FOREWORD

INSPIRED by the desire to publish another creditable issue of the "Beaver", the staff has endeavored to accurately portray the activities and life on the Oregon State campus for the college year 1929-1930.

In attempting to more completely record this period and to show the development of the institution, an historical motif has been employed.

If the material contained in this volume brings to you a greater feeling of pride in your institution, then the staff will indeed feel rewarded for its efforts.

Senator Morrill of Vermont introduced a bill into Congress in 1859 providing for the establishment of a system of national industrial colleges now commonly known as the land-grant colleges. Though the measure passed both houses of Congress, President Buchanan vetoed it. Again passed by Congress in 1862, it was referred to President Lincoln. In a public address, in paying tribute to the dignity and worth of agriculture, he had once said: "Education—cultivated thought—can best be combined with agricultural labor, or any labor, on the principle of thorough work." Senator Morrill's educational program suited him exactly. He promptly affixed his signature to the bill, July 2, 1862.

THE state board of higher education is a new department of government in Oregon. Up to 1909 all the institutions of higher learning in the state were exclusively governed by their respective boards of regents. In that year the state board of higher curricula was created to supplement the functions of the two boards of regents of the state university and the state college by determining and defining the courses of study and the departments of instruction to be developed by the two institutions.

On July 1, 1929, all the former boards were superseded and their functions taken over by the new state board of higher education, created by a law of the 1929 state legislature. The law provides for nine members, serving for nine-year terms, appointed by the governor subject to the approval of the senate. An executive secretary serves as educational expert to the board.

President W. J. Kerr

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

THE land-grant colleges, of which Oregon State is one, had their beginnings before the scientific age had fairly dawned. They pioneered the new epoch in education. By observation and experiment they blazed the way for others to follow. In their laboratories, science, stimulated by the needs of industry, took on a new and profound significance. Step by step they fought their way upward through inertia and prejudice to the strategic position they occupy today. "Oregon State" has been a pioneer in this field of scientific education; it was first in the Pacific northwest to introduce the study of agriculture, engineering, home economics, commerce and allied subjects. That it arrived in due time, like others of the land-grant colleges, at a confident epoch of symmetrical growth and expansion, is cause for profound gratitude to the pioneers who shaped its early career. They did a great work in a spirit of noble endeavor. The super-structure of the past twenty years has been erected on the broad foundation that they laid. Now it is for a new generation, taking advantage of the unparalleled opportunities of the scientific age, to press forward to new conquests in the service of the commonwealth and humanity.

RANSON MEINKE, President

IT is an accepted fact among colleges of the country that student self-government is at its best and is most complete in the schools of the Pacific coast. The Oregon State student body ranks among the highest of these. Disciplinary powers of the institution are placed in the hands of the students, operating under a constitution and by-laws approved by the faculty.

The Associated Students is an organization of the entire student body, having general authority over all student enterprises. With the exception of the election of the Beaver editor in the winter quarter all elections are held annually in the spring term.

The executive committee is composed of the president chosen from the senior class; vice-president, second vice-president, and third vice-president chosen from the senior, junior and sophomore classes respectively; and the secretary selected from the senior class. Other officers are the editor and manager of the Beaver, and editor and manager of the Oregon State Daily Barometer.

HAROLD BOONE, Vice-President

To maintain the best kind of student self-government it is necessary that every student realize his responsibility and be willing to take an active interest in student affairs. He must be ready to cooperate with his fellow students, his student leaders and counselors. The activities in the many organizations afford opportunities for citizenship in the community campus. The success of student government at Oregon State is based on this fine cooperation and whole-hearted interest among students. A close integration exists between the executive bodies at Oregon State.

Honor Council

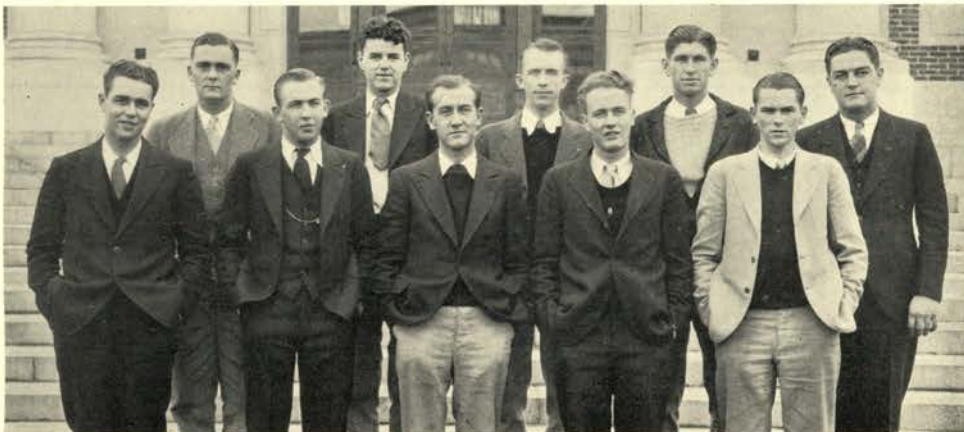

HONOR COUNCIL

THE basis of Beaver spirit is honor. The honor system is a code of ethics, subscribed to, believed in and practiced by members of Oregon State college. It is a recognition of the vital principle that training for citizenship cannot be complete without development of character and integrity.

It is the function of the honor council to systematize the code. The council is also charged with judicial powers to receive complaints, examine witnesses and render decisions involving infractions of the code.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

THE student council is empowered to take action on disciplinary problems, its decisions being subject to the approval of the president of the college before punishment is meted out to an offender. The council is composed of the president and first vice-president of the Associated Students, the editor of the Oregon State Barometer, the presidents of the three upper classes and one senior, two juniors and one sophomore, who are elected from their respective classes. Such other officers as are necessary may be elected by members.

"designated and permanently adopted

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

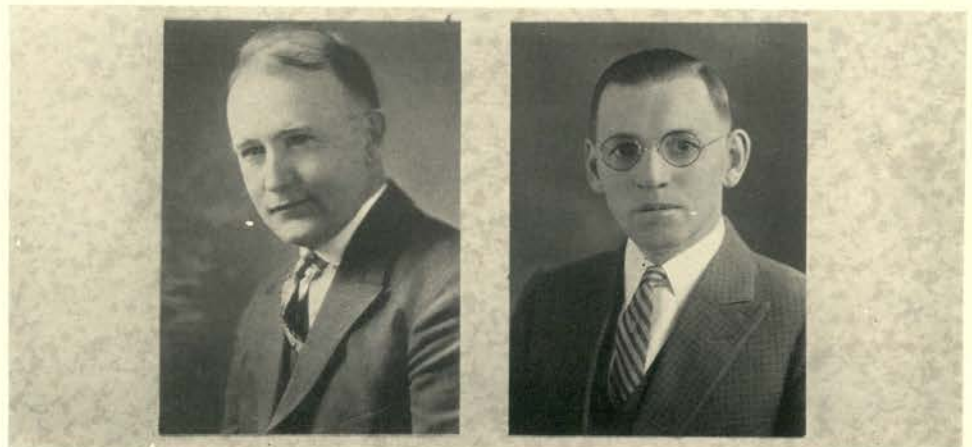

THE Alumni association offices are located in the Memorial Union building on the Oregon State campus. The campus staff includes Edward C. Allworth, '16, secretary; Loring G. Hudson, '27, editor of the Oregon State Monthly, and Eunice Courtright, '25, records clerk.

Secretary Allworth is regional director for the present year of the eighth district of the American Alumni council which includes the colleges and universities in the Pacific northwest. Loring G. Hudson edits the various alumni publications, including the Oregon State Monthly, official organ of the association. Eunice Courtright is in charge of the alumni files in which are kept up-to-date addresses and occupations of the alumni.

The association was formed in 1875, five years after the first class was graduated from O. S. C.

By a plan instituted a few years ago it is possible for alumni to take out life memberships in the association. Today there are 150 life members in addition to the annual members on the association roll.

THE Oregon State College Alumni association is the official organization of the graduates and ex-students of Oregon State college. Including the class of 1930, the number of graduates will be increased to more than 7000. Added to this group are more than 20,000 others who have at one time or another attended Oregon State.

The executive control of the association is vested in the Alumni board which consists of five members, one of whom goes out of office every year. Present members and expiration of terms are C. G. Brownell, 1930, M. D. McCallister, 1931, Jeannette Cramer, 1932, C. A. Dunn, 1933, and Charles Reynolds, 1934.

Two of the outstanding alumni events of each year are Homecoming in the fall and class reunions in the spring. An Alumni dance is given each Homecoming in honor of the returning grads.

ALUMNI CLUBS

LOYAL groups of Beaver alumni, wherever numbers have made it possible, have organized Oregon State clubs, which hold more or less regular meetings and help keep alive the valuable friendships and cherished memories of college days. The clubs also enable the alumni to keep in touch with the advance of the college. From time to time, particular events and new phases of college life are recorded on moving picture films which, in turn, are loaned to the various clubs; in this manner the alumni may gain first hand ideas of what the college is doing and what it looks like under present-day conditions.

The Oregon State clubs are found scattered from coast to coast, and even include a group in the Hawaiian Islands. Some 57 clubs, of which 14 are in Oregon, have been organized. The clubs listed by states with the present presidents are: Oregon—Ashland, Harold Teale '27; Baker county, Bernard Mainwaring '20; Central Oregon, Loyde Blakley '26; Gresham, Melvin J. EACH club chooses its own officers and governs itself as the group deems necessary, but all are working for the general good of Oregon State. Club organization is increasing yearly as the Beaver graduates and ex-students become more numerous in other sections of the United States. This year groups were organized in Schenectady, N. Y., and San Diego, Cal.

Most of the clubs plan to have those members who are unable to return to the campus for Homecoming, meet at a banquet or other social gathering and hear the returns of the Homecoming football game either by radio or telegraph. Members of the college staff are entertained by the Oregon State clubs when visiting cities in which there are clubs.

O. S. C. STUDENT BODY PRESIDENTS

THE first recorded effort to establish a student body organization at Oregon State College, was made in 1897, although the institution had been existence prior to 1870. Even this attempt was only partially successful, for although a constitution was prepared and accepted by a majority, only those who had voted for it were obligated to uphold its provisions; those opposed or neutral were not bound in any way.

In 1900 the student body was definitely organized with Charles H. Horner, now an attorney at Condon, as president. In 1901 A. E. Tulley, of Portland, was elected to succeed Horner. The next three presidents were Walter L. Dickey, of Los Angeles, in 1902-03, Frederick Stimson in 1903-04, and Bert Pilkington, Corvallis, in 1904-05. Stimson died in 1914.

Alfred L. Bradley, who died in 1922, became president in the fall of 1905. During his term of office a committee of five was appointed to draw up a new constitution for the student body. Previous to this meetings had been held at irregular intervals and the organization was not very active. The new constitution was formally adopted in 1906, and Warren E. Forsythe was elected president for the following college year. Forsythe is now director of the health service at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.

E. P. W. Harding, now consulting chemist in Portland, was president during 1907-08. It was during his administration that the Barometer became a weekly instead of a monthly publication. This change in the student news organ was instrumental in bringing about a more closely united student body group.

It became a medium of news and editorial comment on student body affairs rather than a literary magazine which it had been previously.

Student Body Presidents 1901-1915

O. S. C. STUDENT BODY PRESIDENTS

LATER developments of the student body organization are a full-time graduate manager, who handles all financial affairs for the student body and arranges schedules, and whose office was created in 1922-23 under the presidency of John B. Alexander; the honor system, which came into effect in the year 1923-24 during the administration of Percy Locey; the Greater Oregon State committee, which "advertises" Oregon State to high school students, and has enlarged its activities to cover the entire state of Oregon; the Associated Women Students, organized to unify the work of the women students, being a chapter of the National Federation of Associated Women Students; and the student loan fund which was established as a perpetual, revolving fund to loan money to worthy students who wish to attend Oregon State.

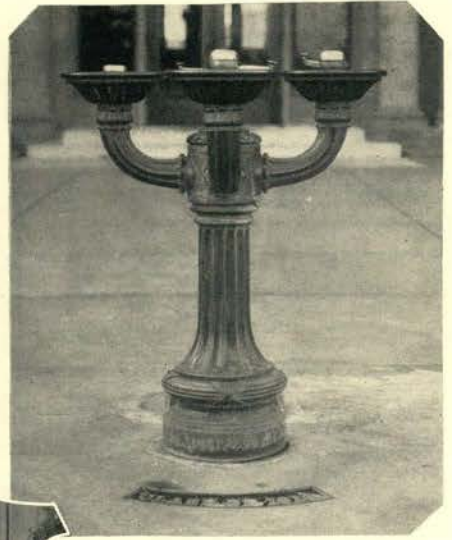

Thus the student body organization has developed from a loosely joined group governed mainly by literary societies into a dominating nucleus which embraces all phases of student activity.

The pictures printed here of all the ex-presidents of the student body were taken while the men were in college. Charles Horner is now an attorney at Condon; A. E. Tulley, a deputy state dairy and food commissioner in Portland; W. T. Dickey, a contractor, Los Angeles; F. C. Stimson died in 1914; Bert Pilkington is a farmer near Corvallis; A. E. Bradley died in 1922; W. E. Forsythe is the director of the health service at the University of Michigan; E. P. Harding, a consulting chemist, Portland; T. J. Autzen, president of the Portland Manufacturing company, Portland; R. L. Davidson, unknown; L. C. Keene, drowned; E. G. Rice, engineer, Portland; R. A. Blanchard, broker, Portland; C. A. MEMORIAL UNION

“THE Memorial Union—dedicated to the service and inspiration of the living and to the memory of our immortal dead.” It stands today a lasting monument to peace, a reminder of the men of the Beaver clan who nobly sacrificed their lives, and an inspiration to the living college generation through its theme of service.

As the result of great campaigns waged by enthusiastic supporters of the project, actual construction on the building began May 14, 1927. Doubts were cast aside as the vision became a certainty. Edward C. Allworth is manager of the building.

The Memorial Union was built by funds contributed by students, alumni and faculty members. It is more than a building—it is an institution, located in the heart of the campus, with its many service features such as the spacious lounge room, the Kampus Kavern, telephone booth, barber shop, the Co-op bookstore, and tea room.

The Board of Governors consists of four business men and two students. Students make use of the rooms for social purposes.

SENIOR CLASS

WITH the election of Ezra Webb as president, the class of 1930 was organized in September, 1926. The building of the largest rook bonfire ever constructed on the campus in record-breaking time won for them early recognition as a class of efficient and loyal co-workers. Class traditions followed in respective rotation, terminating in the consecration of the green lids and the reign of the sophomore class.

The new class chose Leroy Grote as its leader. Proud in the glories of its infancy, secure in the knowledge of a year well done, the sophomores pushed on for the second lap. The Cotillion was held in the men's gymnasium January 28. Spring and the annual tug-o-war saw the eve of an old and the dawn of a new class.

Ranson Meinke was the third president of the class and Curtis Tigard chairman of the Junior Prom. Campus weekend activities, under the direction of Ted Drake, concluded the year's schedule and another junior class was assigned its page in Beaver history.

Two projects were founded on the Oregon State campus in the year 1926, one the class of 1930, the other the Memorial Union. They have grown up together.

Under the leadership of Chester Hubbard the seniors carried on to harvest the fruits of their work in preceding college years. In all campus activities and social functions the class of '30 has been foremost.

Class day, the Senior ball, Newport trip and busts were major social gatherings during the fourth year. Baccalaureate services were June 1, and June 2 the appointed time for the conferring of degrees that brought to a close four successful years, and the class of '30 passed, not into history, but into life. More than 450 seniors will file along the aisle in the men's gymnasium to receive their degrees.

JUNIOR CLASS

STARTING its college career September 28, 1927, the class of '31 elected Mark Grayson, president; Virginia Jones, vice-president; Hester Davis, secretary; Harold Peake, treasurer, and George Knutsen, yell leader.

Establishing a new custom at Oregon State, the class occupied seats of honor at the opening convocation of the year and pledged themselves to their alma mater.

The class started a successful career by winning the rook-sophomore tug-of-war spring term, an act rarely accomplished. The rook dance, rook bonfire and olympics were other features of the year.

As sophomores the class elected the following officers: George Knutsen, president; Ruella Morgan, vice-president; Mildred Carleton, secretary; Gordon Winks, sergeant-at-arms; and Leon Ray, representative on the student council. The Sophomore Cotillion, January 26, 1929, was the first formal dance sponsored by the class. The theme was Oriental. Second-year men were prominent in varsity athletics.

JOHN GALLAGHER
President

This year the class was led by John Gallagher, president; Susan Hayes, vice-president; Lucille Hayes, secretary; and Paul Mahoney, treasurer. Irene Griggs replaced Susan Hayes spring term when the latter left school.

A circus with clowns, balloons and confetti was the theme of the Junior Prom, March 1. Other social events of the year were the traditional junior cord dance and junior bust.

With three successful years behind it the class of '31 promises to make the senior class outstanding in accomplishments, activities, scholarship and leadership.

Plans for the junior bust spring term include a tour on the "Swan" pleasure boat which will probably be chartered from a Portland firm.

SOPHOMORES

WITH the added experience gained from one year of college activities, the class of '32 entered Oregon State this year and proved to the world in general that the brilliancy exhibited in their freshman year was to continue.

The class, organized September 29, 1928, elected as officers for their first year Clarke Henkle, president; Helen Reid, vice-president; Marjorie Reynolds, secretary; George Reese, treasurer; Gilbert Bergeson, sergeant-at-arms; and Robert Buerke, yell leader. These officers were installed October 3.

It was with a vast sigh of relief that this class stepped from a condition of servitude of wearing green lids and taking an occasional trip to the armory. At last the sophomores begin to take an important part in college activities. In every field of college life may be found representatives of this class that are recognized as leaders.

EDWARD EFTELAND
President

In athletics several of its number became members of the varsity football team. The varsity basketball squad is composed of a majority of sophomore players. Not only has the class of 1932 proved successful in athletics, but also scholastically, as the honor fraternities have found good material in their ranks.

Much credit for the year is due to the officers who are Edward Efteland, president;

Dorothy Nicholson, vice-president; Margaret Metcalf, secretary; and Bert Taylor, treasurer.

The Sophomore Cotillion proved to be one of the leading social events of the year and the committee headed by Amby Fredericks deserves a great deal of credit for its success. The Beaver Knights, who are members of the sophomore class, performed with their usual dexterity.

The sophomores were victorious in the rook-sophomore olympics which are held during Homecoming.

FRESHMAN CLASS

THE class of '33 broke the record again for the largest freshman class enrollment upon entering Oregon State for the first time last fall—1242 strong. In the fall the following officers were chosen to guide them during the year: Lyle Foster, president; Beatrice Moeller, vice-president; Amy Aldrich, secretary; Darwin Woodcock, treasurer; James London, sergeant-at-arms; and Curnow Slater, yell leader.

honors at the tug-of-war against the sophomores and showed their spirit at the "burning of the green" held at Mary's river spring term.

Promises of a strong varsity team next year were evident from the accomplishments of athletes in rook sports. The rook football squad won at least one game from every team played against and finished the year with an enviable record. Basketball and track men promise good material for next year's varsity quintet and track meets.

At its traditional non-fussing rook dance in the fall the class became better acquainted, while upperclassmen found at the dance were severely punished. The first "rook fuss" was established by the class spring term, being entirely a freshman social affair.

The annual rook bonfire during Homecoming week end won honors as one of the largest in the history of Oregon State. John Bonebrake was general chairman. Freshman women served refreshments throughout the day, with Gertrude Lindley in charge.

At the rook-sophomore olympics on Bell field the rooks under the leadership of George Baldwin put up a courageous battle against their more experienced opponents. They again fought for class

With a year of experience the class of '33 expects to make itself one of the outstanding classes in the history of the college.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Soon after the passage of the Morrill

Act, enabling the states to establish the land-grant colleges as state and national institutions, the Oregon State legislature accepted the provisions of the federal land grant, but for several years took no definite step toward establishing such a college. The grant of 90,000 acres of land was about to expire. It chanced that the President of the State senate was also President of the Board of Trustees of Corvallis College. Awake to the crisis in connection with the land-grant act, friends of the College stirred the legislature to action. In the nick of time it passed a law, in 1868, providing "That Corvallis College is hereby designated and adopted as the agricultural college."

1930 BEAVER

BETWEEN the covers of the Volume XXIV Beaver will be found as complete a record of student life at Oregon State college for the year 1929 and 1930 as a staff of more than 80 members have been able to assemble.

In developing this book we have employed as a motif the history of Oregon State college. This has taken a tremendous amount of research. Modern type of art was used because it is consistent with the present trend yet sufficiently conservative not to be inconsistent with the motif.

The alumni section, a new feature, includes pictures of all past presidents of the student body as well as every class, silver jubilee and special gift.

The books are arranged so as to distribute interest. High spots are alternated with those of less interest. Living groups, clubs and societies are arranged alphabetically and regroup members are alphabetized by classes.

Beaver members are given attractive certificates of award. A gold service pin is also presented to all three-year staff members.

If the expression "LOOK FOR IT IN THE BEAVER" becomes more popular than it is now the staff will feel well repaid for its efforts.

1930 BEAVER

WITH a sales force of 125 students representing every living group on the campus, the Beaver sales campaign reached the 1900 mark in the 10-day drive of advance sales during the winter term.

Each organization was represented by one or more salesmen, thus assuring adequate covering of all groups. The salesmen were divided into five teams by Morris Little, circulation manager. Members of these teams canvassed the campus for that one more sale which would put his team in the lead.

The Beaver office in the Memorial Union building was the scene of great activity and excitement. A large chart recorded hourly the progress of the teams. Half a dozen enterprising salesmen were lined up at the door of the office the hour the campaign opened, all having sold their houses 100 per cent. Forrest Tower was the first in line. The most efficient salesmen were retained as permanent members of the staff.

An elaborate organization of workers under the direction of Vesta Beckley, manager, made possible the personal interviewing of nearly every student on the campus. Thirteen living groups went over 100 per cent in the campaign, and each received a free copy for their organization.

Advertising, in charge of Walter Mackey, Beaver manager-elect, was increased considerably. Norman Oliphant, collections manager, had practically every page paid for by the end of the winter term.

Each of the six department managers were awarded a copy of the Beaver for his work on the staff.

O. S. C. DAILY BAROMETER

IN keeping with the policy of progress to which the Oregon State Daily Barometer adheres, the addition of an eighth column marks another step in its constant improvement.

The Barometer, the official organ of the Associated Students, is a four-page publication issued daily except on Sunday and Monday. An entirely separate day and night staff edits each issue of the week.

The editor-in-chief, by amendment to the student body constitution, is now selected by a board consisting of four students and three faculty members, thus eliminating any subjection to political whims and insuring competence and efficiency, since the sole basis of judgment is merit.

write the copy for its pages, gaining in this way practical experience as well as theory in news writing. These stories are copyread by members of the staff, who are appointed by the editor on the basis of the number of inches printed during the elementary course, the quality of copy and general attitude. These members, together with the day and night editors and their assistants, make up the staff for each issue.

Three special writers are chosen at the end of each term to cover the big stories which could not be entrusted to an elementary student.

The finances, advertising and circulation are handled by the manager, who is selected by the Board of Control. This board is a member of the Pacific Intercollegiate Press association.

O. S. C. DAILY BAROMETER

THE change in form from a seven column to an eight column newspaper has been a distinct financial success, finds Ezra Webb, manager of the Oregon State Daily Barometer. This change was launched despite the many doubts as to its successful outcome, but the results have exceeded all expectations for the plan.

Webb brings to his position the experience of two years of managership, having completed his second year this spring. Under his guidance there have been created accurate and permanent records of the advertising space used daily by local and national advertisers. Improvements in staff organization, accounting, records and service work are constantly being made. A budget system of income and expenditure is planned at the beginning of each year.

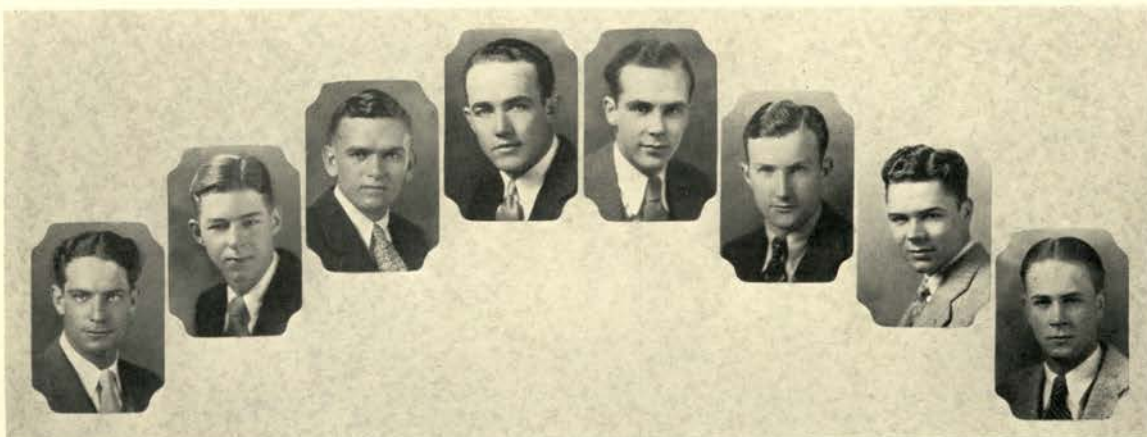

EZRA WEBB
Manager

A service inaugurated last year which has proved of far-reaching value is that of carefully searching each day's issue for items of special interest to the parents of students registered in school, then sending a marked copy of the issue to them free of charge, together with a letter explaining the service.

A well-organized staff of subordinates handles the various departments of advertising, circulation, collections and financing.

The offices are located in the Memorial Union building with adequate provisions made for files and records.

Members of the staff solicit Corvallis business men and campus organizations for advertising space in the Barometer. Each afternoon they plan the make-up of their ads for the morning issue of the Daily.

OREGON STATE MONTHLY

THE Oregon State Monthly, all-college and all-alumni magazine, published by the Oregon State College Alumni association, completed the ninth year of its existence with Loring G. Hudson, '27 in vocational education, in his second year as editor.

Developing the idea of serving the entire college, departments for the various schools were incorporated in the magazine this past year, giving a monthly digest of events pertaining to each individual school. Another improvement was the amalgamation of the Oregon Countryman, official publication of the school of agriculture for 21 years, with the Monthly. The addition of a pictorial biographical department for prominent alumni, and a literary section, together with other improvements, resulted in increase in the number of pages to 44 each issue. Beginning this year the magazine comes out on a 12-month basis instead of 10 as in the past.

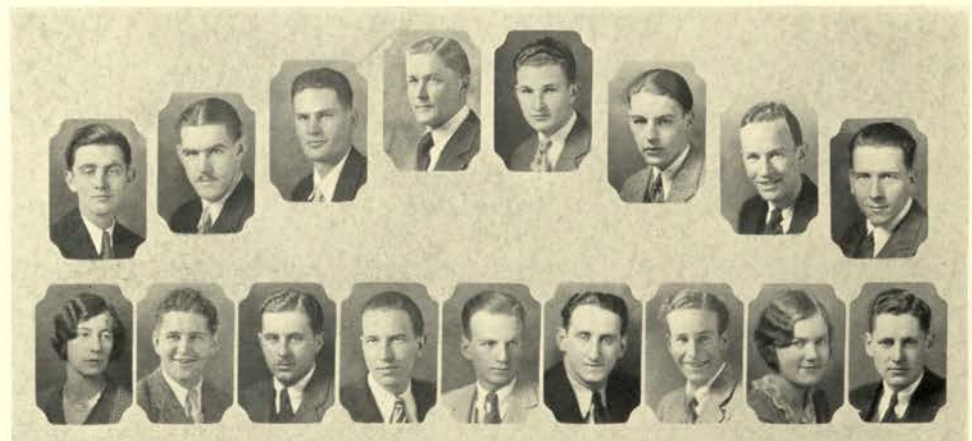

L. G. HUDSON
Editor

In its capacity as an organ of expression for the college the Monthly gives students an opportunity to work on its staff and gain journalistic experience. More than 75 students take part each month in the editorial and managerial duties. Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity for men; Theta Sigma Phi, national professional journalistic fraternity for women; and the Oregon State Ad club are organizations that have made work on the Monthly a definite project. Among the prominent contributors to the magazine this past year was Mrs. Sarah E. Finley, wife of the first president of Oregon State, who prepared a series of articles dealing with the early history of the school.

This year the sales force was composed of approximately 50 rookesses. During football and basketball games the co-eds proceeded with sales, thus greatly increasing those made to alumni.

OREGON STATE MONTHLY

AFFILIATION with the Pacific Graduate Group marked a forward step in the advertising affairs of the Oregon State Monthly this year under the guidance of Edward C. Allworth, '16 in commerce, as manager. The graduate group has been organized to further the advertising facilities of the coast alumni magazines, making it possible for advertising to be sold for the entire group as a whole, thus reaching some 50,000 selected subscribers. Considerable national advertising has been made possible for the Monthly through this arrangement.

The Monthly now numbers among its subscribers a large following of students in addition to the growing group of alumni. Coordinating with the student editorial staff, a student managerial department was inaugurated this year to give opportunity for training in managerial work. Under student management a successful campaign for student subscriptions was carried on the first part of the year. In addition to this drive, students assist each month in the sale of the magazine on the campus. According to present plans a full time circulation manager will aid the staff in publicity work. Modernization of the type and general make-up of the magazine is one of the developments being worked out this year.

In addition to managing the Monthly, Allworth is alumni secretary. He has been renamed for the last three years as regional director of the eighth alumni district of the American Alumni council, which includes Oregon State. The district convention was held in Spokane, Wash., this year with 11 colleges and universities represented.

Marian Conklin, '29 in home economics, who has been advertising manager of a daily newspaper in Yakima since graduation, has recently been appointed circulation manager.

DIRECTORY

L. H. WARREN
Editor

THE Oregon State Directory, the most widely used book on the campus, is the official student and faculty directory. It is published by the students of the school of commerce twice a year, at the beginning of the fall and winter terms. It includes the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all the faculty and students.

The Directory contains, other than this, a list of all sororities, fraternities and independent organizations, with their respective telephone numbers, and the college calendar for the year. An organizations' directory with the student body officers, the board of control, student council, committee on student interests, Greater Oregon State committee, Memorial Union board of directors, class officers, honor societies with president and secretary of each, publications with name of editors and managers, independent clubs, men's and women's hall clubs, fraternities and sororities with names of presidents and managers of each, officers of miscellaneous organizations, and the social schedule for the term are included in the publication.

The editor is elected by the Chamber of Commerce, and the manager and other members of the general staff are appointed from the commercial students. Financing, editing, advertising, and circulation give the students an opportunity for practical work in commercial lines. The efficiency of the staff of over 90 students made it possible for the Directory to be published earlier both terms this year than ever before.

TECH RECORD

THE Oregon State Technical Record is designed to represent the departments of electrical, civil, mechanical, mining and chemical engineering. The articles are not limited to campus problems but go into the fields of practical work and deal with problems confronting professional engineers. Positions on the staff are held by students majoring in engineering who wish practice in journalism.

The magazine is the official publication of the Associated Engineers and is issued quarterly. The material obtained for the book comes not only from students but instructors, alumni and professional engineers. It offers a medium for discussing problems of interest in various phases of the engineering profession.

The editor is a member of the Engineering College Magazine association, a national organization of 18 publications in colleges throughout the country. Through this association an exchange of ideas and problems of the field is possible.

The "Tech" Record started first as the Northeast Journal of Engineering in 1909 and has developed constantly in style and make-up until the circulation has now reached a total of 700 copies.

The "Dean's Column" by Harry S. Rogers, dean of engineering and mechanic arts, is proving to be a popular feature in each edition. His discussions pertain to educational processes for engineers and include the social, recreational and practical aspects. Students and alumni are bound closer together by the "News of Alumni" section which informs of the occupation and location of engineering graduates.

ASSOCIATED ROOKESSES

THE Associated Rookesses is an organization composed of a freshman girl from each of the different living groups and dormitories under the supervision and direction of the Associated Women Students.

Their purpose is to aid the officers of A. W. S. in any way possible, such as clerical work, acting as guides and "walking information bureaus" during Mother's week end, assisting at social functions and many other small services. Activity points are given for this work.

BEAVER GUARD

THE organization of the Beaver Guards is in the third year of its existence. As its name implies, it guards the proud mascot of O. S. C.—a beaver with challenging aspect gnawing a great log. A bronze beaver, he is—who instills the fighting spirit into every loyal son and daughter. The Guard refurbishes and grooms His Majesty to be trundled forth to lead parades, preside at football games and issue the challenge to rival institutions. Melvin L. THE Big Sister organization is a group of 100 girls chosen at the close of the college year to give personal advice and attention to the freshman girls in the fall. The duty of each Big Sister is to help the freshman co-ed orient herself in college life, find interests and activities for her, and help her make the right start.

This work is accomplished through personal letters written to the little sister before the opening of school, contacts through social events, and friendly assistance. The outstanding social events of the college year are the big sister-little sister parties in the halls and the big sister tea honoring Mrs. Lorna C. Jessup, Big Sister advisor.

The central committee of 10 girls who supervise the organization, under the direction of the Y. W. C. A., was composed this year of Sara Louise Shields, chairman; Eloise Wright, vice-chairman; Agnes Nasset, secretary; Violet Needham, publicity chairman; Bessie Stout, social chairman; Nita Colvin, Marion Lumm, Dorothy Hall, Mildred Mitchell, Dorothy Carlstrom.

EDUCATIONAL EXPOSITION

STUDENTS from almost every high school in Oregon come to the campus for a two-day visit during Educational Exposition.

The various departments of the college are "on parade," demonstrating the opportunities which they offer to the college student. Delegates are given a real insight into campus atmosphere by attending classes and observing exhibits. They are housed at the halls, sorority and fraternity houses. A large staff of committee chairmen help to make the week-end a success.

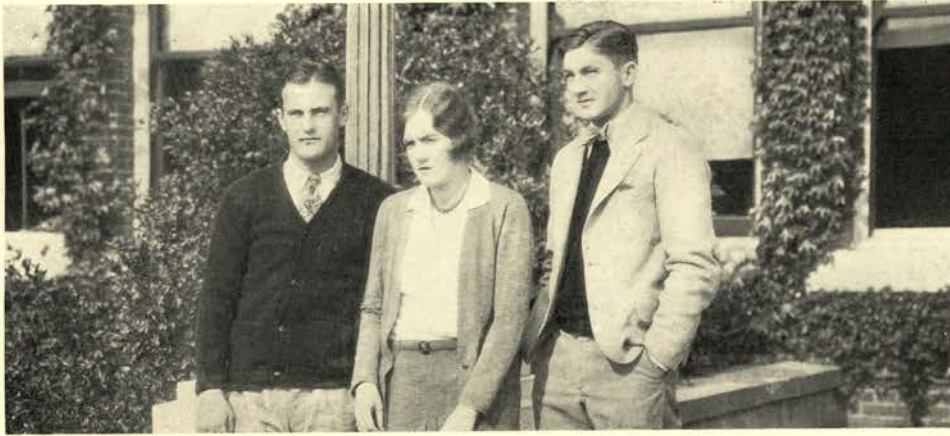

CAMPUS WEEK END

EACH class steps up to the next in rank during Campus Week End, with the rook lids and green ribbons blazing in the bonfire, cords appearing on lowly sophomores and embryo mustaches gracing masculine junior visages.

The rook-sophomore tug-of-war over the millrace for the annual spring "wetting," the all men's show, and the colorful regatta on the Willamette river, are high spots in the festivities. A big all-school dance in the Memorial Union building concludes an eventful week end.

GREATER O. S. C.

THE Greater Oregon State committee promotes the interests of O. S. C. throughout the state. Committee representatives are appointed to serve in every city and community. High school students are encouraged to come to college, through pamphlets and statistical matter sent out during the school year showing the advantages of a college education, and through social events sponsored by the committee during the summer and holiday vacations.

FRESHMAN WEEK

OREGON State college was the first institution in the west, and one of the first in the entire country, to inaugurate the Freshman Week plan. The 1929 event was the sixth annual program, attended by nearly 1100 freshmen.

The object of the four-day session of lectures and interviews before the regular registration is to acquaint the new student with the essential features of college procedure, in order that he may more rapidly adapt himself to college work.

HOMEcoming WEEK END

GREAT activity and elaborate preparations of the campus and the living groups characterize the annual Homecoming week end. Neville Huffman was general chairman of the gala event last fall.

House signs and welcoming slogans give the campus a festive appearance to greet alumni upon their return to the alma mater.

The various rally dances previous to the main events usher in the holiday spirit, and the bonfire and noise parade add to the general hilarity of the occasion.

MOTHERS' WEEK END

THE May Fete with its colorful dancing and pageantry and the banquet in the ballroom of the Memorial Union building are high lights of Mothers' Week End, set aside as an honor event for the mothers of Oregon State students, both men and women. At a special convocation the pledges to women's honorary organizations are announced and other awards are presented. The scholarship cup to the sorority or hall group making the highest scholastic record for three terms is then awarded.

MEGAPHONES, rooster lids, pom-poms, colored cards, orange and black, white sweaters, rallies—these furnish the pep and color to an athletic event. The Pep committee fosters and maintains school spirit in the scheduling and directing of all rallies during the year.

SMITH-HUGHES WEEK-END

MORE than 250 boys are enrolled in high school agriculture, and their teachers annually make their way to the Oregon State campus for Smith-Hughes week-end. The program includes contests in agriculture, public speaking, basketball and agricultural demonstration by the college. Students majoring in agricultural education assist in supervising these contests. The banquet in the Memorial Union building is the high light of this convention. SUMMER SESSION

"SUMMER Study in a Vacation Setting," is the slogan of the Summer Session under the supervision of Dr. M. Ellwood Smith, dean of the school of basic arts and sciences.

The summer session offers courses to meet the needs of a wide range of students and teachers with much or little previous preparation. Anyone who believes he can profit is admitted without examination or presentation of credentials. Teachers, extension workers, students desiring graduate, undergraduate, or entrance credit, will find a variety of courses taught by experts.

Such nationally known authorities in their fields as Knute Rockne in athletics, James R. Patterson in interior decorating, Miss Clarabel Nye in extension work, Dr. Henry C. Sherman in home economics and Miss Maxwell Munroe in commerce, offer summer courses at Oregon State college.

The spirit of friendliness and comradeship is a background for productive summer work carefully fostered in social dancing classes, week-end hikes, swimming in the cool tanks in men's gymnasium and women's building, and trips to shore and mountains. City tennis tournaments have placed this sport among the leading activities.

A program of addresses by speakers of national distinction increases educational advantages. Last summer an interesting feature was the interpretation of a number of well-known plays and poems by those distinguished in this field.

Practical classes in agriculture, home economics and leadership, with more than 700 club boys and girls participating, convene for two weeks in June. H. C. Seymour, state club leader, directs this course assisted by local and county club leaders and college staff members.

The class in Community Drama presents several plays during the session.

ACTIVITY POINT COMMITTEE

FAIR distribution of activities among Oregon State students is the work of the Activity Point committee, organized for the first time on the campus this year.

The committee, headed by Albert G. Maizels, is composed of six members. Although working in a routine capacity, it also serves as an executive, advisory and administrative body.

Because of the work of this committee, the system has become a reality in student body affairs this year. Printed lists have been published in the Barometer, listing all activities for which points are given and the number of points allowed. A new method of filing, in which a permanent record of a student's participation in activities throughout his entire college career is kept, will be available for those interested.

The constitution of the Associated Students at the recommendation of the Point committee has limited the number of activity points allowed each student to a maximum of 100 points. Those exceeding this limit are brought before the committee and requested to drop those in which they are least interested. Only by special permission may one carry more than the maximum. In this way, with the cooperation of the student interests committee, the Activity Point committee has succeeded in distributing activities among a larger number of students, lessening the work of a few prominent men and women and thus permitting more efficient handling of each student office without overburdening.

ALBERT MAIZELS

Revisions are being made constantly to adjust inaccurate distribution of points and to give credit for new activities.

The major student body officers carry a maximum of 100 points. This includes the editor-in-chief of the Beaver, editor of the Barometer and president of the Associated Students.

Yell Leading Staff

YELL LEADING STAFF

A COMPETENT yell leading staff is an essential part of successful athletic events, and this requirement was adequately filled this year by "Christy" Christianson, yell king, and his assistants, Fred Welch and Alex Atterbury.

Besides commanding Beaver voices in unison, Christy directs a yell leading class of aspirants who wish to try out for the position. Six men are chosen for try-outs. The new yell leader and his assistants are elected at the annual spring school election.

THE Young Men's Christian association of Oregon State college is a campus movement of students and faculty, inter-denominational in character. It is so organized as to round out a student's life and to manifest a spirit of friendly interest among the students, to contribute to their physical comfort, and to give helpful counsel when needed.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

THE Oregon State chapter of the National Federation of Associated Women Students is a self-governing body composed of all women registered in the college. Its aims are to unify the work of all women's organized groups and to create a spirit of co-operation between them.

A. W. S. sponsors three large social events during the year, one for each term. The Co-ed ball, given primarily for the freshmen women, is a fall term event. The women's formal tea, a new event initiated last year, is given during winter term, while the women's stunt show, participated in by all hall and sorority groups, is a competitive activity spring term.

In the spring A. W. S. sponsors Mother's week-end and entertains the mothers of all students with luncheons, banquets and a May Fete. A convocation to which all mothers are invited is held to award Assemblies are called regularly for the women students to discuss the business of the organization. Officers were Grace Colborne, president; Betty Robley, vice-president; Billie Cupper, secretary; Mary Bennett, treasurer; and Elizabeth Howland, sergeant-at-arms.

A. W. S. also maintains a loan fund for women on the campus. The purpose of this fund is to help students out of immediate difficulties. This is managed by the council of the organization, under the supervision and direction of Mrs. Lorna C. Jessup, assistant dean of women.

CO-ED BALL

ABELLE of the sixties doing the Waterloo, a duo of devils interpreting the varsity drag, characters from nursery rhymes, history and fiction were features seen at the Co-ed ball. The ball is an annual get-together party held fall term at which co-eds, housemothers, faculty members, and townswomen frolic together in the women's building.

Ah, some one detects a man—his disguise did not serve him well. He is thrown out, not wanted! Men are not welcome at this all-women's function. Their presence is an imposition. As soon as they are observed, they are ejected quickly and decisively.

Beatrice Sartain, as a Turkish woman, won the prize for having the most beautiful costume. A Dutch boy and girl, Gertrude Newton and Mary Billing, were judged the most clever couple and Rosalie Buren, posing as a moron, won the prize for the most original costume.

A prize was also given to every fiftieth girl entering the door and to the houses having 100 per cent attendance. An original skit was given by the housemothers in which they buried the 1929 senior privileges. The Women's Athletic association entertained with a clog dance by Candace Cool.

Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Chi Omega and Kidder hall were 100 per cent organizations. The Pi Phis, clad in pajamas and white night caps with numbers on their backs, represented a nursery school. Thetas wound in and out through the crowd under a caterpillar canopy, doing an original clog. The Chi O's enacted the nursery rhyme, "there was an old woman who lived in a shoe."

Upon entering, girls were given blue and red dance programs which were filled out impromptu during the afternoon preceding the ball.

WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MISS Ruth B. Glassow, director of physical education for women for the past four years has supervised the co-eds in the most eventful years known to Oregon State women. The high rating of the work of the department has come as a result of her efforts to promote health on the campus. She has brought many helpful suggestions from conferences which she has attended.

RUTH B. GLASSOW
Director

Through the efforts of the physical education staff, physical educators of wide renown have been brought to the students to enable them to learn methods of other schools.

One of the biggest aims of the physical education department is to promote friendly competition and sportsmanship. Aspirants for graduation are required by the department to have one and a half credits in swimming, dancing, individual sports and team games. After participation in these activities graduates have obtained some degree of skill in physical activities.

Instructors assisting Miss Glassow in the department are Elsie Jacobsen, basketball, hockey and tumbling; Elizabeth Thompson, archery and dancing; Mildred Greenberg, golf, clogging, folk dancing and practice teaching; Laura McAllister, special activities.

Natalie Reichert, who studied last year at New York University and instructed here two years ago, is now in charge of swimming, clogging and volleyball. Evelyn Hasenmayer, who came to the campus this year from Columbia University, has charge of swimming and extension swimming.

Leta Hamilton, instructor of tennis, dancing and social dancing, formerly taught at the Battle Creek, Michigan, college. Members of the staff coach the co-eds for interclass games and assist in tournaments.

OREGON STATE WOMEN

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

THE Women's Athletic association works in cooperation with the Physical Education club to give athletic activity to all women interested in sports. The aim of the association is to promote qualities of leadership, good sportsmanship, fellowship, cooperation and to encourage participation in wholesome physical activities which make for health and efficiency.

Awards given for participation in sports are a Minor "O" awarded for earning 500 points, the Orange "O" sweater, awarded to co-eds who have earned 1000 points, and who also fill the requirements of scholarship, leadership, sportsmanship, interest in sports, service to W. A. A. and good posture. The name of the most outstanding senior woman is engraved on a bronze plaque.

Projects for the current year of 1929-1930 included the co-ed follies, dance

Florence Kaufman, Martha Jane Pocklington, Elizabeth Hubbard, Kathleen McClintock, Edna May Chambers, Gertrude Newton and Alice Maxwell.

The sports are classified according to the seasons of the year, having hockey and volleyball fall term; basketball, swimming and dancing winter term; and baseball, archery and tennis spring term. Hiking is classified as an all-year sport.

ORANGE "O" ASSOCIATION

THE Orange "O" sweater is the highest award which may be offered for accomplishment in women's athletics. Women honored this year were Genevieve Hanlon, Mabel Harding, Leome Thordarson, Mary Bennett, Alma Taylor, Elda Aasen, Alice Jean Young, Florence Kaufman, Elizabeth Hubbard and Chloe Burge. The two members who received their sweaters last year are Pearl Horning and Ruth Rydell.

A sweater may be earned by any junior or senior woman belonging to the Women's Athletic association who has earned 1000 points by taking part in campus athletic activities. These activities include the team sports, hockey, basketball, baseball and volleyball. Individual sports included are dancing, swimming, tennis and archery.

A woman may participate in only one team and one individual sport each term. A maximum of 100 points and a minimum of 25 points may be earned each year in hiking toward a minor "O" or Orange "O."

The following requirements must also be fulfilled: she must have a scholarship average of 84, be a leader, give active service to W. A. A., show sportsmanship, have good posture and character.

A special committee acts each year to determine the awarding of sweaters to eligible co-eds. The committee consists of the head of the physical education department, a faculty member elected each year, the president of W. A. A., the president of the physical education club and one member from the junior or senior class.

Co-eds who have received a minor "O" for earning 500 points are:

Florence Hoagland, Nita Colvin, Martha Pocklington, Kathleen McClintock, Eleanor Tonsing, Dorothy Rice, Jessie Palmiter, Barbara Burtis, Edna Chambers, Ruth Shellhorn, Katherine Tonsing, Alice Fish, Mildred Elrod, Gennette Miner, Bertha McConnell, Nellie Webb, Alice Maxwell, Rose Winkler, and Clara Mann.

CO-ED DANCE RECITAL

“THE Life of Dance” is the title of the dance drama given by women students at Oregon State college. It was directed by Miss Betty Lynd Thompson, instructor in dancing in the department of physical education for women. Numbers portraying steps in the evolution of the Dance gave a colorful array in the first exhibition of a recital of this type.

Cosmos, a figure symbolical of primeval force, opened the production, accompanied by the rhythmic beating of a tomtom. Creation of man and birth of a savage rhythm was the second number. Bacchante, portraying joyous and exuberant life, was danced by a single figure in red. Three angels, representing the celestial ballet, danced in long, clinging robes to the accompaniment of slow music. The mechanical age was done by 24 girls arrayed in metal cloth costumes moving in perfect rhythm to suggest machinery. From this number advanced the figure representing jazz who danced with a stilted joyousness but soon tired and dropped with fatigue.

The second part of the program began with a Chopin Nocturne which was danced by a girl in black with a bright orange balloon. Overture portrays man's struggle for peace. Major and Minor follow next accompanied by a song. Life, a vigorous running dance, was done by four figures in scarlet costumes. Imagery, a novel feature, showed a little girl playing with her shadow. The gathering of fruit and the making of wine was represented by Vintage. Juba, expressing the spirit of the negro, was interpreted by three girls. The drama closed with a whirlwind dance and a waltz by girls dressed in yellow. A large audience applauded the co-eds for their efforts.

CO-ED BASEBALL

BASEBALL, the major spring sport, aroused much interest among co-eds because of the keen competition between class teams. The junior minor and non-minor teams tied for high honors in the 1929 tournament.

Agnes Hatteberg, Florence Hoagland, Ona Niemi, Ila Antrim, Jessie Palmiter, Helen Wirkkala, Anna May Berry, Alice Young, Gennette Miner, Mildred Elrod and Doris Nelson played regular positions in the junior non-minor line-up.

Members of the junior minor team were Eleanor Tonsing, Florence Kaufman, Martha Jane Pocklington, Ruth Rydell, Elizabeth Hubbard, Pearl Horning, Audra Liska, Elda Aasen, Alma Taylor, Mabel Harding, Frances Reid and Cecilia Hobro.

CO-ED ARCHERY

ARCHERY, the latest individual sport for which W. A. A. points are given, proved to be a very popular sport last spring. Teams are chosen from the highest individual point scorers in scheduled class work.

Camilla Freel won first place with a total of 254 for a single Columbia round. Alice Maxwell and Emma Carleton, members of the first team, each received 100 points toward an Orange "O" sweater. Nita Colvin and Hazel Feldman, second team, were awarded 50 points each.

Tennis

CO-ED TENNIS

TENNIS is one of the most popular individual sports among co-eds spring term. Class representatives are chosen by a round-robin tournament in which each girl plays against every girl in her class. The tournament winner plays singles for her group and the two next highest play doubles. Marion Green, freshman, won the singles crown when she defeated Mary Bennett, sophomore, in the finals. Helen Whiteis and Carrie Boultinghouse won from Leome Thordarson and Ruth Shellhorn in the final doubles match.

CO-ED HOCKEY

SENIOR non-minor co-eds won the hockey tournament this year. They played seven games during the season, winning six and tying the seventh.

Florence Hoagland, Ella Day, Alice Jean Young, Dorothy Dietze, Anna May Berry, Nellie Webb, Jessie Palmiter, Yoshiko Kanemura, Rose Taff and Esther Requa comprised the all-college championship team.

Against the senior minors, champions of the minor group, the victors won out 3 to 0.

CO-ED VOLLEY BALL

THE 1929 volley ball series for all-college championship was completed fall term. The seniors and sophomores tied for the championship. Those on the sophomore team were Josephine Barlow, Lucy Bean, Meron Bomgardner, Kathryn Butler, Geraldine Klahn and Mary McClanahan. Substitutes were Alice O'Neil, Helen Denman and Helen Temple.

CO-ED BASKETBALL

SENIOR, sophomore and freshmen minor basketball teams tied for first place in the tournament so the championship team was decided by adding the scores of each class. Seniors were determined champions with a total score of 132 points to 100 points for the sophomores and 93 for the freshmen.

The minor team was composed of Mabel Harding, Pearl Horning, Elda Aasen, Ruth Rydell, Martha Pocklington, Eleanor Tonsing, Elizabeth Hubbard and Florence Kaufman.

Alta DeShazer, Helen Wirkkala, Rose Taff, June Hudson, Alice Young, Dorothy Trabert and Dorothea Henningsen made up the non-minor team.

CO-ED DANCING

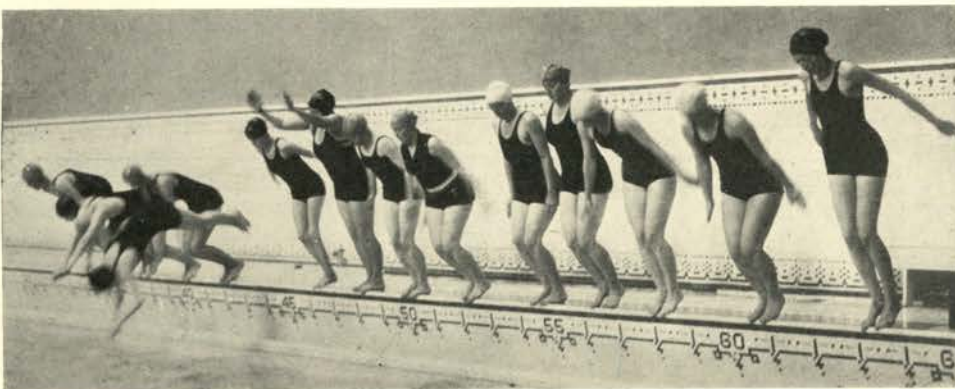

DANCING is one of the most popular co-ed activities. Classes become larger each year, and the work being done has caused much of the increased interest in this activity. Rhythm, which is followed in all forms, has become the main center around which all of the work is built.

Team points are awarded by W. A. A. for those participating in a dance recital or program given by the department. Points earned are counted toward the Orange "O" sweater. Miss Mary Hinman directed the women in rhythmic dancing.

CO-ED SWIMMING

THIS year the co-ed swimmers were grouped into teams of which the freshmen and seniors formed one and the sophomores and juniors the other to compete in tournaments. Speed, endurance and skill were adapted to game situations. These were found in a modified form in water polo, crew races and pigeon.

Emphasis was placed on play, self-testing being stressed. This gave every woman an opportunity to see how much she could do and how well. The freshman-senior team won two of the three meets.

President B. L. Arnold, A.M., Ph.D., was executive head of the College for 20 years, succeeding Dr. Finley in 1871-72 and continuing in the presidency until his death in 1892. During this period, the "permanent location of the State Agricultural College at Corvallis" was "ratified and confirmed," the College moved from its down-town location to the present campus; and the Administration building, financed by the citizens of Benton county under Dr. Arnold's leadership, was completed. "A true friend, a thorough teacher, and a useful man" is the brief characterization of him on the memorial tablet erected to his memory in the Administration building.

THE Forestry club, composed of all men registered in the school of forestry, has for its objective the promotion of better friendship and cooperation. Three times a year members put their theory into practice at the Peavy Arboretum.

THE 4-H club is the stepping stone to the honorary fraternity, Mu Beta Beta. It helps organize other clubs in the state and conducts radio programs for those interested in 4-H club work. Training for local club leadership is stressed.

SORORITIES

FRATERNITIES

A critical period confronted the College in the eighties. The church began to doubt the wisdom of joint control, since the State made only very meager arrangements to help finance the College and often failed to fulfill the arrangements. The church offered to relinquish all claims upon the College. But the legislature would accept control only on condition that a suitable building be erected on the college farm. At this juncture Senator Thomas E. Cauthorn, with four loyal helpers, worked out the legislative program that between 1884 and 1889 resulted in the permanent establishment of the College on its present site as the land-grant institution of Oregon with "Old Administration" as the first building.

NATIONAL INDEPENDENT ASSOCIATION

THE National Independent Association, founded on the Oregon State campus in 1923, upholds the belief that non-Hellenic undergraduate students and alumni will be able to render greater service to their alma maters if they enter more into campus activities.

This association has taken a particularly active part in "Independent" welfare during the past year due to the return of the presidency to the Oregon State campus. Officers are elected annually by the member organizations but in lieu of re-election no campus is allowed to have the same office for more than one term. The work of the association is controlled by an Executive Council in which each member organization is represented by a vice-president.

In the furtherance of its belief, the purpose of this association is to so unite non-Hellenic students that they may be able to enjoy advantages, social and political, which are now denied them in large measure due to lack of organization. This council considers problems of mutual interest and aids member organizations.

MARGARET Snell hall is the first of three units of a proposed dormitory to commemorate the service of Margaret Snell who founded the school of home economics at Oregon State and carried on the work of the entire department for a number of years.

The hall, built in 1921 of terra cotta and brick, is the college home of 150 women students who enjoy its modern conveniences and restful atmosphere. Officers are elected annually to the hall council which acts as an executive committee for the organization.

WYTOMACHEE, an Indian name meaning friendship, is the name given to the organization which includes all Oregon State women not living in an organized house or hall. The club, which meets every two weeks, aims to promote friendship and cooperation and to provide social contacts for its members.

Wytomachee was formed in 1926 from a group known as the Downtown Girls' club.

"Hobby" groups were initiated this year as a new form of social and educational activity. Through these, women interested in hiking, reading, music, dramatics or other activities develop their "hobby."

THE Associated Mens Halls' Central Council is the body through which the federation of the five hall clubs exercises control over the men's dormitory. It is composed of the president and three representatives from each hall club. Its presiding officer, the president of the dormitory, is elected by the entire dormitory at a general election. The legislative, executive, and judicial authority necessary for the welfare of the dormitory is exercised by the central council.

ASSOCIATED MEN'S HALLS

AT the close of its second year of occupancy, the men's dormitory gives promise of becoming a dominating influence in the college lives of the independent men.

The dormitory, composed of Buxton, Cauthorn, Hawley, Poling and Weatherford halls, forms a student self-governing federation, whose activities are carried on through the Central Council.

In the center of the structure is the suite, provided for the manager-hostess, Mrs. Helen Cunningham. She exercises general supervision over the residents of the dormitory in the interests of the administration of the college, and helps to create a homelike atmosphere for the men. Included in her suite is a general reception room in which the men may entertain women guests.

The residents of the dormitory take their meals in the main dining room of the new Memorial Union building.

The landscaping of the lawns and the planting of shrubbery has made the men's dormitory a beautiful campus building.

President Thomas

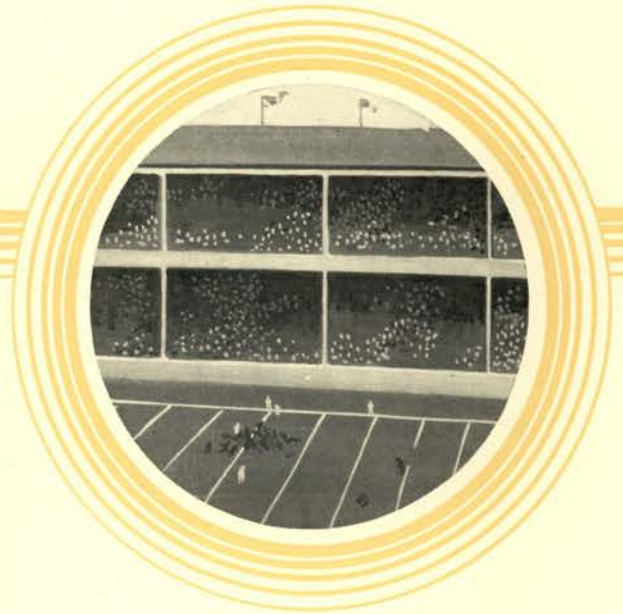

M. Gatch, A.M., Ph.D.,

retired from the presidency of the University of Washington to become President of Oregon State College in 1897 and for ten years exercised a beneficent and tactful supervision over its rapidly enlarging affairs. "In managing the faculty and students," said Honorable Wallace F. Nash, secretary of the Board of Regents and official guardian of the destinies of the College, "everything went as smoothly as though he wore a velvet glove on his administrative hand." The experiment station, the course of study, and the college campus greatly developed during his administration and student enrollment rose to 833.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

DR. Clair V. Langton, who is in his second year as head of the physical education and health department at Oregon State college, has developed the department so that it now ranks among the best on the Pacific coast. His slogan is "Every Man in Athletics." New games have been added during the past year to give more men an opportunity to make some team which was impossible during the past because of the limited number of sports.

Football has been given an impetus on the campus during the last few years because of the teams' successes in their inter-sectional games. The man responsible for these wins is Paul J. Schissler, head football coach and director of athletics at Oregon State college. For the last three years the Oregon State football team has defeated representatives of the east and middle west.

Two years ago it was the boys from Marquette, last year New York university was defeated, and this year Detroit university was left by the wayside after a brilliant rally. Detroit had not lost a game to any team for the past three years. The schedule for next year includes a game at Soldiers' field with the University of West Virginia.

Other staff members include Jim Dixon, Ralph Coleman, Richard Newman, Roy Lamb, Alonzo Stiner, Grant Swan, O. C. Mauthe and John Kenney. The aim of the large coaching staff is to interest as many students as possible in athletics.

GENERAL MANAGER

GUIDING the financial destinies of the Associated Students of Oregon State is no small task in itself, but Carl Lodell, general manager of the Associated Students, has efficiently carried out this project for the past eight years, still finding time to direct the scheduling of all intercollegiate athletic events sponsored by the student body. Graduating in 1921 from the school of commerce, Lodell took over the financial reins of the Associated Students in the summer of 1922 and, keeping things on an even keel, has made great strides forward.

The graduate manager's office is the financial clearing house of all activities and projects sponsored by the associated student body of Oregon State. Under his direction falls the handling of the student body finances proper, those of the organizations supported by the students, including publications, musical organizations and athletic activity, and the making of budgets for these groups. In addition Lodell takes care of the scheduling of athletic events at the meetings of the conference graduate managers and a host of minor details and activities arising from the above duties.

The staff assisting Lodell in his work are Bern Hafenfeld, assistant general manager of the Associated Students; Art Taaffe, athletic and news director; and Helen Myers, secretary. Hafenfeld, a '29 graduate of Oregon State, acts for Lodell in the latter's absence.

General Manager's Office

ATHLETIC NEWS BUREAU

THE Athletic News bureau is the official clearing house for all sports publicity for the Associated Students. Art Taaffe, Oregon State's athletic news director, hailing from the land of Tipperary and sporting a brogue that would be a hit on any stage, has handled all the publicity on intercollegiate athletics since his graduation in the school of commerce in 1926. He is in full charge of the bureau. Besides handling all the advance information on coming athletic events, covering sporting contests and games for the leading newspapers on the Pacific coast and paving the way for trips of Oregon State teams, Taaffe directs the sports publicity sent out to coast and many eastern papers by the five graduate and student campus correspondents, covering intercollegiate sports.

For four years, Taaffe has conducted weekly 15-minute talks on sports over radio station KOAC. All programs for athletic events are published under the supervision of his office. Complete records of athletics since intercollegiate sports were started at Oregon State are kept by Taaffe. These records include newspaper clippings and statistical material gathered from various sources and are bound in book form.

Student and graduate athletic news correspondents working in conjunction with Taaffe are John Burtner, Loring Hudson, George Stone, Bill Johnson, Kermit Johnson and Harry Cowie.

VARSIITY SPORTS MANAGERS

A STUDENT managerial staff, composed of four senior men and a group of aspiring undergraduate assistants, helps Carl Lodell, graduate manager, in handling all major intercollegiate sports during the college year. For his services throughout the season, each senior manager is awarded a sweater with a managerial monogram.

The position of senior manager is one difficult to attain, and is coveted highly by many underclassmen. Every year there is a group of freshmen who turn out with the object of becoming a senior manager. They do everything from picking up pins to oiling shoes, and get little for their services except a great deal of hard work.

The underclassman who has the most

hours of service to his credit, and is the most faithful, is generally selected as the senior manager. Through this system of merit, the managerial staff at Oregon State has become one of the most efficient on the Pacific coast, if not in the United States. The men who turn out for the jobs have just as much interest in attaining their positions as a star football player has in gaining a place on the squad.

Ben Olcott was in charge of the football equipment during the past season. Paul Troeh was considered one of the most efficient basketball managers in years.

Gordon Grant was baseball manager. The track squad was well taken care of by Jerry Clark.

Football Coaching Squad

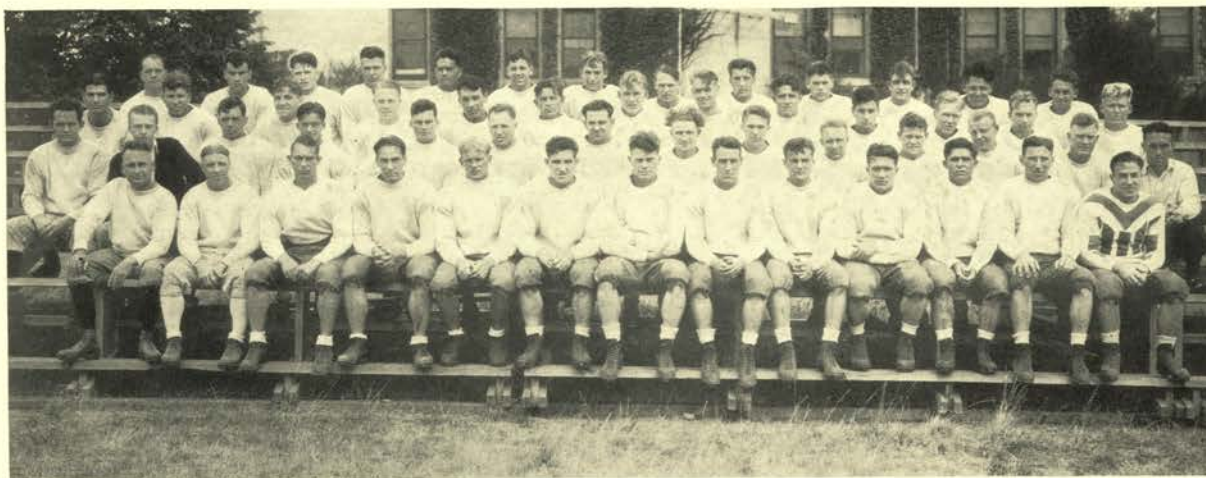

THE 1929 GRID SEASON

By PAUL J. SCHISLER

DURING the 1929 football season the Oregon State college team won 5 and lost 4 games, three of the five games being won from teams of non-conference standing. The loss of such outstanding men as Maple, Eilers, Carlson, Luce, Whitlock, Schell, Kent, Twitchell, Kirk and other veterans, weakened the '29 team considerably. No team anywhere ever fought harder or with greater determination to win every game than did the team of 1929, and I have nothing but praise for that team, as a matter of fact, for every man on the squad. Their final victory over Detroit was a well-earned and fitting reward for a group of fighters who never let down under most adverse conditions.

The outlook for the coming year at this time is more promising than last year.

Varsity Football Squad

CALIFORNIA AGGIES, WILLAMETTE, COLUMBIA

TWO tough early season games were on tap for the Orangemen this year to prepare them for their opening conference game. Willamette and the California Aggies were the brisk non-conference elevens who gave the Beavers two tough games.

Less than a week after practice had started, the Willamette Bearcats descended on Corvallis and at half time were behind only 7 to 6. A powerful second-half attack gave the Orangemen a 37 to 6 victory largely through the efforts of Sherwood and Kerr. A nice passing attack and splendid punting featured the Bearcats' work. The Orangemen looked potentially powerful, but very much in the rough.

Three touchdowns, all in the second half, were the margin of victory over the California Aggies the following week end.

Del Scott

A battling Mustang line held the Beavers scoreless throughout the first half. The big feature of that Mustang defense was the work of a bare-headed roving center named Stever, who smeared play after play. The second half found Rowdy Kerr again very much in evidence, his dashes leading to two of the touchdowns that gave the Beavers a 19-to-0 victory.

Between trips to California for games with U. S. C. and Stanford, respectively, Coach Paul Schissler's Beavers stayed in Corvallis for a Saturday afternoon engagement with the scrappy Columbia university eleven of Portland.

An avalanche of touchdowns gave the Orangemen a 71-to-7 win over their lighter opponents, most of the scoring being done by Orange reserves. Bryce Nosler ran back a punt for a touchdown.

U. S. C. GAME

A BATTLING Oregon State eleven opened its conference season at Los Angeles on October 5, by holding U. S. C.'s powerful machine to a 21-to-7 victory, which the Trojans gathered in largely through the pass-snatching ability of one Garrett Arbelbide, a substitute end.

Aided by the beautiful punting of Floyd Owen, whose kicks averaged 49½ yards for the afternoon, the Beavers managed to keep Trojan cleats from denting scoring territory during the first quarter. However, that U. S. C. attack was not to be denied, and an avalanche of second-quarter touchdowns brought the score to 21 to 0 before the end of the half. Saunders, Duffield, and Hill raced through for huge gains, and twice Arbelbide grabbed passes to cross the Orange goal line. The other Trojan score came when Jim Musick, nicknamed "Sweet" by his admirers, smashed across after an advantageous break due to a blocked punt.

Another substitute who made a name for himself under the summer sun was Bryce Nosler, midget Beaver quarterback, who counted the only Orange score of the day when he brought 40,000 people to their feet as he picked his way 65 yards to a touchdown on a punt return.

Nosler's run came as the fourth quarter was well along and the spectators had begun to crowd the exits, while Beaver reserves tried to save the game.

Along with Nosler, Russ Striff, captain for the day, Homer Lyons, and Carl Mettem featured for the Orangemen. Arbelbide, Hill, Musick, and Tappaan looked good for the winners. The Beavers completed 8 out of 15 passes attempted.

STANFORD GAME

AFTER a two-week rest from the U. S. C. tilt, Coach Schissler took his Orange football team back down into the southland for another game. This time the Beaver eleven met Glenn Warner's very capable Stanford machine.

The Orangemen scored first on a pass from Buerke to McKalip but the Cardinal ten-ton backfield and smoothly working pass attack swept down the field to crush the Beavers under a final score of 40 to 7. The sleepy Stanford eleven was jerked rudely from its dreams when McKalip took that 35-yard pass from Buerke and ran 35 more to score, but the Redshirts came back and hammered down the field 68 yards on running plays.

Two long passes, Smalling to Muller, and Smalling to Caglieri coupled with another scoring smash by Smalling, brought the count to 26 to 7 at half time, the Orangemen claiming the 7 points.

Battling to keep the score down, the Beavers showed some of their potential power during the second half of the struggle, holding the Cards to two hard-earned touchdowns. Sherwood and Captain Gilmore pierced the Stanford line for substantial gains on several occasions and generally made it an interesting session for Foxy Pop Warner's eleven.

Smalling, Moffatt, Heinecke, and Captain Muller made a particularly strong impression on the defeated Orangemen. One of the pleasant features of the afternoon was the fact that the men came through the fray with no bad injuries, leaving the team intact for the struggle with Idaho. Striff and Chuck Stout loomed large both on offense and defense.

IDAHO VS. O. S. C.

BADLY buffeted after two trips to California, Ore-State's grid team came back and vindicated itself with a rousing 27-to-0 victory over Idaho in the Homecoming game.

Ten thousand Beaver alumni and students responded to a crashing attack with cheers and waving pennants. Three first quarter advances carried the ball inside the Vandal 10-yard line but each time a fumble robbed the Orangemen of a touch-down. That dashing Beaver attack was not to be denied, however, and with Rowdy Kerr, substituting for Sherwood, in the star role, the Staters slipped across the line early in the second period. Having wearied of losing the ball right in the shadow of the Vandal goal posts, the Beavers decided to try a scoring play from midfield. A lateral pass, Buerke to Owen to Kerr, gave Rowdy the ball on the Vandal 48, and then, with perfect interference, the Beaver speedster galloped down the field and over for the first counter.

Ralph Buerke, who played a dashing game at safety, took an Idaho pass and ran it back to the Vandal 30-yard mark and Johnny Essman smashed over after a series of drives in which Carl Metten and Floyd Owen put the oval in scoring position. Another smash through the line by Essman and a beautiful pass from Buerke to Striff completed the scoring for the Beavers.

Piloted by Bob Geddes, the Orange eleven piled up over 500 yards from passes and scrimmage to 87 for Idaho. Essman, Kerr, Miller and Buerke played bang-up football for Oregon State, while Diehl, Pedersen and Kershisnik shone for Idaho.

TWO thousand students moved their headquarters to Portland on November 2 to watch acting captain Chuck Stout lead the Oregon State football team into action against the highly touted Washington State eleven. The experts missed another guess and the Beavers came home on the short end of a 9-to-0 score.

Chuck Stout

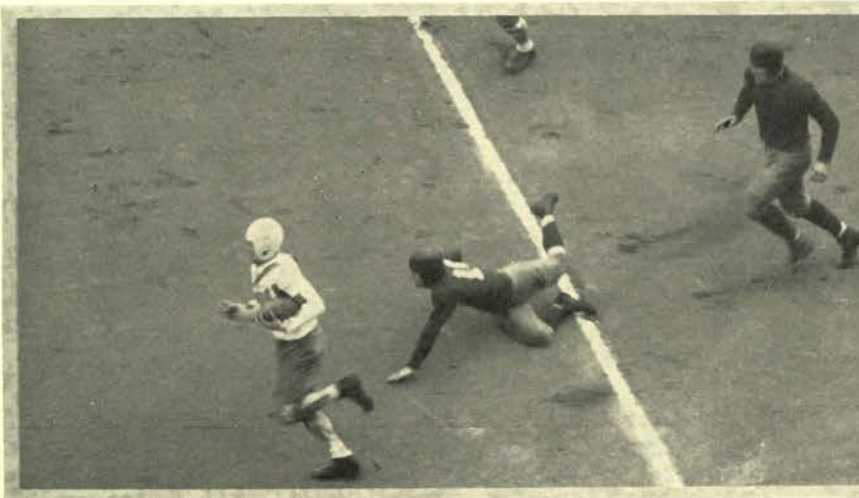

The Cougars displayed the hardest-charging line and the best backfield that has come out of the Pullman country since Babe Hollingberry moved his valise over there and began coaching Washington State grid teams. The only touchdown of the tilt came near the end of the first period. The Cougars, with Ellingsen, Buckley, and Schwartz punching the line, carried the ball to the Oregon State 42 yard line. Then the 17,000 fans saw Ellingsen, slender Cougar half slip back and shoot a pass to Johnny Hurley, end, who scampered over the line to score six points.

The lads from the Palouse country had a couple of tackles who anchored their line against every Beaver threat. These two iron men were Edwards and Ahlskog, and they played the kind of a game that makes football a most discouraging pastime for the opposition. After the Orange eleven had slammed away at that line for three quarters and had almost scored, little Archie Buckley made it a day with a beautiful 46-yard place kick.

A passing attack which completed just half of the aerial attempts put the Beavers in position to score several times but never could the Orange backs get through that ironclad forward wall from Pullman. It was one of the best-played games of the year.

O. S. C. ~ U. OF O. GAME

CLIMAXING a week of thrills and suspense, the annual battle with Oregon developed into the customary brilliant and bitterly fought struggle which has become characteristic of games between the two schools, Oregon pulling out with a 16-to-0 victory.

A keyed-up Oregon eleven scored on the Beavers in the opening period, when drives through the line by Hatton and Kitzmiller took the ball to the Oregon State 14-yard mark. Kitzmiller, the spark of the Oregon attack, slammed a place kick over the bar to give the Webfoots a three-point lead. Two poor punts put the Webfoots in position to score their first touchdown, the immediate cause was an O. S. C. 22-yard boot from behind their own goal line. Robinson gathered in the kick and scampered over the line unmolested to give Oregon a 9-to-0 lead at half time.

The second half found the surging Orange attack carry the oval inside the Oregon 20-yard line on two occasions, each time failing to dent scoring territory. The first Beaver thrust was halted on the Oregon 11-yard line when a fourth-down lateral pass was completed for a 10-yard loss. That fighting Beaver line was not to be denied, however, and after partially blocking one punt, the Orangemen completely smothered the next one and took possession on the Webfoot six-yard mark. Four punches at the green forward wall opposite them failed to produce a Beaver touchdown.

The final Oregon score came on a pass from Londahl to Robinson. Hughes, McKalip, Miller and Striff played spectacularly, while Colbert, Londahl, Robinson, and Kitzmiller featured the Oregon victory.

DETROIT UNIVERSITY GAME

NOVEMBER 23 saw the Orangemen humble a University of Detroit team, unbeaten in 22 previous starts, by a score of 14 to 7.

Detroit, with one of the unbeaten teams of the country, was favored to win over Coach Schissler's eleven, which had been badly buffeted during its season on the coast. However, Bill McKalip's third quarter gallop to a touchdown, after breaking up a Detroit lateral pass sent the Beavers out in front, never to be headed.

In the opening period the Titans flashed the running attack that had brought them through 22 consecutive games unbeaten. Opening on their own 38-yard mark, the Detroit eleven pounded and punched straight down the field to the Oregon State four-yard line, where Brazil, scintillating Titan half, faded back and shot a pass to Young for the first counter of the game. This same Brazil played a dashing game all afternoon and definitely stamped himself as one of the great backs of the game.

The tying touchdown came late in the second quarter when Buerke passed to Striff on fourth down, the chunky end slipping over the line from the Titan 17-yard line, after a determined Beaver offensive had carried the ball that far. McKalip's winning touchdown came after everyone had settled back expecting a tie. A Beaver threat had been stopped on Detroit's 20-yard mark, but instead of kicking out the Titans attempted their lateral which surprised everyone but the alert McKalip.

Gilmore, Striff, Stout, Cochran, Del Scott, Metten, Owen, Montgomery, Geddes and Essman played their last game.

VARSIITY BASEBALL

By COACH ROY LAMB

ALTHOUGH having heard much of Oregon State college and the Orangemen's athletic prowess before coming west, it was not without some uncertainty that I approached the task of developing a well-oiled team capable of playing high-class varsity baseball. However, the progress of the team during the 1929 season exceeded my fondest hopes.

Only 10 veterans were among the 75 men who turned out at the first of the season.

With little knowledge of the ability of the players or of the competition we were to meet, it took most of the pre-season games to get a line on these elements and develop a smooth working nine. Winning every game but one, and that with the University of Meiji, during the practice period, indicates the fine spirit and the whole-hearted cooperation with which the squad tackled the business of developing a baseball team of which the college could well be proud.

After the success of the practice period, we entered into the conference season with high hopes. The round-robin series was a new innovation in the northwest conference calling for a tough schedule of 16 games. The team played high-class ball, breaking even in the season, and defeated the University of Washington champions three games out of the four played.

A large group of veterans and lettermen will be back in suits for the 1930 season and everything indicates that the Beavers will be able to make a strong bid for the Pacific Northwest title this spring.

1929 Varsity Squad

PRE-SEASON GAMES

UNDER Coach Roy Lamb's guidance the Orange baseball squad won all but one of the pre-season games and broke even in the conference struggle.

The University of Meiji, Japan, took the State nine to the worst defeat of the season when they drubbed the Staters 13-6 just prior to the opening of the conference season.

Monmouth Normal and Willamette university could do nothing against the Beavers, Monmouth being held to two hits in the first game and Willamette losing 7 to 2.

The outstanding man on the squad was Captain Howard Maple, Oregon State's All-American quarterback, who was one of the best receivers ever to don a mask for the Staters. The Chicago Nationals signed him at the end of the season. Billy

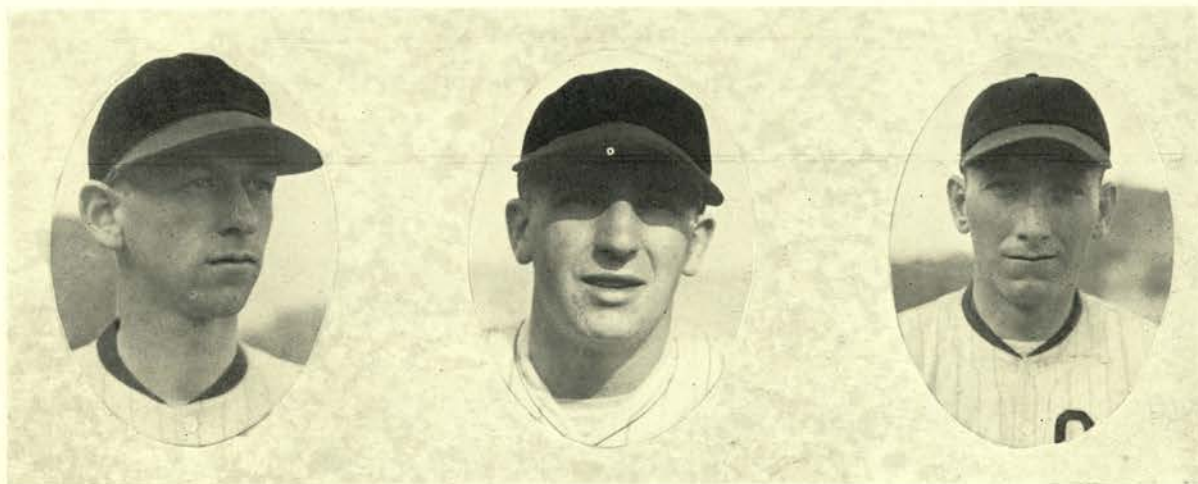

MAPLE, Captain

Quayle signed with the San Francisco Seals.

Twelve men who received baseball awards at the end of the 1929 season are Howard Maple, Billy Quayle, Bern Hafenfeld, Bill Cloyes, Bergen Belleville, Mush Torson, Harvey Boultinghouse, Lee Pennel, Carlton Wood, Buck Grayson, Dick Henzel, and Fred Nightingale.

The pre-season record of two wins in three starts clearly indicated that the Beavers would be no mean contenders for the Pacific Northwest conference title. The squad gained considerable experience in the opening games and smoothed up the hitting and fielding until they were in top form to start the conference against the University of Oregon in the first game. During this period the first turnout was trimmed to 29 players, 10 of which were 1928 lettermen.

W. S. C. SERIES

THE Beavers swamped Coach Buck Bailey's nine by the score of 14 to 7 in the first game with the Washington State college squad in Corvallis, much to the surprise of the Cougars and their backers who had hopes of a championship nine. The Pullman boys hit the ball hard, but not as hard as the Orangemen who seemed to be out for hits and lots of them. Buck Grayson and Mush Torson furnished the thrills of the game when they drove out a home run and a triple with the bags loaded.

Harvey Boultinghouse chucked the game and did a neat job of it, holding the Cougars to seven hits. As usual, Howard Maple and Billy Quayle gave the fans something to talk about when they completed three double plays that cut off sure runs.

Quayle, Shortstop

When Coach Roy Lamb and his Beavers journeyed to Pullman to entertain the Cougars, they decided to give the Washington Staters something tough to work on. Little Fred Nightingale filled the bill. Freddie pitched one of the best games of the season, holding Washington State to three runs and striking out 10 men. The final score was 11 to 3 in favor of the Orangemen.

Oregon State did not function nearly as well in the second game against the Cougars in Corvallis, and as a result lost the affair by a 9 to 5 score. Bill Cloyes started the game and pitched beautiful ball, but six errors by the Orange fielders gave the Orangemen too big a handicap.

In the fourth and final game with Washington State at Pullman the Beavers were beaten out in the ninth by a score of 5 to 4.

U. OF O. SERIES

THE first game of the conference season, played against the University of Oregon in Eugene, was one of the best battles of the season. The Beavers emerged on the long end of a 4 to 3 score after nine of the fastest innings ever played in the northern conference. The Staters were helped along by their brilliant little shortpatcher, Billy Quayle, who despite doctor's orders to stay off the field, played some of the best baseball seen in years. He accepted 10 chances at shortstop without an error, and then in the seventh inning knocked out a home run that won the game.

Harvey Boultinghouse was chosen by Coach Lamb to pitch the opener, and he did a fine job of it, holding Oregon to four hits. The Oregon nine could not solve "Boulty's" delivery and could not score a run until the sixth when they bunched three hits for as many runs.

The return game was played the following day in Corvallis with the Beavers on the short end of a 7 to 6 score. This game was one of the toughest for the Orangemen to lose, as they had the game in the bag until the ninth inning when the University of Oregon rallied to win. McCormick, a substitute third baseman, was sent in to bat, and to prove his worth he clouted a home-run that won the tilt. After splitting the first two games with the Webfeet, the Staters lost the third game to Oregon by a score of 7 to 4.

In the final game of the season for the Staters and Webfeet, the Orangemen took another defeat on the chin that put them in a tie with Oregon for third place in the conference.

IDAHO SERIES

OREGON State lived up to advance dope when it took Idaho down on the State diamond 7 to 1. The Vandals could do nothing with the slants of Fred Nightingale except to swing at the air once in a while to make the fans believe there was a ball game. Idaho scored on a wild pitch.

The feature of the game was the playing of Lee Pennell, Orange second baseman, who was considered a poor hitter. He had a perfect day at bat besides accepting eight chances in the field without a bobble. Hafenfeld, Beaver third baseman, also came in for his share of the glory when he drove out a terrific home run with the bases all occupied.

The second game in Moscow turned out to be a massacre for the Beavers. The final score was 11 to 2. The Vandals were able to get only three hits off Fred Nightingale, Beaver pitcher, while Oregon State gathered in fourteen, four of them being home runs by Belleville, Pennell, Torson and Grayson. Nightingale added to his string of strikeouts when he compelled 12 Idaho men to go back to the bench with their bats across their shoulders.

Idaho came back in the second game at Corvallis to defeat the Beavers after a hard battle 7 to 5. The game was a loosely played affair on the local field. Twelve errors were made by the two teams with the visitors in the majority 7 to 5.

Upon their first invasion into Idaho the Beavers were beaten 7 to 6. The game was lost in the first inning when Idaho scored four runs on one hit and four errors. The defeat dropped the Staters to second place.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON SERIES

THE University of Washington, after having defeated Oregon twice, two days previously, pulled into the lair of the Beavers leading the northern conference. The dope favored the Huskies to win both of the games, but the dopesters were proved wrong as the Purple nine pulled out of town the following day with two defeats chalked against them.

BELLEVILLE, Outfield

Bill Cloyes pitched the first game and worked like a major league hurler. The Huskies garnered but four hits and three runs off his delivery while the Orangemen were touching Calhoun for eight blows and seven runs.

Buck Grayson provided the Beaver punch with a home run that scored three runners, and also helped Quayle and Pennell complete three of the fastest double plays ever seen on the home diamond.

Hitting the ball with the bases full gave the Beavers the second game against the Huskies. The Purple nine found themselves in second place when they left town and the Orangemen in first place in the northern conference with five wins and two defeats.

After having somewhat of a poor road trip with other teams in the conference, the Beavers were fighting mad when they arrived at Seattle to tangle with the University of Washington nine for a two-game series. The result was that the Orangemen made it three straight over the Purple and Gold by the score of 7 to 5 in the first tilt. Although Nightingale pitched a five-hit game and struck out 10 Huskies in the final game, the Beaver defense crumbled, and the Huskies staged a rally for five runs, winning by 5 to 3.

COACH "Dick" Newman had a very successful season in his first year as varsity track mentor and shaped a strong team around the few lettermen. He developed a number of sophomores into varsity men and several of them garnered points in the various meets of the year. Many men of the previous season's squad were lost by graduation and with the late wet season the track squad had little training for the first meet with Oregon.

"Cotton" Whitlock was the big mainstay of the team getting 34½ points for the season's total and receiving honors as high-point man of the team. This was Whitlock's last year and his loss will be felt keenly by the Orange track team. Another Orange trackman of note was Logan Carter who was always a sure point-getter in the high jump. He took two firsts, tied for first place in the coast meets and took third in the national meet.

The Orangemen walked away with the dual meet with Idaho and in the northern Pacific coast conference meet took fourth place. A wealth of material for next season was developed and another season should see O. S. C. among the leaders.

Varsity track awards were given to 17 men: J. Sidney Johnson, Harold Conklin, Martin Elle, Ronald Johnson, Charles Davis, Paul Young, Ivan Martin, Alex Milton, Clifford Cordy, Neale Smith, Clyde Ritter, Clifford McLean, Elton Phillips, Logan Carter, Vernon Eilers, Melvin Whitlock and William McKalip.

Whitlock placed in every meet he entered taking five first places during the season and sixth in the National meet.

OREGON State lost the Oregon-Oregon State relay meet, the first conference competition of the season, 5 to 4. In the Washington relay carnival Oregon State failed to take a first place. Next the Orangemen trimmed the Idaho Vandals 97 to 34 in a dual meet. In a dual meet with Washington the Beavers went down in defeat by a score of 79 to 52, and in the following meet with Oregon Coach Dick Newman's men again came out on the short end of the score. The Orangemen found consolation in the Northern Division of the Pacific Coast conference meet, and managed to walk off with fourth place. Oregon State scored 20½ points in the meet taking first in the javelin and tying for first in the high jump, third in the high hurdles, low hurdles, pole vault and 880, fourth in the high hurdles and 440.

THE Orangemen met defeat at the hands of the Lemon-Yellow trackmen in the first meet of the season, the annual relay carnival, April 26, at Corvallis. The Oregon tracksters took 5 of the 9 events. The Orangemen won the shuttle relay. Hill starred for the victors by coming from behind in two races to win.

Five new records were set by Oregon for the relays. Oregon ran the two-mile in 8:05.4 minutes, lowering the old mark two-fifths seconds. The Oregon team showed strength in the shot put, bettering the record by two-fifths inches for an average of 42 feet 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches. The four-mile relay record was lowered by 4.8 seconds with a new mark of 18:55 minutes.

The shuttle, sprint medley, distance medley and mile relays were captured by the Staters. In upsetting the dope for the shuttle relay the Orangemen trod the cinder path in the fast time of 1:05.2 minutes. The 440, two-mile, 880, shot put and four-mile relays were captured by Oregon. The Lemon - Yellow trackmen were hard pressed in all the relays and two of the races were won by inches when Hill, anchor man for Oregon, pulled away in the last few yards to breast the tape.

The loss of Ray Oglesby, out for the season on account of a leg injury, was a serious handicap to the Orangemen. He was expected to be one of the mainstays of the team during the season.

The Beavers made a strong showing in the relay meet and with the prospect of most of the 1929 relay men back for 1930, the result should be reversed this spring.

WASHINGTON RELAY CARNIVAL

COACH Dick Newman sent 15 Orange athletes to Seattle, May 4, to enter the annual Washington relay carnival. The carnival is one of the big events of the season with 33 schools entering 160 athletes from all over the Pacific northwest. Washington State and Washington both entered strong teams but W. S. C. won the meet with six first places. Washington was second with four firsts and Oregon third with one victory.

All but two Pacific northwest track records were equalled during the relays and several records were broken. The keen competition extended all athletes to their limits and with many new stars it proved a disastrous day for records.

The Orangemen were entered in 7 of the 11 events and placed in four when they won three third places and one second.

CLYDE RITTER

Cliff Cordy, star State high hurdler, took third in his event with a time of 15.2 seconds. The O. S. C. medley relay team captured third place in 7:45 minutes, and in the four-mile relay took third timed at 18:10 minutes. Neale Smith in the pole vault tied with Lainhart of W. S. C. at 12 feet and on the toss of a coin Smith took second place.

Coach Newman was highly pleased with the showing of the team in this meet. It was the second mix of the season and with the little training the men as a whole showed up better than expected. The Washington State team showed its strength by garnering six first places and gave promise of showing plenty of competition in the coast conference meet later in the season. The Huskies also loomed up as logical contenders for the conference title honors.

O. S. C. ~ IDAHO DUAL MEET

THE Oregon State cinder-men sent the University of Idaho squad down to a crashing defeat in the dual tilt at Moscow on May 10 by a margin of 63 points. Twenty-four men made the trip, scoring 97 points to 34 tallies for the Vandal horde. Two complete sweeps were registered by the Beavers, one in the high hurdles and the other in the javelin throw when not a single Idaho man scored.

Although their points did not count in the final results of the meet, the University of Idaho southern branch entered the meet and turned in several fast times. The southern school was able to score three seconds and three third places during the day's events.

When all was said and done, the Beavers had garnered 11 top places while the Vandals copped 4 first places. Whitlock and J. Sidney Johnson were the high point men for the Orangemen taking 12 points each. Norman was high scorer for Idaho getting 9 counters. Idaho was strongest in the distance runs and field events and won two first places in each class. The Beavers came through to take all of the sprints and four of the field events.

Whitlock, Eilers and McKalip finishing in that order scored a clean sweep over Idaho in the javelin throw. Whitlock took first with a throw of 174 feet 10 inches. In the high hurdles Cordy, Davis and Martin took the first three places with a time of 16 seconds. The Beavers made their strongest showing thus far during the season in this meet and with the Washington dual meet only a week away were pointed to give the Huskies a real threat.

O. S. C. ~ U. OF W. DUAL MEET

FOUR coast records fell in the Oregon State-University of Washington dual track meet at Corvallis, May 18, when the Huskies took the Orangemen into camp by a 27 point margin. Washington took 10 first places while the Beavers earned first honors in four events with a tie in the pole vault. The Huskies clearly outclassed Oregon State in the long distance runs and field events.

NEAL SMITH

Whitlock, veteran Oregon State iron man, was high point scorer of the meet with 11 points copped in 3 different events. He took first in the javelin, second in the discus and tied with Brodie of the University of Washington for second place in the high jump.

Kizer of the Huskies was the first to shatter a Pacific coast record. Kizer walked away with the mile run in 4:17.6 minutes, bettering the coast record of 4:19.6 by 2 seconds. He was Washington's lone entrant in this event. Sellers, Husky two-miler, next took up the assault against the standing records, bettering both the northwest and coast records in this event by turning in a fast time of 9:27.5 minutes. Genung of Washington then bettered the coast mark in the half mile by coming in with a time of 1:55 minutes.

A trio of Washington distance men turned in times that shattered the coast and northwest track records. In the pole vault Smith and McLean of Oregon State and Ross of Washington all tied for first honors with the bar at 12 feet 3 inches. The results of the meet showed that the University of Washington team would be in a position to make a strong bid for all-coast honors.

O.S.C. ~ U. OF O. DUAL MEET

THE Oregon State track men bowed to the University of Oregon squad 93 to 38 in the annual traditional cinder dual at Eugene on May 25. Running in bitter cold weather, the Webfoots came through to cop 10 first places in the meet while the Beavers took two first places and were conceded a third top position in the mile relay.

Fairly good times were turned in for the meet in spite of the cold weather that handicapped the competitors of both teams. One of the best races of the day was the 100-yard dash in which Lowry of Oregon barely nosed out his teammate Pendergrast to win in the fast time of 9.8 seconds, equaling the best mark made on the coast so far during the season. Hill of Oregon loped in an easy victor in the mile run and came within two seconds of equaling the Oregon-Oregon State dual meet record that has stood for 18 years.

The best performance of the day in the field events was made by Whitlock, star Beaver javelin tosser when he hurled the spear 191 feet 9 inches to cop first honors in the event. The closing event of the meet, the mile relay, was conceded to Oregon State by the Webfoot mentor and tallied the third first place for the Beavers.

The only two events captured by the Orangemen were the 220-yard low hurdles and the javelin throw. Carter, varsity high jumper tied for first place with Everts of Oregon in this event with the bar resting at 6 feet 3 inches. McLean and Smith of the Beavers also tied with Maultby and Robinson, Webfooters, in the pole vault at the height of 11 feet 6 inches.

NORTHERN DIVISION P. C. C. MEET

THE northern division Pacific Coast conference meet was held at Eugene May 31 and June 1. At the opening of the meet the Washington Huskies were favored to win with the Washington State team second, but Oregon nosed out the Cougars by one point to take second place. Six northwest schools, U. of W., W. S. C., O. S. C., U. of O., Idaho and Montana entered the meet.

qualified 10 men in the opening round and Oregon State six men. Many men were eliminated in the tryouts and a strong field entered the second round.

The outstanding performance of the meet was made by Anderson of Washington when he equalled the world's high hurdle mark. Rufus Kizer of W. S. C. broke the Pacific coast record in the mile by turning in the fast time of

The Huskies won the meet by garnering 59 points and Oregon took second with 37. The strong W. S. C. team was a close third with 36 points while the Orangemen gathered 20½ for fourth place. Idaho took fifth place with 5 points and Montana sixth with 1½.

4:16.8 minutes. The star performance in the field events was made by Whitlock, when he tossed the javelin 194 feet 5 inches for his best mark of the season. The winning of this event gave Whitlock high point honors for the Beavers during the season. Anderson of Washington was high point man of the meet with 10 points.

The weather for the first day of the meet was clear, and many fast times were made in the qualifying round. The Huskies

Coach Dick Newman was highly pleased with the showing of the team in this meet.

BASKETBALL

By AMORY T. GILL

THE Oregon State basketball team opened the hoop season with a whirlwind start on the barnstorming trip through California. In the games with Stanford, Santa Clara university, St. Mary's university and other outstanding teams in northern California, the men showed potential power and gained both in basketball experience and form.

Due to illness, the destinies of the team during the opening games of the northern conference were placed in the hands of Coach Dick Newman, rook basketball coach. Under his guidance the team made a very creditable showing in the first few games. During the remainder of the season Oregon State had a hectic career, shooting from time to time at the top spot in the conference. The high spot in the season was the dropping of the northern conference champions, the University of Washington Huskies, three times in the four-game series.

Oregon State is losing only three of the 10 varsity lettermen from the 1931 varsity and prospects are bright for a successful season. "Cotton" Whitlock, veteran center; Jim Torson, varsity guard; and Sid Johnson, reserve, are the only men lost to the squad and their places can be filled from the seven veterans remaining from the 1930 varsity and from the promising crop of rooks coming up.

Whole-hearted cooperation and a willingness to mix on the part of the men brought the squad into top shape. The same spirit was carried on during the period that Coach Newman was in charge, resulting in the early success of the team.

PRE-SEASON GAMES

THE Oregon State varsity basketball team defeated Multnomah Amateur Athletic club of Portland 26 to 18 in the first pre-season game of the year.

On their California trip the Beavers emerged with 4 wins and 4 losses, winning from Stanford, Santa Clara, St. Mary's and the Chico Teachers, and losing to Olympic club, Y. M. I., St. Mary's and Pacific college.

After their tour the varsity hoop team trounced Willamette university in a two-game series. The first tilt ended 34 to 25 in favor of the Beavers and the second ended 39 to 36 at the final gun.

The Orange hoop squad had 7 victories and 4 defeats to its credit at the end of the pre-conference tilts. The Staters scored a total of 332 points to 298 for their opponents in the pre-season games played.

IDAHO SERIES

THE Beaver hoopmen opened their conference season by losing a game to the Idaho basketball team by a score of 41 to 23. The game was close and hard fought until the end of the first half, the score being 16 to 11 in favor of the Vandals.

In the second period the Idaho quintet opened up with a dazzling attack and drew away from the Beaver team, increasing their lead to 18 points. Stowell, McMillan and Shurtliff were the outstanding stars for the Vandals while Grayson and Ballard starred for the Oregon State team. The following night the Beavers came back to win from Idaho, the score being almost reversed, 40 to 27. The Orange hoopmen had little trouble in gaining and retaining the lead in this game, the score standing 24-16 in Oregon State's favor at half time. Grayson of Oregon State and Stowell of Idaho tied for high scoring honors with 12 points each.

The Beavers again broke even with Idaho in the two-game series on the Vandal court. In the first contest Oregon State took an easy win, holding the lead through the entire game. The final score was 37 to 28. The game was featured by the floor work and scoring of Fagans, Ballard and Grayson of Oregon

State and Stowell and McMillan of Idaho. Ballard was high scorer with 15 points.

In the final game with Idaho, the Orangemen went down to defeat, tallying 30 points to their opponents 41. Ballard and Lyman starred for the Beavers while Stowell, McMillan and Shurtliff starred for Idaho.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE SERIES

THE Oregon State basketball team did not fare so well against the Washington State hoop outfit. On their home floor the Beavers lost both games. The first contest was dropped by a score of 40-27, and the second 28-27. In the first game the Orangemen were unable to hit the hoop consistently enough to stem the Cougar drive. McLarney and Holsten did most of the tallying for Washington State with 17 and 14 points respectively, while Grayson starred for the Beavers with 7 points.

The second game was a close one. The score stood at 28-27 when the final gun went off. In the last half the Beavers started a scoring spree that netted them 17 points but that was just two short of what they needed to win. McLarney took high point honors with 14 counters and Callahan and Ballard were the outstanding point getters for the Orange outfit each tallying 5 points.

On the Washington State court the Beavers divided the wins, losing the first by 28-25 and winning the second 29-27. Both were hard fought contests and the game was anyone's until the final gun. In the first game Grayson, Ballard and Callahan starred for the Beavers while McLarney and Holsten topped the Cougars.

Fagans and Callahan of Oregon State were outstanding in the second contest and Holsten and McLarney were again the prominent performers of the Washington State hoopsters.

WASHINGTON SERIES

THE Oregon State basketball team showed its strength by defeating the University of Washington team, winners of the northwest conference, in three out of four games played.

The Orange hoopmen took first contest by a score of 34-24 after the Husky quint had been leading most of the first half, holding a lead of three points at the end of the initial period. In the last half the Beavers came back with a rally that snowed under their opponents. Grayson was high point man of the contest with 10 points, and Callahan of Oregon State and Jaloff, Swanson and Cairney of Washington tied for second with 6 points each.

The second game found the Orangemen on the short end of the score of 36-24. The Huskies held the lead throughout the contest. Swanson walked off with high point honors, chalking up 14 points. Grayson was high point man for the Oregon State outfit with 8 points. Oregon State took the third game by a score of 34-32 after the lead had been changing hands all through the contest. Grayson with 14 points and Fagans with 10 points were the shining stars on the Beavers while McClary topped the Washington scorers with 13 points.

In the final contest of the series Oregon State again came out victorious to the tune of 19-17. The score at half time stood 10-9 in favor of Washington. McClary and Cairney topped all the scorers in the contest and Callahan and Grayson were Beaver high point men.

OREGON SERIES

THE Beaver basketeers hit a streak of bad luck in the Oregon series. In the first contest the Webfoot team started off on a scoring spree that lasted all the game and the Orange hoopmen lost 37-29. Torson, with 9 points and Lyman and Grayson with 6 points each, were responsible for the greater part of the Oregon State scoring, while Eberhart and Keenan carried the big scoring end for the University. In the second game the two teams battled evenly through the first half chalking up 13 points each, but in the last period Oregon rallied and brought their total to 34 to 27 for the Beaver outfit. Eberhart walked off with high scoring honors with 11 and Fagans of Oregon State took second, scoring 8 counters.

Oregon State came through to win the third game 29-28. The Orangemen took an early lead and held a 13-10 advantage at the half. Both teams put all they had in them in the game and in the last three minutes a basket meant the ball game. Ballard topped the scoring for the game with 11 points with Eberhart second with 8.

The final game went to Oregon by a score of 34-33 after the Beavers had held the lead through most of the contest. The Orangemen held a 19-13 lead at the half and were leading by a 5 point margin when the game was just 2 minutes from the end, when the Webfoot quintet rallied to score 6 points and to win the game. Eberhart again took the high scoring honors with 14 points, and Grayson, Ballard and Lyman came next with 8, 7 and 7 respectively.

ROOK FOOTBALL SEASON

ONE of the best freshman football teams Oregon State has had in several seasons, romped through its opposition for six victories in seven games last fall. Besides winning all but one of their games, the freshmen developed several men who seem likely to make a strong bid for varsity honors.

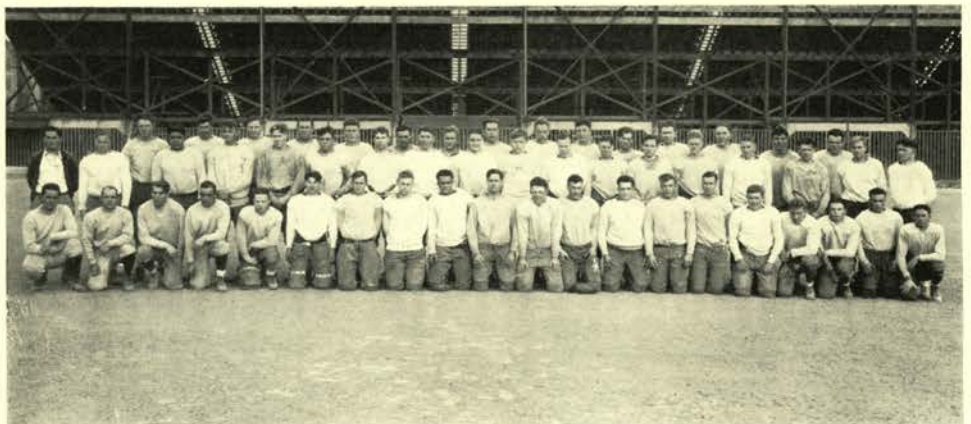

Piloted by Dick Newman, the freshmen opened their season with a 25 to 0 victory over Albany college, and followed it by decisively crushing Salem high school 32 to 6, Chemawa 37 to 6, and St. Martin's 39 to 0. The Eastern Oregon Normal school made it a real fight in the game at La Grande, but Coach Newman's squad managed to squeeze through with a 13 to 6 win to keep its slate clean.

Two games were played with the Oregon freshmen this year. The first game, played before a capacity crowd at Medford, found a smart Orange freshman eleven nosing out its opponents by a scant margin of 7 to 6. Out-yardaged by the Oregon yearlings, the freshmen converted a forward pass into a touchdown and made the extra point to win the game. The second struggle between the two teams proved to be a wildly thrilling scoring orgy with both elevens seemingly able to get another touchdown almost any time. The Oregon eleven, however, launched a second half offensive which gave them a victory by a score of 31 to 19.

Twiss and McDonald, ends; Harm and Miller, tackles; Harvey and Schmidt, guards; LePez, center; Ramponi, quarter; Davis and Moe, halves; and Little, full-back, were the men who started most of the games though a number of other men showed up well. Duggan, Ayres, Jackson, Goss, Johnson and Dyhrmann are good line prospects, while Bowman and Ward, outstanding backs, will try for varsity berths.

The freshmen were most ably coached and made their fine showing in spite of the fact that there were many injuries during the season. A wreck on the La Grande trip cost several injuries aside from the usual game casualties. The 1929 freshmen will probably make their presence most decidedly felt in a varsity campaign.

ROOK BASKETBALL SEASON

THE Oregon State freshman basketball squad finished its season with six wins and three defeats. The rooks started out the year with a win from Albany college. The yearlings next played a two-game series with Salem high school and won both games by scores of 21-17 and 33-17. In the first contest with the Senators the rook scoring combination was a bit off but they made up for it in the next game by walking off with a 16-point lead.

A trip to Portland was successful for the yearling basketeers, as the Orange babes beat Commerce high school 24-19 in the first contest, and then swamped Lincoln high in the next game 34-19.

The rooks found it hard going against the Oregon frosh and lost three out of four games played with that team. The University of Oregon freshmen took the rooks into camp in the first three games by scores of 31-21, 35-25 and 25-15, but in the last game the rooks found themselves and trimmed the Webfoot babes in a fast game 46-25.

Several outstanding men on the freshman team will be likely candidates for next year's varsity basketball squad.

Members of the 1930 Rook basketball team were Lanky Ed Lewis, Emmett Huffman, Mark Briggs, Fred MacDonald, Tom Ward, Arthur Lowe, Rodney Mason, Reg Rust and Robert Beal.

Coach Newman's men, in finishing with a percentage of .666, scored a total of 283 points in the 9 games to their opponents' 219.

ROOK BASEBALL SEASON

UNDER the capable guidance of Coach Amory T. Gill, the Rook team was piloted through a successful season, winning 6 of the 9 games played.

In the first game of the season the Rooks tangled with the Columbia Prep school of Portland, who put up a good battle, but they could not match the power of the yearlings and were taken for three straight games by the scores of 13 to 10, 11 to 8, and 5 to 2. Salem high school tried to give the Babes some opposition, but they were snowed under in two games 15 to 0, and 14 to 11.

The Rooks were not as successful against the Frosh as they had been in pre-season games, dropping three games out of four. In the first game the Babes could not connect against the slants of the Oregon pitcher and dropped the game 8 to 3. The second game was packed full of thrills. The Orange babes had the game on ice until the last inning when Jackson of the Frosh drove out a homer to win the game. The third game was taken by the Staters 13 to 4 behind the brilliant pitching of little Woodie Woodward. Oregon won the final game 11 to 6.

Nineteen numerals were awarded to the following men: Bob Schneider, Bill Phillips, Walter Woodward, Bob Peterson, Homer Lyons, Roy Carpenter, Larry Brost, Jack Knighten, Cecil Ackley, Hubert Ashby, David Bridge, Fred Urban, Richard Beckett, Leighton Koehler, Herbert Coker, Carl White, Earl Whepley, and John Zimrick.

ROOK TRACK SEASON

COACH Lonnie Stiner's yearlings had a very successful season in track. Forty men answered the mentor's first call with many former high school stars and state record holders among the cinder path aspirants. At the outset of the season it was noticed that the rooks were exceptionally strong in the field events and in the varsity-rook meet the first year men pressed the veteran lineup in these events.

The first meet of the season saw the rooks triumphantly swamp the Chemawa Indians, garnering 105 points to Chemawa's 17. The rooks took 11 of the 14 first places and practically all the second and third places. Kirk of the rooks was high point man with 14½ counters.

The annual rook-frosh relays were won by the rooks. All five events were taken by the wearers of the Orange-and-Black with Kirk and Cantine starring for the rooks. The meet with Salem high school was a complete walk-away with the rooks taking all firsts and winning 119 to 14.

The freshmen tracksters wound up the season by defeating their traditional rivals, the Oregon frosh, when they gathered nine of the 14 first places, winning 74⅔ to 47⅓. Allen of the frosh was high point man of the meet, taking two first places.

Rooks making numerals in track were Duane Kirk, Glenn Gordon, Arnold Granville, Lloyd Lillie, Lewis May, Tom Duff, James Weatherspoon, Arthur Renner, Rayne Remley, A. WINNING two out of five starts in the 1929 season, the varsity tennis team was worked into top shape by Dr. B. T. Simms, coach, in spite of the handicap caused by a shortage of veteran material and the cancellation of the all-college tournament as a result of rain. The outlook for the 1930 season was brighter, as five of the 1929 lettermen and the entire rook squad, together with several other players of former years returned fall term.

Captain Sidney Klahn, playing at position 3, formed the king pin for the 1929 team and Coach Simms built the team around this tennis veteran. Captain-elect Bill Grafton played first singles position during the greater part of the season, while Hal Smith performed as number 2.

Harold Wood, Fred Loomis and Bart Sjoblom alternated throughout the season in the remaining places. Although many combinations were tried in an attempt to compose a winning first doubles team, the Grafton-Smith duo obtained the best results and scores during the season.

Two victories were credited the Orangemen in the five matches on the spring schedule, and both of these victories were made against the Willamette university squad. On April 30, the Beavers opened the intercollegiate season by dropping the Bearcats 9 to 6. Conference matches with the University of Oregon and with the University of Washington were dropped in succession. The final game of the season on the home courts with the Multnomah athletic club resulted in a 6 to 1 defeat for State.

Varsity awards were made to Sidney Klahn, William Grafton, Harold Smith, Harold Wood, Frederick Loomis and Bertil Sjoblom.

ROOK TENNIS

THE season opened May 4 with the Oregon Rook frosh winning from the rooks 6 to 0. This set-back was followed six days later when the University of Washington babes took the rooks into camp with a 3 to 0 score. Medford high school dropped a tournament to the rook on May 25 by a 6 to 0 count to end the season.

VARSIITY SWIMMING

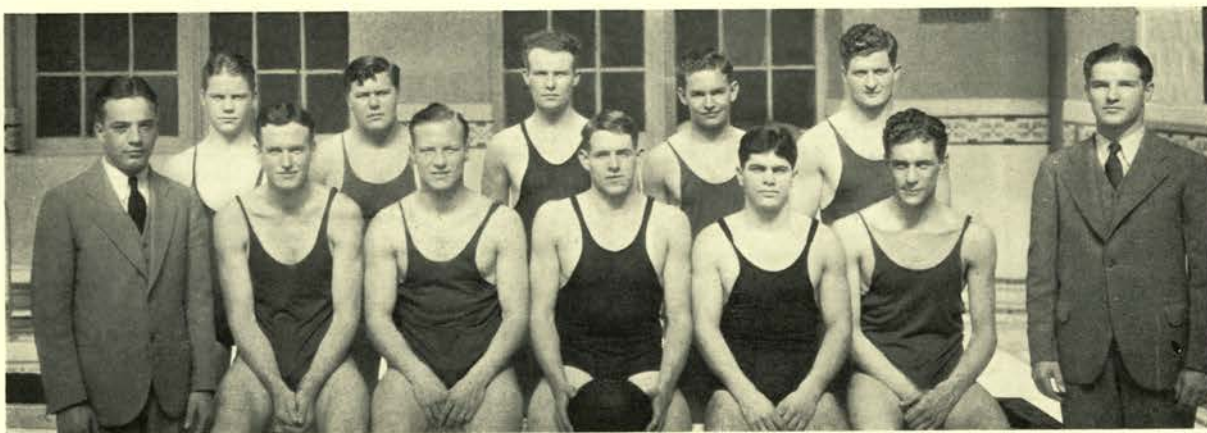

UNDER the capable guidance of Coach John Kenney, who is in his second year as coach of the varsity swimming team, the Beavers enjoyed their most successful season within the past few years. Against the sparkling competition of the best teams in the Pacific northwest, the Orangemen came out victorious in four of their seven meets.

After a nip and tuck struggle in the U. of O. meet the score ended in a 42 to 42 tie, but Beaver splashers were declared victorious because of their five first places to the Webfoot's four. In the second meet the Orangemen could not keep pace with the Ducks and dropped the meet 51 to 33.

The Multnomah club team of Portland was the only squad that defeated the Staters in both of their meets.

Oregon State splashers invaded Canada and Washington, winning all of their scheduled meets.

ROOK SWIMMING

ONE of the strongest teams ever to represent the yearlings was organized this year under the tutelage of Coach Kenny. Only nine men were available around which to mold a team when the season started.

In the first meet, in the Oregon State tank, the Webfeet were washed under 41 to 25. In the second clash the Rooks although in the lead throughout barely nosed out a 34 to 32 victory.

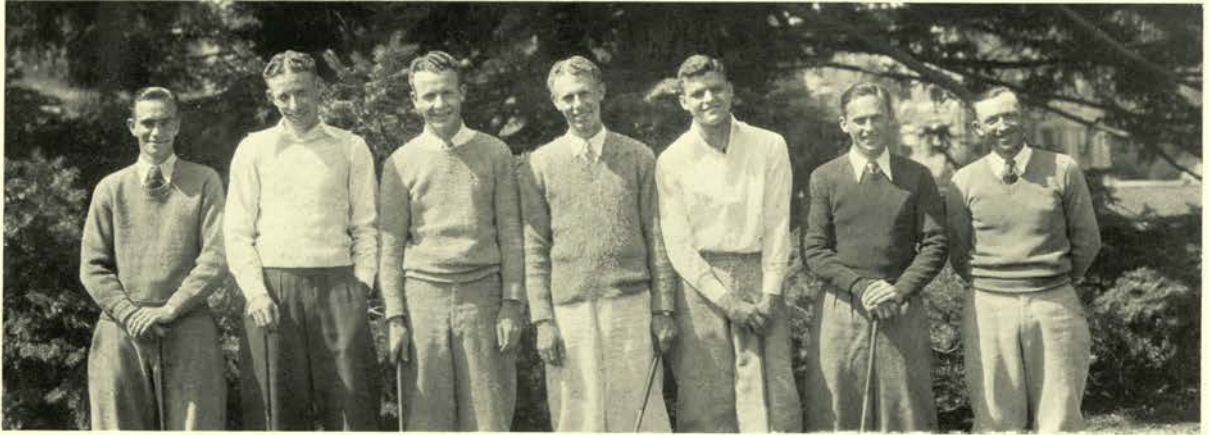

VARSITY water polo was well established this year at Oregon State with the winning of three games out of five against the best teams of the Northwest. The opening game was lost to the U. of O. team 2 to 1 and the second one 4 to 3. On their northern trip the Beavers defeated Tacoma 7 to 1, Victoria, B. C., 4 to 0, and Vancouver, B. C., 3 to 2.

The rook water polo team drubbed the U. of O. frosh in both meets 5 to 1 and 6 to 1.

AFTER a successful preliminary season, the Oregon State golf team lost out in the Pacific Coast conference meet in Seattle May 16 and 17 by disqualification when Walt Manville picked up his ball off the course.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

“EVERY man in athletics,” was the slogan introduced by Ralph Coleman, director of intramural athletics, when he became manager in 1919, and in the 11 years that he has handled the department he has made his expressed desire a reality. Each year has seen the introduction of new sports, and each year has seen more interest displayed. For example, during the last year, speedball, foul shooting, golf, dual swimming, and military basketball were placed on the intramural schedule, and these additions brought more college students into athletic competition.

During the last year while working for his master's degree at Columbia, “Coley” acquainted himself with many new methods of intramural management. This year a new system of student supervision was introduced, and has proved very successful.

INTRAMURAL MANAGERIAL SYSTEM

THE intramural department has been reorganized this year by Ralph Coleman, director of intramural athletics, into a system of intramural managers. This arrangement provides for two senior and six junior members, the two seniors being appointed from the six junior managers of the preceding year.

Ralph Hayes and Lester Peters have been senior managers for the past year and received sweaters for their services. These men directly supervise the sports and are responsible for the arrangement of schedules. Each of the six junior managers takes care of one of the major sports.

Tryout managers from the sophomore class are assigned to the sports managers, and these aspirants take care of equipment, score games, and act as timekeepers. Intramural student managers are awarded activity points for their work.

INTRAMURAL PLAYGROUND BALL

BETA Theta Pi won the national fraternity and all-college playground ball championships last spring with five victories, winning from Poling hall, independent title winners, by a score of 13 to 5, in the last contest. The Poling hall men had won their way to the finals by defeating Omega Upsilon, local fraternity plaque winners, 8 to 2.

Playground ball was substituted for baseball last spring because of its adaptability to the intramural program. Its advantages were apparent when 630 men competed in the games of the six-weeks' playing period.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

PHI Sigma Kappa took the all-college intramural basketball trophy for the second consecutive time when they defeated the independent champions, Alpee club, in the finals, 15-3. The Phi Sigs had won their way to the championship match by defeating the A. T. O. cagemen 17-10. Alpee won the independent plaque from Hawley hall, squeezing out a 16-14 victory in the last half-minute of play. The men who won the basketball trophy for Phi Sigma Kappa were Welch, Sjoblom, Davis, Ohm, Mathews, Ward, Mahoney and Butterfield.

More than 500 men participated.

SPEEDBALL

WHEN Ralph O. Coleman, director of intramural athletics, returned to resume his position, he placed a new event on the athletic schedule. Speedball, a combination of soccer, basketball, and football, was much to the liking of Theta Chi, which went through the season without a defeat, winning the final match from Delta Upsilon, 21-2. Cauthorn hall fell a victim to Theta Chi in the semi-finals, the independent group coming out on the small end of a score of 29-6.

Twenty organizations entered eleven-men teams. More than 230 men competed.

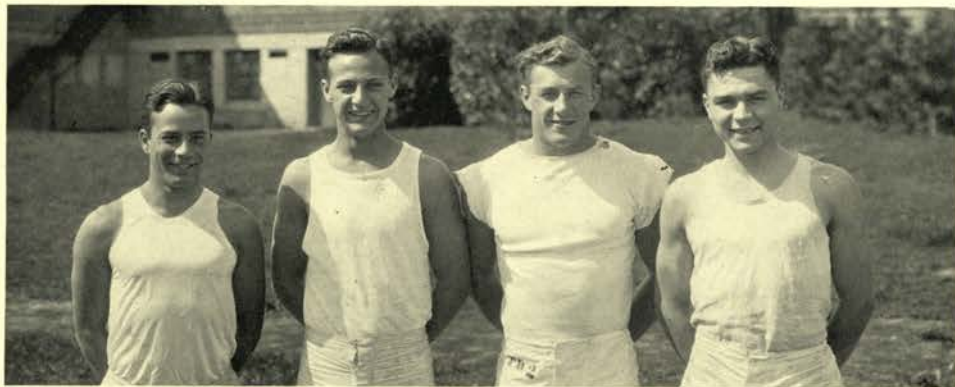

HANDBALL

AFTER winning the interfraternity handball title by defeating the Theta Chi team, Harold Moe and Jack Knighten of Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the all-college championship intramural handball tournament by winning in straight games from Berg and Webb of Tri-V, independent champions. Knighten and Moe won the final games by scores of 21-4, and 21-12.

Teams entered in the tournament were divided into a number of leagues, each of which played through a round-robin schedule, after which the league champions played an elimination series. One hundred and twelve men participated.

TRACK RELAYS

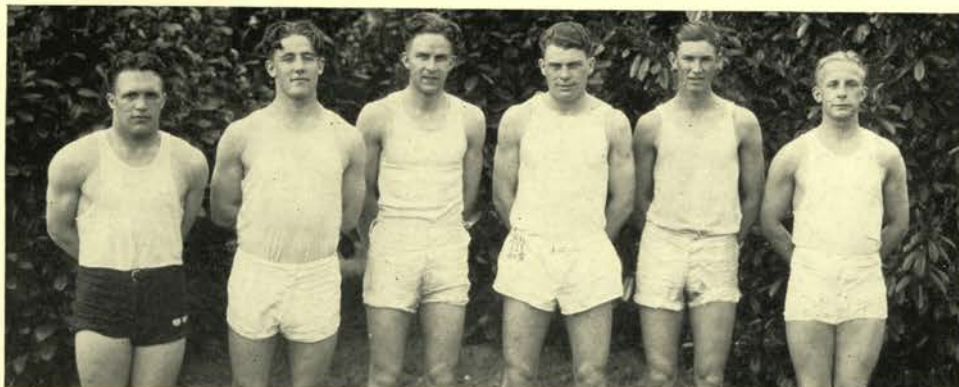

FOUR men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon sprinted to the all-college championship in the intramural half-mile relay races this year, winning from Cauthorn hall, independent champion. The S. A. E. runners had previously won the fraternity championship by defeating Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Pi and Kappa Delta Rho in the finals of the fraternity series. The winning team was composed of Taylor, Garland, Duffield and Moe. The best time made in the relays, 1:36, was made by the S. A. E. quartet in a preliminary heat.

Interest in intramural relays was high, over 150 men competing.

INTRAMURAL TRACK

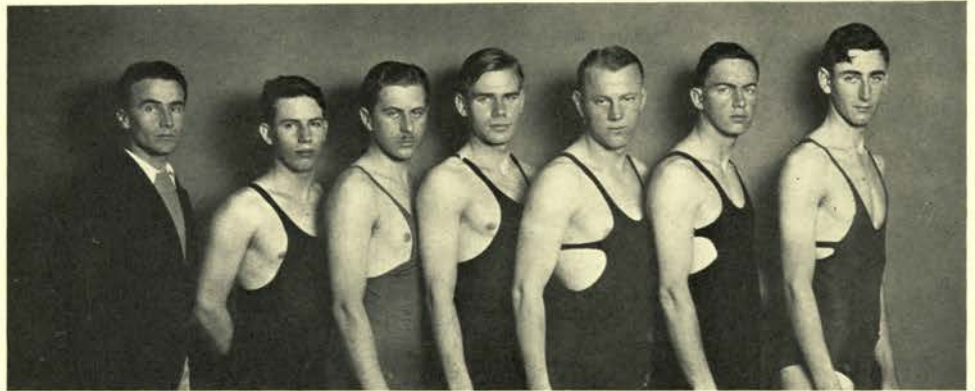

SCORING 58 points in the finals of the intramural track meets last spring, Omega Upsilon, winners of the local fraternity plaque, ran away with the meet and captured the silver loving cup emblematic of the all-college championship. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, national fraternity champion, was second with 30 points, while Hawley hall, independent champion, was third with 25.

Three preliminary meets, held for the independent, national and local fraternity leagues, preceded the final contest in which Omega Upsilon was victorious. More than 500 athletes participated.

THE swimming relay trophy for 1930 went to Sigma Nu, champions of the fraternity group. The Sigma Nu men, Tom Moore, Arthur "Snowy" Gustafson, William Wallace, Bob Eldredge, Jack Stephens, and John Newton, splashed to victory in the final match, winning from the Orion A men in 1:49.

In the semi-finals the all-college champions defeated the teams representing Theta Chi and Omega Upsilon, while Orion A was winning from Cauthorn and Poling. The relay consisted of six laps, each man swimming the length of the tank once, free-style. More than 200 men participated in the event of the year.

DUAL SWIMMING MEET

SIGMA Nu aquatic stars splashed their way to victory over the Poling hall team in the finals of the dual swimming meets, winning the all-college championship. Sigma Nu won from Lambda Chi Alpha, and then defeated Sigma Phi Sigma, conqueror of Pi Kappa Alpha, to gain admittance to the all-college finals.

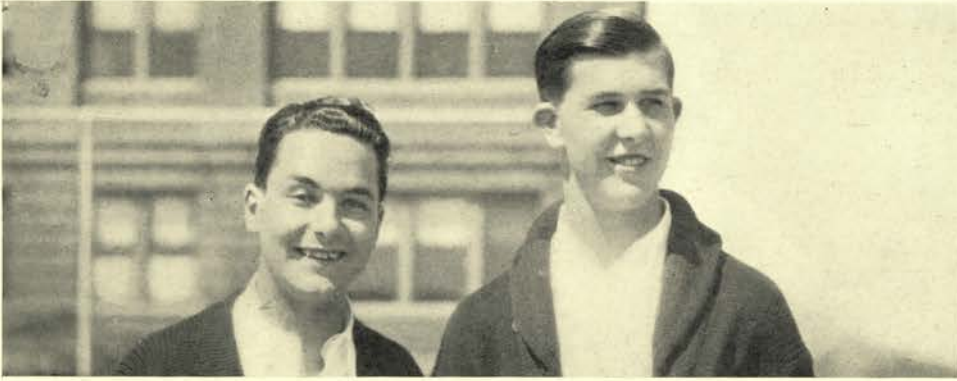

Events of the meets consisted of 100-foot free style, 100-foot back stroke, 100-foot breast stroke, a medley relay, and a four-man relay. Approximately 210 men participated in the dual meet.

The same six men, Moore, Gustafson, Wallace, Eldredge, Stephens and Newton, repeated to cop the dual meet honors.

Bailey and Klein won every match entered, their victories including a defeat of Delta Kappa, title holder in the local fraternity group in straight sets 6-2, 6-3.

The two Ralphs were the victors over a field of 91 men who took part in the tournament. Their total record for the season was 85 games won and 40 lost.

INTRAMURAL HORSESHOES

ALPHEE club, represented by Ernest Barendse and Claire Hume, was master in the ancient game of horseshoes in 1929, winning the independent and all-collegiate championships. Barendse and Hume won from Sigma Phi Sigma, national fraternity winners, in the final match, taking the last two games 50-47 and 50-7, after the fraternity men had won the first game 50-31.

TURKEY RUN

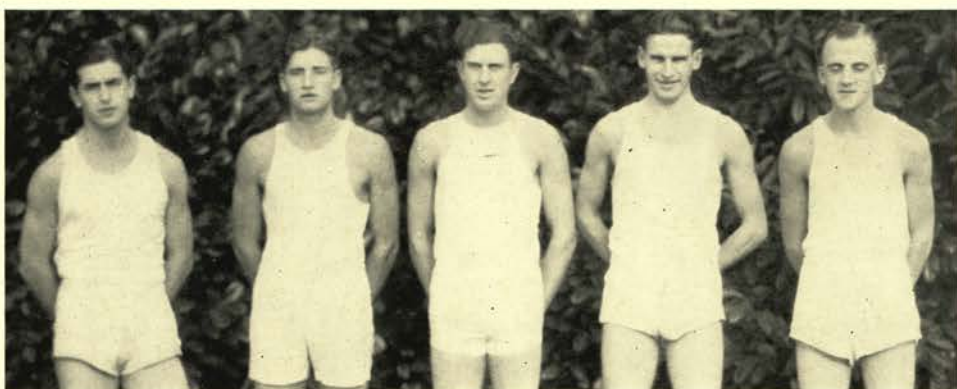

URGED on by hopes of enjoying a turkey dinner, 86 men lined up at the starting mark for the annual turkey run, one foggy day last fall. When the last runner had trotted across the finish line, Hawley hall had scored 525 points to win the event, while Cauthorn was second with 473, and Beta Kappa third. The winners were awarded the intramural cross-country trophy.

Kenneth Chapson, Hawley hall, running the course in 9:57, was first to finish, while Anson and Hill were second and third, respectively. The first five groups were presented with turkeys.

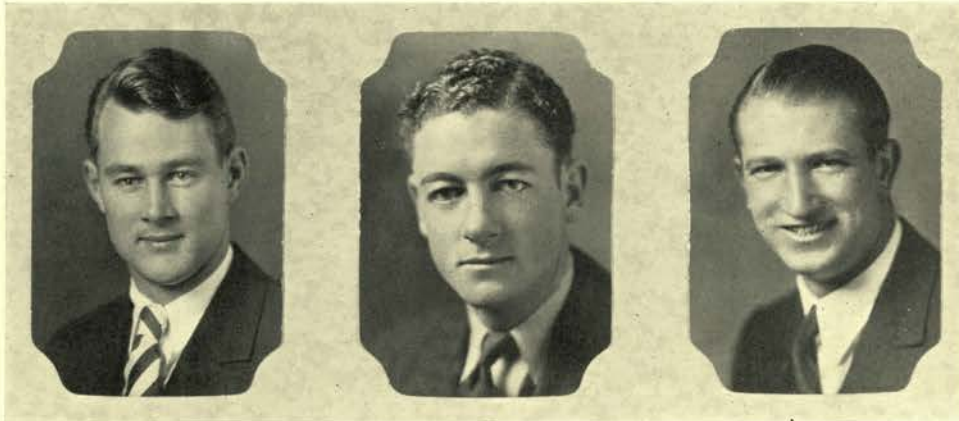

CROSS COUNTRY

THETA Chi took fraternity honors in cross-country this year, scoring 605 points. The Hawley hall distance men, independent group champions, rolled up 568 points, and Beta Kappa stood third with 582. The warm dry weather which marked the first part of the cross-country season gave the men good conditions under which to run the two-mile course, resulting in many good time marks.

Of the 291 men who competed, Kenneth Chapson, Hawley runner, turned in the fastest time, covering the course in 10 minutes and 13 seconds. Thirty-four organizations entered men in the event.

TWO inter-collegiate crew races featured the 1929 rowing season at Oregon State. The senior class crew, interclass champions, won the first inter-collegiate race ever held on the Beaver course, when they defeated the University of Washington freshmen, winning in the last few yards, and breaking the course record by 30 seconds. In a return race on Lake Washington, the northern school freshmen took revenge and won from the Oregon State oarsmen. The senior men also won from a crew representing the Sacramento junior college, while the sophomores defeated the Portland Rowing club.

INTERDEPARTMENTAL BASKETBALL

The commerce men won by a score of 27-4. Men who were mainstays of the commerce team through an undefeated season were Horr, Hart, Duff, McKalip and Poysky.

Four teams were entered by each school, one for each year. Each team played a game with others in its own school and the winners in each of these leagues, eight in all, entered an elimination tournament.

COMMUNITY DRAMA

AT the end of each term the beginning classes in community drama give a series of one-act plays. These plays enable the students to get experience in drama and in the management of plays. An average of three plays a term are given. The plays are directed by the different dramatic coaches.

"Sir David Wears a Crown" and "Two Crooks and a Lady" were two plays presented in the Workshop theater December 11 and 12. This play was also given during exposition week to show the delegates interested in dramatics the work of the students.

"Sir David Wears a Crown" is a fantasy by Stewart Walker. It was directed by Miss Elizabeth Barnes, professor of dramatics. It is said to be one of the most outstanding plays presented by the classes, is fanciful throughout and produced with an air of unreality.

"Two Crooks and a Lady," a melodrama written by Eugene Pillot, was directed by D. Palmer Young, instructor in public speaking and dramatics. Dishonor among thieves in search of 34 diamonds in a necklace is the plot of the play.

A gastronomical fantasy which takes place in the interior of a stomach is the unusual theme and setting in "Inside Stuff" by Theodore Pratt. This play was also directed by Miss Barnes. Some of the characters are young and old gastric juices, parts of a baked potato, slice of bread, stalk of celery, bon-bon, cucumber, milk and steak. The love making between the stalk of celery and bon-bon, and the disagreements of cucumber and milk made the play an amusing and wholly entertaining production.

The cast for the various one-act plays are chosen from those enrolled in regular class work for which college credit is received.

THE DOVER ROAD

"THE Dover Road," an English comedy by A. A. Milne, was presented November 22 and 23 at the Majestic theater by the National Collegiate Players. The play, first major production of the year, was given under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Barnes, associate professor of public speaking.

Mr. Latimer has made it his business to detain eloping couples at his home on the Dover Road in order to test their love. Here a disillusioned husband running away with a young woman meets his wife, who is eloping with a young man. Some very complicated situations arise, and the two men try solving the problem by stealing off to southern France by themselves.

The scenery for the play was constructed by classes in Community Drama III supervised by D. Palmer Young, instructor in public speaking and dramatics. The stage setting was designed by Mr. Young assisted by Miss Alma Schulmerich.

Scene from Dover Road

Included in the cast were Susan Hays as Eustasia, the attractive wife, who soon became annoying with baby talk and her mania for taking care of people; Jack Handford as Leonard, the husband, a dignified member of the House of Lords; Florence Schanz as Ann, a lonely and very romantic young girl disappointed in Leonard because of his lack of a sense of humor.

Wesley Coutts was Nicholas, a young man sorry because he had eloped with Eustasia, and Don Anderson, the philanthropic-minded Mr. Latimer. Clarence White as Dominic, the perfect English butler, kept the audience in laughter with his "cockney accent," and his "apt appearances." Mary Bennett played the part of the maid, and Marion Weatherford and Paul Dutcher were ex-pugilist servants. Robert Peacock managed the play.

"The Dover Road" was the first of two plays presented by the National Collegiate Players, followed by "Cock Robin."

COCK ROBIN

THE National Collegiate Players gave "Cock Robin" first student-directed long play ever produced on the campus, February 18 and 19 at the Majestic theater. The play was put on without help of dramatic coaches. Irvin Carver, senior in commerce, directed.

"Cock Robin" is a three-act murder drama written by Elmer Rice and Philip Barry. Special permission to produce the play was required as the play was not then written for amateur players.

The plot of the play centers around the mysterious killing of "Cock Robin," played by Denver Garner. The first part deals with the rehearsal of an amateur play from behind the scenes, while the second act is the evening of the performance. In the amateur play a duel is fought in which "Cock Robin" is killed. From this point on until the end all the clues are unwound to find who killed "Cock Robin." Each of the 12 interesting and varied personages are accused until the guilty one is found. The play is individual and thrilling.

The unusual brilliance of the costumes of the players was one of the high points of interest. The cast was composed of many experienced campus actors. The stage manager was Frank Waggoner; business manager, Robert Peacock.

JUNIOR FOLLIES

“VERY effeminate” was the phrase used to describe the beautiful “women” in “Nada” the second annual all-men’s musical show, which was presented May 17 and 18 at the Majestic theater. This production, given under the direction of D. Palmer Young, instructor in public speaking and dramatics, was sponsored by the class of 1930 for the campus week-end program.

The excellent characterization, as well as the mystery, romance and humor of the play, made “Nada” as popular as was last year’s “Junior Follies,” assuring the future of an annual all-men’s presentation. Oriental magnificence was the keynote of the stage setting, the properties for which were furnished almost entirely by students.

Although “Nada” was written by students at the University of Illinois, the follies of 1930 is being written by two Oregon State students, Romney Pearce and Wesley Courtts. The action of “Nada” centers around a harem where the Sultan lives happily with his wives until the advent of a reformer who cannot be contented if people are happy.

Choruses of dancing girls and sailors held the interest of the audience with their lively steps and tunes. The dance numbers were directed by Miss Helen Jamieson.

The cast included Frank Carr, Nada, the Sultan’s latest wife; John Peacock, Puny, the court jester; Wayne Griffin, Lieutenant Brown; Robert Black, Sally; Halbert Babbitt, Robert Mathews, Gustav Ciliax and Norman Richards, the Sultan’s other wives; William Hatfield, the Man of Mystery; Marrs Gist, Elmer; and Tom Bruce, Achmed. Chester Hubbard was chairman. Irvin Carver arranged the music.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

THE music department, under the direction of Professor Paul Petri, has continued its splendid work on the campus and has strengthened its position as a cultural influence to an even greater degree than before. Many students are taking advantage of the opportunity to gain proficiency in playing an instrument or in singing, and whenever they are ready for public appearance, they go forth as missionaries to carry on the good work.

The heads of the various departments are all musicians of wide practical experience and have a background that gives authority to the knowledge they bring to their pupils. The instruction is marked by a sincerity and devotion to the musical art such as one rarely finds in an institution of this kind, and Oregon State college may well consider itself fortunate to have such artists on its staff.

In spite of the great amount of teaching, the instructors retain their artistic ideals and are always ready to perform services not included in their regular work. Visitors to our campus are deeply impressed by the type of music instruction offered here.

The music staff includes Paul Petri, director of music, professor of singing, conductor of choruses; Lillian Jeffreys Petri, professor of piano, musical theory; Marguerite MacManus, professor of stringed instruments, conductor of the orchestra; Byron D. Arnold, assistant professor of the organ, piano, history of music; Florence Bowden, assistant professor of violin and small strings; Cora Ausve, assistant instructor in piano; Harry L. Beard, professor of band instruments; Ervine Kleffman, assistant instructor in band instruments; and William Wright, assistant instructor in singing.

THE Oregon State Glee club, composed of 34 male singers, has completed another year of successful campus activity. Although it did not make its annual tour this year it made many appearances under the direction of Professor Paul Petri, all of which received favorable criticism. With the members of the Madrigal club it also contributed to the musical program of the baccalaureate services in June and entertained at several convocations during the year.

The Glee club is well recognized among music circles of the state, and its ever-increasing popularity on the campus is a distinguishing factor in its success.

VARSITY DEBATE

CONSISTENT advances in forensics at Oregon State are largely due to Professor C. B. Mitchell, professor of public speaking, who is completing his tenth year as head coach. Since 1920 the college squads have won 96 debates for an average of .732, as well as one national, a coast, and nine state contests in oratory and extempore speaking. In carrying out two successful transcontinental tours and a broad coast program, State teams have traveled more than 71,000 miles in 10 years.

Schedules and finances this year were in charge of the general forensic manager, Gordon Winks. Other managers were Mary Gregg, women's debate; Rex Robinson, publicity; Hazel Packer, Harvey Pease and Harold Lidell, assistant managers; and Harlan Atterbury, freshman manager. Harvey Pease and Earl Whepley had charge of intramural debate.

The high point of the debating season came with the men's victories over Oregon by two unanimous decisions. Cullen Rist and Gordon Winks took the affirmative of "Resolved, that world peace demands the demobilization of all armed forces except those necessary for police protection" at Corvallis, while LeRoy Swanson and Herbert Ewing won on the negative at Eugene. Since 1917, Oregon State has won 12 contests to Oregon's 4 in men's debate, at the same time winning every one of the women's contests held.

Ewing and Rist closed the season with an audience debate on demobilization with the Harvard Chinese Debating council team composed of a former captain of the Harvard debating squad, and the champion intercollegiate orator of China.

Other demobilization debates were victories over Idaho and Northwest Nazarene college, and no-decision meets with Utah and Linfield. The four-man team which defeated U. of O. appears below.

VARSITY DEBATE

W. A. DAHLBERG, who coached the debate team on the international tour in 1928, had charge of men's debate this year for the third time. Before coming to Oregon State he debated for the University of Michigan.

W. A. DAHLBERG

On the first visit of the University of Hawaii debaters to the Pacific Coast, more than 600 people heard Clark Durham and Rex Robinson lose a close decision to the island speakers on "Resolved, that the English indictment of American education is justified." Durham, Robinson, Elmer Larson and James Blake won two from Linfield, and lost the dual with the University of Washington.

In later contests on the same subject Dennis Patch and Robinson won from Washington State college; Harvey Pease and Howard Ireland lost to Whitman; and Harold Lidell, Nathan Weinstein, Pease and Ireland had a no-decision meet with Linfield.

Barnard Joy, Robinson, Rist and Blake met Willamette in two no-decision extempore debates on the general subject of "Culture," while Pease and Winks lost an audience decision to Pacific university on the abolition of intercollegiate athletics. Joy's graduation in December weakened team prospects for the regular season. Rist, Swanson, Blake and Larson will also be lost to next year's squad because of graduation.

Every member of the men's squad debated, although this was the first year in varsity competition for nine of the speakers. The Oregon debate, for example, was the first conference contest for Swanson, the second for Ewing and Winks, and the third for Rist; the victory over Washington State was the first debate in which Patch had ever taken part and Durham and Robinson were in their first letter debate when they lost to the University of Hawaii.

Varsity Debate Squad

WOMEN'S DEBATE

ALTHOUGH only three members of this year's women's team had debated before, the co-eds won two, lost two, and had seventeen no-decision meets. In the three years that he debated for Oregon State, P. X. Knoll won every contest he took part in, and he has given the same energy and spirit in his forensic coaching.

P. X. KNOLL

Edith Joseph and Siri Ann Enegren won from Washington State, lost to Whitman and met Idaho and Pacific in no-decision meets on the trip to Moscow. Mary Gregg and Florence Scott won from Whitman at Corvallis; and Dorothy Anderson and Eloise Bilyeu lost a two to one decision to College of Puget Sound. The latter debate concerned the disarmament question, while the others were on the diversion of women from the home to industry.

Mary Gregg and Mary Bennett won the right to the southern trip and debated Mills college and the University of California, no decision. Other contests were the dual with University of Washington for Edith Joseph, Mary Gregg, Fern Edwards and Betty Spurlin; Marguerite Welch and Siri Ann Enegren against Utah and Oregon Normal; Edna Vance, Siri Ann Enegren, Agnes Catt and Florence Scott in the dual with Willamette, and Hazel Packer and Lavelle Shirley against the University of California here. Nina Taylor, Siri Ann Enegren, Grace Rose and Emily Webster debated Linfield; and Margaret Fisher, Misses Enegren, Rose and Scott spoke against Oregon Normal.

Siri Ann Enegren did the most debating with nine contests, while Edith Joseph and Mary Gregg each took part in six. Even though Miss Enegren, Lavelle Shirley and Agnes Catt will be graduated, 11 award winners will be back for next year's squad. Fourteen varsity sweaters were given this year. All women debaters with one year of conference debate are eligible.

FRESHMEN DEBATE

SINCE A. E. O'Konski took charge of oratory and freshmen debate his orators have won three firsts and one second in the four state contests to date, as well as a second and a fourth in the coast contests. His work with the freshmen debaters has been quite as exceptional.

More than 100 freshmen competed for places on the rook debate team this year, setting what is believed to be a national collegiate record for interest. The team won five and lost three debates with three other contests non-decision. With the exception of the Linfield dual debate, in which the rooks won at McMinnville and lost at Corvallis, all of their opponents were varsity teams. The rooks met three teams from outside the state, winning from one, losing to another and making an excellent showing in the third, a non-decision contest.

The question used in all freshman debates was "Resolved, that all nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, excepting for such forces as are needed for police protection." The affirmative speakers won from Spokane university and Pacific college, losing to Oregon Normal and Linfield. The negative debaters won from Southern Oregon Normal, Oregon Normal and Linfield, dropping a contest to the strong Wheaton college team from Illinois. Non-decision meets were held with Albany college on both sides of the question and with the Weber college varsity squad from Ogden, Utah.

Some excellent material for next year's varsity squad was developed that will keep the veterans working to hold their places. O'Konski's freshmen squad, more than 100 aspirants strong, was finally limited to 34 men.

Merritt Nash won the Holgate prize of $25 as the outstanding freshman debater of the season.

EXTEMPORE SPEAKING

THIS year Dr. E. W. Wells, extempore speaking coach, was president of the Pacific Forensic league, which includes nearly all major coast colleges. Speaking on "Chicago's Financial Crises," Gordon Winks took third in the coast extempore speaking contest.

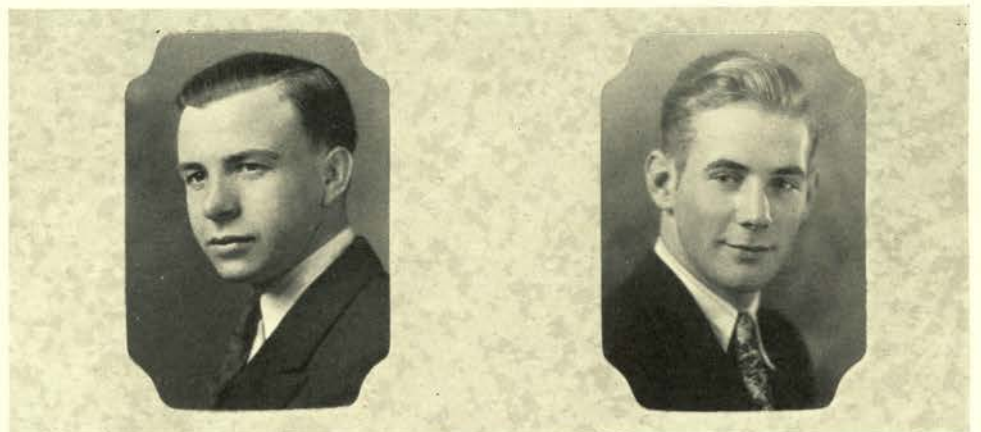

Elmer Buckhorn and Winks met U.S.C., College of the Pacific, Fresno State college and the California Institute of Technology in extempore debates. They defeated Southwestern university, but lost to U. C. L. A.

Loren Smith won third place in the state extempore speaking contest. George Hartley, Ernest Woods, Howard Davis and Loren Smith debated with Linfield college. Much interest is expected in contests next year.

LIONS CLUB CONTEST

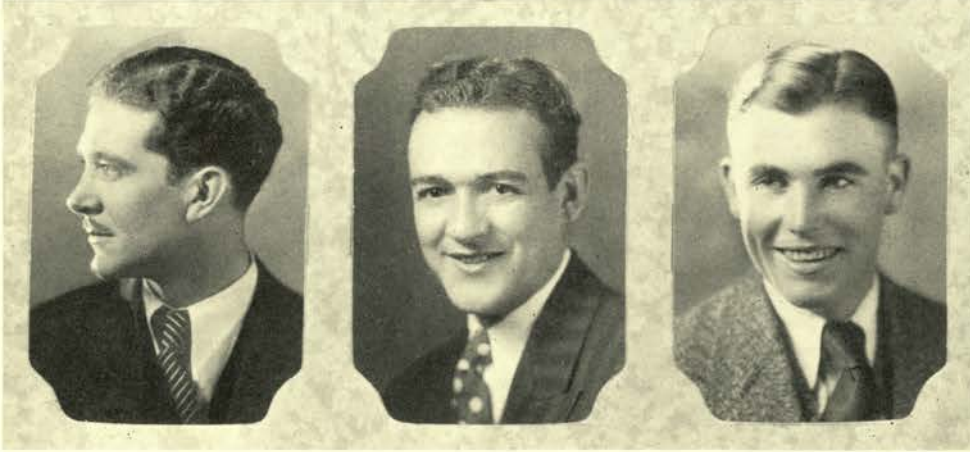

EACH term the Corvallis Lions club sponsors an extempore speaking contest in which winners from each elementary speech class participate. Howard Ireland won last spring term, Karel Shultis, fall term and Hugh Sherwood, winter term.

ORATORY

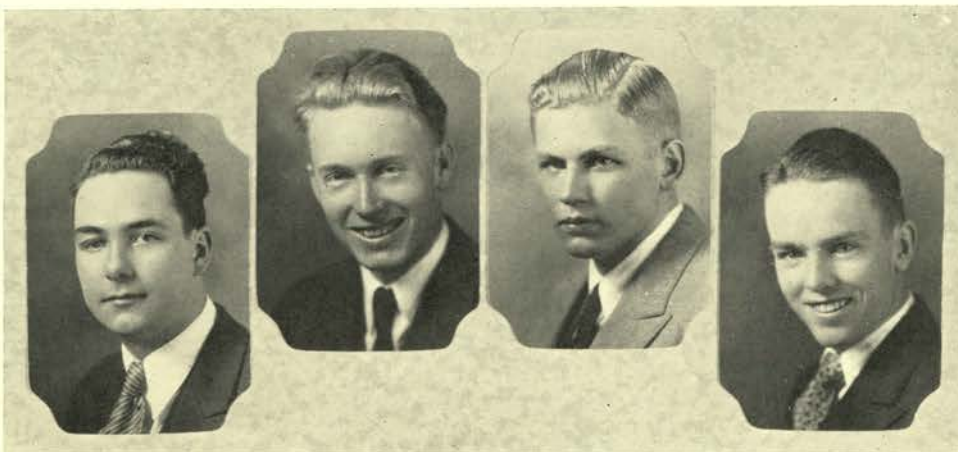

IN 1929 Denver Garner won first place in the State Peace contest and second in the State Old Line contest, and in April he participated in the National Constitutional contest. He won the annual Holgate prize of $50 as the best all-college orator.

Elmer Buckhorn won the state championship this year in the Old Line meet. Oregon State has taken three firsts and one second in this contest in the past four years. Buckhorn also spoke in the Coast Oratorical contest on "Wolves of Industry," exposing the dangers of false propaganda spread in our schools by business interests. Merritt Nash was the college orator in the State Peace contest April 11. Donald Ford won the 1929 Reichart prize.

INTRAMURAL DEBATE

LEROY Swanson and William Perrin, Alphee club, won from Ralph Bailey and Ernest Woods, Weatherford, in the finals in the intramural debate series. The previous record for numbers entered was doubled. Sixty teams discussed compulsory military training in colleges.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT

BELIEVING that military training develops the student in leadership, character and personality as well as furnishing the country with trained officers of a high type in case of a national emergency, the R. O. T. C. unit at Oregon State college has been developed until it is considered one of the most efficient of its kind in the United States. Military training has become increasingly popular among students, and this year more applications were made for advanced training than ever before.

The relations of the military department with the rest of the college have been most cordial. The armory has been used by students for various events when such a building was needed. During bad weather football practice would frequently have to cease if it were not for the armory which provides a large covered area. Each spring the department sponsors a horse show which has come to be recognized as one of the outstanding events of that term.

Officers of the units are men who have received training in the leading military schools of the country and who have also had practical experience which is reflected in their skill in training students in the principles of military science.

INFANTRY UNIT

THE oldest as well as the largest unit in the R. O. T. C. is the infantry, having been established on the campus for more than half a century and boasting an enrollment of more than 600 men.

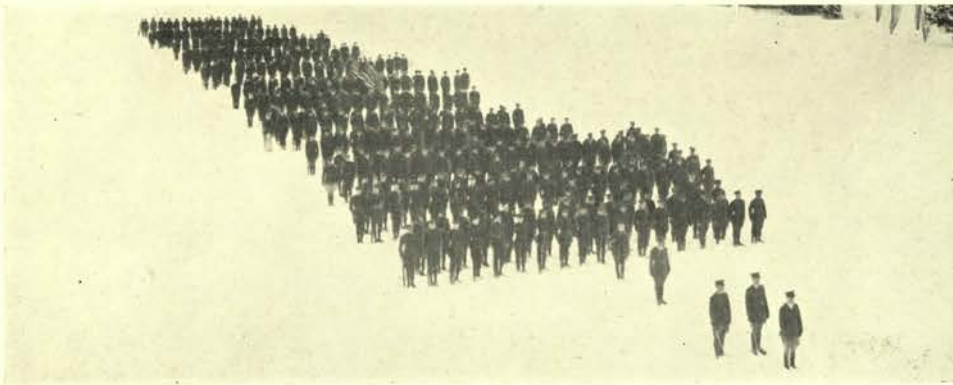

Instruction is divided into basic and advanced courses. Freshmen and sophomores are taught essential principles of combat and related subjects. In advanced courses juniors and seniors are taught the finer points of combat and the development of leadership by taking charge of the units during drill periods.

In addition to the purely military subjects, the course aims to inculcate in all members the habits of cheerful obedience, courtesy, esprit de corps, and physical development that tends towards good citizenship and usefulness in any occupation.

During June and July juniors attend summer camp at the Vancouver barracks for six weeks of field training. In addition to the usual field exercises, target practice, and other military work, the cadets are conducted through the garrison quarters.

Practical and theoretical instruction in infantry drill, machine gun and rifle marksmanship, hygiene, map reading, sketching, scouting, and patrolling, are given.

FIELD ARTILLERY

THE training in the field artillery unit is diversified in the extreme. The freshman instruction covers all basic military training and subjects pertaining to battery equipment, as well as the duties of cannoneers in general. The sophomores are concerned with subjects of battery transport and instruction with the control instruments.

Advanced students, consisting of juniors and seniors, for the first year prepare themselves for the problems of gunnery encountered during summer camp. Throughout all four years horsemanship is given special attention, this being the most attractive feature of the unit.

Field artillery was organized as a battalion of three light batteries in 1919. Nine years later the unit was increased to a full regiment except for headquarters and service batteries.

The equipment of the unit is complete with large and small guns, pistols, carriages, horses and other equipment needed for the successful training of cadets. Stanford university and the University of Utah are the only other western colleges having artillery units. Equipment includes French 75's which are drawn by horses and other artillery up to the heavy 155 mm. rifle which is drawn by a caterpillar tractor.

Engineers

ENGINEER UNIT

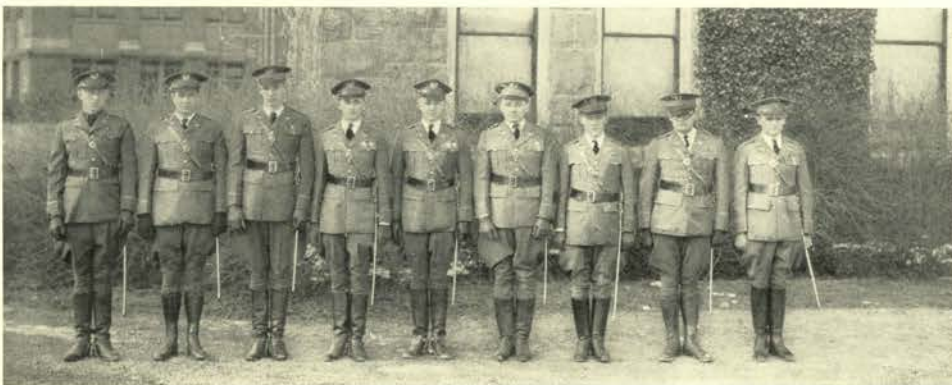

ALTHOUGH the engineering unit is the smallest on the campus it is by no means the least attractive. In fact, students having the necessary requisites for the course find it especially desirable.

The equipment of the unit includes pontoon bridges, wire entanglements, explosives and demolitions, surveying and drafting instruments, cadets being given careful and individual instruction in the use of each. The bridges are used in practical problems on Mary's river for both basic and advanced students in the spring term.

The basic students are taught infantry combat principles with many engineering features added. In the advanced courses the more technical problems are brought out as well as practical work in commanding the companies.

Each cadet of advanced rank is required to spend six weeks in summer camp. Here the many things learned in classroom instruction are put into actual practice, and the future reserve officers receive further training in leadership and command. Because of the technical work only students registered in engineering or forestry are accepted for training. The unit is an important branch of the army in modern warfare.

RIFLE MATCHES

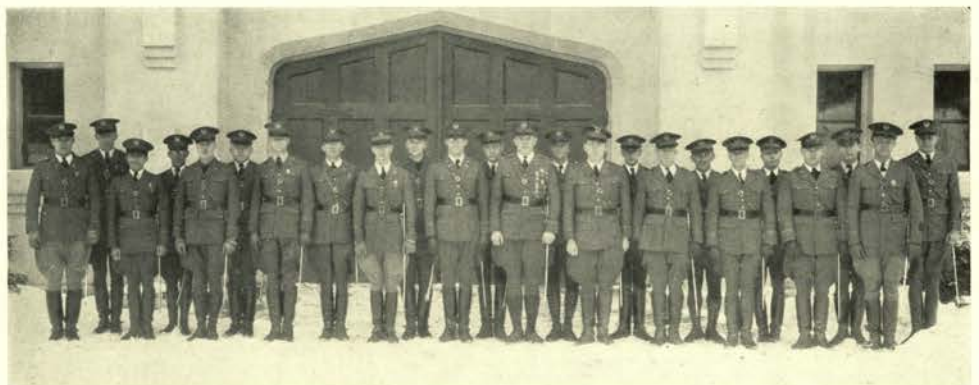

BY winning the Ninth Army Corps area rifle match for the seventh consecutive time, Oregon State's rifle team of the R. O. T. C. has set a record that no other institution in the far west or on the Pacific coast has been able to touch. Much of the success of the team is largely due to Coach Captain H. Lester Barrett, assisted by Sergeant B. L. Dunham.

In 1925 a trophy cup was offered by William Randolph Hearst, newspaper man of national fame, for a first place winner. Oregon State's first team placed second in the run, with the second team placing third in the first place runner-ups. Silver and bronze medals were awarded to the first and second teams, respectively, in addition to silver and bronze plaques for the college. Men having the most accurate scores at the end of the year were awarded sweaters.

The teams for the William Randolph Hearst trophy were as follows: First team: P. Gordon, G. Gordon, Swingle, Burelbach and Raymond. Second team: George, Brown, Ramsey and Tigard.

Carl Anderson was high scorer on the winning Oregon State team in the Ninth Army Corps area rifle match, with Leroy Malmsten and Rudolf Wallace close up.

POLO

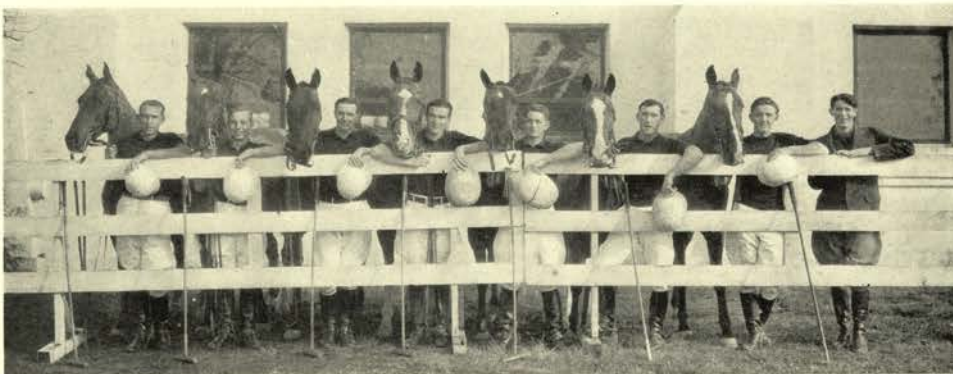

POLO at Oregon State, after much precise care and nurturing, has rapidly grown from a minor to a major military sport at this college. Much of this credit is due to the clever and skilful players that have been so recently discovered and to the scrupulous manner in which they have been taught.

The opening of the 1928-29 polo season brought out 75 candidates for the team with but one letterman, Fred Sugnet, returning. This exceptional number necessitated an early weeding out of possible material in order to facilitate coaching.

The Stanford university team was beaten by the O. S. C. squad twice, 7-2 and 4-3 in what were probably the most decisive victories on the coast. Oregon State won 9 of the 11 games played during the season making an .818 percentage. They played teams from Vancouver Barracks, Forest Hills and the Portland Freebooters.

Men and horses profited by steady practice and refining last fall in preparation for the coming season. Stick and ball work was taken up toward the close of the term supplemented with chalk talks on team play and tactics. Lieut. M. L. Stockton, coach, drilled his squad in the armory when weather prohibited outside practice.

O. S. C. Cadet Band

CADET BAND

PEP, enthusiasm and vigor is kept continuously at high pitch at Oregon State with the assistance of the R. O. T. C. band unit under the direction of Captain Harry Lynden Beard.

Plans are being laid in cooperation with Coach Paul J. Schissler for the band to accompany the football team on the trip east to play West Virginia next year. The band plays at inter-collegiate contests held here and at near-by places and makes annual tours throughout the state and into adjoining states during the spring vacation.

New blue and orange uniforms received just before the spring tour this year add much to the snappy appearance of the band and fulfills a desire long felt by band members.

Each year members are presented with band letters, sweaters being awarded during junior and senior years. Exceptional ability in band work, combined with personality, scholastic requirements and attributes of character and leadership, offers membership in Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity. All students passing satisfactory entrance requirements are automatically enrolled in the R. O. T. C. band and are given military credit.

Oregon State,
with its remarkable growth thus far, has a yet greater development ahead of it. Dr. S. P.
Capen, President of the University of Buffalo, said recently: "Another thing that has happened is the rise of technical education in importance and dignity. . . Engineering, agriculture, forestry, commerce, home economics, education, the great health services—these hold the front of the stage. . . . Indeed, the distinctive contributions of America to higher education, the contributions that are recognized throughout the world, have been made in this once despised field of technical education. . . . Education
. . . based on the application of science has just begun its upward movement."

ALL-COLLEGE FORMAL

THE first Memorial Union all-school formal, held November 23 in the Memorial Union ball room, was tried as an experiment but proved not only to be one of the biggest social events of the year, but also completely dedicated and proved the Memorial Union building as the social center of the campus.

A group of diligent students under the leadership of Chester Bergey, general chairman, worked faithfully so that the first M. U. formal might be a success and become a traditional annual affair.

Futuristic wall placards, hidden lights playing on the dancers, revolving globes decked with gleaming mirrors, balloons, and serpentine decorated the room.

Romney Pearce and his orchestra furnished special music selected from the latest Broadway shows and revues.

Members of the committee were Chester Bergey, general chairman; Beulah Porter, Kermit Johnson, Virgil Dunkin, Tom Bailey, Ethel Alice Grady, John Reiff and Wayne Griffin.

SOPHOMORE COTILLION

AUROREA Borealis at Oregon State! Its many colored lights flashed and gleamed on students at the annual Sophomore Cotillion, February 1 in the Memorial Union building. The grand march formed in the lounge and passed in review for the patrons and patronesses. All was a great success due to the diligent work of Amby Frederick, general chairman.

To portray the glamour of an Alaskan night the walls were hung in black cloth. Stars and a moon shone against the inky background of night. Igloos made of snow with icicles glistening from them were painted at intervals along the wall. Mountains of snow loomed majestically white here and yon. At the farther end of the hall Romney Pearce's orchestra played beneath snow-laden trees.

The committees were Amby Frederick, general chairman; Jack Reading, decorations; Hubert Cook, publicity; Donovan Kuhl, programs; Howard Jones, music; Betty Walters, invitations; Lloyd Baker, floor; and Carrie Boltinghouse, refreshments.

JUNIOR PROM

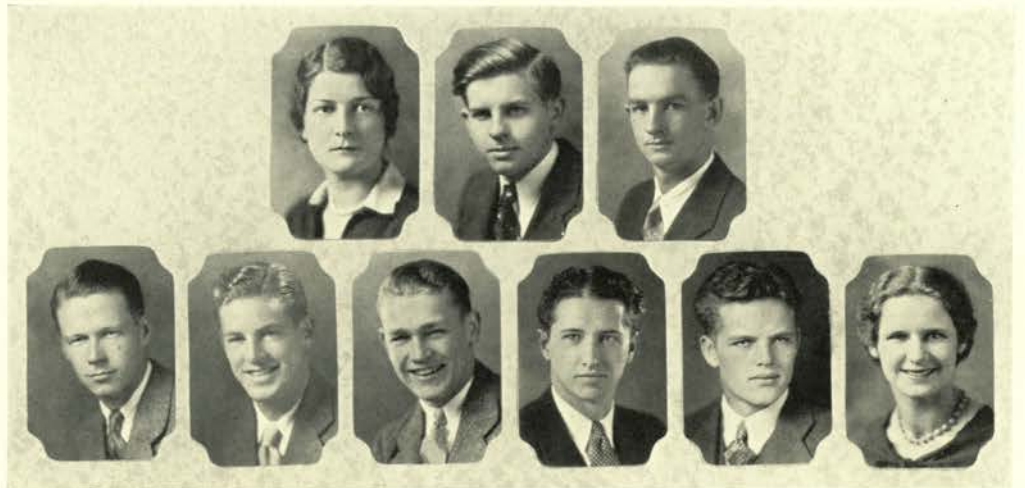

O. S. C. was able to have a delightful circus, March 1, due to the efforts of Martin Redding, general chairman, and his assisting committeemen.

Clowns dashed down the corridor and into the cage of iron bars where lions, and even wild cats were held captives. These clowns, dressed in bright red and yellow, soothed the cries of the howling beasts with their syncopated music, led by Bud Carver.

The circus idea was carried out by the picturesque clowns and animals characterized on brightly striped coverings on the wall. Three clowns from Portland gave a tumbling act for the feature of the evening. Bright lights covered with gaudy irregular-shaped shades afforded sparkle to the many brightly colored evening clothes of those present.

The committees were Sinclair Hammond, publicity; Bob Mathews, decorations; Harvey Lounsbury, programs; Grant Rinehart, feature; Hester Davis, invitations; George Knutsen, music; Betty Robley, refreshments; Bob Jarmon, floor.

MILITARY BALL

NATIONAL flags and instruments of warfare were evident at the annual Military Ball sponsored by the R. O. T. C. in the Memorial Union ballroom April 5. Modern army weapons were displayed, and refreshments served from a typical army tent by uniformed doughboys. Battle scenes painted on a black background and multi-colored floodlights were other decorations.

Saxophone solos and the grand march were features of the evening. Bub Carver and his Campus Chords furnished the music for the occasion.

Among the guests of honor were Governor and Mrs. A. W. Norblad, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Kerr, Major-General and Mrs. U. G. MacAlexander, Major-General and Mrs. G. S. White.

SENIOR BALL

WITH the spring idea predominant, and flowers and bright colors on all sides, the Senior Ball held in the Memorial Union Ball room, Saturday, May 3, was conceded by all present to be one of the big successes of the social season.

Against a general background of yellow and black were mounted spring flowers of every hue and description. Each window was decorated by a large flower box bedecked with flowers of all kinds. A flower box filled with multi-colored flowers completely circled each pillar in the ballroom. Romney Pearce's eight-piece orchestra supplied the music for the occasion.

The committees in charge were: General chairman, Erskine Sandys; assistant chairmen, June Hudson and Ralph Jones; decorations, Tom Bailey; programs, Kenneth MacLean; publicity, Bill Johnson; music, Harry Peltz; floor, Elmer Sullivan; guests, Elayne Searing; refreshments, Irene Hazlett and Bill Swift.

You want to be sure your Savings are safe

EVERY fraternity, sorority, club, society and student at O. S. C. who have funds they are accumulating for some specific purpose, wants to be sure that their money is safe and ready for use when needed.

This bank gives to its savings depositors every assurance of safety that the rigid Banking Laws of Oregon require for the protection of such accounts. These statutes provide that savings and commercial deposits be kept separate, that a portion of the bank's capital and its surplus be set aside to protect savings deposits, that separate cash reserves be provided for savings and that the investment of these funds are prescribed by law and must be maintained.

These safeguards especially commend our savings department to every one who wants to provide for the future.

Deposits made in savings department up to and including the 5th of each month, will draw interest for that month, which interest will be credited June 30th and December 31st of each year.

In our commercial department checking accounts are cordially welcome and every patron is assured courteous, considerate, personal attention and service.
