UCLA's high-scoring Bruins and the defensive-minded Oregon State Beaver basketballers open their best-of-three series tonight at 8 for the Pacific Coast Conference championship in Gill Coliseum.

A sell-out crowd is expected for tonight and Saturday night's battle between the Northern and Southern division champions. All reserved seat tickets have been sold out for two weeks, with the exception of 1000 for the Monday night game if it is needed. They will go on sale on a first-come-first-served basis Monday morning.

Two thousand general admission tickets will go on sale at 7 p.m. tonight at gates 2 and 3. 3500 student tickets will be sold between 6 and 7 p.m.

Bruins Favored in Series

On the basis of their season's record, the seventh-ranked Bruins are the favorites for the series. They have won 21 of 24 games, including four straight over the pre-season favorite for the S.D. crown, USC. UCLA set a new Southern division record by winning 11 of 12 games during the league season, their only loss coming to Stanford on their opening game of the S.D. schedule.

Besides the Stanford defeat, the Bruins have been dropped by third-ranked LaSalle 85-to-77 and the nation's No. 1 team, USF, 56-to-44. However, the Bruins have been the only team to knock off the top-ranked Dons, downing them 47-to-40 early in the hoop season.

Coach Johnny Wooden's boys have gone through their 24-game slate with a 76.2 points-per-game average. They have scored 104 points against eleventh-ranked Dayton and 106 against New Mexico, in addition to scoring in the nineties twice.

UCLA Line-up Listed

This is a wide margin over Oregon State's 56.4 scoring average, with the Beavers' high point production for the year being 80.

Coach Wooden will undoubtedly open with the same starting lineup he has used for the majority of the Bruins' games. This includes Johnny Moore and Don Bragg at the forward posts, Willie "The Whip" Naulls at center, and speedy Morris Taft and Ron Bane handling the guard positions.

Moore, an all-coast selection last year, is the leading Bruin scorer with a 14.3 average, closely followed by the chunky Naulls with 13.4. Taft has a 12.5 mark, Bane 11.0, while Bragg rounds out the well-balanced UCLA lineup with a 7.5 scoring average. The Bruins as a team have shot .410 from the field for the entire season.

Bevs Tie Division Record

The OSC Beavers tied the Northern division record with a 15-1 record during the league campaign, and have a 19-7 mark for the entire season. The Beavers dropped two to USC, and single games to California and USF, so the Bruins have the edge in mutual opponents.

While the Bruins' big weapon is their fast-breaking high-scoring offense, OSC's main forte is a tight defense. The Beavers are currently the number three team nationally in defensive average, limiting their opponents to 53.6 points per game.

Halbrook Averages 19.6

The Beaver offense, which has perked up in the last few games, revolves around 7'3" center Wade Halbrook. The stratospheric Halbrook has averaged 19.6 points per game in the 15 starts he has made, after being ineligible for pre-season play. Tony Vlastelica is the only other Orangemen in double figures with an 11.2 average.

Filling out the starting lineup will be feeder-deluxe Jay Dean at the other forward slot with Vlastelica, and Bill Toole and Reggie Halligan at the guards. Toole and Halligan will have the tough assignment of stopping the UCLA fast-break, which has swept them past all but three of their opponents.

Slated for considerable duty for the Beavers will be 5'8" guard Ron Robins, Johnny Jarboe, Larry Paulus and Tex Whiteman. Robins is the best Beaver outside shooter and will likely be called on should the Bruins sag too much on Halbrook, Jarboe and Paulus will be needed to keep up with the Bruin speed, while Whiteman is one of the best defensive men on the team as well as being a top-notch rebounder.

YWCA Staffer To Visit Campus Next Week, Discuss Training Program With Students

Miss Jimmie Woodward, staff member of the College and University division of the YWCA, will be on campus March 8 and 9 to work with the advisory board and students of the campus Y-Round table. She will also confer with President A. L. Strand, E. B. Lemon, dean of administration, as well as the other members of the administration and faculty, according to Bob Strippel, Round Table advisor. She is responsible for the recruiting and training of employed personnel for student YWCAs throughout the country and for working with volunteer advisors and faculty members.

MISS JIMMIE WOODWARD

Miss Woodward's visit comes during the YWCA's centennial, which is being celebrated and observed in 1955 by YWCAs throughout the United States and in the 64 other countries around the world where the association is active today. The celebration and observance in the United States has the threefold purpose of the rededication of the more than 3,000,000 members in this country to the Christian principles of the association.

Miss Woodward is a native of San Antonio, Texas, hold an A.B. degree from Southern Methodist University and a master's degree in Christian education from Columbia University.

Ticket Sales Rules Given for Playoffs

Here are the directions for Oregon State college students and married student's wives who wish to attend the OSC-UCLA playoff games tonight and Saturday night, and Monday night if a third game is necessary to determine the Pacific Coast conference Basketball championship, said Jim Barratt, athletic business manager.

1. Price is $1 per ticket with a limit of one to each student or student spouse.
2. At 6 o'clock the tickets will be sold. Students will have their student body cards punched before entering the building. They must go into the building after purchasing the ticket. Please have the correct change of $1 ready.
3. A limit of 3500 tickets will be sold. The student gate will be closed at 7 p.m., at which time some 2000 or more general admission tickets will be placed on sale to the public at $2 apiece, a limit of four.
4. Transferred student body cards will be confiscated and the wrongful holder denied the right to purchase a ticket.
5. Tailflappers and OSC pep band members will be allocated their same section.

AFROTC Cadet Wins Award For Defense Talk

Cadet William R. Murrell, '56, AFROTC, won the Republic Aviation corporation award Tuesday night with his presentation of "Strategy and the Mission of Air Defense in the United States." The speech by Murrell was voted the best of three by members of the Corvallis Toastmasters club at the Benton hotel.

The other two cadets participating in the finals were William T. Dugan, '56, who told of "The Impact of Air Power on History," and Marvin L. Smith, '56, who advocated "Air Power as Peace Power."

Murrell stressed that the strategy of air defense in this country can be divided into two categories: the fear of losses in planes, personnel, and material before hostile airplanes have penetrated the borders of this country, and the fear of retaliation from United States offensive air power.

The primary mission, said Murrell, "is to protect the two phases of our air power: industry and our offensive air force (strategic air command)."

Ways to do this include all measures to prevent, interfere with, and reduce the effectiveness of enemy aircraft after those planes have left their own bases or carriers, he said.

Fine Acting, Poor Script, Verdict of Play Review

By JAMES W. GROSHONG
Assistant Professor of English

Samuel Taylor's play "Sabrina Fair," which opened last night at the College Playhouse, is a rather thin piece which depends for its effect, first, on our continuing delight in the Cinderella story; and second, on a cleverly contrived dialogue that won't stand too close an examination. Briefly, "Sabrina" tells the story of a chauffeur's daughter who returns to the Long Island estate of her father's employers after several years in Paris. Almost at once she

Miss OSC Candidates To Be Nominated

April 15 is the deadline for submitting names of Miss OSC candidates, according to Ron Reeves, '56, queen selection chairman.

Miss OSC will be chosen May 13 in conjunction with "The Mikado." Associated Independent Student production, "The Mikado" will be presented May 12 and 13 in the home economics auditorium.

Each living group may sponsor one candidate this year. It is desired that each group interview one candidate before making its final selection, said Reeves. The only qualification is that the woman be a senior.

Candidates will be judged on beauty, poise, personality, and representation of Oregon State college. A judging committee consisting of Greeks, independents, and faculty members will select five finalists. Miss OSC will be elected by popular vote.

Applications for Memorial Union president for next year are now available in the east bay of the Memorial Union, according to Frank Fahs, '55, present M. U. president.

Life Challenge Given at Convo

A challenge to live well when it's in one's power to live well was issued by Dr. Angelo Pellegrini Wednesday at a 1 p.m. convocation in the home economics auditorium. The University of Washington professor spoke on the topic "Of Bread and Wine - An Intimate Chat on Living Well."

Dr. Pellegrini, who came to the United States from Italy at the age of 10, is nationally known for his two books, "The Unprejudiced Palate," published in 1949, and "The Immigrant's Return," published in 1951. He is also well known as a discriminating judge of wines.

Speaking on the Biblical quotation, "Thou shalt not muzzle the face of the oxen that treadeth out the wheat," Dr. Pellegrini compared the U.S. with the Old World. He said, and America is beautifully equipped for this.

"A society must provide the individual the right and opportunity to carve his destiny through his own oil. . . he must be able to eat the corn over which he labors," Pellegrini said. In the Old World, he went on, the laborer can never enjoy the fruits of his labor. "We need to confront the dinner board with new zest to make dinner that hour in the day in which all of us will work with joy," he said. It is possible, the professor claimed, to bring together a distinguished dinner in one hour - a meal where the wine is excellent, the bread good. And bread, said Pellegrini, is measured by things left out, not by things put in.

Book To Be Reviewed Over KOAC Today

"Beyond the Hundredth Meridian," a book by Wallace Stegner, will be reviewed over station KOAC, Friday at 6:15 p.m. in the fourth of a series of college library broadcasts.

Dr. Kenneth L. Gordon, professor of Zoology, Miss Lora Ives, assistant serials librarian, and Rodney Waldron, administrative assistant of the library, will present the book.

Stegner's book concerns the life of John Wesley Powell, the first scientific explorer of the arid regions of the United States, who directed the first group ever to float through the Colorado river in the Grand Canyon.

Run-off Election Slated

A run-off election between Lynn Bennett, '56, and Dick Harris, '56, for Business & Technology club president will take place this morning. Voting booths will be set up in the Commerce building and Eller's. All BT club members are urged to vote.

Miss Sinnard Gets Post In Co-op Recount

Lucy Sinnard, '58, won the position of sophomore woman representative on the Cooperative Bookstore board of directors in a recount of Tuesday's balloting held Wednesday morning, according to Bob Ewall, '56, board president.

In the first count immediately following the closing of the voting booth Tuesday night, Miss Sinnard and Mary Lou McCormick had been tied.

The other directors elected were announced in Wednesday's Barometer.

Cotillion Slated, Theme Secret

The theme and date of the Sophomore Cotillion have been set for sure, according to Jerry Clark, '57, general chairman. The annual dance will be April 30 in the coliseum and the theme will be kept secret until the day of the dance, said Clark.

The coliseum was obtained for the dance with Jerry Clark, '57, general chairman, publicist; Barbara Horning, programs; Dorothy Broderson, decorations; Jim Long, cleanup; Betty Zahara, chaperones and invitations; Lucille Baker, tickets; Betty McBride, refreshments; and Bruce Roberts, finance.

'Art' Dance Concert Shows Rhythm, Beat

"Art in Action," a modern dance concert given last night, included a cast of 70 dancers who emphasized rhythm and beat in their interpretations.

As an introduction to "Pacific Saga," 15 girls in the advanced dance class give their interpretation of "To the Sea" which suggested the reckless tossing of the sea. "Holiday," danced to snappy music, had the polka step as a basis for the gay movement which was done in modern style.

"Humdrum Days" was portrayed by Carol Lee Johnson, Dorothy McGregor, and Judy Wisdom, all '57. Music by Miss Helen Poling, instructor of women's physical education, contributed to the weary mood.

The 36 girls in "City Traffic" gave a dramatic portrayal of the array of faces one encounters in city traffic. Intricate floor patterns gave the sense of organized confusion as an introduction to "Street Scenes," in which girls portrayed the personalities seen at a busy intersection.

Four dances from "Night Life" were in bright contrast to the return of boredom felt in "Summer Lull." This led into three solos which climaxed the program—Carol Lee Johnson as a sophisticated lady, Judy Wisdom expressing the wide-eyed spaces of the mid-west, and Dorothy McGregor, who in a gleaming white wedding gown, portrayed the western bride.

Flapper Section Slated

A special section will be reserved for Tailflappers for the Pacific coast conference games this weekend, according to Bud Deller, '55, president. Tailflappers should buy their ticket at the student gate and then go to their section, said Deller.

All Tailflappers are asked to wear white shirts, cords, and Tailflapper hats.

OSC Won't Compel Race Bar Removal Says Dr. A. L. Strand

By TAM MOORE
Barometer Associate Editor

There would be no racial discriminatory clauses in any fraternities or sororities, said President A. L. Strand, if he had his way. But, Dr. Strand added, the administration of Oregon State college will not make any move to compel the removal of these clauses. Such a movement must come from the organizations affected, not the college, the president emphasized.

Dr. Strand expressed his views on the administrative stand at OSC in a closed meeting of the Y-round table Tuesday night. Gerry Kelly, '56, round table president, said the discussion was the outgrowth of a project undertaken by the national YM-YWCA organization at its convention last fall. Seven Greeks and five independents, including four colored students, attended the meeting, along with Dr. Strand and Bob Strippel, roundtable advisor.

Groups Must Work Themselves

Consensus was that the only way a program to remove racial clauses could be made effective was to have Greek letter groups work with their nationals and the National Panhellenic council and National Interfraternity council. The Y groups will seek to achieve removal of clauses through education of the organizations, Kelly said.

"If your maneuver is to ask the administration to set a deadline for removal of these clauses," said Dr. Strand, "I won't go with it. . . for many reasons. We're dependent on them (the Greeks) for housing of students. We couldn't exist without the fraternity-sorority system on this campus."

After the special examination in June will be an examination annually in December, starting this year. Persons entering the foreign service will enter as class six, the base grade for foreign service officers.

The foreign service is looking for persons who have, or are willing to take, specialized training in such fields as political science, public and business administration, economics, international labor affairs, journalism, cultural relations, and language and area studies. There is still a need for "general" officers, but the need for specialists is even greater.

The department of state expects to appoint 250 junior officers each year for the foreign service. A special written examination will be held about June 24. Applications for this examination should be in by May 2.

Other Fraternity Problems Cited

"A lot of improvements in fraternities on the campus could be made that are more important than this," the president emphasized.

Scholarship for many years a weak point in the Oregon State fraternity system, came under fire in this remark by the top administrator. He noted that there was no understandable reason why so many fraternities consistently fall below the all-men's grade average.

Undergraduates Make Progress

"I think you can make progress (in removing these racial clauses) with undergraduates, but when you reach the national level . . . then you'll run into trouble," he warned. "When you reach the older age group . . . you will find resistance."

The hope in resolving the situation, said one of the Greeks at the meeting, is that when the undergraduates who have been fighting for integration of races become alumni, they will work to open the doors for an unprejudiced system, with membership on a selective basis without regard for race or religion. This will be a long-time process, the Greek pointed out, and not a change that can be effected by action on the OSC campus, alone.

Today Is Last Day For Activity Sheets

Today is the last day Associated Independent Students activity sheets for fall term can be turned in to be considered for the AIS activity trophy, according to Don Dedrick, '55, AIS president. They can be taken to the AIS office, Memorial Union 218.

The trophies are awarded annually by AIS to the men's and women's living groups which have the most activity points compiled from the fall and winter term activity sheets. The trophies will be awarded at "The Mikado," AIS production, May 13 in the home economics auditorium.

When a trophy is won by one group three years in a row that group wins permanent possession of the trophy. Jameson house won the women's trophy last year for the third year and Campus club won the men's trophy for the second year.

Lady Marine Interviews To Be Held for Co-eds

Second Lt. Frances M. DeVos, will be on campus April 4 and 5 to interview college women for the Women Marine officer training class.

College sophomores and juniors are eligible. Women seniors or graduates who have attended twelve weeks of summer training are commissioned as second lieutenants with two years of active duty following commissioning.

Women must be between the ages of 18 and 27 and unmarried to be eligible for the training program. The 1955 summer training class will start June 27.

Lieutenant DeVos and her assistant, Sergeant Mary Kelly, will be in Memorial Union 212 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Weather

Partly cloudy Friday, Friday night and Saturday with scattered snow showers north portion Friday. High Friday 36-44, Saturday 38-48, Colder Friday night with low 25-35. Winds off coast Northwest 10-20 mph.

Church Notes

By KAREN KENDALL
Barometer Church Editor

"I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content." Phil. 4:11. The world is governed by inflexible natural laws and an unnatural social order. Man has constantly searched for his own place — the place where he can best fit in this society. There is no one niche made for each individual — man must make his own place, in the world and in his own spirit. A deeper, inner strength to rely on in periods of adjustment is the difference between the contented person and the restless one.

ROGER WILLIAMS
The Roger Williams fellowship will hold open house tonight, starting at 7:30. Sunday school and worship service Sunday will begin at 9:45 a.m. in Memorial Union 208. Sunday evening fellowship is at the Roger Williams house at 6:30 with a "songs-prayer and Devotee." The election of officers will be followed by a period of fellowship. Everyone is invited to come.

GAMMA DELTA
The Gamma Delta, Lutheran student group of the Mo. Synod, will hold a combined topic and business meeting this Sunday at 6:30 p.m. in the Zion Lutheran church. The topic is "Marriage and Divorce." The election of officers and a discussion of the forthcoming convention in Seattle are the main items on the meeting agenda. All members are urged to attend.

CANTERBURY CLUB
Bishop Dagwell, Portland will be the main speaker at the Sunday night program of Canterbury club. He will speak after the 6 p.m. evening prayer. Refreshments will be served and the club will elect officers after the Bishop's talk. After the 11 a.m. service, the executive board of Canterbury will be elected.

BAPTIST YOUTH
Baptist Youth will meet with Dr. Vincent Bennett after the service tonight. Dr. Bennett is speaking at the First Baptist church this week. Evening services start at 7:45. The program will be an informal question and answer period with refreshments served later. Dr. Bennett will also speak at the youth meeting Sunday, 6:30 p.m.

WESLEY FOUNDATION
The cell group will meet in Wesley hall at noon today. A victory party is scheduled for after the game tonight. All students are invited to take part.

BERNARD FOLDE, American Friend Service committee of Portland, will speak on "World Peace and Military Training" at the Sunday forum at 6:30 p.m. following the 5:30 dinner. The supper, tea-esta will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 9. The Bible study class will meet in M.U. 291 Thursday at noon.

CHRISTIAN HOUSE
Christian house will have an open house after the frame, tonight. Ann Robinson, '57, will be the hostess. Installation of new officers will be held at the 6:30 p.m. Sunday service. Mr. Lawrence Porter, minister to students, will be in charge. Jim Robnett, '56, will take care of the devotions.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS — By Bibler

"I thought perhaps you didn't know — there are three higher possible grades besides 'D' and 'F'."

Play Review

act was very much in control of her part. Her best work came in her conversation with Sabrina and her exit speech in act four.

Evelyn Caniparoli has a good voice for her part as Julia McKinlock and makes good use of it. Her opening scene with Miss Bogue seemed a bit rushed and her closing speech in the last act was delivered with such force it tended to thin her voice overmuch. Otherwise I, like everyone else, was pleased with Miss Caniparoli's performance.

Next to Sabrina, Linus Larabee provides the best acting part in the play. Pete Yazolino does well as the man who longs for the days when there was plenty of tax exempt securities, few taxes, and no unions at all. There were a few spots, particularly early in the play, when he could have got more from his very good lines by speaking them more slowly and in a voice pitched somewhat lower.

The Larabee brothers complement each other nicely. Heinz Brandt as David turned in one of the better performances of the evening as a slightly self-conscious, recently divorced twenty-year old who wants to marry Sabrina. His manner is made to contrast effectively with the calmer, detached air of the older brother, Linus Jr., played capably by William Morrison.

Jerry Johnston as Fairchild, Sabrina's father, and Lloyd Herman as Sabrina's French tutor, turned in able performances. It struck me, however, that their assumed accents sometimes got in their way. It was not quite clear just what accent was supposed to mark Fairchild's speech.

Sue Thompson, Joan DeJong, Barbara McReynolds, Allen Wood, Gloria Christensen, and Leroy Martin, all made convincing contributions to the success of the play in smaller roles.

As usual, the sets are outstandingly good. Are the walls real brick, by the way? No one in the audience seemed to know.

In summary, it was a lively and entertaining performance of a rather poor play.

Sociologist to Speak At Sigma Xi Lecture

Dr. Warren S. Thompson, visiting professor of sociology at University of Oregon, will speak at Oregon State college Tuesday as the March lecturer of Sigma Xi, honorary research organization.

The talk is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Withycombe hall auditorium. The public is invited.

Dr. Thompson will speak on "Relation of Population Changes to the Point IV Program." Until his retirement in 1953, he had been director for 31 years of the Scripps Foundation for Research in population at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio.

Retired Faculty Tea Set

A tea honoring the retired faculty members will be held March 6, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the women's lounge of the Memorial Union.

This is an annual tea sponsored by the Memorial Union hospitality committee, according to Dianne Griswold, '56, general chairman. Several of the faculty ladies will pour.

Committee chairmen are: Helen Hume, '57, invitations; Nan Steele '57, hostesses; Jane Culver, '56, table decorations; and Natalie Calkins, '56, refreshments.

The field trips, which last from 1 to 18 hours and cost from $1 to $7, start at the end of April or the first of May, and the instructor conducts at least one each week-end. The short 100-mile trip takes place in the Willamette valley, from Alsea to Albany, with a stop to collect sharks teeth. "Girls always like sharks teeth," said Taubeneck.

Course Has Large Enrollment

Other trips go to lava beds and Pilot Butte, near Bend, and the long one which lasts 18 hours Burns. Students and instructor travel by bus or car. The geologist explained that other possible trips were limited by the snow, which often lasts until the first of July.

Taubeneck, who had 160 students in his geology of Oregon course in 1953, said that he has "more fun out of this course than I've got."

The Last Playoffs

This weekend, the last Pacific Coast Conference basketball playoff is being held. Yes, local basketball fans get a chance to see the final playoff in a series that has dated back to 1923. These annual PCC playoffs which have produced some of the biggest thrills and upsets in coast basketball history, now will be a thing of the past.

Next year the northern and southern divisions will be banded together to form one joint Pacific Coast conference. Instead of the playoff, the league winner will get the right to enter the NCAA regional playoffs.

This is definitely a progressive step for Western basketball. With the modern transportation facilities it makes it possible for the teams to travel up and down the coast without mission more than a day of class. This new hoop set-up will also give basketball fans a wide variety of teams appearing in the local basketball plant during the year.

It's been a long, hard road for the Oregon State basketballers to make this final PCC playoff. They've had to fight off a poor early season showing, the Swede Halbrook incident, and the pressure of a prolonged winning streak, but now they're in, and face their toughest assignment yet.

So, Good Luck Beavers, and let's beat UCLA and make the Western Regionals for next weekend.

Rocks and Poems

Like all students at Oregon State, we have always griped and mumbled about courses and professors that are too dull and too boring, but now we have seen the other extreme. At least, it is extreme in the matter of persuading students to take the course. The course itself is fairly normal.

This course is "Geology of Oregon," G 352. Many staters are already acquainted with the course through the five different types of letters sent to students and living groups by the instructor. Most of these are humorous, dramatic attempts to misrepresent the course and entice students into taking it for reasons that are far from academic.

Advantages pointed out are the lack of tests, books, and assignments; the large number of good looking girls (or boys, depending on who receives the letter); and all the things you will learn about Oregon. Best yet, three of the form letters are in poetry.

The instructor in his letters, guarantees that the course is a happy hunting ground for unattached men and that picking should be equally good for women.

Some of these points actually have a good reason behind them. There are no good books about the geology of Oregon, and the only reference material in the college library is written on a level that the average student could not understand.

The course itself cannot be criticized; it is a good course, and it is well taught. However, the method of contacting the students seems to be of decidedly dubious merit. The letters, while perhaps factual on individual points, are misleading to readers. They give a definite impression that the course is a lark and a "snap." This is not the case. It is a good course of average difficulty, the grade distribution being typical for upper division courses.

It is too bad that a capable instructor should degrade himself and his course by advertising in a manner which is, at best, flamboyant and vaudevillian.

Prof Says in 200 Letters Geology 'Real George'

Juniors and seniors who haven't planned their spring term class schedules might be interested in taking a rather unusual course, geology of Oregon, called G 352 in the catalogue. Instructor, William H. Taubeneck of the geology department guaranteed that his course is a happy hunting ground for unattached men and that picking should be equally good for women in his letters to living groups and individual students.

This "direct approach," as Taubeneck described it, is common in the business world but almost unheard of in the college community. One of his chief reasons for using this method is that the course hasn't been given for two years and few students have ever heard of it. He sent out about 200 letters, air mailed from New York City, to inform students of the class. He used four types of letters, including a personal handwritten copy, two different mimeographed poems, and a two-page original typed copy.

'Original' Poem Quoted
A stanza of one poem reads: Even though you are expert at modern dance And perhaps know all about romance And how to give a male a coy glance To take G 352 you may only have one chance.

Taubeneck, an Oregon State college graduate himself, first majored in forestry, then turned to geology which he found more interesting. He received his bachelor of science degree in 1949 his master of science in 1950, and just last Monday he earned his Ph.D. from Columbia university. He has been teaching at OSC since 1951, and besides geology of Oregon, his courses include economic geology, engineering geology, and petrography.

No Outside Reference Used
Geology of Oregon, worth 3 hours of upper division credit, is a course which has no text book and no supplementary reference material. Taubeneck stated that geology information in the library was mostly in masters and doctors theses and practically impossible for nonprofessional students to understand.

The class meets twice a week for illustrated lectures, and each student is required to make one field trip, but may go on more if he wishes.

The field trips, which last from 1 to 18 hours and cost from $1 to $7, start at the end of April or the first of May, and the instructor conducts at least one each week-end. The short 100-mile trip takes place in the Willamette valley, from Alsea to Albany, with a stop to collect sharks teeth. "Girls always like sharks teeth," said Taubeneck.

SCIENCE MADE SIMPLE: NO. 2

Though this column is intended solely as a vehicle for my tempered drollery, the makers of Philip Morris have agreed to let me use this space from time to time for a short lesson in science. They are the most decent and obliging of men, the makers of Philip Morris, as one would guess from sampling their product. Only from bounteous hearts could come such pleasurable cigarette — so felicitously blended, so gratifying the taste, so soothing to the psyche. And, as though bringing you the most agreeable cigarette on the market were not enough, the makers of Philip Morris have enclosed their wares in the Snap-Open Pack, an ingeniously contrived wrapping that yields up its treasure without loss of time or cuticle. And, finally this paragon of cigarettes, wrapped in the paragon of packages can be had in king-size or regular, as your taste dictates. We can resist such a winning combination? Not I.

A few weeks ago in this column we had a brief lesson in chemistry. Today we take up another attractive science — medicine. Medicine was invented in 1066 by a Greek named Hippocrates. He soon attracted around him a group of devoted disciples who he called "doctors." The reason he called them "doctors" was that they sat around a dock all day. Some fished, some jugged in the noonday sun. In truth, there was little else for them to do, because disease was not invented until 1492.

After that doctors became very busy, but it must be reported their knowledge of medicine was lamentably meagre. The knew only one treatment — a change of climate. For example, French doctor would send all his patients to Switzerland; Swiss doctor, on the other hand, would send all his patients to France. By 1789 the entire population of France was living in Switzerland, and vice versa. This later became known as the Black Tom Explosion.

Not until 1924 did medicine, as we know it, come into being. In that year in the little Bavarian village of Paga-Paga an elderly physician named Winko Sigafos discovered the h water bottle. He was, of course, burned as a witch, but his Lydia, disguised as a linotype, smuggled the hot water bottle out of the country. He called on Florence Nightingale in London but was told by her housekeeper, with some asperity, that Miss Nightingale had died in 1910. Lydia muttered something and disguised as a feather bed, made his way to America, where he invented the blood stream.

Medicine, as it is taught at your very own college, can be divided roughly into two classifications. There is internal medicine which is the treatment of internes, and external medicine, which is the treatment of externes.

Diseases also fall into two broad categories — chronic and acute. Chronic disease, is of course, inflammation of the chru which can be mighty painful, believe you me! Last summer my cousin Haskell was stricken with a chru attack while out picking up tin foil, and it was months before the wretched boy could straighten up. In fact, even after he was cured, Haskell continued to walk around bent over double. This went on for some weeks before Dr. Caligari, the lovable old country practitioner who treats Haskell, discovered that Haskell had his pants buttoned to his vest.

Two years ago Haskell had Addison's disease. (Addison, curiously enough, had Haskell's.) Poor Haskell catches everything that comes along. Lovable old Dr. Caligari once said to him, "Son, I guess you are what they call a natural born catcher." "The joke is on you, Doc," replied Haskell. "I am a thin baseman." He thereupon fell into such a fit of giggling that the doctor had to put him under sedation, where he is to this day. But I digress. We were discussing medicine. I have now told you all I can; the rest is up to you. Go over to your medical school and poke around. Bring popcorn and watch an operation. Fiddle with the X-ray machines. Contribute to the bone bank ... And, remember, medicine can be fun!

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS, who bring you this column, have nursed their flavorful tobaccos to bring you the most pleasurable smoke obtainable.

Congratulations Beavers On a Great Season; Best of Luck Against the UCLA Bruins

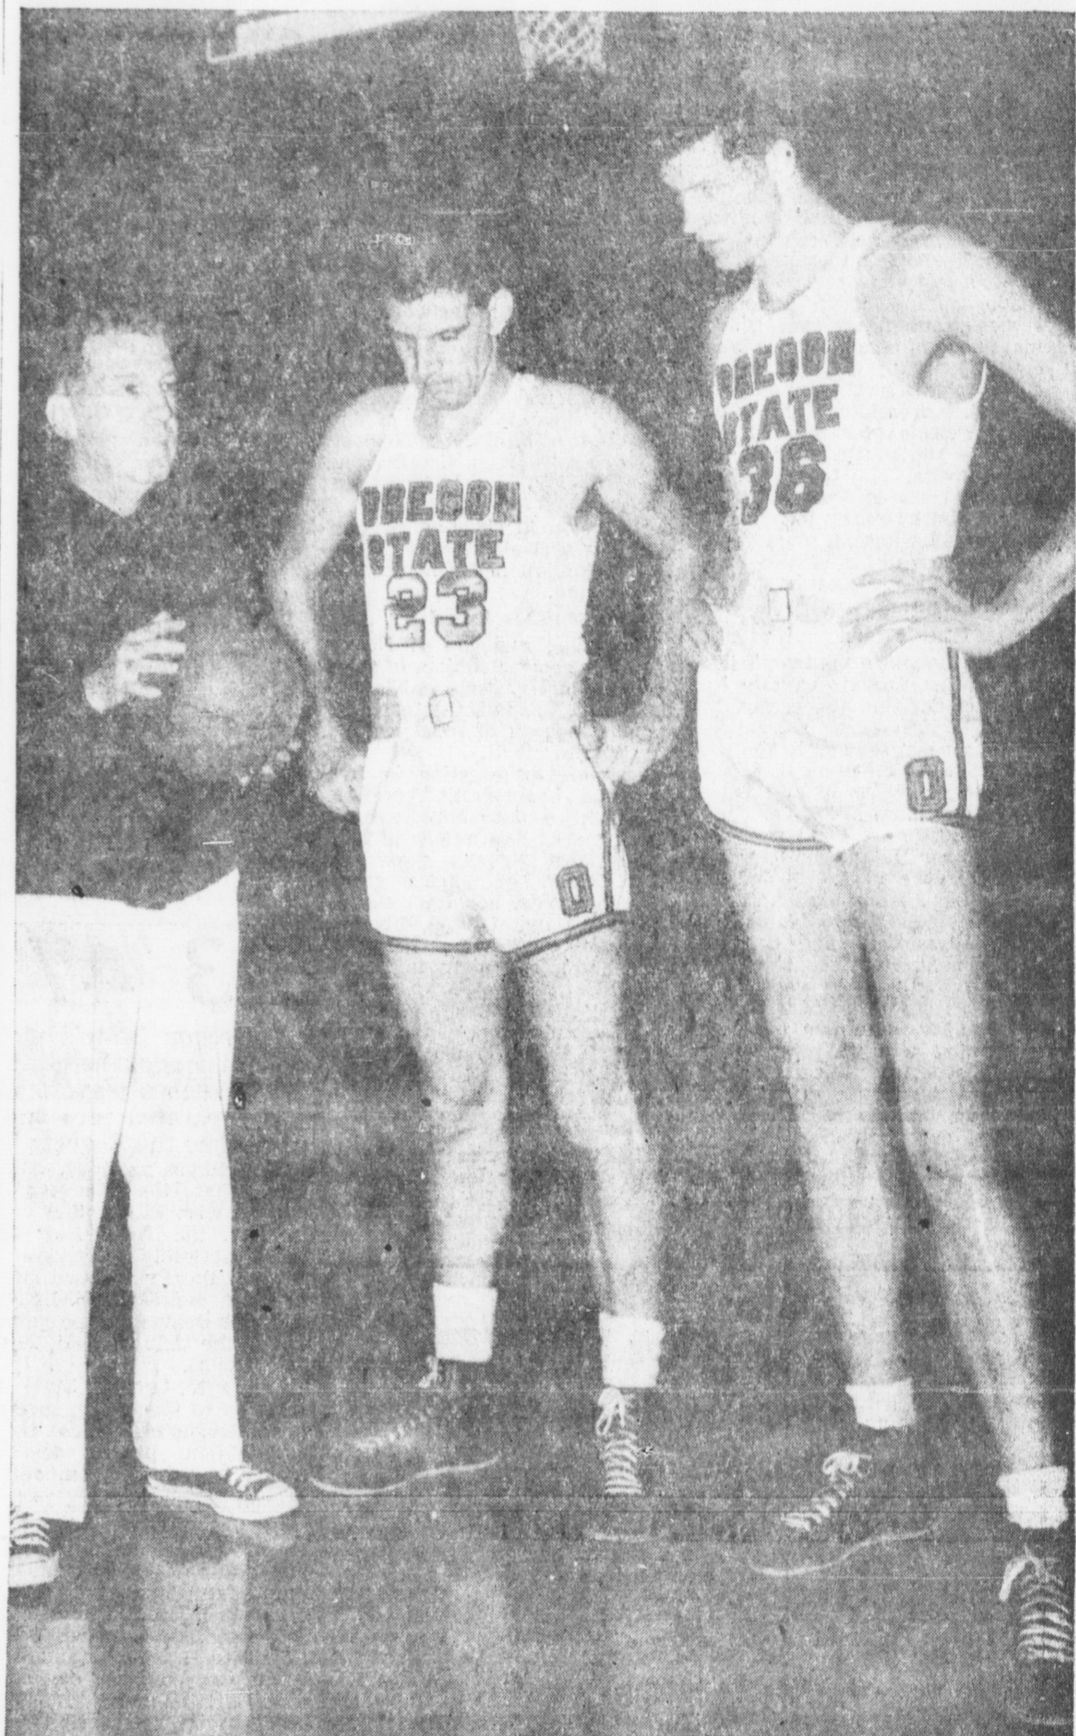

JAY DEAN doesn't stand high in the Oregon State scoring statistics, but is invaluable to the team as a "feeder" for other players. Dean, a 6-foot, 5-inch forward, has a knack of spotting the slightest opening in the opponent's defense, and whipping a pass to a teammate in scoring position.

RON ROBINS, with his accurate long set shots, has earned the title "mister outside" of the Oregon State team. Robins, with 531 points so far in his OSC career, ranks among the top 10 Beaver scorers of all-time. Robins is a senior from Coos Bay.

LEADING SCORERS — Oregon State basketball coach Slat Gill talks over strategy for this weekend's PCC playoff series with his two leading scorers, 73 Wade "Swede" Halbrook, left, and Tony Vlastelica, the hookshot expert from Aberdeen, Wash. These two Beavers will be expected to provide much of the Oregon State scoring punch against the fast-breaking and high-scoring Uclans.

Playoff Teams Boast Six Four-Year Lettermen

"Experience is the best teacher" and these words were never more true as six four-year lettermen will compete this weekend when the Beavers of Oregon State lock horns with the Bruins of UCLA. These two, and possibly three, encounters will decide who will wear the Pacific coast conference banner into the NCAA western regionals, March 11 and 12.

The players in question have lettered three times already for their respective schools and in the process of earning their fourth. This cannot be done today nor could it be done very many times in the past. When the Korean war broke out in 1952 the fathers of the PCC decided that since the war was draining off some of the college-age men it would make freshmen eligible for varsity competition.

Bane Is Top Scorer

The luck few who made the varsity teams in their third year are now hardened and seasoned veterans. For UCLA they are Ronny Bane, a forward who is one of the Bruins leading scorers. Bane, who comes from Alhambra, California, is one of coach Johnny Woodson's outstanding players. He scored 216 points last year.

Another prominent name in basketball circles for the last four years in the southland is that of Donn Bragg. The team's second leading scorer this year, Bragg is considered by many to be one of the finest basketball players ever to play in California. He is six feet-four inches and hails from San Francisco.

Bragg Wins Award

Bragg has been the team's leading scorer, team captain, all Southern-Division twice, and has received the team inspirational award for last season. Bragg, who like Bane, is twenty-one, was an honorable mention in 1952 and on the second team in his sophomore year, 1951.

The other Uclan who has three years of varsity play behind him is fabulous Johnny Moore. The six-foot-five inch Negro teams with Bane at forward and can also play center. Rival coaches have long awaited the day when Moore would be only a memory and not an actuality as he does just about everything with that basketball.

Moore will be, with Naults, in Indiana, led the Bruins in scoring in 1953 with 315 points. He was also on the second all-Southern-Division team for the past two years.

Moore will be, with Naults, in the UCLA center, a thorny duo in OSC's side as both men are top rebounders.

Robins Is Outside Shooter
The third member of Oregon State's four-year letterman needs no introduction. He is little Ron Robins, a five-foot-eight inch guard who will reside in the memories of all Beavers for a long time.

Playing under Bill Borchert at Marshfield High School, Ron has been chosen on the all-Northern Division second team for two years and will be a strong contender this year for further honors.

Bruin Boss

JOHN WOODEN, UCLA basketball coach since 1947, has coached Bruin teams to four Southern division championships and two PCC crowns. His UCLA teams have compiled a record of 141 wins and 4 losses, a winning average of .77.

'33 '47 '49 Teams Have Won Crown

Oregon State's playoff series with UCLA starting tonight marks the ninth time the Beavers have participated in such a playoff since the Pacific Coast Conference was separated into two divisions in 1922-23 - and the third time the Beavers have met the Bruins in the playoff.

Both Times Previous, 1947 and 1949,

the Beavers have tangled with UCLA, they've won. In 1947, the Thrill Kids of the Rocha-Beck-Silver-Crandall days clubbed the Bruins two straight, 69 to 52, and 63 to 46. In 1949, it took the Beavers three games to thump the Uclans, 53-41, 39 to 46, and 41 to 35.

The 1947 Oregon State team went on to place fifth in the national tournament while the 1949 aggregation placed fourth in NCAA tournament competition.

Oregon State's overall PCC playoff record stands at 10 wins and 12 losses, the only other winning year besides the two UCLA series in 1933 when the Ed Lewis-led Beavers dropped Southern Cal 35 to 33, 28 to 30, and 25 to 19.

The Oregon State cagers have met USC the most times in the PCC playoff, four, and have met UCLA twice and Stanford and California once each.

In 1925, the Beavers, whose overall season's record was 29-8, met California in Corvallis. The Beavers and Oregon had tied for the Northern Division title with 7-2 records, and the Staters dumped the Ducks two out of three in the ensuing playoff, winning the opener in Eugene 15 to 12, losing at Corvallis, 23 to 21, and winning the third game in Salem, 27 to 26, as an Oregon after-the-gun-sounding free throw rolled off the front rim no good.

Zone Defense Gives Cal Win
In the PCC playoff at Corvallis, Coach Bob Hager's men drew Washington one night in Seattle, victory, Nibs Price's Bears switched from a man-to-man defense to a zone the next two nights and won handily, 32 to 17, and 33 to 12.

Carlos Stele and Red Ridings of the Beaver team were both selected all-ND and all-PCC in 1925. Steele was given All-American mention by the Helms Athletic Foundation. Pete Stoddard, Louis Baker, and George Brown all received Northern Division honorable mention.

Slats Gill's first Northern Division (and PCC) championship came in 1933. That year, the Beavers won 12 and lost four in ND play, finishing the season with a 21-6 record. 6'5 1/2" Ed Lewis, one of the greatest ever to play basketball at Oregon State, led the Beavers that year. Lewis was named All-American, and Skeet O'Connell was named All-ND and second-string All-PCC.

Ernie Holbrook's famous last-second shot in the 1933 PCC championship game against USC, which won 21-19, is still remembered by many Beavers fans.

work. Halbrook had 12 and Robins 10 for Oregon State.

The next weekend, Tippy Dye's Washington Huskies invaded Corvallis for what most basketball experts said would be one of the key series of the league play. Washington had all but one man back from last year's second place team, and were expected to battle with Oregon State for the Northern division flag.

Bevs Dump Huskies Soundly

The first game was strictly no contest. The red-hot Beavers were never behind, and finished with a 66-to-38 margin. In the first half, OSC shot a torrid 45, and finished with 407. Halbrook climbed up the scoring ladder with 16 points, while Larry Paulus had his best night of the year with 11.

The Huskies put up more of a battle in the Saturday night game, but were no match for one of the greatest one-man performances in the history of the league. Talented Tony Vlastelica was the red-hot runner that broke the Huskies' backs, the Gillmen winning 70-to-

63. The transplanted Aberdeen athlete fired 26 times from the field, and 15 of them found their mark, most of the baskets coming on spectacular long one-handers or hooks. He added three free tosses to finish with 33 points, the fifth best individual effort in Oregon State history. Halbrook trailed with 19.

The first two games of the "Civil War" series between Oregon and Oregon State the next weekend brought the two largest crowds ever to watch basketball games in the state of Oregon. The first game at Eugene attracted 10,321, a new McArthur court mark, while the finale at Corvallis drew 11,315, a new Gill Coliseum record.

Beavers Squeeze Out Wins

Both games were full of thrills, with the Beavers squeezing through with two and three point victories. In the Eugene game, Vlastelica continued his fabulous point-making with 24 points in the 56-to-53 win, taking up the slack for the absence of Swede Halbrook, who was dropped from the squad during the week for disciplinary purposes. Halbrook showed a desire to play, and was returned to the team for the Saturday night game, but played only five minutes and scored but 1 point.

The second game was the spindler of the two, going into an overtime period before OSC won out, 56-to-54. It took a long two-handed set shot by little Rob Robins in the last three seconds of the extra session to give the Orangemen their two-point win. Again Vlastelica was top point maker with 19, with Halligan and Robins centering 10.

Beavers Moved to Seattle

After these two hard-fought games, the unbeaten Beavers traveled north to Seattle for their third tough series in a row. With Halbrook back in the fold, the Beavers came through with a 55-to-51 win in the first game, mainly due to a terrific 15-point outburst by substitute guard Bill Toole. Toole hit 10 of his points in the closing minutes to bring OSC back from a five-point disadvantage. Halbrook and Robins were the other Gillmen in double figures with 13 and 11.

The first-up visitors made it eight straight wins the next night with a 57-to-43 triumph. Halbrook finally broke the 20 point barrier with 21 tallies, while slim Reggie Halligan hit 11. The Beavers were in complete control on the backboards, with Halbrook and Dean out rebounding the entire Huskies' team.

String Goes to 10 Straight
With the championship almost sewed up, the Beavers made it ten straight with two over Idaho at Moscow. The first night score was 58-to-52, while the Saturday night margin was 69-to-63. Halbrook began to hit his scoring stride during the series with 48 points.

The Vandals then journeyed to Corvallis for a two-game set, and went home on the short end of the score both times. The league leaders raked up 80-to-65 and 67-to-56 wins. Swede Halbrook broke the Northern division rebound record each night with 32 and 36, in addition to scoring 62 points. Vlastelica was next top gunner with 25 points.

Bennick Sparks Upset
After winning their 13th straight against WSC in Pullman, the big upset finally happened Saturday night when Ron Bennick fired in a long jump shot with two seconds left in the game to give WSC a surprising 68-to-66 win. The basket was Bennick's 31st and 32nd point of the night, with Center Bill Rehder following closely with 26. A 29-point effort by Swede Halbrook was the Beaver high.

OSC had won the first of the two games, 73-to-61, with Halbrook scoring 24 for top honors. The Beavers closed out their Northern division season with a pair of victories over their arch-rivals, the U. of Oregon. In a low-scoring first game, the Beavers came out on top 53-to-44, but broke loose for a 68-to-58 triumph in the finale, after leading by 25 points at one time.

Halbrook finished the season with 36 points in the two games to give him 294 in 13 Northern division contests, good for third place in the league behind Jim Loscutt of Oregon and Dean Parsons of Washington.

great Illinois team in Seattle for the national crown. Kentucky dropped the Aggies for the national crown. Last year's Beavers, 11-5 in Conference play, lost out to USC fourth in the nation, in three games in Long Beach. The Trojans won the first contest, 53 to 48, but the Beavers came back to take the second game, 65 to 47. USC won the final encounter, 48 to 45, despite Swede Halbrook's 22 points.

The 1954 OSC record was 19-10, including a 67-to-51 win over the 1953 national champions, Indiana, who had everybody back from the '53 team and won the Big 10 championship, only to lose out to Notre Dame in NCAA play. Halbrook was a unanimous All-PCC and All-ND selection.

Photo Highlights of the Beavers' Record-Breaking Year

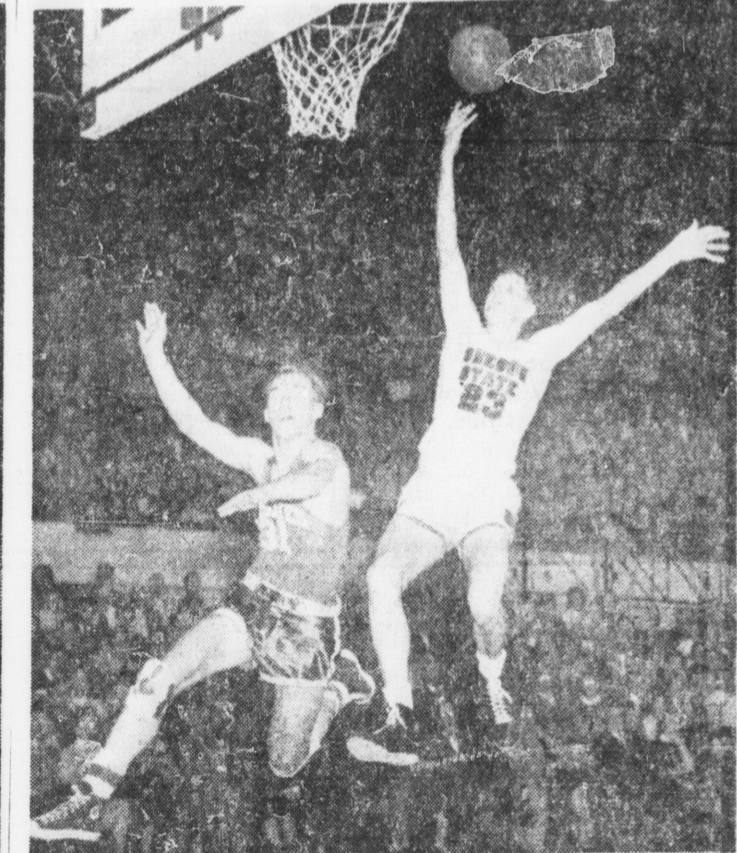

TEAM CAPTAIN NJAY DEAN is shown receiving the Chancellor's trophy from Chancellor Byrne after the Beavers had taken four straight from the Oregon Ducks. The trophy is given each year to the winner of the series between the two schools, and in the three years since it was founded, the Beavers have had possession of it every year.

PINT-SIZED RON ROBINS races off the floor after sinking the game-winning shot in the last three seconds of an overtime period to give the Beavers a hard-fought 56-to-54 win over the Oregon Ducks. Teammate Ron Fundingsland gives Robins a well-deserved pat on the back.

THE RETURN OF 73 SWEDE HALBROOK was one of the big reasons for the fine record the Orangemen rolled up in league play. Hebe Halbrook is shown jumping one in his opening game against Washington State over Ron Bennick's guard. Halbrook averaged 19.6 points per game in 15 Northern division contests.

A 33-POINT OUTBURST BY TONY VLASTELICA against the University of Washington was the high individual effort of the year for the Beavers. Vlastelica hit everything from hooks to one-handed push shots, sinking 15 baskets and 3 free throws for his 33-point effort. Here Tony is shown driving in for a cradle after stealing the ball and going the length of the court during his great night against the Huskies.

OSC Daily Barometer, Friday, March 4, 1955

The 1955 Beaver basketball team, after having finished the best Northern Division season in the school's history, enters the crucial PCC playoffs with a 9-7 win-loss record. After a poor pre-season schedule, in which they won but four of 10, the Beavers rampaged through the N.D. winning 15 of 16, including their first thirteen straight before being upset by Washington State.

Undoubtedly the biggest reason for the Beavers' lack-luster showing in the pre-season encounters was the fact that they were playing without the services of 73 center Wade "Swede" Halbrook, who was scholastically ineligible. Halbrook returned for the Northern Division schedule, but missed all the exhibition games.

Gillmen Troupe Hawaii, 69-47

The Gillmen opened their 1955 season against the University of Hawaii Rainbows at Gill coliseum. The more experienced Beavers had no trouble winning handily 69 to 47. Three Beavers hit double figures in the opening encounter. With Reggie Halligan hitting 18, Tony Vlastelica 16, and Ron Robins, tallying 14. Jay Dean had one of his best nights on the backboards with 16 retrieves.

On December 3, the Beavers journeyed to McArthur court in Eugene, where they met the California Bears in the first game of a double-header. Santa Clara trounced Oregon in the second game of the evening.

The Beavers had one of their worst first halves of the season, trailing 28 to 22. A third quarter rally paced by Tony Vlastelica tied the game at 40 to 40, but the Bears pulled through with a 52-to-50 win. Vlastelica was the only Beavers in double figures with 12 points.

The following evening, the four stand. Both games were a night-mare for Slat's Gill! outfit. They had trouble in their shooting, ball handling, and defense. Santa Clara got back for their earlier defeat by posting a 57-to-48 win, while powerful USF rapped up a 30-to-34 shellacking.

The Beavers returned home to play a single game with Seattle University on December 21, and scored a 63-to-58 win over the Chiefs. The team regained their shooting eyes, firing at a 40 clip for the game. Vlastelica found the scoring range again with 22 points, while feeder Jay Dean turned scorer with 15. Gill also played 7 sophomore Phil Shadoin for the first time, and the big fellow came through with 7 points.

Swede-less Beavers Clobber WSC

After the Christmas holidays, the Northern division champs went to Seattle to participate in a two-night Northern division tournament, with all league teams but Oregon present. On opening night, the Beavers had no trouble letting past Washington State, 38 to 48, but ran into trouble with the tough Washington Huskies Saturday night. Shadoin scored against WSC.

The two teams battled on even terms throughout the thrill-packed contest, and ended in a 65-to-65 deadlock. Three points by Jim
