

Oregon AWS Workshop Will Be Held at OSC; Delegates to Trade Ideas

Coming from six Oregon colleges 44 delegates will take part in the first Associated Women students state workshop, to be held today from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Memorial Union.

Officers and advisers of AWS groups at Oregon State college, Pacific university, Southern Oregon College of Education, University of Oregon, Vanport college, and Willamette university will take part in the workshop, the first state-wide meeting of its kind. Morning and afternoon discussions will be conducted to exchange ideas on leadership and activities, and to give help to newly-organized AWS groups.

Mrs. Strand to Welcome Delegates

Delegates will register in the Memorial Union east upstairs hall from 9 to 10 a.m. Mrs. A. L. Strand, wife of the college president, and Miss Mary I. Bash, dean of women, will open the workshop in M.U. 207 and 208 with welcoming speeches at 10 a.m. Guests will be introduced by Janet Albert, '53, state workshop chairman.

Delegates from Willamette university will then give a report of the AWS national convention last spring at Purdue university. Miss Martha Morton, assistant dean of women, will give a short talk to set the theme of the workshop.

Sally Shideler, '52, AWS president at OSC, will head the leadership discussion beginning at 10:40 a.m. Dan W. Poling, dean of men, will speak on "AWS on the Campus" at a luncheon in the Memorial Union tearoom at 11:45.

Activities will be the theme for the afternoon, and will be featured in a discussion to be led by Nancy Allison, University of Oregon AWS president, at 1:15 p.m.

Following the discussion will be a coffee hour and a display in the AWS office. Publications such as the Co-ed Code and Mothers weekend programs, plus publications of other AWS groups will be shown to provide more ideas and to give the delegates something they can take home, according to Miss Albert. A final summary of all meetings will be given by Miss Albert to close the workshop at 4 p.m.

Council to Act as Hostesses
Members of AWS legislative council of OSC will be hostesses. AWS secretaries Helen Rice, Pat Marshall, Patty Daum, Billie Hargraves, and Evelyn Caniparoli, all '55, will take notes at all meetings, to be later mimeographed and sent to delegates.

Committee chairmen working with Miss Albert are Marie Ziegler, '52, registration; Phyllis Heilig, '53, program; and Pat Thompson, '54, publicity.

Moonshiners' Stills Flourish at Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 16-(UP)—The Harvard Crimson, student newspaper, said today moonshiners were operating in the university dormitories, and carried a photograph "to prove" it.

"Three stills have definitely been in operation during the past two months while four others have been reported but as yet have not been uncovered," the Crimson said.

The newspaper said it understood all the liquor made was for "home consumption" and there had been no reported cases of illness caused by the illegal liquor.

The picture carried on the Crimson's front page showed only what might be a small still with no identifying background to show where the photo was taken.

Article by Kirkendall Published In Magazine

"Now It's Marriage in the High School," an article by Lester A. Kirkendall, associate professor of family life, appears in the September issue of the Oregon Education Journal. The Education Digest and The Clearing House, an educational magazine, are planning to print Professor Kirkendall's article.

In the article, Kirkendall tells that marriages among high school youth are increasing. He outlines circumstances bringing about these marriages and states that students sometimes use marriage as a means of escape.

"The presence of married pupils is sometimes regarded as an unsavory influence on the other pupils," Kirkendall writes. Information given would be better from a

Varsity Riflers Choose Officers

Jack Nelson, '52, was elected president of Oregon State varsity rifle team at a regular meeting Wednesday night in armory 207. The vice president elected was Gordon Knapp, '52, and secretary-treasurer, Rowan O. Brick, '52.

Matches that will be handled by the varsity rifle team this term were also discussed. It was decided that they would hold individual competitive matches between the members December 2.

There will be a shoulder rifle match with either Corvallis rifle club or Corvallis Moose rifle club in December. This will give the members practice for the Randolph Hearst rifle tournament to be held at the college range December 15.

The turkey match to be held November 19 at the college range was also discussed. The members were reminded by Maj. Henry Butherus that any member is eligible to compete in the turkey shoot.

Early Phonograph Given to Museum

An early talking machine, the predecessor of the modern phonograph, is one of the most recent additions to the Horner museum. The talking machine was one of the first of its type to be made, and is relatively small in comparison with the phonographs of later years. The volume of the records played was amplified by means of a large attached horn.

The talking machine was donated to the museum by George Kelley of Santa Barbara, California. This and many other articles may be viewed at the museum from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, from 10 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m. on Saturday, and from 2 until 5 p.m. on Sunday afternoons.

Students to Visit Industrial Plants

Two industrial plants will be visited by members of the Society for Advancement of Management during a field trip Friday, November 30, to the Portland area.

The ALCOA rod, wire, and cable fabricating plant in Vancouver, and the new Oregonian publishing plant are on the schedule for the trip, it was announced at the SAM meeting Thursday night by Lyle Weatherbee, graduate, program chairman.

The ALCOA plant is under security restrictions, so a list of all who plan to make the trip must be obtained so it can be approved. Sign-up lists will be posted on the industrial arts and engineering bulletin board next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Carpenter Will Play; Tickets Still on Sale

The crowning of the Little Colonel for 1952 by Governor Douglas McKay will be the main event of tonight's annual Governor's ball. The five finalists are Margaret Shanks, Diane Newland, and Marilyn Renn, all '54; and Joan Baird and Darlene Fields, both '55. Beneath each girl's picture there will be a mortar in which the dancers will place their votes. The winner will be crowned and presented with a permanent trophy during intermission.

Ike Carpenter, "New King of the Keyboards," and his orchestra will provide music for the dance. The Carpenter band has received wide acclaim on the Pacific coast for its smooth, danceable music.

Decorations Include Flags
Decorations for the dance will include flags of all nations, military equipment, an insignia from each branch of the service. Members of Scabbard and Blade, sponsors of the ball, will be present in full dress uniforms, but the wearing of uniforms is optional for other students. The dance is open to all students on campus.

Tickets will be on sale in the Memorial Union this morning from 8:30 to 12. They will cost $2.60 per couple and will be sold at the dance for those who did not get tickets earlier. The ball will be held from 8:30 to 12 p.m. at Gill coliseum.

"Colonel" to Be Honored
The dance will be the beginning of the honors the Little Colonel will receive throughout the remainder of the year. With her four attendants she will be guest of honor at the annual Scabbard and Blade banquet, decorate outstanding ROTC students, and attend other functions connected with the ROTC department.

Carpenter was a featured concert artist before he started his band. He is known for his outstanding performance at the piano. His band played at the University of Oregon last year for the Homecoming dance and the Mortar Board ball. The young band leader has turned out such fine arrangements as Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" and an original jump tune, "Screamliner."

Film Brings Reaction Of State Department

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16-(UP)—The state department said today it hopes the Twentieth Century Fox film, "The Desert Fox," will not be shown in Germany because of possible "unfortunate" effects on the German people.

But an official said the department has no legal power to keep the picture out of German theaters. The film depicts the exploits of Nazi Gen. Erwin Rommel in Africa during World War II.

Four Jewish organizations have cabled to U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy in Germany protesting any display of the film to German audiences.

The cable, terming the movie a "glorification of Rommel and a virtual whitewash of Nazism," was sent Thursday by the Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A., the American Jewish Congress, the Jewish Labor Committee and the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

The state department released a letter from Geoffrey W. Lewis, acting director of its bureau of German affairs, Paul Ginsburg, national commander of the Jewish War Veterans.

It said the state department "shares your concern over the production at this time of a motion picture tending to glorify the career of a Nazi general." It added that the point had been made to officials of Twentieth Century Fox when plans to make the film were disclosed.

"The representatives of Twentieth Century Fox decided, however, to proceed with the production, arguing that Rommel had never been implicated in the crimes of the Nazis, that his military conduct was above reproach, and that he had broken with Hitler during the war," Lewis wrote.

It recommended that journalists in all branches of the profession discourage the off-the-record press conference and refuse to accept gifts and gratuities from persons or organizations who make news.

to censor or distort or 'classify.' The journalism profession itself failed to escape the barbs of the freedom of information committee.

"Journalistic freedom is threatened from within as well as from without," the report said. "Loose practices in reporting and editing too frequently result in omission."

Beavers, Stanford To Vie in Crucial

Oregon State's underdog football team, currently assuming the role of "giant killers," clashes today with the rampaging undefeated Stanford Indians this afternoon in the Red Wave's home stomping ground at Palo Alto.

With eight straight wins behind them, the Indians go into the contest as two touchdown favorites, with the magic lure of the bid to the New Year's festivities in Pasadena to give them a little added incentive. However, Oregon State fans believe Chuck Taylor's crew is going to be in for a big surprise.

The Beavers have spent the week trying to get in the right frame of mind for this contest and they left Corvallis with the idea of bringing back a win.

Beaver hopes rest largely on a letdown which the Indians are expected to have after playing a whole of a game against USC last week. If the Orangemen can catch Coach Chuck Taylor's crew off guard early in the game, they have a good chance of finishing the battle with a victory.

After a week of rugged contact work on the fundamentals which were lacking in the UCLA game, Kip Taylor's men tapered off Thursday with a light drill. They arrived in Palo Alto yesterday afternoon and took a workout in the Stanford stadium to limber up.

The Beavers mentor will hurl his ground-gaining backfield combination of Gene Morrow, Dave Mann, Sam Baker, and Bill Anderson against the Indian defense. Mann and Baker are both up high in conference yardage statistics and will be a big threat to the Palo Alto eleven.

Mann is still hampered by a bruised arm received last weekend against UCLA, but is scheduled to start at the left halfback slot. The injury will undoubtedly hamper his effectiveness in the Beaver air attack and will leave most of the huriling chores to Morrow.

Beaver's working hand in hand with End Bill McColl, was the chief perpetrator of the rout which the Indians ran up over the Beavers in last year's homecoming game on Bell field. McColl is one of the top receivers in the nation, and Kerkorian currently is leading the PCC in passing statistics with 1012 yards in eight games.

Another big threat to the Beavers is Halfback Harry Hugasian, who runs and passes out of the left tailback slot. He banged over for one touchdown against USC Saturday and was in the Trojans' hair all afternoon.

Coach Kip Taylor will start his regular offensive lineup consisting of Dwane Helbig and John Thomas, ends; Doug Hogland and Herm Clark, tackles; Don Zarosinski and Jim Clark, guards; Pete Palmer, center; and Morrow, Mann, Baker, and Anderson or Gene Taft in the backfield.

Illinois to Seek Big 10 Clincher

NEW YORK, Nov. 16-(UP)—Unbeaten Illinois, favored but fearful, pinned its hopes today on passing Tommy O'Connell and dashing Johnny Karris to make the Illini "upset-proof" Saturday in their all-out battle for a Rose Bowl bid against upset-bent Ohio State.

Favored by seven points, the Illini have been warned to anticipate a fired up foe. They still can lose to the twice beaten, once tied Bucks and earn the bowl bid by downing Northwestern a week later but Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois obviously is gunning for a quick clincher this week.

A similar situation exists at the far end of the Rose Bowl road where unbeaten Stanford, favored by 13 points, can clinch a Rose Bowl shot against Oregon State this week—or, by losing, go down to the last chance against California next week.

The nation's other six major unbeaten, untied teams—Michigan State, Tennessee, Princeton, Maryland, Cincinnati and San Francisco—also are in action this weekend and at least two of them have major bowl business in mind.

Tennessee, favored by 14 points at Mississippi, is a candidate for the Southeastern conference crown and the Sugar Bowl. Maryland, Southern conference leader and potential Sugar Bowl foe, is favored by 26 points to down North Carolina State.

Dozen Eastern Quints To Appear on Coast

Pacific Coast conference schools will host a dozen topflight quintets from throughout the nation next month in pre-season tuneups to the 1952 basketball race, the PCC commissioner's office revealed today.

Included will be such nationally-recognized teams as Bradley, Wyoming, Utah, Wisconsin, Iowa, Northwestern, Ohio State, Kansas State, West Texas State, Memphis State, Denver, Montana and the Phillips 66 Oilers.

Two new conference coaches will be introduced the first weekend of play, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. They are Bob Burnett, who replaced Everett Dean at Stanford, and Bill Borchner, successor to John Warren at Oregon. Both were outstanding basketball players at the same schools where they now coach.

Three conference schools will appear in Christmas holiday tournaments in the midwest and south. Stanford is invited to the Big Seven tourney at Kansas City, Dec. 26-29; Southern California will play in the Dixie tourney, Dec. 27-29 in North Carolina, and Idaho is slated for the Oklahoma City tourney, Dec. 27-29.

SPORTS pressbox patter

Having lost our regular prognosticator to the convention call in the East, we'll try our hand at the nerve-wracking chore of picking the winners among the nation's top gridiron contests this afternoon. It seems to make no difference who sticks their neck out and tries to call 'em in this topsy-turvy season. None of the more fabulous predictors have been doing too well, so we throw our hat in the ring and flip a two-headed coin for the winner.

OREGON STATE over STANFORD... Three tough ball games in a row are behind the Indians and a letdown is in order for Chuck Taylor's crew. In the meantime, the Beavers are to be "up" for this one and a win will look awfully good on the final season's standings...

UCLA over WASHINGTON... While the Huskies looked strong against Cal last weekend, the Bruins are on the comeback trail and still have a slight chance for a crack at the Rose Bowl.

CALIFORNIA over OREGON... The Quackers have spirit; Cal has a football team.... 'nough said. The Bears, 40 to 7, without the aid of Olszewski.

WASHINGTON STATE over MONTANA... The Cougars step out of the PCC for a breather before the big one against Washington next Saturday... Forest Evashevski's men should run rampant over the battered Grizzlies.

Michigan State over Indiana... The Spartans like the glitter that goes with being the top team in the nation... Bigge Munn's boys by three touchdowns.

Illinois over Ohio State... You can make your own decisions, too... we're sticking with the Rose Bowl favorites, but it could go either way at the drop of a hat. The Illini's Johnny Karris may mean the difference.

Notre Dame over North Carolina U... The Irish bounce back after last week's shelling at the hands of MSC. They're still a big name in college football.

Pennsylvania over Army... The Cadets have made a valiant comeback with their scandal ridden squad, but nothing hurt the Quakers. The Black Knights are running into "black nights."

Columbia over Navy... The fleet gets torpedoes again. The Lions' air attack will remind the middies of the battle of Midway.

Purdue over Minnesota... The Boiler-makers slip a "mickey" to the rapidly improving Gophers.

Princeton over Yale... Ponderous Herman Hickman's "lifetime contract" is riding on this one... As they say at Washington, "So Long, Herman."

Michigan over Northwestern... The Wildcats step into the jaws of the Wolverines in a close one.

Duke over William and Mary... Bill and his girl are splitting up after this season... They're incompatible...

Tennessee over Mississippi... The Vols have eight straight wins to date; what's Ol' Miss done of late?

Texas over Texas Christian... This is why we're using a nickel... It says heads, so Texas by three points.

Oklahoma over Iowa State... Oooh! Those rich oilmen loaded the Sooners with talent... It'll be murder!

Southern Methodist over Arkansas... The Razorbacks won't be sharp enough to slow down SMU's vaunted aerial circus.

Alabama over Georgia Tech... We're sticking our neck in the noose, but 'Bama has the heavier line.

Vanderbilt over Tulane... Another close one... Wade's passing is the key to Vandy's attack. The Commodores by six.

Mississippi State over Louisiana State... How'd I get in this racket?

Maryland over North Carolina State... You think this is easy? Miami over Florida... Why don't you try it?

Baylor over Wake Forest... My nerves are shot. Colorado over Nebraska... The dean of men wants to see me.

Missouri over Kansas State... So does the registrar. Harvard over Brown. That's enough... I'm going to a TGIF meeting before this nickel wears out.

The Oregon State college varsity rifle team will compete in the inter-collegiate sectional rifle tournament December 22 at the Washington State college rifle range. Tentative plans are now being made for the members of the team to attend. Five members making the highest score during practice will be eligible to compete in the tournament.

PDT, McNary Meet Monday In Trophy Tiff

The intramural football race will be climaxed Monday at 12:15 p.m. when McNary hall, independent champion, meets Phi Delta Theta, fraternity crown winners. The site of the play-off game is to be field one, located next to the tennis courts.

The same two teams met in the championship game last year when McNary edged the Phi Deltas 7 to 0. For McNary it will be a try for the fourth consecutive all-school championship. The Phi Delt team will be out to gain its third crown. Back in 1934, when touch football was just beginning to take hold on the OSC campus, the PDT's gained their first intramural crown. They waited 13 years for their second crown which came in 1947.

This year McNary's team is as strong if not stronger than their preceding teams. They have won five league games as well as two extra games. McNary possesses a sharp running attack which is led by Mark Groves, one of the best intramural backs in the game today. Groves consistently gives his opponents trouble whenever he decides to run. When the McNary running attack slows down they manage to come up with a stellar passing attack. Jay Dean and Ed Hochino are the receivers with Groves doing the passing. Not to be outdone by the sparkling performances of its backfield stars are the McNary linemen. Fast and hard charging, they let the opposition know that large ground gains cannot be made against them.

Phi Delta Theta is going to be out to gain revenge for the first year's 7-0 loss, and they have a record of games won that might indicate they will. Their victims have been such teams as Sigma Nu, Sigma Chi, Alpha Tau Omega and for the fraternity championship, Beta Theta Pi. To go along with this the Phi Deltas have one of the most underrated quarterbacks in the league in Bud Berg. Dick Bayless is one more reason why the men from McNary are going to have a hard time of it.

Defensively for the Phi Deltas Don Jacobsen and Jerry McCafferty are the stars. Both are linebackers who possess considerable linebacking ability. In the line it is center Bill Turner who will be out to stop any line plunges that McNary will be trying to make. As far as comparable scores are concerned the two teams have had only one common foe and that was Sigma Nu. Phi Delta met the SN's in a regular league game and managed to rack up a 14-to-0 score over them. Later in the season and in the mud McNary had to be content with just a two point win over Sigma Nu. Both teams have scored impressive wins and both teams have had close shaves. Neither team possesses any great advantage over the other.

Beavers Seek Revenge In 'Little Civil War' Tilt

Oregon State's Jayvee football club will play its last game of the season today when the Beavers meet the undefeated Oregon Webfoots in the second game of the little civil war series. Kickoff time will be at 1:30 p.m. on Old Bell field.

The game should be a close battle. In the two teams' last meeting the Ducks eked out a 19-to-13 victory, but the Beavers are an improved lot since that tiff and are slightly favored to come out on top of the heap today.

Chase Scores High

High scoring individual in the postal rifle match against University of Montana and Kansas State college held last Saturday was Norman K. Chase, '54. The varsity rifle team lost to Kansas State college at the Oregon State college rifle range, last week, by a score of 1878 to 1865.

After a week's layover, the Beavers are well rested and ready to give the invading Webfoots a rough time. The Orangemen have kept in condition scrimmaging with Kip Taylor's varsity club. There will be no admission charge for students with student body cards and faculty with faculty cards. Faculty without cards and all others will be charged 60 cents, and children will be admitted for 25 cents.

Theory of OSC Graduate Denounced by Russians

Professor Linus C. Pauling, chairman of the department of chemistry and chemical engineering at California Institute of Technology, and a 1922 graduate of Oregon State college, was attacked by spokesmen of the USSR Academy of Science over his resolution theory of chemical bonds.

Pauling's theory was developed with the aid of students at University of Chicago. The theory explains problems stalling the progress in the study of simple bond structures.

The foundation of quantum mechanics permits problematic molecules to be fitted into the scheme of valence theory by a stable state attained in the bond structure by "resonance" of the bonds between various positions.

Compitello, a middleweight and former convict, was arrested after attacking Appell during a bout at Broadway arena, Brooklyn, last night. The referee had warned him several times about hitting foul in his fight with Tommy Reece, of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Witness to the bout said that Appell warned the Brooklyn fighter several times for "hitting on the break." When he stepped between the fighters in the third round to warn him again, Compitello knocked the referee to the canvas with his right hand to the nose and kicked him.

Six policemen escorted Compitello from the ring through the boozing crowd. Police records showed that compitello was convicted of grand larceny in 1944 and sentenced to three years in Elmira reformatory, the materialistic outlook of Soviet

Fish and Game Exams Slated

Civil service examination applications are now being accepted from fish and game students interested in fishery work.

The positions to be filled require men skilled in fishery methods and men qualified as equipment specialists. Work will be in connection with exploratory fishing methods, locating new fishing areas, appraisal of fishing resources, and establishing new techniques of capture.

Seattle Art Museum Plans to Purchase Jameson's Painting

A painting, "Serenade to a Doll," by James G. Jameson, art instructor at Oregon State college, has been recommended by a committee of Seattle artists for purchase for the permanent collection of the Seattle art museum.

The painting was recommended by the same jury who chose it for the thirty-seventh annual Northwest painting exhibit held at the Seattle art museum last month, according to Prof. Gordon W. Gilkey, heading the OSC art department.

Prison Breakout Driver's Mistake

FOREST GROVE, Nov. 16. (UP)—A possible "mass break" by 15 trustees riding in an Oregon state prison truck today turned out to be nothing more than a confused driver taking the wrong road.

State police and county sheriff's deputies dropped the search after prison officials reported the men had arrived at the Tillamook burn area to do reforestation work—more than an hour late.

The anxious officers had gone into action immediately when the driver failed to meet Warden Gene Halley at the west end of the Salem bridge. Halley said he was not overly concerned about the "wrong-way convicts" because of the maze of roads between Salem and Forest Grove.

Science knows more than 1,500 species of fireflies, says the National Geographic Society.

Ref Forgives Boxer For Getting Anxious

Pauling emphasized that any chemist would be greatly handicapped without the use of the resonance theory. This is true also of the teaching field of chemistry.

Late in the 19th century, the greatest event in the history of organic chemistry occurred in the creation of the theory of chemical structure by a Russian scientific genius, Aleksander Mikhaïlovich Butlerov.

Pauling was born in Portland, Oregon, and received his B.S. degree at OSC in 1922. In 1925, he received his Ph.D. at California Technological institute.
