in their daily life on the campus and for getting to know and understand one another through informal association outside the classroom.

3. The Union is part of the educational program of the college. As the center of college community life, it serves as a laboratory of citizenship, training students in social responsibility and for leadership in our democracy.

Through its various boards, committees, and staff, it provides a cultural, social, and recreational program, aiming to make free time activity a cooperative factor with study in education.

In all its processes it encourages self-directed activity, giving maximum opportunity for self-realization and for growth in individual social competency and group effectiveness. Its goal is the development of persons as well as intellects.

4. The Union serves as a unifying force in the life of the college, cultivating enduring regard for a loyalty for and loyalty to the college.

The night of witching, garbage can overturning, trick or treating, and other festivities is upon us. The town will be swarming with gypsies, skeletons, ghouls, clowns, bears, cats, dogs, and Spanish dancers as the children of the community travel from house to house in search of goodies.

Now college students are a little old for that sort of thing; or so tradition and social custom say. However, anyone that feels like stirring up a little commotion can find any opportunity in the rally-set for tonight. Orange and black are OSC colors so Halloween night should be favorable for scaring off the California bear.

All witches, ghouls, and other interested members of the student body should be on hand to brew a magic potion to be used against the southern neighbors tomorrow.

Rustic Ramblings

With Russ

With election day drawing near we note with interest how politicians and their backers are starting to put a little more snap into campaign speeches, charges, and counter charges.

One remark that we thought typical of the political battle was made by a backer of one of the major candidates in Portland. Said he, the opposing candidate would take a firm stand on both sides of any issue. In fact, this particular loud-mouth blasted the opposition for his entire speech without touching on the virtues of his party or candidate. Could it have been because his candidate had no virtues?

One of the most elaborate programs of the year is rapidly drawing near. We're talking of the four-day "Institute on World Affairs." Once again under the able leadership of Dr. Austin W. Walter, head of political science, an outstanding array of speakers and forums is on the institute roster.

The Right Honorable Anthony Nutting, famed British statesman, will be the principal speaker at the November 12th convocation kickoff for the institute program.

Congratulations to Irwin Harris, educational activities director, for his efforts in securing the popular Kingston Trio for an Oregon State College appearance. One rascally student will admit the typical college student, with the general public admission set for $1.50.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"TIME TO CLEAN UP GIRLS - REMEMBER NOW, A PLACE FOR EVERYTHING AN' EVERYTHING IN ITS PLACE!"

We do understand that the Trio will also perform at the University of Oregon while on this Northwest swing. That sets us to wondering... just how many of the "Big Four" schools have had the Kingston Trio on their campuses? After a couple of years of delay including an act of the state (Continued on page 3)

Cheers 'n Jeers

An Open Letter to the Student Body:

In response to the letter written by the Group Dynamics Class concerning the spirit of the rally squad, we would like to say thanks for the well deserved criticism. It has given us an incentive to work harder at our future games, and now that we know the feelings of those who support our efforts, we're sure we will improve with your help. You as a student body, and we as a rally squad are striving for the same thing—Spirit. To achieve this, we must work together. So far this season as recognized by newspaper articles, the team, the students, and the rally squad, the spark of enthusiasm that designates strong school spirit and wins games has been missing. We do not hesitate in taking our share of the blame, but at the same time, we feel that ten people can't possibly appear completely satisfactory to everyone in the stands. We have a yell king and three capable yell leaders. There would be no need for students starting yells in the stands if the yell leaders and students would work together. Give your yell leaders a chance to lead you! We'll be trying our best at tomorrow's game

Paper Unions Talk New Wage Contract

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Officials of the pulp and paper industry of the West Coast met with representatives of two unions here Tuesday to reopen wage talks.

The labor groups are the Pulp and Sulphite Workers Union and the United Paperworkers and Paperworkers.

The employer group and the two unions agreed last spring to continue their existing contract with no wage increase, but the agreement called for a reopening of talks on the wage question.

Both sides announced that no statements would be released until talks are concluded. A joint statement will be released at that time; they said.

Footlights . . .

by bob richardson

If you can break away from your traditional Halloween fun of tipping over your rival fraternal garbage cans . . . you might take in the local theater's weekend movie fare . . . possibly the best of the year.

The Whiteside offers one of the most lavishly produced outdoor films ever to come out of Hollywood . . . THE BIG COUNTRY. Like its title, it is a big picture in every sense of the word — a star-studded cast, breathtaking scenery, excellent direction and acting.

The plot, although simple, provides the medium through which some memorable acting scenes are portrayed . . . concerns the opening of the old west, told in terms of an easterner who is plunged into a bitter range war when he tries to mediate a long-standing feud between two families who claim water rights to the land.

William Wyler, two-time academy award winner, directs the veteran cast in some outstanding performances. A review of each of the actor's performances would be much too long . . . but in a cast including Gregory Peck, Jean Simmons, Charlton Heston, Burl Ives, Carroll Baker, Chuck Connors, and Charles Bickford . . . each one has his own scene.

Scope, simplicity, and freshness were the key words to this picture's success. Taking the risk of sounding like Sir Winston Churchill, I can safely say that in a picture, never before was so much said in so few words.

The Oregon State comes up with a snappy little comedy, ME AND THE COLONEL, starring Danny Kaye and Curt Jurgens. A poignant, heartwarming story combined with some hilarious acting by Kaye, make this a picture with the delightful characteristics of an Alex Guinness movie.

This off-beat movie concerns a mild-mannered man buffeted about by the hatreds and fears of war. When this refugee is teamed with an aristocratic Polish army colonel, both fleeing from the advancing Nazi forces, the movie-goer is presented with a striking character study. If you like true comedy, don't miss the show.

 sea River Saturday was good in the morning but tapered off in the afternoon. Steelhead fishing is poor as low waters are holding most of the fish at the river mouths. Predictions state that fishing will be slow until rains deepen the rivers. Skindivers going to the coast this weekend, can expect generally clear weather with chances of light showers Sunday; temperatures will be slightly above normal. Diving should be good as no storms have occurred for the past two weeks.

FOWL
 Waterfowl hunting should be good at Malheur Refuge, according to all reports. In the valley the birds are concentrated on public and private shooting grounds where food and water are concerned. Migrant birds are drifting in with Widgeon and Teal the most abundant bird so far. Fall rains should improve the waterfowl picture.

Upland game bird hunting is slow in the valley because birds are flushing well out of gunning range. Hunter reports state that even good dogs are having a hard time holding the birds. Better hunting is reported east of the mountains with excellent Chukar Partridge success on the Southeast border of Oregon.

 Legislature, the long-awaited Oregon State College seal is being installed in the quad at last. Funds for the handsome bronze seal were donated by the class of 1957 as a graduation gift to the institution.

Perhaps now that Oregon State has an official seal placed in a conspicuous place, our chances to become a full-fledged university are somewhat improved.

Another thing in our favor for realization of the long awaited university status is the coming of a new type of culture to campus. English instructor Robert Huff Wednesday presented the first in a series of poetry readings.

It sure makes us feel more refined to know that we have a prize-winning poet in our institution.

We also note that Oregon State will hold the premiere exhibition of a group of Norwegian prints next week in the Memorial Union. These prints were brought to this country through the efforts of Gordon Gilkey, head of the OSC art department.

One final comment, this one on sports . . .

Tommy Prothro's Beavers may meet their sternest test of the season Saturday against the Joe Kapp-paced California Bears. Seems to us that every time that Coach Prothro holds a week of closed-door practice sessions the Beavers charge out of their black shrouds to a solid victory. Guess we'll have to go along with the Beavers. It's our philosophy to stick with the winners.

Betas Beaten by Phi Delt's Who Move to Semi-finals

Phi Delta Theta downed Beta Theta Pi 12-6 in intramural football last night for a semi-final berth in the fraternity football playoffs. The evening saw the Phi Delt's post its second victory over the Betas in three games played between the rival foes. The previous games had been disputed and were being replayed for the third time.

In driving to victory Phi Delta Theta scored first when Teddy Thompson found a hole over center and dashed 25 yards to the goal line. The Betas came booming into the game when Bruce Patterson caught a pass from Gerry Droscher for a 50-yard pass play touchdown. The attempt for the extra point was no good and the game was all tied at the half.

In the second half the Phi Delt's capitalized on its passing attack when Bill Wagner passed 35 yards to Gary Brown for the winning touchdown. The remainder of the game saw the Phi Delt's defense hold to stop the Beta's drives. Sigma Chi's over Otto's.

Sigma Chi edged Alpha Tau Omega 7-6 to give them a berth in the semi-finals. The Sigma Chi's drew first blood when Bob Romig caught a 30-yard pass from Tom Cottle and then sped to the goal line. Cottle then made the conversion point with a place kick to give Sigma Chi a lead that was never relinquished.

The ATOs got its scoring drive going when Al Dunkey passed to Jim Browne who then rambled to the goal. The try for the conversion point failed and the ATOs were behind at the half. In the second half it was just a matter of time as neither team was able to score.

UBC Students To Visit Here This Weekend

The OSC faculty and students of geography and the department of natural resources are to be host to 11 graduate geography majors and faculty from the University of British Columbia, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The group, under the leadership of Dr. J. L. Robinson, is coming for the purpose of studying first hand, the Oregon State program in resource geography as offered in the department of natural resources, and of getting acquainted with the OSC campus. Three of the visiting students are from British Universities and one is from Malaya; all are currently studying at UBC.

Friday morning, a group of OSC majors in resource geography will act as guides in showing the visitors around the campus. At lunch the group will gather in the department classroom on the third floor of Social Science Hall for an informal discussion of the natural resources department professional program.

Dr. Robinson, chairman of the University of British Columbia, will present a lecture on the International Geographical Union meeting held in Rio de Janeiro, at 2 p.m. Friday. Robinson attended as an official delegate from Canada. At the time, he was president of the Canadian Association of Geographers. Robinson is one of the best known Canadian geographers and an authority on the American arctic. His report is open to the public.

Rooks-Frosh Meet Tonight; Bears-Beavers Tangle Saturday

Year's Opener Billed for 8 p.m. In Mac Stadium

By JIM HENDERSON
Barometer Sports Editor
The Rook football team will begin its season tonight when they face the strong Oregon Frosh in the annual "Little Civil War" clash at Multnomah Stadium in Portland. Game time is set for 8 p.m.

Bud Gibbs, assistant football coach, left for Portland with his 33-man traveling squad this morning. "The boys are ready to go," he commented yesterday. "They've worked hard during these four weeks of practice."

On paper, the Rooks are given the role of underdogs for tonight's game. The highly-touted Frosh squad is considered by many to be the strongest freshman team ever fielded by the University.

The Frosh hold a slight edge in the series over the past few years. The Oregon team has come out on top ten times to the Rook's eight victories in the last ten years. One game ended in a tie.

Both teams will have their share of "name players" in the starting lineups. Five former Oregon prep stars will be starting for the Rooks while three will start for the Frosh.

Don Kasso, a high-schol All-American from Berkeley, Calif., will be starting in the all-important tailback slot in Gibbs' single-wing attack. Steve Picard of Seaside will start at wingback and Frank Hawley of Vale will start at fullback. Terry Cabe of Everett, Wash., will round out the Rook's starting backfield at blocking back.

Passing Ace Jim Suter will start at quarterback for the Frosh team. Holding down the halfback spots will be Sam Spooner and Rick Lamb. Mike Gaechter will be the Oregon starting fullback.

The Rooks have spent the last week of practices working on game preparations. Workouts have been concentrated against anticipated Frosh offensive plays and defenses.

It will be "Kid's Night" in Portland tonight with one child under the age of 14 admitted free with each holder of an adult ticket.

Thinclads Ready for U of O Ducks

OREGON STATE'S CROSS COUNTRY TEAM will make its 1958 home debut today when it meets the University of Oregon Ducks on the Corvallis Country Club course. Team members are shown warming up for today's meet. Shown above are Don Ferguson, Norm Fones, Cliff Thompson, Loren Blaco, Cliff Cordy, and Norm Hoffman.

Spirit High as Beavers Prep For Cal Tilt

The Oregon State Beavers ran through a light dummy defensive drill yesterday, and are slated for light polishing drills today as they prepare for their clash with the University of California Golden Bears in Parker Stadium tomorrow. Though working behind closed doors by sneaking a peak we found the Beavers hard at work and the spirit running high.

During the short peak it was evident that the team is really primed and ready for this contest. They must win if they have any hopes of being in the Rose Bowl on January 1 as predicted in the preseason polls. The job couldn't be tougher for they are playing the unbeaten team in conference play. California currently sports a 3-0 record.

Stopping the potent California T-offense will be the big problem facing OSC this week. Paced by the strong quarterbacking of Joe Kapp the Bears lead the Pacific Coast Conference in total offense, and rushing offense departments. In their three league games the Bears have averaged 321.3 yards per game to Oregon State's 257 yard total. This grinding attack is rated by Beaver Coach Tommy Prothro as the toughest T-offense to defense against that he has seen.

OSC Runners Home Opener Set for Today

Oregon State will meet the University of Oregon in a cross country meet this afternoon at 4 at the Corvallis Country Club. Both the varsity and second string will run. The Beavers lost their first meet with the Ducks by a score of 40-15. Since then, Oregon State has beaten Portland State, Lewis and Clark, and Portland University. Oregon is unbeaten and is rated as one of the top teams in the country.

Don Ferguson, Cliff Thompson, and Norm Hoffman have been among the leading Beaver runners all season. Hoffman and Thompson were both impressive in last week's meet when they recorded times of 10:18 and 10:19 over a 2.1 mile course.

Those competing this afternoon include Ferguson, Norm Fones, Thomson, Loren Blaco, Cliff Cordy, and Hoffman on the varsity and Archie Meadows, David Heminger, Tit Heinsoo, Chris Johansen, Ralph Helzer, Clyde Laird, and Gary Sampson on the second string.

Thomas to Head Wrestling Clinic

Dr. Dale O. Thomas, Oregon following meet will be held in selected to conduct a wrestling clinic at the National American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation Convention. The convention will be held in Portland March 29 to April 2.

Thomas said he is planning on using Bill Worrell, '59, and Jake Connelly, '59, to demonstrate OSC's unique conditioning exercises. Worrell and Connelly are both letter winners on the wrestling team.

Deer hunting was slow at McDonald Forest and Adair Tract Saturday and Sunday. A possible explanation for this, advanced by some persons, is the moving of the deer to lowland areas due to hunting pressure and unusually dry weather. The Astoria watershed produced excellent deer hunting last weekend with 45 out of 50 permits being filled the first day.

Elk season opens this weekend with possible hot spots predicted for Clatsop, Coos and Douglas counties. The Northeast section of the state is thought to be slow for Elk hunting. Hunter success similar to last year is forecast.

Wednesday, Nov. 5, will be the last outside meet until next spring. Ball games were played last week in Men's Gym.

St. Louis Hawks Are Back On Win Trail

Like water seeking its own level, the St. Louis Hawks today moved back to an old familiar spot at the top of the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

Bob Pettit paced last season's champions to the front Wednesday night as he dunked in 37 points to help throttle the Minneapolis Lakers, 112-100, in the only league action. The Hawks dominated play, trailing only twice, 59-57 and 80-78.
