Play Tickets Sell

Tickets will go on sale this morning at 9 a.m. at the College playhouse box office for "Born Yesterday," February 7, 8, and 9. Tickets will be 60 and 90 cents.

Bails to be Vocalist

Bails, Tenor, to Appear With College Orchestra

Larry Bails, '53, will be the tenor soloist in the music department concert February 13 at 8 p.m. in the College playhouse.

Bails has studied music at Oregon State college for the past two years and is the assistant director and manager of the a cappella choir. He is also choir director of the Christian church in Albany.

He will sing the widely-known number, "Where 'Ere You Walk," by Handel. This song is a solo for tenor voices and is sung in English with string accompaniment.

This will be Bails' first solo with the College orchestra under the direction of John O'Connor. Although this is his first appearance with an orchestra, he has appeared before many church groups and weddings. In 1949 Bails led the singing for Beaver Boys state.

The other soloists on the program will be Joanne Dwyer, '53, pianist; Glenda Cotton, '53, violinist; Ed Teriere, '52, baritone; and Helen Kern, '53, soprano.

Air ROTC Seniors Offered Grad Work

Graduate work is being offered by the United States air force institute of technology to air force ROTC seniors, Col. Rex W. Beach, professor of air science and tactics, recently announced.

Courses will be offered in foreign languages and technical fields such as aeronautical engineering, nuclear chemistry, biochemistry, and geo-physics. These courses offer opportunities for degrees at leading universities throughout the country.

Accepted students will receive full pay along with certain allowances and tuition. After completing the program, three years of active duty will be required.

Seniors enrolled in AFROTC must apply before April 15. Prospective applicants may receive additional information from Capt. J. Borgersen, or M/Sgt. J. E. Bullsey in coliseum 229.

Dance Classes Changed

Instructors' dance class Tuesday, February 5, at 12 noon and students' classes Wednesday, February 6, at 4 and 5 p.m. will be held in M.U. 105 instead of the Spanish ballroom. The change was made necessary by the atomic energy exhibit.

Cast Rehearses Kanin Comedy, Tickets on Sale

By DICK COYNER
Barometer Staff Writer

Opening night draws rapidly closer for "Born Yesterday," first play of the winter term, to be presented February 7, 8, and 9 in the College Playhouse. The tickets will go on sale at 9 a.m. today in the College playhouse box office. They are priced at 60 and 90 cents and all seats are reserved.

D. Palmer Young, professor of speech and dramatics, said yesterday that Milton Lewis, head talent scout from Paramount Pictures corporation, will be in the audience on Friday night. Mr. Lewis is a personal friend of Mr. Young. He will stop here on his way from Seattle for the University of Washington's dramatic festival Saturday, February 9.

Cast Members Listed

With the knowledge that expert eyes will be watching their performances, the actors are hurrying through final rehearsals striving for perfection. Rehearsals for the show will be starting early and ending late for the rest of the period before opening night.

The cast, consisting of Kathy Raffetto, Neil Sargent, Dick Coyner, Bob Campbell, Bob Simmons, Dolores Thompson, Reed High, all '55, Hank Suter, Susan Steed, Paul Fillingim, all '54, Jim Sexson, Larry Strong, both '53, and Lolly Pithoud, '52, dropped all prompts last Sunday. Only a few rough spots remain to be smoothed out.

Play Directed by Ulicio

The setting for the play is an ultra-modern Washington, D. C., hotel suite, complete with fireplace, liquor cabinet, and picture window. The three-act comedy, written by Garson Kanin, is being directed by George Ulicio, instructor in speech. The stage crew is under the direction of E. S. Cortright, associate professor of speech.

Kathy Raffetto, as Billie Dawn, is the dumb-blonde type who needs a lot of airing out. Every time she opens her mouth the wrong thing comes out. Harry Brock, a misguided millionaire, played by Clarence Suter, has the idea that Billie could "be learned to talk good, and to get along with the right kind of people."

Too late Harry suddenly discovers that his passion for educating Billie was a mistake. The teacher, Paul Verrall, played by Neil Sargent, is a young newspaper man with a lot of ideas. The result is a surprise ending with revolutionary thoughts and actions. Through it all, Jim Sexson, as Ed Teriere, Brock's lawyer and brain trust, suffers in vain as he strives to help Harry out of trouble and keep himself clear.

Fellowship President Will Visit Campus

Bob Inglis, president of the United Student Fellowship, will speak on the ecumenical student movement at Westminster house Wednesday noon, February 6. Inglis, a graduate of Stanford university, is touring campuses where student members of the United Student Fellowship are enrolled.

The tour is sponsored by the Congregational and the Evangelical and Reformed churches. Inglis will be the guest of Gene Paul, '53, at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house during his visit to the campus. All interested students are invited to attend the discussion and bring a sack lunch. Inglis will answer questions about Christian groups on other campuses.

Pastor to Lead IVCF Group Discussion

"Why Christianity?" will be discussed by Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship today at 5 p.m. in Memorial Union 105. R. D. Ohling, pastor of two Methodist churches near Junction City, will lead the discussion.

Mr. Ohling, a former chemical engineering student at Oregon State college, decided to enter the ministry while serving with the army in Europe.

All students are invited to the meeting.

Speakers Cancel Meet

Toastmasters will not meet tonight as previously scheduled. The next meeting will be held a week from today.

Workshop Changes Time, Holds Last Leadership Class

The last meeting of the Leadership Workshop will be tonight at 8:15 p.m., instead of 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in Memorial Union 208.

Mrs. Tracy Johnson, M.U. program consultant, will lead a discussion on types of leadership, specific leadership techniques, and basic needs of individuals which can be answered by good leadership.

The meeting tonight concludes the series of four leadership workshops. The purpose of the workshops has been to orient freshman and sophomore students as to the possibilities and opportunities in leadership at Oregon State college.

Don MacKenzie, '52, has been the student organizer and director of the group. The workshop was sponsored by the Memorial Union. Average attendance has been more than 50 students each meeting.

'Happy Valley' To Be Shown

The Memorial Union movie matinee will show three films tomorrow from 12 noon to 4 p.m. in M.U. 105. They are "Happy Valley," "Good Earth," and "Gracias Amigos."

"Happy Valley" is the color story of life on a Nova Scotia farm from spring to fall. "Good Earth" is Pearl Buck's story of the people of China. In "Gracias Amigos," Lowell Thomas tells and shows how our South American neighbors played a vital role in the war by providing us with needed raw materials, air bases, and military protection.

These films are shown free of charge and are for both entertainment value and educational worth. They are sponsored by the M.U. movie committee.

Film Club Sponsors Colored Slide Contest

A color slide contest will be held at 7:30 Thursday night in the Memorial Union council room. The contest is sponsored by the M.U. Camera club, and is open to all photography fans on the campus.

Five dollars worth of photographic material, of the winner's own choice, will be awarded the person who has the best group of five slides and the person who has the best individual slide. Two groups of slides may be entered by any one person.

The purpose of the contest is to stimulate interest in 35 mm. color photography and to build interest in a larger contest to be held this spring.

Judges will be selected from the persons attending. The judging will be based largely on general interest, although color composition will also be a contributing factor in deciding the winner.

Everyone is invited to come and watch, and those wishing to enter slides may bring them along. Refreshments will be served after the contest.

Ugliest Man Contest Announced, Students Will Choose Finalists

By KIRBY BRUMFIELD
Barometer Staff Writer

"Look for UMOG, what is UMOG, and UMOG is coming" are representative of signs which have been circulated over the Oregon State campus. What does it mean? The briefest answer possible would be that the posters are advance notice of the coming "Ugliest Man on Campus" contest to be held February 12 to February 15. During that time all members of the student body will have the opportunity of selecting the "Ugliest Man on Campus."

Each men's living organization will have a candidate in competition, Arthur Chiu, '52, general chairman of the contest, said yesterday. The contestants will use whatever disguise is necessary to make themselves look as grotesque as possible, but no masks will be allowed. No doubt the ingenuity of the students will be taxed to the utmost, commented Chiu. Pictures will be taken of the candidates and posted in Orange O and the Eager Beaver. These will be the only two voting places.

Each vote will cost a penny apiece, and this is one election where the students can stuff the ballot boxes to their heart's content, said Chiu. The five finalists will be presented at half time of the OSC and University of Oregon basketball game on February 15. A final vote will then be taken by the spectators and the winner will be announced later in the game.

The winner will receive an official Alpha Phi Omega UMOG key. Consolation prizes will be awarded the runner-ups.

The novel and unique contest is being sponsored by Alpha Phi

Special Show Of 'Alohaland' To Be Viewed

A special performance of "Alohaland," the annual Seahorse-Aquabat water aquade, will be held for children tomorrow night at 7:30 in the women's building pool.

Tickets for the show are on sale in the Memorial Union ticket office. All seats are reserved, and are 15 cents for children. Any adult accompanying a group of children will be admitted at the 15 cent price.

Regular performances will be given Thursday, February 7, at 7:30 p.m., and Friday, February 8, at 7:30 and 9 p.m. All seats will be 50 cents. Approximately 380 persons can be seated at each performance.

The Hawaiian theme of the water ballet will be included in every act of the evening. The deck of the pool will be decorated as a beach scene. Swimmers will wear hula skirts, leis, and other Hawaiian garb in various numbers. Members of Orange O, women's recreation association service honorary, will usher in mumuus. Hawaiian students will sing songs of the islands between acts, and a demonstration of the hula will be given.

WRA members have been handling the mechanical end of the planning for the show, while Seahorse members have been acting as advisers. Lou Richardson, '53, is general chairman from WRA, and Wynona Gates, '54, and Diane Rimby, '53, are co-chairmen from Seahorses. Chairmen under Miss Richardson include Shirley Wygant, decorations; Marjorie Jeppesen and Merle Rhoten, costumes; Phyllis Godsey, lighting; Bev Tyckseon, properties; Nancy Morris, music; Elsie Laughlin, tickets; Donna Sparling, publicity; Shirley Murrell, programs; Lorraine Larsen, posters and displays; Winifred Johnson, invitations and ushering.

Seahorse members acting as advisers to the respective committee heads are Hope Holbrook, Helen Troy, Marlene Carr, Carol McClain, Jackie Morris, Barbara Fessler, Margaret Acton, and Barbara Smith.

Air ROTC Senior Receives Advance

Richard C. Johnson, senior in air force ROTC, was promoted to the rank of cadet colonel and named air force ROTC wing commander for the 1951-52 school year.

The promotion of Johnson and 100 other students of the senior division AFROTC at Oregon State college was announced in a recent air force release issued by Col. Rex W. Beach, professor of air science and tactics.

Those named as wing staff members, group or squadron commanders and promoted to the cadet rank of lieutenant colonel are: Richard D. Dierking, John A. Dies, Barton D. Fieldkamp, Richard G. Horne, Carl L. Koster, Richard B. Pererson, Yale W. Rohloff, John F. Thomas, Stanley E. Timmerman, and Ray A. York.

Home Nursing Class Announces Openings

Women students may still enroll in the Red Cross home nursing class under the sponsorship of Associated Women students. The class meets on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

This week the class will meet in the AWS office. Following meetings will be held in the basement of Sackett hall, unit A.

Student Donors To Give Blood

Sixty-two student appointments for blood donations at the Elks lodge tomorrow from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. have been made, said Jon Skovlin, Campus Red Cross blood drive chairman, yesterday.

The Benton County Red Cross chapter has asked the campus to contribute at least 50 pints of blood each month. Prospective donors are contacted by letters sent to each living organization by the Campus Red Cross. Each living group was asked to submit two donor pledges.

Walk-in blood donors are not assured of acceptance, according to Mrs. Margaret Turner, chairman of the Benton County Red Cross chapter. There are regular scheduled 15-minute periods for the donors and only one person can be taken care of at a time. Students who have not made appointments to give blood and desire to do so may call 3-6628 and arrangements will be made, if at all possible, for the student to be worked into the schedule.

The next blood drive this term will be March 4, when the Portland regional bloodmobile will again be stationed in Corvallis. A blood drive for spring term is also scheduled for May 13, 14, and 15, according to Jon Skovlin.

Y-Group to Discuss Republican Views

Republican candidates for the presidency of the United States will be discussed and evaluated in a panel discussion this evening from 7:15 to 8:30 p.m. at Sigma Phi Spilon, national social fraternity. Sponsored by the Political Effectiveness committee of Round Table, the discussion is designed to increase student interest and understanding of current political affairs, according to Ernest Waterman, chairman of the committee. The meeting is open to everyone, he added.

Participants in the discussion will be Norborne Berkeley, assistant professor of history, speaking in favor of Eisenhower; Pat Rodent, '55, speaking in favor of Taft; Bill Maxwell, '52, speaking in favor of Warren, and Bill Byers, speaking in favor of Stassen. Mrs. A. V. Logan, president of the League of Women Voters in the state of Oregon, will analyze the candidates on the basis of their records. Russell Maddox, assistant professor of political science, will help supply background information about the candidates.

This is the first in a series of discussions and forums on political affairs to be held this term by Round Table. Future meetings will deal with Democratic candidates and the issues involved in the election, such as the Universal Military Training plan.

Vets to File Changes, Registrar Requests

Veterans changing schools for the spring term should file their applications immediately, the veterans administration warned Monday. Applications for changes will be taken by the veterans' clerk in the registrar's office.

Veterans filing late will have to pay their fees while their applications are being processed. Veteran students are urged to get their applications in at once, to avoid possible delay.

Undergraduates and entering graduate students are affected by this order.

Pershing Drill Cancelled

The Pershing rifle drill, scheduled for 1 o'clock today, has been cancelled.

Food Tech Building Is Now Dedicated

Byrne Pays Tribute to State System Of Higher Education, Department Head

Tribute was paid to Oregon State college here Monday at formal dedication ceremonies for the new $750,000 food technology building as "an institution that dared to pioneer a new field in research and education after sensing a great need in the state and nation."

Dr. Charles D. Byrne, chancellor of higher education, brought congratulations from the state system not only for the most modern educational facilities for training food technologists in the country but also for the foresight that established patterns and programs in other higher educational institutions.

He also paid tribute to E. H. Wiegand, head of the department for the past 32 years, one of the pioneers in the industry.

The dedication program, held in the auditorium of the new building, brought several hundred educational officials, food technologists and other visitors to the campus. Mark S. Balaban of Cashmere, Wash., pioneer northwest food processor, spoke at the banquet Monday night concluding the day's program.

Dr. A. L. Strand, president of the College, said this new building and its equipment will mean an added responsibility to the institution. More ingenuity, more effort and more turning to fundamental science will be required in the future, he said, to maintain great advantages already made in food processing.

Building Is Part of Larger Unit

Pointing out that the greatest change that has come about in all scientific research in this generation has been the change from individual effort—or the effort of one department—to a broad cooperative effort between individuals, departments and institutions, President Strand said the new food tech building is one unit in a larger research organization.

"There are few experiment station research projects here that are wholly confined to work in one department," he explained. "Plants and animals don't grow by departments. Nature is a unit and its multitudinous and complicated inter-relationships know no departmental lines. Departments are useful mostly for making budgets and assigning office and laboratory space."

Building Shows Result of Effort

Dr. R. E. Kleinsorge of Silverton, chairman of the state board of higher education building committee, said the new food tech building represents what the board has been trying to do for the past 10 years. He predicted that its cost will be returned many times over to the state as its functions as an education and research center and its services to the food industry multiply.

Edgar W. Smith of Portland, president of the board, praised the educational and research work of the department and officially turned the building over to Dr. Strand. Professor Wiegand spoke briefly and introduced visiting food technologists from many other states. F. E. Price, dean of agriculture, presided.

Committee Views Other Details

Two other new Oregon State buildings came under observation of the board's building committee accepted, subject to completion of minor construction details, the new $1,900,000 Withycombe hall, headquarters for the animal and dairy husbandry department and the dairy manufacturing laboratory, and the first phase of the $900,000 home economics building program.

This first part of the home economics program was renovation of the present building, completed at a cost of $360,000. The balance of the amount will go for a new west wing which will be started as soon as weather conditions permit. Other members of the building committee here were Frank Van Dyke of Medford and Leith Fineseth of Dallas.

The department's 31st annual canners and freezers school, with students registered from most of the western states and even some foreign countries, will get under way Tuesday with more than a dozen nationally-known authorities supplementing the college staff as instructors. It will continue through Feb. 15.

Aggies to Show Farm Displays

Several phases of agriculture will be exhibited in the Memorial Union concourse next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. The display, arranged under the guidance of Alpha Zeta, agriculture honor society, will be presented in connection with the annual agriculture banquet February 14.

A rotating plaque, won by the Farm Crops club last year, will be awarded to the club display considered the best by the judges. The judges will be Paul J. Gunn, art department; S. A. Jackson, Benton county agricultural agent; and Dan Verhagen, Production Marketing administration.

This will be the first agricultural inter-departmental competitive display to be viewed in the concourse of the Memorial Union. Displays were formerly used as table decorations for the banquet.

Col. T. H. Lipscomb, Portland district army engineer, will speak at the banquet. F. E. Price, dean and director of agriculture, recommended that all students attend the banquet.

"The subject to be discussed by Colonel Lipscomb will be of interest to students in agriculture because of the fundamental factors in the development of the northwest. Flood control and water power development should be of particular interest to the present day student since he will see the work completed," Dean Price declared.

Alpha Zeta members appointed to plan the concourse display are Len Perlich, '53, chairman; Sidney Pearce, '52, and LeRoy Petersen, '53.

NYU Offers Grants To Retail Students

New York university school of retailing is offering 10 academic scholarships and four research scholarships to men and women college graduates who seek careers in retailing. To qualify for academic scholarships, students must give evidence of exceptional competence to engage successfully in the specialized program of advance study and supervised store experience that the school requires of those accepted under this plan. The applicant must also give evidence of a genuine need for financial help.

Applicants for research scholarships, besides meeting the requirements for the academic scholarships, must be prepared to complete research projects that are significant and creditable so that they are worthy of publication in a manner specified by the school of retailing. A year's free tuition is allowed the successful applicants.

Candidates should submit by May 1, properly completed applications, accompanied by the supporting data. They should include a brief statement of reasons why they request and why they are qualified to receive academic or research scholarships.

For bulletins and application forms, write to New York university school of retailing, Washington Square, New York 3, N. Y.

Toastmistresses Meet

The weekly Toastmistress club meeting will be held today at noon in the Memorial Union council room, said Margie Peak, '53, yesterday. All members and those interested in joining are welcome to attend.

Does it afflict you to find your books wearing out? I mean literally... The mortality of all inanimate things is terrible to me, but that of books most of all.

—Letter to Charles Eliot Norton

GI's Attend Universal School

Throughout the world today our service men are regularly enrolled students of American universities under the armed services' voluntary education program. More than 400,000 men—about one in every eight in the armed forces—are getting an education while in the services.

East, the University of California has 22 outposts from Tokyo to Manila. Men fly missions during the day and attend classes at night. Even in isolated detachments, from the Arctic to Africa, men may enroll for study. The U.S. Armed Forces Institute, serving the GI's, has grown into one of the biggest correspondence schools in the world. For a $2 fee USAFI will give any service man courses in any of 334 grade, vocational, and college subjects. It also offers extension courses from 47 cooperating universities.

Little Man On Campus—By Bibler

"Sometimes I suspect Professor Snarf isn't always fair with his B-Law students... he always seems a little edgy after mid-terms."

Campus Comment

DEAR EDITOR: Though I am not a car owner as yet, I feel that someone should attack this campus parking problem. Am I correct in assuming that one should obey the signs on the campus? Then why are state and government cars parking where it says "Student Parking—15 minutes only"?

Mitchum, Gardner Star In Suspense Drama

OREGON STATE New Orleans in the latter part of the 19th century is the setting for "My Forbidden Past." The plot revolves around the deliberate maneuvers of Ava Gardner to gain revenge from her former lover, Robert Mitchum, because he marries Janis Carter. Melvin Douglas is Miss Gardner's money hungry cousin. Douglas accidentally kills the new bride in a fit of anger, but he manages to pin the rap on Mitchum. The climax comes during the inquest at the courtroom when facts are being established concerning the murdered woman.

The Inquiring Reporter

By MARILYN ROHE What can the students do when they want to express their opinions on campus issues? They can tell their representatives on the senate or write a letter to the Barometer, and they will soon be able to express their opinions through a campus-wide poll. Here is an opinion poll on what students think of opinion polls. Bill Cook, '53: Look what the opinion poll did to Dewey. Mary Graiton, '53: I don't think they're very valuable but they're interesting. Bob Haydock, '52: I think that the most important issues can be better solved by voting, but if polls are carried out on a large scale you can get a good idea of what students think. Margie Agan, '53: I think they are a good idea—at least you can get a variety of answers. Corkey Field, '52: Are the suggestions followed up? If so, they're a good idea. Genevieve Nelson, '55: They're good if you get a cross-section of the campus. Bev Bau, '55: They give the average student a chance to voice his opinion on campus matters. Al Reynolds, '52: I think they are excellent if the opinions are considered and used for a sound purpose. Darlene Harmsen, '55: Hummm... interesting. Marilyn Biddle, '54: I've never thought much about them. All I do is read them.

Staters Overlook Training

In our modern age of speed, one never knows when he may be called upon to help in an automobile accident or any other type of accident, either. When such a need does arise, the person with some knowledge of first aid is indispensable. Again this term, interested students will have an opportunity to enroll for practical first aid instruction under the direction of the Red Cross. The first aid manual will be gone over under the direction of Mrs. Walter Adrian of the Benton county tuberculosis association. Practice in bandaging, splinting, and artificial respiration will be given. A first aid certificate is awarded on completion of the course. Anyone planning to work in civil defense will need such a certificate. More people are needed in the class which meets Wednesday nights from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in women's building 120. Interested persons are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to learn the elements of first aid. (M. S.)

Alumni Ramblings...

By TED H. CARSON Assistant Alumni Director Of all the nooks and crannies on the campus where the band and glee club might record their music this week, none seemed to fit. Alumni Director Bob Knoll and a representative of the eastern recording company wondered where they would finally end up. The Corvallis Elks club downtown building was finally decided on by Knoll, glee club director Don Sites, and band director Ted Mesang. This an exodus of OSC's music department will take place for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, will put down on wax such songs as the Alma Mater, Mighty Beavers, Toast to the Team, Hail to Old OSC, and several other numbers. The recording company from New Jersey is making a western tour of colleges and Monday and today are waxing the University of Oregon's music efforts. Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. they start on Oregon State. The official Oregon State college ring has been getting much attention from undergraduates lately. The seniors seem to have an eye on graduation because it takes approximately six weeks for a ring order to be filled. Thus, quite a few orders at the present time. Even the alumni have given the rings a good play. Hal Whiteside, '33, local merchant, placed his order and just the other day received his ring. The only trouble was the ring company was mixed up on orders and Hal's ring turned out to be some high school kid's ring. Undoubtedly a high school student somewhere in the U. S. is sporting an OSC ring, class of '33. Only trouble Whiteside reported was that the high school ring didn't fit. Good looking, though! A chat with the ring company representative the other day revealed that students who would like to buy the rings before the end of the school year had better start soon. The six weeks waiting period will be boosted to eight weeks when colleges all over the country start filling graduation orders. Anyone may look over the OSC rings in the alumni office in the M.U. Plans are also underway for the second annual Corvallis 30 Staters banquet honoring the basketball team. March 4 has been the date scheduled in the Benton hotel. Howard Jerrfries, '43, has been appointed chairman. Norm Carey, '49, former State hoop star, was back in Gill coliseum for the Bradley game Saturday night but this time as a spectator. Norm recently returned from Korea where he had seen much action. While walking down a Tokyo street just before leaving for the States, Norm ran across Merle Long, '42. Merle, by the way, has been seeing lots of Oregon Staters over in Japan. Nan Morrow, '43, a WAC, and stationed on Okinawa came to Japan on business and dropped in on Merle's office and they had quite a talk. Also Merle went to Kyoto on leave and while he was there went to Osaka and visited Mr. and Mrs. Julian Perryman (she is the former Marion Jean Kiersek, '45, of Corvallis). Born Yesterday, the Speech department's sparkling play, is undergoing last-minute polishing for the Thursday, Friday, and Saturday production. One of MGM's talent scouts, Milton Lewis, is said to be one of the Friday night theater-goers. The Oregon Stater magazine has spotted this play as a top hit and will be featuring Born Yesterday in its March issue.

Theta Sigs Theta Sigs will meet today at 5 in M.U. 101. Committee chairmen please have reports ready.

VA Officer Zeno H. Dent, Veterans Administration officer, will be at the registrar's office February 14, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., to interview and counsel veterans attending school under Public Law 16. Veterans desiring appointments are urged to contact Mrs. Ambrose in the registrar's office prior to that date.

Rodeo Club Rodeo club will meet tonight in Withycombe hall 206 at 7:30 p.m.

Senate There will be no meeting of the student senate tomorrow noon.

Phi Taus Initiate Ten Phi Kappa Tau, national social fraternity, initiated ten men last weekend. The new members are Bob Baker and Deryle Peters, both '53; Wilbur Harris and Dwight Higbee, both '54; Bob Billson, Dave Dickmann, Jerry Gillespie, Pete Marvin, and Clarence Townsend, all '55. Al Kim, '52, was initiated as an honorary member of the chapter.

Grad Assistantships Available to Women Applications for graduate assistantships in personnel at Indiana university will be received and acted on from February 1, through June 1. Stipends which cover room, board, and tuition are granted for half-time service in the women's residence halls. They are valued from $800 to $1000 a year. The assistants also carry a part-time academic program limited to a maximum of 10 hours each semester. The master's degree may be completed under this plan in four semesters. Graduate study may be pursued in education with a major in personnel work, sociology, recreation, and other related fields.

Smoke Rings Bulletin Bored—

By DICK COYNER Strong men are shuddering, weak men are fainting, and the weaker sex has gone wild. The occasion??? The arrival of that time of year during which men prefer to be out of town, the Mortar Board ball. This paper recently printed an article by two of my contemporaries which instructed women how to succeed in this social function. My purpose shall therefore be to help those of the male gender to escape this terrible fate. The first method of keeping the wolfesses away from your door is one which is mentioned many times a day over certain radio programs. "What's the matter, chum, won't your best friend tell you???" Yep, that old bug-a-boo known as B.O. This is the time to corner your best friend and find out if you really are that-a-way. If you are, you can stop worrying. If not—well, here are a couple of ideas. One: Wear the same clothes for the next week. Exercise faithfully and strenuously then, and never shower. Two: Don't wash... wallow. These methods are guaranteed to make you so repulsive that you will be lucky to find a girl that will speak to you, let alone escort you to MBB. Other Methods Given The second method in Uncle Smokey's file only applies to you if you are one of those who enjoy garlic, onions, and pepperoni. Whenever answering the door, grab a large mouthful of any of the above mentioned items and start chewing. If it is a girl and she wants to see YOU, exhale in her face and say that you are not in. This may not always discourage them, and they may then revert to the phone. (Oh, what a nasty word!) Upon receiving a call, simply say that you have already made reservations for one at "Born Yesterday," and that it is such a good show that you can't afford not to go. The result will be that you will end up free as a bird, and the woman will suffer a broken heart. Seeing how no girl should be left lonely in time of need, I will be happy to try and handle the surplus. For those girls who don't know me personally, I am 5' 11", have beautiful blonde hair, hazel eyes, am a terrific athlete, and own a new Cadillac. For those who do know me... oh, well, it was a good try, anyway. Son Misunderstood So today is Dads day. Reminds me of a story, like everything does sooner or later. A young college student went home to his father and wanted to know where he had come from. Now his father had neglected to tell him the facts of life before he went off to school, and this fact had continually bothered the old geezer. He sat down and wrote a 20-page letter to his son informing him all about life. It was truly a masterpiece of elderly ingenuity. A few days later his reply came back. "Thanks, dad, but doesn't that sound rather ridiculous. If Joe is from Glendale, how can I explain where I'm from with what you sent me?" Enough is enough. This country doesn't need a good five-cent cigar, all it needs is a good five cents. Goombye for now.

Is the northern division the roughest league in the nation or have the Beavers finally found a winning stride? That's the big question with Oregon State hoop fans. This question should be answered this weekend when the Orangemen meet the University of Washington Huskies. Orange Coach Slat's Gill still rates the Seattle team as one of the best in the nation, and from all observations the series this weekend should be rough for the Beavers.

We mention winning stride because the Beavers for the first time this season looked like a winning ball club as they took a pair from the powerful Bradley Braves. The Illinois team was riding the crest of a seven-game win streak when they met the Beavers last Friday on the floor of the Pacific International pavilion.

The game was nip-and-tuck all the way with the Beavers coming out on top, 57 to 53. Danny Johnston had the best day of his college career as he connected for 25 points to lead his teammates to victory. These 25 points, incidentally, were the most an OSC hoop artist has scored since March 4, 1949, when Cliff Crandall, Orange All-American, collected 29 against the University of Oregon.

Saturday at Gill coliseum the Beaver again whipped the Braves, but not without quite a tussle. At one time in the first half the Orangemen were behind by 11 points. Towards the end of the second quarter the game had its turning point. The reason was simple enough. The Beavers started getting more rebounds. And when a team gets rebounds it naturally gets more shots at the basket.

With the score reading 32 to 21 in Bradley's favor, the Beavers suddenly got hot. Jack Orr, Johnston, Tex Whiteman, and again Orr connected for buckets. Then Bradley sunk one for two points. Jim Padgett fired another in for the Beavers just before the half to make the score 34 to 31, a slim three-point margin.

At the start of the second half the Beavers quickly took over the lead and kept building it until at one time they were 10 points in front. When the final whistle sounded the score read 61 to 55.

Johnston was the big factor in the Beavers' win Friday night, consequently on Saturday the Braves concentrated on stopping him. And while partially stopping Danny, they overlooked Ron Fundingsland. Fuds, who was moved up to the varsity for the Bradley series, really came through. Probably a little tenseness Friday was the reason that he didn't dent the scoring column too heavy, but Saturday he really proved his worth, leading the OSC scoring with 13 points. He excelled in other ways also. His backboard work, setting up plays, and defensive ability were other good reasons why Gill expects to start him against Washington Friday.

The series with Washington is going to be quite a test for the Beavers. The Huskies are expected to be at full strength. Hob Houbregts is back in the lineup and leading the Huskies to many wins. In the first series at Corvallis, Houbregts was out of the lineup, but Washington beat the Orangemen twice minus his services.

After the Washington series the Beavers jump back to Corvallis where they meet Idaho Monday and Tuesday. Gill rates the Vandals as one of the nation's hoop powers, right along with Washington. The Orangemen have a four-games-in-five-nights itinerary, but so do the Vandals. They play Oregon on Friday and Saturday.

The Beavers will be doing well to win one tilt in each series. Let's hope they can do it.

OSC Riflemen Drop League Pacesetters By Eight Point Edge

The Oregon State college Varsity rifle team defeated Springfield in a close match at Eugene on February 1. Springfield, the leading team in the league, was defeated by a score of 941 to 933. This was OSC's second win to one loss for the season.

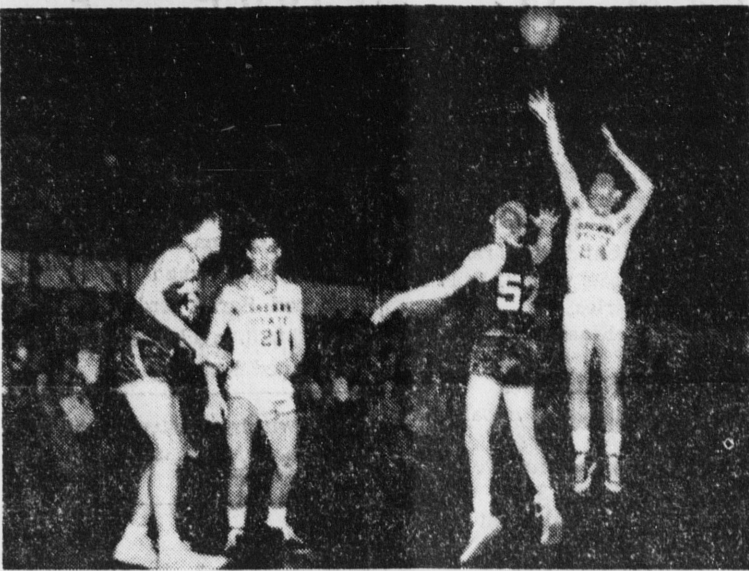

Virgil L. Hamlin, freshman, paced the OSC Varsity with 190 out of a possible 200. Jack H. Nelson, team captain, was second with 188 followed by Robert Honeycutt with 187; Gordon Hanson with 186; and Thomas J. Ebner, freshman, with 180. OSC was allowed a ten-point handicap for firing with iron sights.

Schliakus and Deed led the Springfield team with 188 each. Sweet was third with 187 followed by Brentlinger with 186 and Noshulu with 184.

OSC has a promising varsity rifle team as two freshmen, Virgil L. Hamlin (AROTC) and Thomas J. Ebner (NROTC) are among the top marksmen. Gordon Hanson is a junior and Jack Nelson, team captain (NROTC) and Robert D. Honeycutt (NROTC) are seniors.

The next Varsity rifle match will be fired February 6, with Shedd at Shedd.

Beaver Troubleshooters

WHEN THE USUAL starting quintet composed of mostly underclassmen failed to produce in Saturday's game with Bradley, Coach Slat's Gill switched back to his veteran performers who came through in the clutch. Stater Jim Padgett, 24, casts off before Brave Dick Estergard can check. Tex Whiteman, 21, screens another Bradley hoopster on the play.

Orange Quintet Rallies To Dump Bradley, 61-55

By JACK SALING
Barometer Sports Writer

Oregon State's comeback minded Beavers again accomplished what many thought was impossible when they defeated, for the second night in a row, the touring Bradley five by a 61-to-55 score before 5049 rabid Dads day fans in Gill coliseum Saturday night.

After trailing by 11 points at one time in the game, the resurgent Beavers fought back valiantly to subdue the visitors from Peoria, Illinois. A terrific comeback in the final stages of the first half and a great second half stand gave ally built up a 10 point lead, only to see it dwindle dangerously to five points as the Bradleyites proved they weren't through by coming back strong. But the Beavers regained their composure and bounded back into contention by freezing the ball for most of the remainder of the game.

Orange Hit Consistently
One of the main reasons for the Beavers' success was their ability to put the maximum number of shots through the hoop in a mini-

But the Beavers weren't through yet. With exactly one second remaining in the first half, Jim Padgett garnered a rebound and then put up a beautiful left-handed hook from the wrong side as the gun sounded to bring the Beavers to within three points of the invaders, 34-31.

The second half started out slow with neither team doing much for two minutes. But at this point Johnston hit a free throw, and Padgett tipped in a rebound. Orr hit another layin, and the Beavers had their first lead of the ball game at 36-34. From here until the end of the third quarter, the Orangemen slowly but method-

Mural Hoopmen Grab Close Wins In Round Three

Kappa Delta Rho, Peavy hall, and Alpha Sigma Phi all posted wins in Thursday night's intramural basketball action to keep their records clean and remain at the top of their respective leagues.

In A-G league contests, Peavy hall took over first place with a 27 to 20 victory over Cauthorn hall for their fourth straight win without a loss. Larry Brown paced the Peavy attack with 12 points to make him high scorer for the game. In other league action Weatherford hall broke into the win column by edging Ballard hall 26 to 22, and Jefferson hall beat Davenport house 25 to 14.

KDR's Edge LCA
Kappa Delta Rho eked out a 16 to 14 win over Lambda Chi Alpha in a close, low-scoring game. This gave them a season record of three wins against no losses to put them at the top of the A-A league. Gary Lindell accounted for 10 of KDR's 16 points.

Winning their second game without a loss, Alpha Sigma Phi topped Acacia 16 to 8 in the only A-E league contest of the evening.

Phi Deltas Top Scoring
Phi Delta Theta ran up the highest score of the night by whipping Delta Upsilon 41 to 18 in B-1 league play. Don Denman of the Phi Deltas was high scorer with nine points. Lambda Chi Alpha "B" kept pace by beating Kappa Delta Rho 31 to 21.

In the only B-2 game played Delta Tau Delta came out on the long end of a 26 to 13 score over Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Two class C games were played with Phi Gamma Delta edging McNary hall 24 to 22 for their first win and Sigma Alpha Epsilon trouncing Delta Tau Delta 37 to 15.

When Slat's Gill takes his Oregon State basketball team to Seattle this weekend for a return series with league leading Washington, the Beavers will be trying desperately to prevent the Huskies from sweeping the series for the first time since 1944, a war year.

Duck Swimmers Dunk Beaver Varsity, 58-28

By BOB LAUGHTER
Barometer Sports Editor

The powerful swimming team from the University of Oregon defeated the Oregon State pool aggregation, 58-28, Saturday in the Beaver pool. The Beavers, however, in defeat showed a vast improvement in determination and spirit over their early season meets.

The Beavers previously dropped meets to both the Multnomah and Aero swimming clubs of Portland while these same two clubs were subdued by the Webfoot squad. Saturday's score would have been much closer if fate had decided in the Beavers' favor in some of the touch-and-go events.

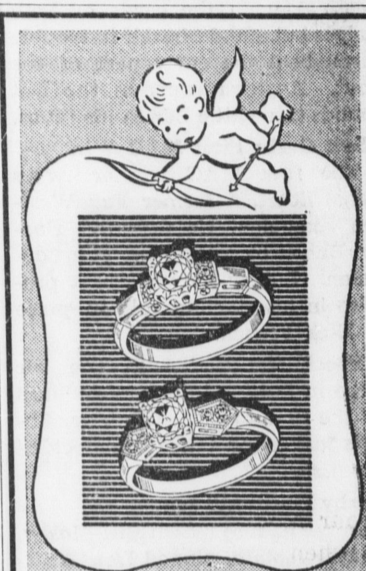

Gordon Edwards, free styler for the Ducks, exhibited top form in the 220 and the 440 as he shattered the meet records for both these events. In the 220 Edwards' time of 2:20.4 bested the 2:22.4 mark set by Brownell, OSC, in 1939 and the 440 record of 5:15 set by Robinson, Oregon, in 1942, was lowered to 5:03.7.

Beaver Relaymen Win
In the last event of the meet the Beaver 400-yard relay team composed of Burt Lavacek, Bill Knapp, Ron Naab and Don Baker saved the Orangemen from a complete shutout in the victory column with a decisive victory over the Webfoot four. The Beavers' mark of 3:49.1 lowers by more than five seconds their previous times for this year.

Knapp Edged in 50
Orange sprinter Bill Knapp, previously undefeated this season in the 50-yard free style, lost the closest race of the day as Milton Kotoshirodo grabbed a half-stroke victory. The time for the event was slower than Knapp's previous meet marks.

Other Beavers high in the OSC scoring column were Lavacek with a second and a third in the short sprints, Paine a second in the breaststroke, Naab finished behind Edwards in the record breaking 220. Bob Steineiser rated second in the diving event, and Baker picked up single points in the individual medley and 100 free style events.

Summary:
Medley relay: Oregon (Kauiro, Ruedeschel, Fuller), 1st; OSC, 2nd. Time: 3:16.4.

OSC Wrestlers Upset MAC in Portland Meet

By MARV ROBERTSON
Barometer Sports Writer

The Oregon State wrestlers defeated the favored Multnomah Athletic club 16 to 13 in Portland Saturday. The Beaver light weights piled up an impressive 11-to-0 lead before the MAC wrestlers could win a match and won four of the seven matches.

Yosh Kiyokawa got the Beavers off to a good start with a fall over Ed McGinnis in 3:10 of the first round. Kiyokawa appeared to be in good condition although he has been sidelined for two weeks with an ankle injury.

Bevos Take Decisions

The next two Bevovs won by decisions. Ben Shepard won his first collegiate match handily over veteran Rusty Mellot. Mellot has won numerals at Lewis and Clark and Vanport.

Jim Sease, another newcomer to the OSC lineup, won a close decision over Rollin Robertson. Sease won on the cards of both judges but found himself in trouble throughout the early part of the bout. Aggressiveness in the last rounds turned the tide in his favor.

Ebert Grabs First MAC Win

The first MAC winner was Paige Ebert, a former Far West champion. He defeated Harlan Buhler by a close point decision. Buhler showed great promise in his starting role in place of Dick French.

Ebert, stationed with the air force in Portland, had to go hard all the time to defeat Buhler. Ebert's last round takedown decided the issue.

Mosby Pins Whitbeck

In the feature match Bill Mosby, Beaver captain, pinned Don Whitbeck, Northwest AAU champion, in 7:58. Mosby led by a 14-to-4 score. The large margin was piled up under Olympic rules that put a man back underneath when he escapes unless he comes out with a pinning combination. In the two minutes of the second round when Whitbeck was riding, Mosby reversed positions five times and escaped twice before gaining a fall.

If his performance Saturday is any indication of things to come, Mosby is going to be hard to beat under the Olympic rules.

Harsey Succumbs to Buhler

Paul Buhler, former OSC captain, proved to have more than Bill Harsey, an extremely light but willing light heavyweight, could handle. Harsey was pinned by Buhler in 3:57 of the four-minute first round.

The final match of the afternoon brought together Herb Haberlach, former OSC heavyweight, and John Witte, the present freshman sensation. Experience proved to be the deciding factor in a tough battle won by Haberlach with a fall in 7:43.

Witte Looks Good in Defeat

Witte looked good while losing. He held Haberlach even in the first round. Haberlach, gunning for a position on the Olympic team, was leading 9 to 5 when the fall was signalled.

In an exhibition bout Wilbur Bauer, 1951 state high school champion, won a decision over Marv Robertson by a 5-to-1 score. The bout, held to give both boys experience, was six minutes rather than the usual ten. Bauer will be on campus next Saturday afternoon when the Beavers meet Vanport in a return match.

Norm Carey, all-northern division guard and captain of Oregon State's 1948 basketball team, has just returned to his home in Albany following 14 months of combat duty as an infantry officer in Korea. The ex-Orange star was twice wounded in action and has been returned to inactive duty.

Charles Trapp of Sigma Chi out-duelled David Wagner, Phi Kappa, in the semi-final match of the singles handball league Thursday night in the men's gym.

Wagner grabbed the first set in a sudden death play-off by a score of 22 to 20, but Trapp rallied in the next two sets with 21 to 17 and 21 to 11 victories.

Trapp Enters Finals

Trapp will play Carlo Rollondi next week for the title. In the doubles handball contests Phi Sigma Kappa garnered another win by belting Delta Tau Delta 21 to 4 and 21 to 0. Ron Ochs and Tom Batterson played for PSK.
