ROTC Artillery Group To Camp at Fort Sill

The Oregon State college group of advanced artillery juniors will participate in the annual artillery ROTC summer camp at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, from June 21 to August 1.

Students from schools throughout the United States and Hawaii will be represented at the camp. The purpose of summer camp, according to Colonel Hogan, assistant professor of military science and tactics, is to allow the cadets to put into practice in the field the principles they have studied in the classroom.

The students will fire 105 mm. howitzers. This is the type of artillery that is used in close support of the infantry. Emphasis will be placed on practical application with live ammunition.

Travel pay to and from Fort Sill is made on an allotment of so much per mile. Students also receive pay at the rate of $75 a month.

Students will be assigned to batteries so they are integrated with students from different parts of the country. This gives the instructors a comparison of the work done by students from different schools. It also gives the students a chance to bump shoulders with students from other parts of the country. A total of 56 schools will be represented at the summer camp.

'It Takes All Kinds' To Be Film Topic

"It Takes All Kinds," the third in the film and discussion series sponsored by the Round Table committee on marriage and family life, will be presented tonight from 7:30 to 8:20 in Memorial Union 208. The discussion will be led by Dr. Thomas Poffenberger, family life specialist of the Federal Cooperative Extension service.

The film tries to show how moments of tension or unexpected situations may bring out certain character traits. It shows five different persons' reactions when they run out of gas, and explains how their reactions may show up later in marriage.

Qualities of character, leadership, and dependability are also considered for selection.

The girls selected are Doris McNeil, Alpha Delta Pi; Mary Lewis, Alpha Gamma Delta; Dorothy Hughes, Alpha Omicron Pi; Ann Drew, Alpha Xi Delta; Sylvia Meyers and Carol Erickson, Chi Omega; Marilyn Wilson, Delta Delta Delta; Jo Ford and Millie Patton, Delta Gamma; Donna Lingle, Heather Rae; Margaret Schafer and Margaret Lane, Jameson; Patty Daum and Carolyn Colby, Kappa Alpha Theta; Diane Ellingsworth, Kappa Delta; Maxine Operud, Phrateres; Alice Freeland and Joan Paine, Pi Beta Phi; Madeline Black, The Pines; Ann Meyer and Kathy Kroeger, Sigma Kappa; Molly McKenzie, Gamma Phi Beta; Jenneane Fulton, Barbara Luebke and Jane Kendall, Sackett; Alice Knox, Alpha Phi; Bev Rutherford, Delta Zeta; Creagh Brennan and Rosalie Hanson, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mary Ann Kelleher and Neva Tiple, Alpha Chi Omega; Winnifred Johnson and Elsie Morita, Waldo.

Campus Blood Drive Set By Red Cross

Living Organizations to Furnish 10 Donors; Release Needed for Students Under 21

The largest Oregon State college blood drive yet attempted is scheduled for May 12 to 14, in the Memorial Union. The Red Cross bloodmobile staff is ready to handle up to 900 donations during its three-day stay at OSC, reported Jon Skovlin, '52, chairman of the campus blood drive.

"This capacity goal would easily be reached if everyone who has given blood in previous bloodmobile visits would donate another pint this time," Skovlin added.

Each living organization has been asked to furnish at least 10 donors. Since an appointment schedule assures a constant stream of persons giving blood, those wishing to help build up the Red Cross blood bank are requested by the drive chairman to make appointments and to keep them on time. Appointment cards have been sent to living groups and are available in the M.U. east bay.

Anyone meeting the physical requirements can give blood, although persons under 21 must have a parental release. Minors who have given blood in Benton county before, however, do not need new releases. Slips have been sent to living groups and are also available in the M.U. east bay.

Scheduling of appointments has already begun, Skovlin said, and the drive committee would like a return of appointment cards by Thursday, May 8. Although scheduled appointments are preferable, Skovlin added, the bloodmobile staff will also welcome any "walk-in" donors.

OSC Student Wins in Oratory

Marlene Little, '53, won first place in the women's oratory division of the Tau Kappa Alpha tournament held April 24 to 26. Utah State college won the tournament sweepstakes and OSC was runner up. Approximately 25 Northwest colleges were represented at the annual tournament. Each contestant was permitted to enter two events. Oregon State was not represented in the debate or extemporaneous speaking divisions.

Last year, Miss Little was the winner of the College of Puget Sound tournament, and this year placed second in the women's State Old Line Oratorical contest and the senior women's oratorical division at Linfield college.

Albany Invites OSC Students to Enter Golf

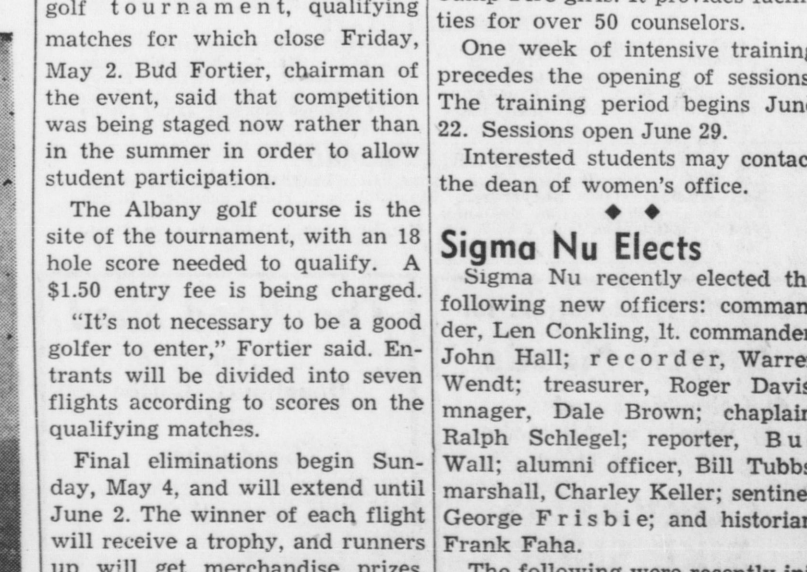

Oregon State college students are invited to compete in the Albany junior chamber of commerce city golf tournament, qualifying matches for which close Friday, May 2. The Albany golf course is the site of the tournament, with an 18 hole score needed to qualify. A $1.50 entry fee is being charged.

"It's not necessary to be a good golfer to enter," Fortier said. Entrants will be divided into seven flights according to scores on the qualifying matches.

Final eliminations begin Sunday, May 4, and will extend until June 2. The winner of each flight will receive a trophy, and runners up will get merchandise prizes. Fortier added. There will also be a banquet for the winners and runners up.

Master Pianist Thrills Audience

By JEANNE ALFORD
Barometer Music Editor

Artur Rubinstein, dynamic king of the keyboard, enthralled an audience of about 4,000 students and townspeople who heard him play last night in Gill coliseum.

His program included the light and graceful Impromptu in A flat, Opus 90, by Franz Schubert; Sonata in C major, Opus 53, by Beethoven, which Rubinstein played with all the sweeping emotion and fervor that the old master set forth in this lovely Sonata.

Three Numbers by Chopin
The second half of the program included three numbers by Frederic Chopin. With meticulous precision, Rubinstein called forth the clear bell-like tones, the sweet, singing tones, or the thundering, crashing tones of his choice with moving warmth and deep feeling.

The last two numbers of the formal program—Ondine, by Ravel, and Mephisto Waltz by Franz Liszt—were followed by hearty, demanding applause, and Rubinstein returned to the stage for three encores: A Nocturn for the Left Hand; Polichinelle by Villa-Lobos; and DeFalle's Ritual Fire Dance.

Called Greatest Pianist

Rubinstein has been lauded by music critics the world over as a master pianist and a master musician. Of him was recently written, "The last of the pianists in the Grand Manner. This is the virtuoso stamp, the mark of the assertive and lordly." To these words of praise this reporter can only add humble but enthusiastic assent.

Last night's concert, the last of the season, was truly a thrill in pianistic art!

Collegians Choose Wisely

Already there are more than 6,000,000 college graduates in America. Another 2,000,000 undergraduates are now in colleges. By sheer numbers alone, the college graduates form an important segment of our population. Through their influence is even greater than their numbers.

A complete study about college-educated men and women reveals startling facts in a book, "They Went to College," published this month. The co-authors are Ernest Havemann and Patricia Salter West. Based on a survey sponsored by Time magazine and analyzed by the Columbia university research department, the book presents surprising comments and facts from the past generations of college students.

College courses have given substantial help in occupations, report the majority of graduates. If they had school days to pursue again, 98 percent would go again to college, and 84 percent would pick the same school. Men are more satisfied with the results of their college training than women, the survey shows.

College extra-curricular activities have little effect on later earnings. Success achieved after graduation bears a greater relation to the grades earned in college. "Grinds" make out just as well in the pay school as people whose college careers were more round. The achievements of the Big Man on Campus are not in any way reflected in his later earnings.

Higher education has a definite effect on redistributing population. The study shows that slightly over half of the graduates are still living in the home areas where they spent pre-college years. Forty-four percent of the grads have settled down outside their home states. People who leave their state for education are much more likely to remain away from home; after graduation than those who attended college within their state. It also appears that migration is more common among those who were the best students in college.

America's colleges are not turning out radicals, the authors report. On questions of politics and government, the graduates are more conservative than average. They are less tolerant of foreigners than of American minorities. The majority are internationalists, although an isolationist element is present. In elections, the majority of the graduates vote as their fathers did. Where they vote differently, the shift has usually been from Democratic to Republican.

It is encouraging to read that past graduates have been so satisfied with their choice of college, and pleased with the help their college courses have been on the job.

Little Man On Campus—by Bibler

"Now remember, Myra, a senior girl has to be careful about what she says on her second date."

For Better, For Worse

By LESTER A. KIRKENDALL
Associate Professor of Family Life

Editor's note: This is the first of a two-column sequence.

Couples sometimes move into marriage ignoring numerous caution lights and "Go slow" signs. Trouble thus casts its shadow beforehand, in mate selection as elsewhere. If these "danger ahead" signals could be singled out, and evaluated, some marital disasters could be avoided.

What are some of the common "Go slow" indications?

1. When the couple has had a tempestuous courtship. Usually it is unwise to assume that marriage will solve a conflict. A much wiser procedure is to iron out the difficulty before marriage. Ordinarily it is much easier and safer than afterward. The help of an objective third party may be required at this point.

2. When one is marrying out of a sense of duty or obligation. Occasionally one sees a marriage taking place because one party doesn't want to hurt the other's feelings or because no graceful way of getting out of the situation is apparent. That is a bad fix to be in. The hurt resulting from a break in the premarital relationship is almost certain to be minor compared to the hurt resulting from a loveless marriage. Another problem in such a situation is that later there may be children who would be hurt also. A poor premarital relationship carried into marriage greatly increases the possibility of injuring innocent individuals.

3. When some important issue has been disregarded, or inadequately worked through. "He doesn't like my friends, but it is such a sore spot that we avoid the subject all together. 'I don't like her attitude toward my vocation, but she is so sensitive about it that I can't discuss it with her.' "He is so jealous we can't go out in public together."

4. When one or both parties are being over-persuaded. Sometimes one finds a person unduly hesitant to move into what would likely be a good marriage, but more often one sees someone being pushed into marriage by an over-eager partner, or by parents and friends. Even if the anticipated marriage is potentially good, the feeling of having been pushed into it will likely arouse resentments. These may crop out later and produce conflicts.

5. When there is a feeling that "it's now or never." This sense of urgency is sometimes akin to panic. The individual may feel that it is "now or never" for this particular relationship, or if he is ever to be married. Such pressure is conducive to poor mate selection, and misjudgments. One had better take it slowly enough that decisions are surer.

Such haste may come from the feeling that one can never be happy except with this particular person, or that happiness is to be found only in marriage. Neither of these assumptions is necessarily true.

The hope that such differences can be thrashed out in marriage is very slim. The chances are that resentments will arise from these

Southern Cal Politics Includes Hint of TNE

By Myrle Gorbutt

The mysterious appearance of triangular stickers bearing the skull and crossbones, often associated with TNE, are puzzling the student body of the University of Southern California. The stickers were plastered on cars all along Greek row one night last week.

The symbols of three fraternities were inscribed on the stickers, and emblazoned in large capital letters at the bottom was the slogan "We shall rule."

No one has claimed any knowledge of the stickers. Election campaigns are in full swing at SC. Commented the Southern California Daily Trojan, "Politics—SC style—is here."

Pity Poor Pa
A pamphlet, "Picketing Pater's Pockets," has been published by the prom committee at Holy Cross college, Mass. Some sample suggestions of what to tell the old man when you want him to shell out include "And I contributed all of last month's allowances to the Ubangi missions. . . ." or, "How was I to know they were using a Canasta deck. . . .?"

No Prescriptions Filled
A dietician at Michigan State college has placed this sign at the end of the show line in one of the halls— "Silverware and glasses are not medicine; therefore, do not take them after meals."

Rush Hour Note
The Syracuse Daily Orange came up with one of those time-saving aids to students. It declared "Entering Maxwell and climbing to its fourth floor, students will find it to their advantage to use the left side of the steps. They must climb 101 steps if they go on the right side, but only 100 on the left."

A petition reading: "We give the bearer of this petition permission upon receipt of our signatures, to hang us by the neck until dead," has been circulated by the Penn State Daily Collegian.

This clause was buried in the middle of an otherwise harmless petition.

Roaring 20's Roll Again In 'Singin' in the Rain'

By Kirby Brumfield

WHITESIDE

Shades of Hollywood in the rip roaring '20's! Flappers, the Charleston, those who claimed "talkies" were just a passing fancy, and all the razzle-dazzle of the "Jazz Age" play a part in "Singin' in the Rain."

Gene Kelly, Debbie Reynolds, and Donald O'Connor supply the film with freshness, comedy, and numerous dance routines. This show doesn't equal Kelly's "Oscar" winning "American in Paris," but it affords good entertainment.

OREGON STATE

"Here Comes the Nelsons" is a lively, farcical plot concerning activities of Ozzie and Harriet Nelson and their two children.

The show contains much spontaneous hilarity, but in every zany scene or gag there is a deep sense of union which holds the family together.

Mathematicians to Meet

Dr. S. M. Dietz, chairman of the department of botany and plant pathology, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the mathematics department Tuesday. The meeting will be held at 3:30 p.m. in room 301 of education hall. Tea will be served before the meeting in room 308.

The "superior student committee" will report on improved methods and purposes of teaching for the department of mathematics.

A panel discussion will follow the report. All interested persons may attend.

together. The plot includes a small town fair, a million dollar client, some robbers, a wild horse and an equally wild chase.

Companion picture is "Weekend With Father," which stars Van Heflin and Patricia Neal. Comedy situation is provided when a widow with two sons and a widower with two daughters fall in love. They break the news to their children at a summer camp. From then on the kids raise h--havooc.

Rooms to Be Available For Visiting Mothers

Housing for mothers on Mothers weekend, May 2, 3, and 4, will be available to all those who make reservations with Mrs. Zetta Brandis at Waldo hall by Tuesday, April 29. This service is arranged primarily for mothers of off-campus students and mothers who cannot be housed in the living groups with their sons or daughters.

Approximately 50 spaces are open in Waldo. Mothers will be placed in Sackett if Waldo becomes filled.

Prices for one night are 50 cents for bedding only, $1 for a room and bedding (bed unmade), and $1.50 for a room and bed made up. The rooms are double and will be shared.

If reservations are mailed in a check, payable to Oregon State college, should be enclosed.

Oregon State Alumnus Awarded Fellowship

Darrell Davis of Corral, Idaho, who received his master's degree in zoology from Oregon State college last year, has been awarded a fellowship from the National Science foundation for study in the department of physiology at St. Louis university next year.

Davis is a graduate student in physiology at St. Louis university this year. The fellowship will provide funds for additional study of the diffusion of water through the skin and of outaneous oxygen tensions. The awards are made on the basis of tests by the National Science foundation, a government agency.

Frosh Win With Naked Reverse

By BART WILLIAMS
Sports (?) Writer

A naked reverse and a bone crushing tackle provided the freshmen girls from Waldo hall with a 6-to-0 victory over the sophomore girls in a football game held on the lower campus field last Saturday afternoon.

The shapely aggregation from Waldo outclassed and outgated the lumbering and unimaginative Sophs in every department. The well coached Frosh used its single-wing formation to good advantage as the Rooks' fleet backfield ran both ends for yardage throughout the game.

Mary Jane Kovaly, a blue-eyed, blond-haired tailback from Hillsboro, scored the only touchdown of the afternoon for the Rookesses. In the third quarter, Mary Jane faked an end-around to Left Halfback Darlene Fields, kept the ball and skirted around the opposite end for 50 yards and a touchdown. The blond-haired wonder won the admiration of all the spectators on many other occasions as she consistently bewildered the opposition with her smooth ball handling and cool play calling.

Cynthia Roth, a pint sized scat-back from Palo Alto, Calif., turned in the outstanding defensive play of the day. It occurred in the fourth quarter when Left Halfback Maggie Kayler took off like a little bunny rabbit around right end and raced to the midfield stripe. Cynthia was all that stood between her and a tie ball game.

A hush settled over the expectant crowd as the gap between the two girls narrowed. In a last frantic effort, Cynthia dove—a bone shattering collision followed—and the Rookesses had won the game.

Moms to See Talent Show

"Where But in America," talent show scheduled for Saturday night, May 3, at 8 in the coliseum, will contain a wide variety of student numbers. There will be no admission charge.

The Mothers weekend show has been built around a patriotic theme, expressing four freedoms—freedom from want and fear, freedom of religion and speech.

The program will be many musical numbers. Sigma Nu, winners of the inter-fraternity council sing, will show the audience the style that won them first place in the contest. The six-foot-four quartet with Orren Schade-witz, '53, Dick Lalli, '53, Dick Spite, '54, and Jack McPhillips, '52, will harmonize in a way that made them well known throughout Oregon as well as on the campus. The College chorus will sing several religious and patriotic numbers.

Dancing will enter in the program, also. Several dances will be given by students from the modern dance department. Helen Troy, '53, will demonstrate the hula.

The NROTC drill team, which was so well received last weekend by visiting high school seniors, will again show their skill in precision drilling. Robert R. Darron, '53, is leader of the group. Men from the physical education department will appear as bronze statues to introduce each freedom when a spotlight is flashed on them in the darkened coliseum. Bev Rimbach, '53, will give a reading to express freedom from want.

Buz Thomas, '53, is chairman of the program. John Young, '53, will be master of ceremonies.

'Autumn Garden' Cast Ready; Opens Thursday

"Autumn Garden," to be produced Mothers weekend in the College playhouse, is a play that is sure to be enjoyed by all who see it, according to George Ulnic, director. The cast has worked long and hard and the finished product will be well worth seeing.

JEFF ANDERSON

Jeff Anderson, '53, plays Nina Denery, who finds out too late that her husband married her only for her money. Nina hates her husband and is determined that she will make him pay back everything he has gotten from her. She will follow this pursuit with every ounce of strength and vitality in her body. A contrast of her hate for her husband, Nicholas, is her love for other people.

Jeff is a transfer from the University of Washington and while enrolled at Washington she worked in the play "Othello" and with the Traveling Children's theater. She also was a member of the U. of W. Encore club, which is for professional entertainers.

Ann Arbor, Michigan, is Jeff's former home and since coming to Oregon State, she has majored in dramatics and speech. Jeff has been in other speech department plays as "Heaven Can Wait" and "Kempy." She is a member of Masque and Dagger and National Collegiate Players, clubs for students working in dramatics.

DELORES THOMPSON

Delores Thompson, '55, plays Sophie, the young and pretty girl of American-French descent. Sophie's father was Constance Tucker's brother, Sam, who went to France in the early '30's and married Sophie's mother. When Constance found Sophie destitute and working in a fish market in Paris, Constance brought her to America and Sophie has stayed at the Tuckerman inn ever since. Sophie is a quiet and reserved girl and though she may say very little, she is wise beyond her years. She has seen too much of life to be fooled by false fronts and affected words.

Delores had roles in the speech department plays "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "Born Yesterday" and worked backstage on "Cradle Song." Delores is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and her main interests are dramatics and radio work. She has worked on several dramatic radio shows for both children and adults since enrolling at OSC. Her home is in Klamath Falls.

NEIL SARGENT

Neil Sargent, '55, is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and is enrolled in business and technology. His home is in Tacoma, Washington. "Autumn Garden" will be the third appearance of Neil on the stage of the playhouse. The other plays in which he appeared were "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "Born Yesterday." In all of his roles to date, Neil has played the young romantic lead.

Neil plays the part of the young and handsome Fredrick Ellis in, "Autumn Garden." Fredrick is still tied to his mother's apronstrings and is rich and spoiled and naive. His mother has always made the decisions for him. He has always been content up until now. He is engaged to Sophie, although he doesn't quite realize how it happened, and the engagement is still subject to mother's approval.

STAN JOHNSON

Stan Johnson, '52, takes the role of Nicholas Denery. Denery is a painter and was in France during the last war, but no one is quite sure what side he was on or what he was doing in France. He regards the whole human race as a giant chessboard with the people as the chessmen. He likes to move people on the chessboard with a few whispered words or actions. Meddling is Denery's chief characteristic and people hate him for it. Denery has never had to work and is still a small child emotionally. He has just never grown up.

Vice president and social chairman are two positions that Stan holds in the Alpha Sigma Phi social fraternity. Upon graduation at the end of next winter term, Stan will receive a commission and serve in the armed forces. When Stan finishes his military service, he hopes to teach speech and science in high school. Since transferring from the University of Oregon last year, he has appeared in major roles in "Berkeley Square," "Green Pastures" and "There Shall Be No Night." Stan is a member of Masque and Dagger.

NANCY HALLADAY

Nancy Halladay, '53, takes the role of a 78-year-old woman, Mrs. Ellis, who can be amazingly sprightly when she wants to be. Mrs. Ellis is a realistic woman and always speaks up even though what she says probably isn't the tactful thing to say.

Education is the school that Nancy is enrolled in at OSC. Some of her more important roles were in "Berkeley Square," "Green Pastures," and "Arsenic and Old Lace." Nancy has worked backstage for many of the plays and is a member of Masque and Dagger and National Collegiate Players.

She is next year's Beaver editor, Kappa Alpha Theta vice president, and was a Talon when a sophomore. Even with all her activities, Nancy has been able to maintain a 3.60 all school grade point average.

STAN JOHNSON

DELORES THOMPSON

Jane Newdall, '55, Ann Strachen, '53, and Miss Jean Ryder, instructor in the physical education department, were initiated into Kappa Delta, national social sorority.

H. Ec. and 4-H Leaders Appointments O.K.'d

The appointment of Burton Hutton as state 4-H club leader and Miss Frances Clinton as state home economics extension leader, both in the Oregon State college extension service, were approved by the state board of higher education in Portland last week.

Hutton, who has been a state 4-H agent for the past four years, will succeed L. J. "Doc" Allen, who will resign effective next September 1 after serving in Oregon 4-H club work for 37 years. Allen replaced H. C. Seymour as state 4-H leader several years ago.

Miss Clinton will replace Mrs. Azalea Sager who has been on the college staff for 20 years. Miss Viola Hanson, acting extension home furnishings specialist, will take over the position of assistant state home economics extension leader now held by Miss Clinton. Mrs. Sager has submitted her resignation effective October 1.

Hutton, a 1927 OSC graduate, formerly was farm service director for radio station KALE, now KPOJ, in Portland, before joining the extension service staff in 1948. He also was farm editor of the Pendleton East-Oregonian and farm and city editor of the Corvallis Gazette-Times, and for eight years was farm service director for KOAC, the state-owned radio station at Corvallis.

Following his radio work on the campus, he was for several years assistant agricultural director of the Great Northern railroad with headquarters in St. Paul. During his 12 years on the college staff, he has worked closely with many of the 25,000 4-H members in the state.

A native of Chehalis, Wash., Miss Clinton graduated from the College of Puget Sound and received her masters degree from Oregon State college. She has taken graduate work at Cornell and Columbia universities. After serving as home economics extension agent in Multnomah, Umatilla and Marion counties, she joined the central extension staff here in 1945. She has been on the extension staff for 22 years.

Miss Clinton was recently nominated for vice president of the American Home Economics association. While on sabbatical leave last year, she visited home economics leaders throughout Europe.

3 SB Cabinet Posts Open for Applicants

ASOSC needs a treasurer, a secretary, and a parliamentarian to fill vacancies in the new student body cabinet. Don Van Allsburg, ASOSC president elect, announced yesterday. Letters of application, including a list of qualifications, can be turned into the student body office in the Memorial Union.

A yell leader full of "vim, vigor, and wild enthusiasm" is also needed, Van Allsburg said. Anyone looking for the job can apply before May 8, the closing date set by the selection committee. The newly chosen yell leader will then pick his four assistants, Van Allsburg said.

Job Opportunities Offered to Students

Three jobs in the public relations section of the General Electric company's Hanford, Wash., works are available for OSC students with some journalism background, according to word received by Fred M. Shideler, head of the journalism department.

Bill Watts, manager of the General Electric news bureau at Hanford, will be on the campus Thursday, May 1, to interview possible applicants for the positions. Appointments or additional information may be obtained at the journalism office.

The positions include a news writer, a radio script writer and a person to handle special events programs in the GE public relations section.

Washington Huskies Sink Orange In ND Track Meet

By WALT VOCKERT
Assistant Sports Editor

The University of Washington swept the last five events of their northern division dual track meet with the Oregon State Beavers to rout the Orange squad, 98 to 33, in Seattle last Saturday. The visiting Beavers couldn't keep up with the torrid pace set by the Huskies, even with the high individual performance of Merv Brock, the Beavers' consistent winner in the sprints, who scored 10 points to lead all competitors.

In sweeping six events the Puget Sound men collected clean victories in the high jump, 880-yard run, broad jump, 220-yard low hurdles, discus, and two-mile.

Coach Hal Moe's pack picked up four blue ribbons with Brock taking first in the 100 and 220 yard dashes; Lyle Diekey, soaring 13 feet 3 inches, to win the pole vault; and Duane Eby, a Silvertown product, throwing the shot 49 feet 1/2 inch to easily win his specialty.

Aside from these individual victories, the Beavers lacked the depth to cope with the Purple and Gold power. Several ex-Oregon prep stars played a part in the Husky victory with Dean Parsons, Eugene, placing second in the shot, and Jerry Langer, Ashland, coming in behind teammate Loran Perry in the discus. Frank Morris, Husky from Medford, took first in the high hurdles ahead of Beaver Don Chambers.

A big upset was when Charley Tulin outdistanced Ralph Sutton, OSC's strong spear man, who only last week threw the javelin over 200 feet. Saturday's winning toss was only 185 feet 7 1/2 inches.

High jump—Tie between George Widenfelt, Bill Kery and Darryl Skarvetved, all Wash. Height 6 feet 1 1/2 inches.
Pole vault—Lyle Diekey, OSC, (13 feet 9 inches); Jim Holmes, OSC, (13 feet); Dick Bale, W., (12 feet 6 inches).
High hurdles—Frank Morris, W.; Don Chambers, OSC, Widenfelt, W. Time 15.3.
880-yd. run—Rod Vanderhoff, W.; Ken Morgan, W.; Farnis, W. Time 1:56.5.
Broad jump—Darryl Skarvetved, W. (22 feet 3/4 inches); Widenfelt, W. (22 feet 1 1/4 inches); John Lestevier, W. (21 feet 5 1/2 inches).
Low hurdles—Bob Thornberger, W.

Oregon Ducks Beat Orange in N.D. Golf

Oregon State's varsity golf team went down to a Northern Division defeat at the swinging of the University of Oregon Ducks last Saturday as Al Mundle and Ron Clark led their mates to a 19-3 victory on the Corvallis course.

In the morning best ball matches, Bob Atkinson and Mundle trounced Keith Osborn and Jon Roth. The Eugene pair fired a 64 to take three points from the Beaver golfers. In the second best ball match Bill Kessinger and Bob Eade also fell by the wayside as Ron Clark and Fred Mueller shot sub par golf. Don Bail and Bill Sundstrom were the only Beavers to hit their winning stride as they bested Bud Cross and Don Krieger.

Osborn Wins
In the afternoon single matches Beaver first man Osborn beat ex-Oregon amateur champ Bob Atkinson. Kessinger was defeated by Clark, another ex-Oregon amateur champ. Bob Eade was able to win one point from Fred Mueller. Sundstrom took one and a half points by tying Don Krieger, but Roth was soundly trounced by Mundle as was Boils by Bud Cross.

Medalist in the morning rounds was Bob Atkinson with a five under par 67, while his best ball partner, Mundle, came through with a two under par 70 to take low scoring honors in the afternoon.

Oregon Netters Stop Bevo Team 4 to 3 In N. D. Warfare

By LU LONO
Barometer Sports Writer

The University of Oregon tennis team edged out the Bevo netters in a conference tilt here Saturday morning, 4 to 3. Aided by Don Megale's surprise upset victory over Duck captain, Tom McDonald, the Beavers went on to 3 to 2 lead in the singles. Megale pulled his big upset in straight sets, winning 6-4, 6-4.

The favored Webfoots came back to win both doubles matches and hand the Beavers their second conference setback in as many starts. The U of O's number one duo of Bill Rose and Jack Neer dropped the first set to Megale and George Allison of OSC, but went on to win the next two in the only three set match of the afternoon.

Other results:
Singles: Rose, U of O, defeated Allison, 6-4, 6-2; Neer, U of O, defeated Ed Dey, 6-0, 6-2; Pete Carter, OSC, defeated Neil George, 7-5, 6-1; Bud McCoy, OSC, defeated Don Neras, 8-6, 6-2.

Junior Varsity Waxes Oregon For Fifth Win

Coach Paul Valenti's win-happy Junior Varsity baseballers made it five in row Saturday as they clobbered the University of Oregon Jayvees at Eugene 15 to 2. The game marked the third victory for Pitcher Jim Nierman this year.

The Beavers scored in all but two innings while handing the Ducks their second beating in as many games with OSC. Big hitters for the Beavers were Third Sacker Johnny Rearden and Short Stop Mel Ediger. Rearden collected three singles in his four trips to the plate, while Ediger collected two singles and a home run in his five trips.

Ducks Use Three Hurlers
The Ducks used three pitchers in the game. Their first hurler, Bud Blodgett, gave up eight runs in six innings. The other two Oregon pitchers had trouble finding the plate as they gave up seven additional runs during the remaining three frames.

Nierman walked six men and whiffed 13 in going the distance. OSC scored three in the first frame. Blodgett gave free passes to Rearden and Right Fielder Jack Bowen. Then Center Fielder Dick Wilson rifled a sharp grounder between second and third, bringing in the two base runners. Mel Ediger later singled First Baseman Jim Walker across the plate to end the scoring for that inning.

The second big inning for the Orangemen came in the fifth. Left Fielder Dick Wilson led off with a line drive single to right field, followed by a booming double to right center by Walker, bringing Wilson across for the first tally. Ediger, the next batter, took the first pitch, a curve ball around the knees, and sent it sailing over the center fielder's head for a round tripper, bringing home Ediger in front of him.

The Orange collected 15 runs on 15 hits and committed one error. Nierman held the Ducks to two runs on seven hits. Oregon committed three errors.

The series will be resumed again next Friday and Saturday when Coach Valenti's men spend the weekend in Eugene for the two afternoon games. The unbeaten Jayvees will be going after their sixth and seventh consecutive victories.

Oregon State Takes Two From U. of Washington

After a none-too-impressive northern division showing, Oregon State's baseball team completed a series sweep over the University of Washington by dumping the Huskies 10 to 8 Saturday on Coleman field. The Beavers stopped Washington 7 to 1 on the preceding day.

The double win put the Orangemen ahead of the Huskies in the N.D. standings, as the Beavers grabbed a strong hold on the second place berth. Oregon's Ducks, a surprise contender, still lead the race with a 3-1 record.

Saturday's win wasn't as easy as the score might indicate. With the Orange leading 10 to 4 going into the top of the ninth the Husky clouters bombarded Southpaw Don White for four runs. Coach Ralph Coleman, in a successful effort to quell the Huskies, inserted Norb Wellman, a right hander, into White's position with two out. Wellman's efforts were successful.

The big inning for the Orange came in the sixth when six runs were pushed across. Three hits plus two Washington errors accounted for the runs along with three walks. John Thomas doubled, Bud Shirliff and Cub Houck singled as each drove in a run. Chuck Fisk, a big stick in the Beaver attack, drove in another run on a fly to the outfield, while two other runs were gratis of Husky errors.

Scoring in the contest didn't open until the third when the Staters pushed across two runs. Jim Ruggles, who had two for four, tripled and scored on a single by Fisk. Fisk proceeded to steal second and tagged home on an error by Washington's shortstop on Houck's grounder.

In chronological order the Beavers yielded two runs to Washington in the sixth, but came right back with a six run outburst in the bottom of that inning. OSC went ahead in the seventh with a two run spurt. In that inning Danny Johnston gained first on an error by First Baseman Bob Houbrigs and White singled. Pete Goodbrod, Beaver captain, doubled to right center to score Johnston, and Jim Ruggles brought White home on a single.

Washington added two runs in the eighth, with some aid due to Beaver error.

The contest was witnessed by some 4500 fans, the biggest turnout ever to witness a N.D. contest here. The two teams kept the fans interested as they banged out 30 hits, 13 of them by the Orange.
